(CO-EDITORS)

In this time of inflation, particularly with the abolition or reduction of Government subsidies to some private schools, many parents are beginning to question the advantages gained by sending their sons to Hale School. This complex question can best be resolved if one makes an assessment of the facilities

Undoubtedly, the most important role of any school is to provide a high standard of education. This role demands that emphasis be placed upon meeting the educational needs of the student by providing him with the best facilities available to develop ALL his talents. Essential here is the need to provide a qualified and dedicated staff - on this score, Hale is highly blessed. Not only do the staff meet the classroom needs of the student, but the House system provides further, more personal contact to assist the pupil.

In terms of the materials for teaching, Hale is well favoured. A fine library, staffed by competent and helpful librarians, modern science, mathematics and language laboratories, are made available by the School for the development of the talents of each student. Classes are relatively small in comparison with contemporary teaching institutions and this permits a more specialised and personal approach to education. Apart from the resources, there is also the incentive offered by the presentation of awards to those students who have striven hard and reached a high standard.

Sport also contributes greatly to the social and physical development of the Hale pupil. However, the School tends to place too much emphasis on sport which could work to the detriment of the system. At Hale there is an abundance of first class sporting facilities. One need only examine the outstanding swimming pool, Cygnet Hall rowing sheds, the excellent tennis courts and acres of playing fields to realise the quality of the sporting amenities at Hale School. This quality is reflected in the number of sporting meetings held at the School. Allied with the grounds, sheds and pool is the availability of a wide range of sporting equipment and an outstanding weights room.

The grounds of the School, perhaps the most impressive visual feature of the site, are an inspiration to study, thought and general well-being. Apart from the lawns and rose gardens, there is a considerable expanse of virgin bush, which provides pleasant relief from the manicured suburbia surrounding the School. As well, this abundance of land gives a unique freedom for future expansion.

If one can criticise the assets of Hale School then it can only be to warn that these are not used to their fullest extent. The success of Hale's sporting teams tends to preclude the development of the cultural talents of the students. This is not to say that Hale students are ignorant in matters of music, drama, public speaking and the arts, but that far more could be done in this regard. It would be better if the School's reputation was based more upon its scholastic and cultural achievements than its sporting successes. The Memorial Hall contains a wealth of potential which is rarely tapped. The Hall, if used to its truer capacity, could see the development of more talented musicians, actors, film-makers and orators and thereby give Hale an excellence in the arts to match that it has in sports.

Another important aspect of life at Hale is the level of discipline in the School. While people of today tend to regard discipline as an unwanted vestige of a previous age, we must nevertheless look upon discipline as an essential part of personal development. Hale has always maintained a high standard of discipline and the wisdom of this can be seen in the excellence of Hale's Old Boys who have always brought honour upon their School by the example of their lives. The Administrators of the School realise, however, that the expressions of discipline have to change to avoid rendering discipline obsolete. Rules are under constant review and this regular process of amendment serves to strengthen the strong teacher-student relationships which exist at Hale.

Hale's excellent educational, sporting and cultural facilities provide a fine structure for the intellectual, physical and social development of the student. Certainly, even in this time when the burdens of sending a boy to Hale School are increasing, the advantages gained from an education at Hale make all the efforts worthwhile.

CYGNET is reborn! the 1973 Cygnnet Committee, after much deliberation, decided to break with tradition in the hope of revitalising Cygnnet, making it a publication to appeal to a wider spectrum of boys and to involve more of the School in its magazine. They felt Cygnnet had become merely a chronicle of events (mainly sport) and though this year's Cygnnet may not extend much further than that, the hope exists that the changes made will herald further alterations in content and layout, in future Cygnnets.

Apart from the size of the magazine, the inclusion of more photographs is the most significant and readily obvious change. By including more photographs, the committee hopes to render Cygnnet a truer reflection of the School's representation in various fields of endeavour. Since a boy in First Year gives as much to Hale as a member of a First team, then his efforts should be recorded in Cygnnet. A further significant departure from previous Cygnnets is the inclusion of the Headmaster's Report for this year; the prize list for 1973 and a pen-picture of the 1973 Leaving students. This too, is an effort to produce a Cygnnet which is more relevant to the year it purports to portray. Since House activities are an integral factor of School life, a visual record of each House has been incorporated with the House notes.

Such are the changes of Cygnnet 1973. Necessarily, change involves conflict, and opinions will vary when readers view the "new-er" Cygnnet. The committee trusts that readers will not be tied down by the dictates of tradition but will consider the alterations as a genuine effort to produce a Cygnnet which has an appeal to every student and is a truer portrayal of life at Hale School. The committee is fully aware that improvements can, will and must be made in future editions and sincerely believe that, with fewer budget restrictions, the Cygnnet of the future will be as much a credit to the School as past editions have been. At the same time, the Cygnnet Committee, 1973, remains proud of its magazine as an accurate and dignified account of the School's activities and knows that its quality has been added to.

In 1973, the Cygnet office again assumed its peripatatory habits and found a new abode in what was formerly the Counsellor's office. Hopefully, the migratory meanderings which have characterised Cygnet offices in recent years, have come to a happy and stable finale.

The printing of the Cygnet has again been executed by Robfod Print and the committee wishes to thank Mr Arthur Ford for his time and patient perseverance in assisting the production of Cygnet, 1973. Our thanks are also extended to Mrs Elliott and Miss Wolczyk for bearing a large burden so cheerfully in the typing of the original copy.

The relatively new committee in 1973 assumed its responsibilities generously and every member has contributed significantly in the preparation of Cygnet. The amount of work involved in producing Cygnet demands much time, effort and mental fortitude, none of which have been lacking in 1973. Our reward is found in the knowledge of a task thoroughly accomplished and in the production of a quality journal.

Headmaster's Report

As this year's Cygnet indicates, there are many changes occurring, in small ways and big, in education these days. Education as an institution is sometimes regarded anthropomorphically, that is as if it has a life of its own, as if it is a human or an animal. So change for change sake is applauded and the comparison is made — because education as an institution stretches back to the earliest beginnings of man — with prehistoric animals. Look what happened to them: we all know they became extinct, because they could not adjust to the new environment; they died because they were no longer relevant.

That's a term our Australian Minister of Education used: "Education must be relevant," he said, and in the context that he used it, as describing one reason why Aborigine students were not motivated by classroom study, (for the subjects offered had no applicability to their conditions), one must agree. But in another sense there is danger that in seeking 'relevancy' education, rather than helping for a better future, merely reflects the superficialities of the present. Perhaps education should be relevant but it should also be true.

Education by many is expected to tackle everything. How often does one read 'they should teach this or that in schools'? If one compiled a list, for as little as a year, of subjects recommended by enthusiasts, we would have a programme longer than this speech. All would be 'relevant', if not essential, in the eyes of some pressure group or other. But most, however, would be seen as superficial fads, and not worthy of treatment in a school at all.

Education should not be regarded as an animal that has to change in order to exist. It is rather an institution that essentially has the same goals and principles as when first propounded. The primary function of a school is not to act as an agency of "life adjustment" or "social adaptation", but to provide a basic and thorough education in essential subjects. A good school, of course, recognises the need for constant revision and modernisation of syllabi and teaching methods. It does not recognise the so-called need to have a curriculum not governed by genuine subjects or disciplines.

A good school believes that this sound, thorough training in the basic subjects is essential to a pupil's ability to understand and contribute to his society. The development of critical thinking is an important result of education, and trained minds certainly will subject established ideas and values to criticism. The school's role in this is to foster habits of intelligent, methodical enquiry, and this requires the basic disciplines. Without them, discussion has no substance, criticism no constructive purpose.

In order to discharge its responsibilities, the school must work within a structured system of learning. In education, as elsewhere, authority and freedom complement one another. For freedom really to exist, there must be order. For order to maintain a freedom, there must be discipline and authority. Anarchy is tyranny; and it is anarchy that radical educationists are supporting and it is towards anarchy that so many changes in education could lead.

Nevertheless, there are many developments now occurring which we must applaud. For example, in Australian Catholic education these days one must appreciate the new secular boards of government which are being created, involving the school community much more. There are other changes too, of significance perhaps particularly to the Catholic community, but nevertheless indicating that a great fresh breeze is blowing in what was a most conservative area affecting the quality of Australian education generally.

In the State Education Department, the Karmel Report and its funding of major programmes has brought a strong response. Next year we will see major developments initiated in junior school teacher-librarian courses, in ambitious in-service courses and in centres for emotionally disturbed children, amongst others. In remedial work, Karmel funds will enable the State Education Department to put emphasis where it should be, in special training for the — if I may so describe him — ordinary teacher. Funding also of school buildings will be another major enterprise. In all these programmes I hope Hale, as an independent school allied amicably with the state, will participate.

In the tertiary field in Western Australia, as elsewhere in Australia, there is increasing acceptance on the value and utility of multi-purpose institutions, where many courses and programmes can compete and stimulate the student, as contrasted to the older simple-purpose teachers college. The grouping together of these colleges is a good first step toward breaking the monastic and vocational isolation in which they have been for too long.

The provision of funds by the Australian Government to both tertiary institutions and to secondary education has been another new factor of considerable significance. One can see already major developments accruing from this. These are but a fraction of the changes now occurring in education in general.

In our own school context, this year and the next, is a mixture of small change, introduced with care, and much retention of that which we have examined and accepted as of continuing value.

We begin next year a course in computer mathematics; we extend the field research and study-biology camp system by initiating a week of marine biology at Rottneest; we develop slightly our music by offering it as a three year examinable subject and by extending our singing or choir component; and of particular interest, we hope to begin team teaching in the social sciences in the senior school.

We have been locked in for too long to this idea that one teacher and thirty students constitutes a unit; that if you have more than 25-30 students you then recruit another expensive staff member; forgetting that in the sciences, a laboratory assistant has long made it possible for one staff member to do far more than he could on his own, by preparing and assisting; and that at tertiary level a lecturer commonly addresses 100 or more (I have seen a class of 800), who then have a programme of controlled reading and written essays and have been broken into small tutorial groups for much of this.

So we see a staff member teaching occasionally on major issues to 40 or more, with assistants to check a planned programme, to mark essays and control individual work. We hope to introduce this next year in one subject, for one year — the fourth; if it is successful, as we think it will be, we will develop it.

It is possible to envisage one very competent senior staff member controlling his subject in the senior level — one historian, one economist, one geographer, for example, instead of the two or three in each as we have now — participating with a team of assistants. We see this as educationally sound and innovative; as financially viable; and as beneficial and helpful, ultimately, to all boys at Hale.

With many others, we accept as a basic premise that a good physical education and recreation is a core element in the well-being of the community and that this is sorely lacking in Australia. We accept also that no concept of a school is complete without integrating the physical education element into it.

We see our school incomplete without a fully integrated physical education programme and we applaud the initiative of the Australian Government in accepting the Bloomfield report. As essential to physical education as laboratories are to the sciences is the gymnasium. If we are to have healthy minds in healthy bodies — the goal of education from Greek days to the present — we need to establish here, throughout the junior school and the senior, programmes and facilities for every boy; and not just for that group which is well co-ordinated and moves into our school teams. To effect this, we need a well-trained and dedicated physical education staff — which we have — and a gymnasium. It would be a decided change for the better if this generation could help improve the education of the next.

So much for our changes, both those certain and those hoped for. Among the fads pushed at me these last weeks which we will not be accepting, are penny-pinching courses, so beloved of others, which have included breast feeding in classroom, family planning, and even, horror of horrors, soccer on the playing fields. All this, (and co-education), must wait.

There is another fad now being introduced widely into secondary education to which this school is opposed and that is the elimination of examinations. I hope you will not find me tiresome on this, as I have commented on it before. One used to regard examinations as a genuine factor of great use. It tested knowledge learned, it established a level of achievement, it gave to participant and public a clear picture. We all knew it was not perfect, that it made mistakes, but nevertheless, to those who taught, to those who studied and to the outside community, the examination — whether at school, in business, the university, the professions — was accepted as useful; even, when well handled, of considerable value and importance.

Now it is being accused of being the cause of all that is bad in education. It is evil, it inhibits everything true and pure. It is being subjected to a very successful attack, by a wide variety of groups and individuals, including many of my fellow headmasters. Do away with the P.E.B. — abolish exams and we'll be free, they say. All unite in knocking exams because of their anti-social effect. It does not help, indeed it hinders, a classless society. Despite the stiff exam system of the U.S.S.R., it is being pulled down here by these groups. They follow the pattern of America; but whereas there they are re-introducing examinations and trying to create some standards, here standards and examinations are going; or have gone. I am afraid we regard this as sociological folly, as educational stupidity and radically political in its basis of thought, not educational. So as one small lighthouse we stand by our standards and are grateful both for the liberty which still permits this and your support which encourages us to persevere.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have had a good year at Hale, with honest effort in many a classroom and on many a playing field, a gallant turn-out by a cadet corps now reconstituted on a voluntary basis, eight great groups of fourth year boys at Wittenoom, drama and chess clubs, and a most involved programme each term for all concerned. We end the year saying goodbye to Mrs Haskett, who leaves us, and to Mr Frank Constantine, both gentleman and scholar, whose active spirit and warm nature have endeared him to us all. I apologise to them both and indeed to the staff as a whole for those inadequacies in my headmastering which must have jarred upon them, and thank them for the lessons in clarity and friendliness they have taught me.

I thank also the many mothers who have given so much of their time to the school, whether in the tuckshop, or library, or clothing exchange; I thank the staff, particularly the deputy head and the housemasters for their work; matron deserves a special bunch of roses, as always; and I hope that all of us might enjoy our holidays and return refreshed in 1974 to another year of service at this school.

And as for you fifth form boys, now to receive your prizes and trophies from the hands of our distinguished Old Boy guest, may I say, I hope I do not see any of you back here next year.

Captain of School's Report

I am very, very proud to be in a position to speak of the achievements of Hale School for 1973.

From the very first week of the school year there existed a unity and happiness around the School which made school life all the more tolerable to come back to after two and a half months of holidays. This unity existed throughout the year and resulted in very few disagreements between the different years. Such disagreements very often lead to instability and unhappiness in the School. The school spirit which flourished in this relatively trouble-free environment reached incredible peaks during the year, especially on the sporting field where Hale had so much success.

First Term sport resulted in two firsts, one second and a fourth with all teams performing very creditably.

The swimmers were successful in bringing the swimming cup back to Hale for the seventh successive year, winning by a very large margin from Guildford. The team was a model of consistency with depth in all ages and divisions.

The tennis players maintained, from past years, a high standard of play to win the Corr Cup for the P.S.A. competition as well as the State-wide Mursell Shield and Slazenger Cup competitions. The First VI dominated the P.S.A., losing very few games. A fine example of consistency.

The cricketers, though slightly disappointing, improved from seventh position in 1972 to fourth and showed signs that they will continue this improvement next year.

The final, and probably most demanding sport in First Term was rowing. The First VIII was the dominant crew in pre-Head of the River regattas and were unlucky to lose, by a very narrow margin, on the day of the race. The time and effort devoted to training by all rowers deserves special mention.

First Term was again the most successful sporting term.

Hale did not begin Second Term sport with a feeling of optimism. The qualities of the teams were unknown and ability in comparison to other schools was uncertain.

The football team was the successful team for this term. The close-knit combination was undefeated in nine Alcock Cup matches. The team was a magnificent example of unity — whether from Third, Fourth or Fifth Year, all were known only as fellow mates in a great team, irrespective of age or class.

The rugby team finished third in the Brother Redmond Cup, losing only three games and these by narrow margins. This team was the youngest senior team in the School and shows tremendous potential for future years.

The hockey players also showed great potential when, though finishing seventh, they improved greatly on past performances.

Second Term sport, therefore, resulted in Hale regaining the Alcock Cup for the third time since the Second World War and in the building up of the rugby and hockey teams into units capable of victory in the near future.

Third Term sport, involving only athletics, was slow to develop enthusiasm. However, when Inters day arrived the squad members were bristling with confidence and were full of encouragement for each other. Unfortunately, the support from non-squad members of the School was disappointing. Nevertheless, the athletes put up a courageous performance to finish fifth in a very high standard meeting.

Hale's achievements in sport in 1973 are achievements to be very proud of.

Before leaving the subject of sport, I would like to make special mention of two sportsmen who will join the ranks of Hale's all-time greats: Donald Pritchard and Dean Williams.

Don was the Open swimming champion in the Inters team, the fairest and best footballer in the Alcock Cup and the Open athletics champion. To cap off a year of remarkable personal achievements he was fittingly awarded the trophy for "best all-round sportsman".

Dean, of course, is the first person to gain tennis honours and immediately becomes one of Hale's elite five Honours men. He is one of the top-seeded junior tennis players in the State.

Undoubtedly, these two are among the best sportsmen Hale has produced.

Special mention and thanks must go to those remarkable men, the coaches, who give so much of their time to both training and selecting teams. Any abuse for defeat is always directed at them, and for their special qualities and devotion to the School we thank them.

The non-sporting sector of the School also brought merit to the name of Hale.

The chess team won the Secondary Premier League, a competition open to all schools in the State; a drama group gained valuable experience in Canberra during the August holidays; an art exhibition, held in the School library, proved an enormous success with some excellent exhibits from boys and Old Boys of the School.

However, I must stress the point that the cultural side of the School was comparatively quiet this year and an increase in activities, such as theatrical productions, would help rejuvenate a lagging aspect of School life and provide valuable attractions to the boys who are not sports orientated.

This year also saw an unprecedented number of trips, both interstate and international, by School groups. In February, the cricketers were the guests of Scotch College in Adelaide; the First VIII participated in the Australian Schoolboys' Rowing Championships at Murray Bridge, South Australia; the First XVIII was victorious in the Interstate Football Carnival held at Geelong; the rugby team toured South-East Asia, competing against high schools and colleges; and during the August holidays, a drama group attended a drama festival in Canberra. These trips have proved an enormous success, both in providing valuable experience to those participating and in uniting a group of boys in one common interest.

Wittenoom was again a great success. This year, Mr Truscott was "our man in the north". I am sure Wittenoom 1972 played a large part in developing a group of Fifth Years into a group of tremendously close friends with whom I was proud to be associated and if this is what Wittenoom is doing, then it is worth every minute of those two weeks spent away from school.

Great spirit was shown in the cadets this year, when after being given the opportunity to withdraw during the year, the majority remained to complete the full year of training.

1973 was certainly a year of achievements to be proud of and achievements which all boys of the School can look back on and say they were part of it.

These successes, however, came only from a genuine effort from the whole school body and if this effort can be maintained in future years, Hale will continue to foster a spirit amongst its members which inevitably leads to success on the sporting field, in the classroom and in the outside world. This spirit stems from a unity which all in the School must strive for.

I would like to express my thanks, on behalf of all in the School, to all parents, to all coaches and to all masters who supported the School throughout the year and devoted their tireless energies to enhancing our opportunities for success.

THE JUNIOR CERTIFICATE

The Public Examination known as the Junior Certificate, is being phased out of the West Australian education system. After 1974, it will cease to exist. In all other schools in the State, the Achievement Certificate will replace it. This certificate sets no store on examinations, and is issued to students who have completed three years of secondary education. It certifies that they have attended a school, and indicates the level of achievement reached in the subjects studied. This level of achievement is assessed by a large number of internal tests.

Hale has not been attracted to the Achievement Certificate. It feels that while it serves a useful purpose for many, it is not useful for Hale. Hale does not consider it as educationally effective in encouraging students (and staff) to work hard and to aim high. These goals are very relevant to Hale which feels that a well-prepared examination of carefully estimated difficulty each year is an educational aid of higher quality than penny-packet tests. Hale also finds the role of a small, independent school, striving for excellence, necessarily different from that of a large, multi-purpose, government High School. What suits one does not necessarily apply to the other.

Hale, then, after 1974, will continue to hold a major Junior (third year) examination of all subjects taught in the previous two years. It will issue its own certificate based on this examination and will require all students to secure passes in these subjects before accepting them for fourth year studies.

For those students who leave school after three years of schooling, Hale feels certain that its reputation, its own certificate and its statement of subjects studied and marks gained, will be at least as effective for initial employment as an Achievement Certificate. For those who remain, it is equally certain the boy will begin fourth and fifth year studies with a much sounder basis than had he worked under the Achievement Certificate system.

TONY ABABIE 1961-1973

Tony Ababie was born in Roumania on the 8th January, 1921. He studied Economics at the Roumanian Academie and can speak seven languages. During the War he was a Lieutenant in both the Roumanian and German armies. He was captured by the Russians in 1941 and remained a prisoner for two and a half years until 1944. He escaped from Russia into Roumania and continued into Yugoslavia. He was captured again and imprisoned. After two years in gaol, he was put in a prison factory. From there he escaped into Austria (English sector) where he decided to come to Australia. He went to South Australia in 1951 on a two year contract to pay for his outward passage. He worked in Whyalla at the Railway Machine Shop until 1953 when his contract was completed. He then came to Western Australia and worked with Pope and Chamberlain. In 1961, he started working for Hale School and helped with the change from West Perth to Wembley Downs.

Tony was head of the maintenance staff at the School until the end of second term this year. He has been a valuable asset to the School. Tony would have liked to have been a teacher, but his lack of English prevented this, so he sought work at Hale School to help maintain the services. By doing this he felt he was contributing, in some measure, to education. He believes that Hale is a well equipped school and that there is a strong school-spirit among the boys.

On 10th September he set sail from Fremantle, and is now enjoying a well-earned holiday in Europe. Our Bon Voyage wishes are with him.

MR F. C. CONSTANTINE 1965-1973

Following his education at Perth Modern School, Frank Constantine joined the Education Department in 1918. He studied simultaneously at the University of Western Australia and Claremont Teachers' College. By 1922, he had completed an Arts degree and gained the Teachers' Higher Certificate.

After three years in the Primary Schools he was appointed to the foundation staff of the Albany High School. In 1937, he was transferred to his alma mater, Perth Modern School, where he taught until he was appointed a lecturer in Education and English at Claremont Teachers' College in 1951. In 1965, he retired from the Department and came to Hale School.

For the last eight years, Mr Constantine has taught English at Hale, as well as being actively engaged in other spheres of School activities. During this time, Hale and its students have benefitted greatly from his wide knowledge and from his wonderful sense of humour which frequently interrupted the normal routine of the classroom.

Whilst at Hale, Mr Constantine has been responsible for the introduction of two new magazines. "Inscope", a literary magazine, has created a great incentive for students to show their talents in the field of writing. "Hale Stones" was introduced to give students "an opportunity to publish details of extra-curricular activities and to express individual opinions on topical, controversial matters and on aspects of school policy". Subsequently, some excellent literary work and articles have been published in these journals.

During his teaching career, Mr Constantine has taught English, Maths, Physics, French, Applied Maths, Economics and History. In addition to these, he has maintained wide interest in tennis, football, cricket, swimming, gymnastics and athletics (in 1973, he still coached high jump).

He is retiring permanently after fifty-six years of continuous service in the teaching profession. We wish to thank him for his great dedication to his profession and to Hale School and wish him many years of happy retirement.

House Prefects: L. H. BEAMAN, R. A. LILBURNE, G. J. LYON

The 1973 Buntine year began very well. Old members and new were welcomed by the House Master and L. H. Beaman, R. A. Lilburne and G. J. Lyon were made House Prefects. For the first time the House had joint Captains — Gary Jeffrey and Kim Noack.

Sport was off to a great start, when, organised by 'Taff' Lyon and with all Buntine swimming well, the House won the swimming. With only G. J. Lyon, R. J. Marsh, P. M. Gaunt and J. Birman in the victorious Inters Team, Buntine performed an almost impossible task in winning both the D. F. Poake Cup for freestyle relays and the G. N. Altorfer Cup for overall competition. Cricket, too, was strong. A youngish team, led by the veterans G. P. Jeffrey and L. H. Beaman, combined well to win the Parker Cup for the first time in many years. These two magnificent efforts were almost matched in Tennis and the Sholl Cup (for Basketball, Baseball, Volleyball and Longball), where Buntine recorded two fine seconds. Tennis was captained by Bruce Murray, while K. J. Goodridge, E. V. Tarik, G. J. Lyon, J. C. Broun and N. R. Macdonald were the captains of the Team-games teams. The Rowers, led by L. W. White and G. J. Townsend, were fourth, finding the Boarders a little too strong. It had been a spirited term!

Buntine Hockey was down a little this year but all players battled on manfully under the respective leaderships of P. S. Anderson and N. R. Macdonald. Footballers, however, dominated their competitions and won the Cup again. Though missing the Firsts stars, Lilburne, Bodycoat, Jeffrey and Beaman, the senior team, led by K. J. Noack beat Wilson in a fiery grand final while the juniors, under J. R. Davidson, fought out a good game against Haynes. Is the Macmillan Madness rubbing off on Buntine? Every member of the House ran in the Cross Country and this fact, allied with tremendous spirit, saw the House retain the Cross Country Cup. Special praise goes to 'The Mouth' Lilburne who won his race for the fourth consecutive year. Congratulations were also due to M. L. Rose, on winning the State Novice Boxing Championship after only nine months training.

Third term was Buntine's best for many years. After the hard training supervised by Mr Wapnah, Mr Williams and the Prefects, Buntine silenced the other Houses and won all sections of the Athletics Competition. This surprise win of the two Cups for relays and the overall competition was the result of the great spirit shown by the House. Buntine's Inters members included the Captain of Athletics, Lilburne and also Noack, Goodridge, McSporran, Bodycoat, White and Sarinas, who all trained tirelessly and gave of their best on the day.

And so almost traditionally, indeed for the seventh year in a row, Buntine easily won the Cock House Cup. This great effort reflects the attitude of all Buntinians who gave of their best and make true the claim that 'you should do what you do do well!' They have been assisted by the fact that Boarding House numbers were down but it was the Buntine enthusiasm which made for success. In other aspects of the School Buntine has made its mark. The work on the Cygnet Committee of L. W. White, the Co-editor, and P. V. Bodycoat deserves special mention. Few realise the amount of work involved in producing the School magazine. C. J. Rogers was our man in Chess and Corporals Taylor and Mengler with Sergeants Prideaux, Paterson and White were efficient N.C.O.s in the Cadets. In music too, K. S. Harrison, M. P. Anderson and M. N. Allan on trumpet and S. G. Wholer on clarinet, have done extremely well and all are members of the School Band. The Fourth Years enjoyed their Wittenoom experiences in second term and produced interesting assignments. A Tourist Survey of Wittenoom conducted by A. P. Paterson, G. J. Townsend and G. G. Orriss examines one of the most important aspects of the whole region. G. D. P. Bailey, too, is to be congratulated on winning a Science Talen award for his biological studies.

School work has, of course, had top priority. G. P. Jeffrey, J. C. Broun, A. P. Prideaux, A. P. Paterson, K. J. Goodridge, M. H. Beaman, M. N. Allen and S. J. Barrymore are well placed academically, but others too (often of less talent) have been diligent in their studies and results should be good.

The House tries to be a group, to set itself standards at Assembly, in dress, in dignity and involvement. True, the House tries in sport, but it tries in everything: in Charities we collected a substantial amount of money. The Prefects, again, have led the House well but perhaps the success of Buntine is due to 'Mac'. He is so involved in the House and its members. This was typified one day when, because he wanted Buntine to look the best at Chapel, he gave us a demonstration of the correct praying position. "Knees together, back straight, hands slightly clasped and all done with an air of dignity" were the words we heard while he showed us the position on the floor. It is because of such interest and enthusiasm that Buntine is a good House and we thank Mr Macmillan for his involvement.

Faulkner began the year with an influx of 16 new boys which swelled house numbers to the highest level in several years. Mr Gidney appointed the Prefects and with many words welcomed the new boys to life with a great House.

John Berry, Mike Batchelor and Laurie Pearce had been involved with the School for an extra week, having participated in the annual camp for rowers.

Faulkner fared well in the sports of First Term. In cricket, our team, captained by Glen Hardie, was rewarded with second place. Our tennis team, ably led by Lindsay Garstone, tried hard all season BUT Again, the Boarding Houses dominated the rowing and the Faulkner men, Berry, Pearce (2nd VIII), Brown (U16 IV) and Mike Batchelor (our sole 1st VIII representative) finished a strong third. The swimmers, however met with little success.

The minor sports, which involved most members of the House, saw Faulkner prominent. The basketball team, with only one member who had ever played before, lost only three matches. Strongest players were Chris King and Sean Reger. The baseball, under Mark Willey, batted well while the long-ballers fared well under the captaincy of Bill Mengler. Volleyballers, led by Mike Westlake, were also successful in their sport.

Congratulations go to the House's First team representatives: Rowing—Laurie Pearce; Swimming—Steve Arrow; Tennis—Lindsay Garstone; Cricket—Kim Gray, Geoff Marsh, Robbie McLarty, Phil North and Stephen McKelvie. John Berry and Laurie Pearce were selected for the crew which rowed at Murray Bridge in the Australian Schoolboy Championships.

Second Term saw the House without Sean Reger. In the sports' arena, this term was our finest. Mr Gidney gave strong support while either frustrated or highly emotional, to our junior and senior football and hockey teams: happiness when the juniors won, anger when the senior hockey players missed a goal (the score was 10-0 at the time), frustration when the football hit the goal post and nonchalant superiority when talking with the "immaculate" professional, A. J.

Our hockey players did not lose a game throughout the season (this includes both senior and junior teams). The senior team was made up almost entirely of 1st and 2nd XI players and could not be faulted in their play, and deserves special mention on two counts. In one game 31 goals were scored and throughout the nine game season scored a hundred goals for only three against. Both these are remarkable feats and will remain for many years as a record for high scoring. Naturally, this team won the inter-Boarding House competition. The victorious hockey team featured 1st XI players in Lindsay Garstone, Chris King, Glen Hardie and Steve McKelvie.

The footballers were magnificent in coming second to Buntine by only two points. Inter-Boarding House football was almost a foregone conclusion with Wilson House having six members of the 1st XVIII in their side. Faulkner played hard to beat Loton and though defeat was a formality in the final, the Faulkner team, led by Mike Batchelor, played a valiant game. The football team was initially led by Laurie Pearce until an unfortunate crack appeared in his collarbone, forcing him to retire to the coach's bench.

The junior football team was captained by Geoff Marsh and like the junior hockey team, which was captained by Glenn Rogers, won the junior division. The success of these teams suggest Faulkner will perform well next year in these games.

Second Term saw Faulkner blessed with a significant number of blue blazers at morning assembly. Apart from our hockey players, Mike Batchelor and Robbie McLarty were regular members of the 1st XVIII while Kim Riseborough, Chris Reynolds, Mike Mitchell and Peter Brown played 1st XV Rugby.

The end of Second Term saw us bidding farewells to Rocco Masiello, the Birman brothers and the younger Knowles.

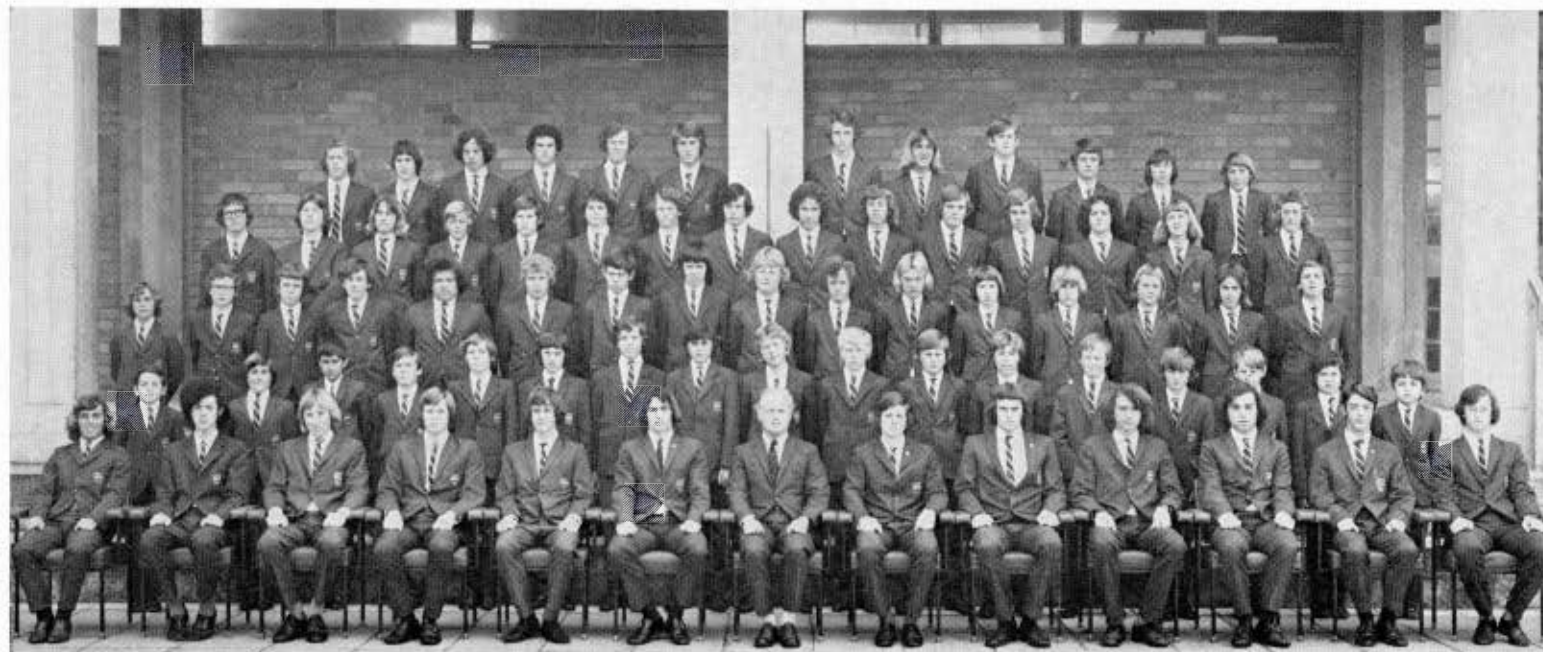

One must mention the political scene in the House with the son of a Liberal senator and the grandson of a Labour Premier in the same prep-room. Needless to say, Party stickers proclaiming "Don't blame me . . ." and other equally facile advice appeared. The House began to assume the gay atmosphere of Parliament itself!

Third Term began with Mr Gidney persistently emphasizing the need to study. Once again, the House began training together for the inter-House athletic competition but on the day we managed to come only sixth.

After this, nothing remains but to settle into further and more determined pre-Leaving preparations. As one of those who leaves the House, I do so with regret and say to those who will stay to hold the Faulkner banner: "Honoris Fer Lampada Semper".

Housemaster: Mr A. TAYLOR

House Captain: D. H. WILLIAMS

School Prefect: D. H. WILLIAMS

House Prefects: M. N. BENSON, J. P. CODDE, D. B. PRITCHARD, R. M. PULLIN

At the commencement of the year, Mr Taylor, again Housemaster of Haynes, welcomed us all, especially the new boys who absorbed his wisps of wisdom and his unusual stories from Aden and other far-off places. With this, the boys were now initiated and ready to undergo whatever perils Hale might have to offer them in 1973.

We congratulated Dean Williams on his appointment as House Captain and as a School Prefect. The House Prefects were also appointed at our first meeting.

Haynes was strongly represented in the Cadet Corps by Under Officers Jim Codde and Mike Benson. We also had the CSM of B Company, Ian Farmer, with us. Later in the year, Ian was selected to visit the Duntroon Military College. On his return, he gave an interesting account of the trip. As well, several NCOs added to our army strength.

With the swimming season in full swing, Don Pritchard was commended on his appointment as Captain of Swimming. At the School Championships, Pritchard was the Open champion. Wayne House and Antony Quick also swam well in these championships. Larry House swam strongly to become the Under 15 champion. Subsequently, Haynes was well-represented in the "seven-in-a-row" Inters.

Dean Williams was another to make the headlines for Haynes. After two years as a member of the First VI. He was named Captain of Tennis. Later, Williams' brilliant efforts were rewarded when he was given Honours for tennis.

Understandably, the Haynes' tennis team, consisting of Dean Williams, Kim Wallman, Clive Wilderspin and Mike Benson, won the Inter-House tennis.

Haynes' cricketers to win selection with the First XI were "Polly" Farmer, Rod Pullin and Keith Marshall while Drew Herron rowed in the First VIII.

With the advent of winter, winter sports teams were drawn up and despite a number of "casualties", Haynes was able to field some very good teams.

The junior and senior hockey teams put up a good battle in most matches, though the opposition this year was unusually strong.

The junior football team, inspired by Mark Spencer, played some brilliant games which subsequently took it into the final, where, however, victory eluded Haynes. The senior team had an extremely erratic season. After defeating some of the top House teams they inexplicably lost to the bottom team! Nevertheless, some good football was played.

In the Inter-House Rugby Competition, Haynes fought well to win the first round but was defeated in the second round.

We had a number of representatives in the First teams this term with Peter Farmer, Don Pritchard and Dean Williams in the glorious First XVIII, John Packham and Wayne House in the First XI hockey side and Adam Gollow and Mike Benson in the strong First XV.

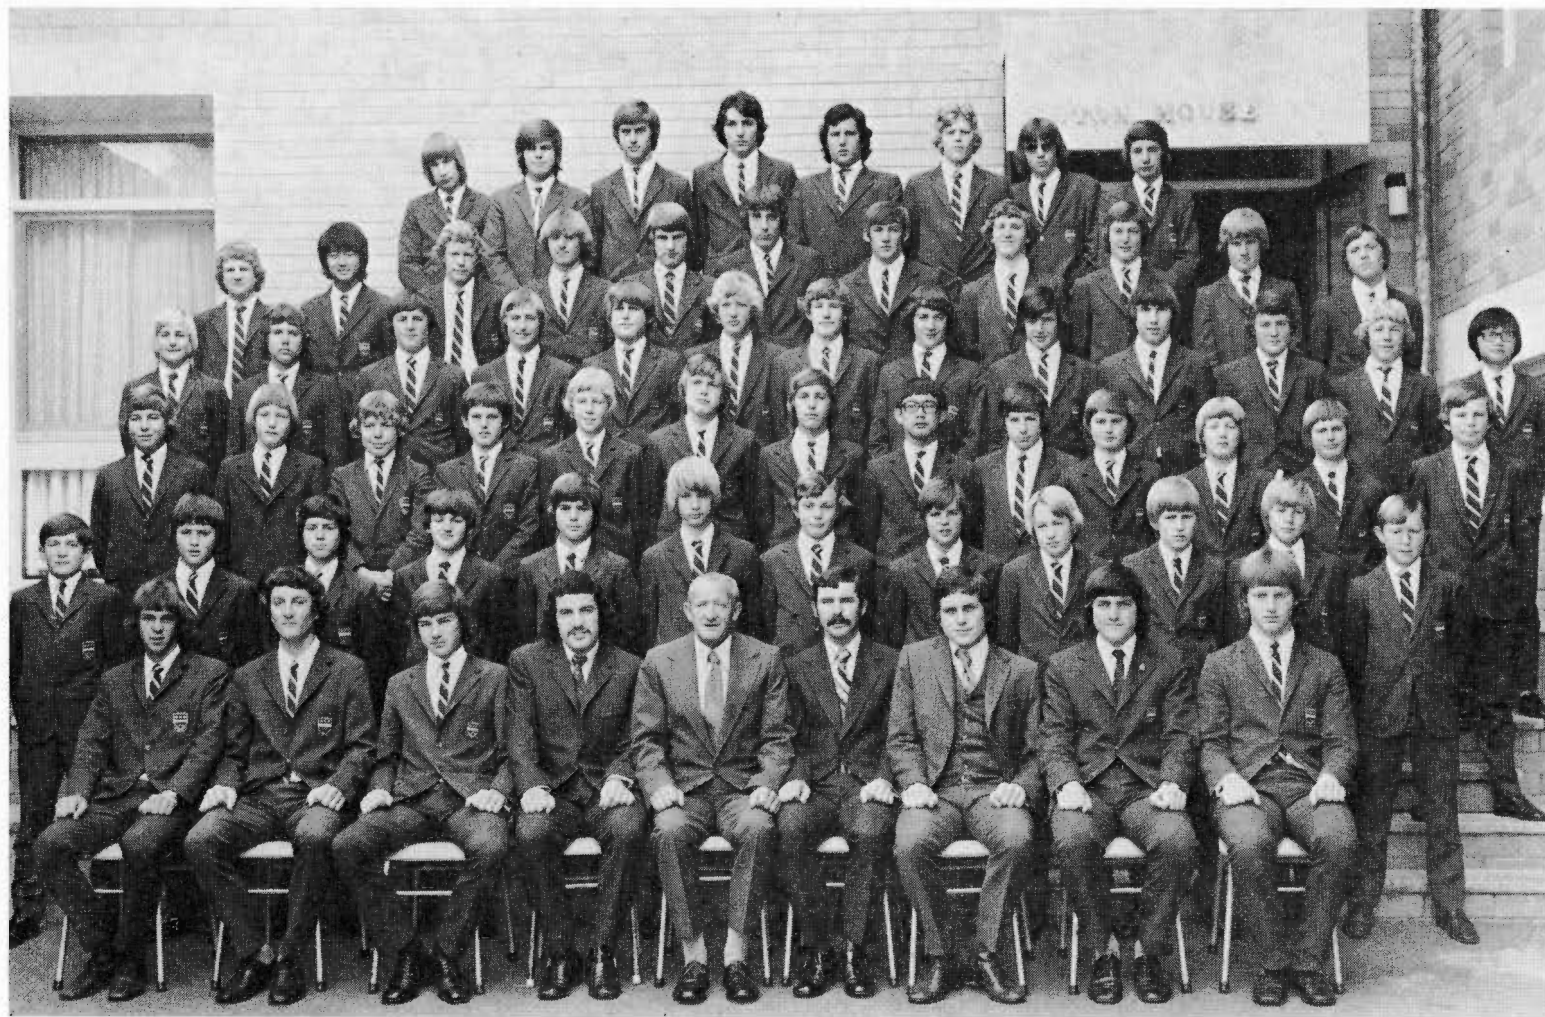

After the gruelling round of winter sports, everyone was at the peak of condition and ready to make Haynes a strong contender again for the Athletics Cup which we won last year. Exhausting training sessions were led by Mr Taylor, Mr Wheeler and the Prefects. There was soon quite a glow of enthusiasm but despite the hard efforts of every boy in the House, Buntine proved to be mildly superior on the day of the sports, taking the cup from us.

We had several outstanding athletes in the Inters squad. Marty Johnson and Antony Quick were champions in their age groups and also won their events at the Inters. Don Pritchard was the School Open champion and also performed creditably in the Inters. Apart from these athletes, Haynes was represented by P. Farmer, D. Williams, D. Herron, D. Vaux and M. Spencer.

Throughout the year, Haynes boys participated in virtually every aspect of School activity. Consequently, we maintained a strong House and School spirit.

Our thanks are extended to Mr Taylor for another successful year as Housemaster. Thanks also to the senior students who contributed to the efficient running of the House. Finally, "Good Luck!" to all those leaving School and to those who will stay to toil again in the name of Haynes.

Loton

Housemaster: Mr T. D. HOAR

Resident Masters: Mr J. C. CRAIG, Mr R. GLOVER, Mr C. VSKA

House Captains: L. D. McLARTY, A. J. YORK

House Prefects: J. H. LENTHALL, G. J. KEYNES, R. M. SANDERY

School Prefect: L. D. McLARTY

Loton welcomed twenty-one new boys and one new resident master to the House in 1973. Settling-in was accomplished with a minimum of fuss and all looked forward hopefully to a good year.

The House proved to be spirited and determined in the field of sport. On the day of the Head of the River, four of the six strokes came from Loton while Harry Lenthall and Lou Anderson were the House's representatives in the First VIII.

Henry Cooke, John Mathews and Bob Sandery were chosen in the magnificent swimming team which won the Inters. A determined effort in the Inter-House swimming pushed Loton to fifth position, though a first was gained in terms of the Inter-Boarding House competition.

House cricket and tennis can look forward to greater success in future years since our 1973 teams were made up of younger House members.

Early in the term, we ventured south to Mandurah where, with the help of parents, we had a most enjoyable day.

A night out to see "The Poseidon Adventure" ended the First Term for Loton.

Interest in Second Term rested, naturally, with football and hockey.

The capable leadership of Bob Sandery enabled our understarred senior football side to fill fifth position. John Mathews led the junior footballers who played strongly to upset many of the top sides during the season. Our representatives in the victorious First XVIII were Andy Clapin, Greg Keynes, Leigh McLarty and Bob Sandery.

A major problem facing our senior hockey side was the inability to field a team. Captain Peter Russell played many games with a back injury and often the team was made up of rugby and junior players. Thanks to the fighting spirit of the captain, Loton finished a creditable fifth in the senior hockey. Junior hockey was the pride of the House in finishing equal first. Much of the credit must go to Dick Whittington whose inspired captain's speeches fired the team to victory. Loton's representatives in the First XI were Fleay and the outstanding goalkeeper, Chan.

Cross-country brought further glory to Loton. The Under 17 runners were very strong and led by the winner, Andy Clapin, gained sufficient points to take first place. The Under 14s put up an amazing performance by filling the first five places to give Loton second position in this age group. The first five were (in order) D. Woodall, C. Ednie-Brown, J. Seed, G. Jones and D. Tuckey. Having fewer numbers than other Houses placed Loton at a considerable disadvantage, but with every member striving to gain maximum points, Loton was able to finish in second position. Our congratulations go to David Tuckey for winning the Under 13 inter-school cross-country championship and to Colin Ednie-Brown for filling third place in the Under 14 division.

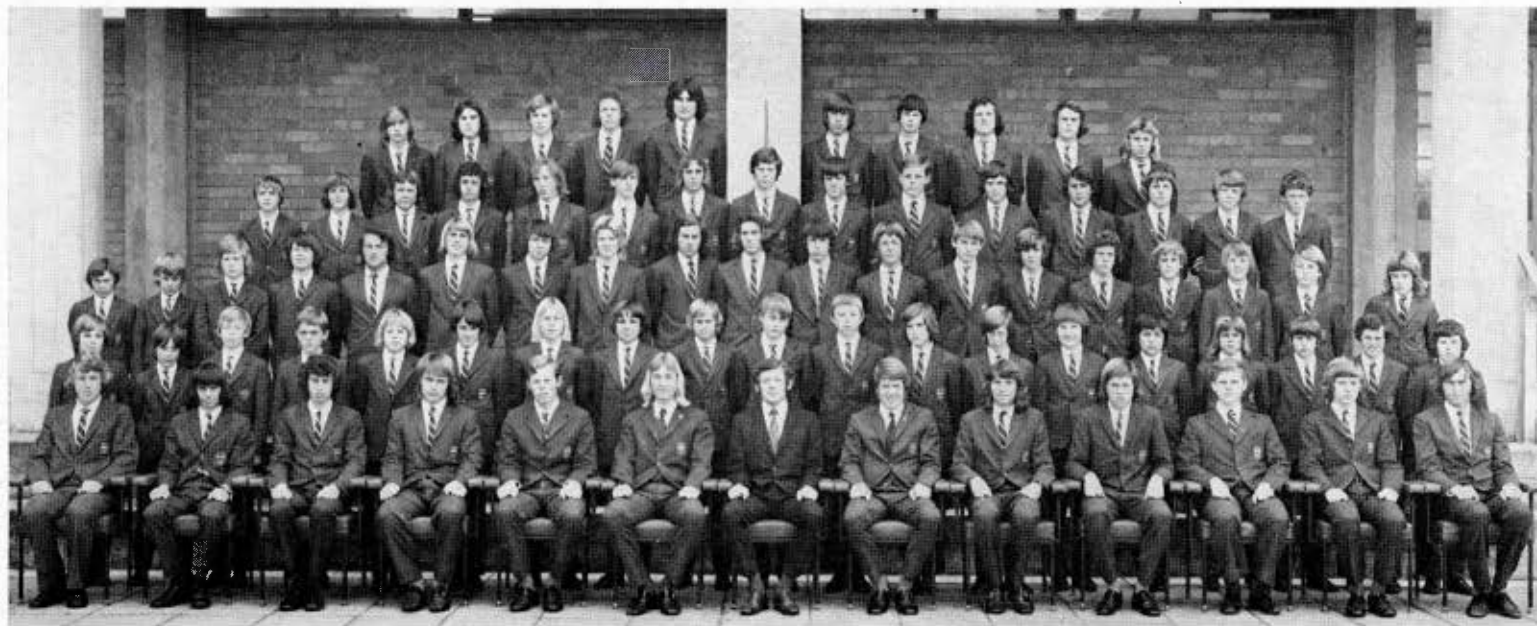

Towards the end of term, a barbecue and relaxing evening helped ease the tensions brought on by exams. A night at the pictures, this time "Jeremiah Johnson", made an enjoyable end to Second Term.

Third Term started with intensive athletics training for the Inter-House competition to be held on the fifth Wednesday of term. Again, with the disadvantage in numbers, Loton gave another spirited and outstanding performance. Fierce determination gave us fourth position overall and first in the Inter-Boarding House competition. P. B. Smith won the title of Under 17 champion. Smith, together with D. Tuckey, S. York, R. Laurenson, A. Goyder, A. Clapin, M. Meredith and S. Gelle, represented Loton in the School's athletic squad.

1973 marks the end of an era for Loton House since the first Housemaster of Loton, Mr T. D. Hoar, relinquishes his post. The best wishes of the House and our sincere thanks for a job well done go with Mr and Mrs Hoar. I'm sure Loton boys will give their complete support to the new Housemaster, Mr Towers and that together they will continue to uphold the great traditions of Loton which have been established under Mr Hoar. It is difficult to say much about Mr Hoar in a few words. Perhaps the most fitting way to farewell him and to sum up his work is to say that he has epitomised the words: SERVICE, FRIENDSHIP and CITIZENSHIP.

First Term began with the appointment of Dave Aitken as House Captain with Mike Salmon, Ralph Gibson, Ken Wheeler and Peter Williamson as House Prefects. Dave Aitken and Ken Wheeler were also appointed School Prefects and Mike Salmon was made Captain of the School. This was somewhat of a change because we have not had many School Prefects in the Parry House ranks over the past few years. Parry did not feature prominently in Team Games and we finished seventh in the Sholl Cup for Team Games. However, special mention must be made of the Junior Basketball Team, which finished second in their competition, and the Volleyball team which finished third. The Inter-House Swimming Carnival was held on Wednesday, March 14th at the Hale Pool. Despite our lack of school swimmers (only Jeff Morris in the Under 14, and Steve King in the Under 15, made the final squad) there was a strong spirit and we managed to finish sixth in the G. N. Altorfer Cup. Ralph Gibson, our sole member of the First VI, captained the Parry House tennis team. There was plenty of enthusiasm among the tennis players but they could finish only seventh. Mike Salmon was made Captain of Cricket for 1973 and he, with the help of our other First XI members, Ken Wheeler and Colin Payne, formed the backbone of our team. Special mention must be made of Ken Wheeler who knocked up quite a few runs in the House games. Parry finished equal fourth, with Wilson, in the Parker Cup for Inter-House Cricket. Parry again lacked rowers but we managed to finish fifth in the George Rogers Cup for Inter-House Rowing. First Term ended with Mike Salmon, Ken Wheeler, Peter Williamson and Brian Neilsen being selected to represent the school in the First XVIII which toured to Geelong in the May holidays.

Second Term began with Football and Hockey as the Inter-House Sports. Congratulations must go to Pete Williamson on his appointment as Captain of Football for 1973 and to Ken Wheeler for being made Vice-Captain. Mike Salmon, Ralph Gibson and Gary Fletcher also played in the First XVIII during the season. Many of our better footballers left at the end of last year and we had to rely upon the Rugby players to furnish a side. The senior House team, captained by Dave Aitken, finished sixth in their competition while the junior team, captained by Dave's younger brother, Mike, finished seventh. Parry finished eighth in the Devenish Cup for Inter-House football.

Lee Caddy was our sole representative in the First XI hockey side. The senior House hockey team, captained by Craig Kinsman, finished eighth in their competition. A relatively stronger junior team, captained by Simon Dean, finished fifth. Parry finished 8th in the Brine Cup.

The Inter-House Cross-Country was held on Wednesday, 20th June. Unfortunately, we lost some of our better runners at the end of last year and we had to be satisfied with eighth in this competition, with a total of 15 points. However, special mention must be made of Colin Payne who came second in the U/15 age group, and Charlie Love, who came fourth in the U/16 age group.

Second Term ended with our sights set on athletics, traditionally one of our better sports.

Third Term began with a major change in the House structure. Mr Altorfer, who had been the House master since the inception of Parry House in 1961, retired, and Mr Gray took his place. Mr Altorfer felt that a younger man was needed to lead the House and this was his main reason for retiring. We would all like to thank Mr Altorfer for the tremendous work he has done over the past twelve years. It seems quite hard to imagine Parry House without him but we are all confident that Mr Gray will prove to be a worthy successor.

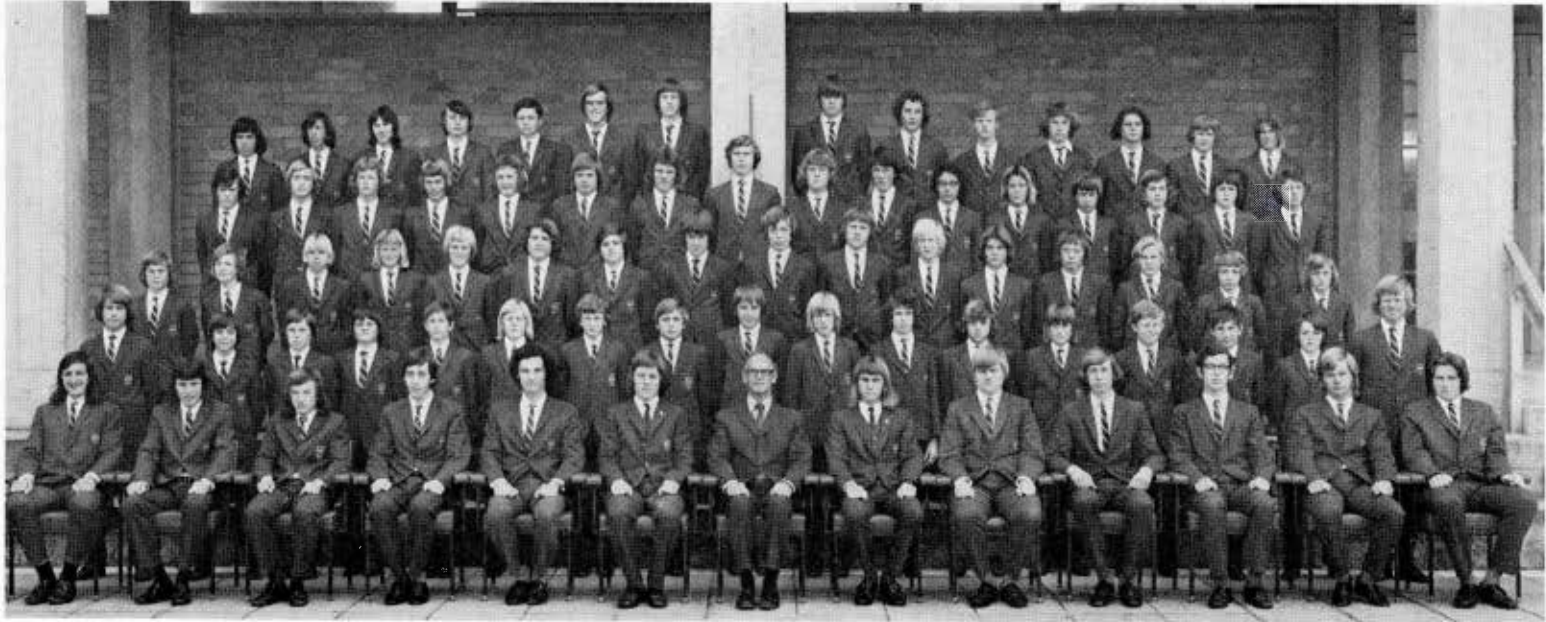

The Inter-House Athletics was held on Wednesday, October 10th on Craig Oval. Parry managed to maintain their third position in the T. F. Hantke Cup for Athletics. We came fifth in the Housemasters' Cup for Relays. The members of Parry in the Intersquad were Ken Wheeler, Pete Williamson, Mike Dye, Gary Fletcher, Brian Neilson, Ian Lilburne, Allan Rokich, Charlie Love, Colin Payne, Peter Schwier, Boele Van Hensbroek and Tim Oldham.

Parry finished eighth in the Cock House Cup.

The House members wish to thank Mr Clune and Mr Shields for their help with our athletics team. We would also like to thank Mr Altorfer and Mr Gray for the great job they have done in leading the House through 1973.

Housemaster: Mr. D. F. POAKE

House Captain: G. E. YEATS School Prefects: G. E. YEATS, G. T. TOMLIN

House Prefects: J. C. CRAWFORD, A. M. NYMAN, R. B. NAGEL

Riley House began in 1973 under the guidance of Mr Poake and due to his supervision, quickly settled into a smoothly run unit. Gary Yeats was appointed House Captain with Geoff Tomlin as vice-captain, while later in the term both were appointed as School Prefects.

Riley's officers in the Cadet Unit were W.O.I.—J. Guhl; R.Q.M.S. W.O.I.—P. L. Walkemeyer; W.O.2.—P. Reed and Sgt. R. J. Wolff, P. L. Walkemeyer, P. Piggott and M. S. King were members of the Inter-School Christian Fellowship Group.

Riley's sporting successes were average. Despite Mr Poake's enthusiastic encouragement, our swimmers could manage only third place. Riley was represented in the School swimming team by D. Murphy, D. Rechichi and C. Cichini. Special mention must be made of Rechichi and Cichini, both in First Year, who swam in the Australian Swimming Championships, where Rechichi swam particularly well to come fourth in his age group.

Gary Milne led our rowers this year. In the boats, we improved on our last of 1972 to come seventh. Frank Paterson won a seat in the First VIII as cox.

Although not as successful as in previous years, we nevertheless fared reasonably well in cricket. Our two First XI representatives in Yeats and Tomlin led a side which contained a number of promising juniors.

With nearly the entire Second VI playing tennis for Riley, the team, under Andrew Nyman, took out fifth position in the Inter-House tennis.

The greatest disappointment of the first term was the poor showing by Riley in the team games. Despite courageous efforts to rise beyond eighth position, the endeavours of our players were not enough and we remained in this dismal position. Graham Orriss led the "A" basketball team while Stan Smith captained our "B" team which came first in its division. The volleyball side was ably led by C. Vinciullo and the longball team played well under the leadership of David Ansley.

During First and Second Terms, M. S. King wrote a number of copies of "Wittenoom Wanderer", a news-sheet which told of the activities of the Wittenoom Groups.

J. Crawford, B. J. Walkemeyer, A. Nyman and D. Brown were Riley's representatives in the Chess Club.

M. S. King and D. Brown were members of the Debating Society. M. S. King debated in the No. 2 Senior Team (Fourth Year team) while D. Brown was a member of the Junior team.

Riley fared well in football and hockey in Second Term. In football, our seniors and juniors came fourth and eighth respectively, while our hockey players turned in good performances to result in a fourth for the seniors and a third for the juniors. Except for the junior football, Riley was a force to be reckoned with. Gary Yeats was our sole representative in the highly successful First XVIII. Our other Firsts players were Hughie Stevens in the First XV and Richard Wolff in the First XI.

The senior football won against all the Day Houses, including the eventual winners, Buntine. However, against the physical strength of the Boarding Houses, Riley had to lower its colours, except against Loton whom we defeated by two points. A team of consistent triers represented us in the junior football. Led by a talented player in Mark Ashdown, Riley always tried hard but the odds were against us and we had to settle for eighth position.

Vincent Butler captained the senior hockey team while Peter Orriss led a side of promising junior players. With an overall strength in hockey, Riley can expect improvement here in 1974.

By gaining fifth position in the Cross Country competition, Riley improved considerably on its results of previous years. Paul Roberts won the Under 16 race and Michael Styles was runner-up in the Under 17 event.

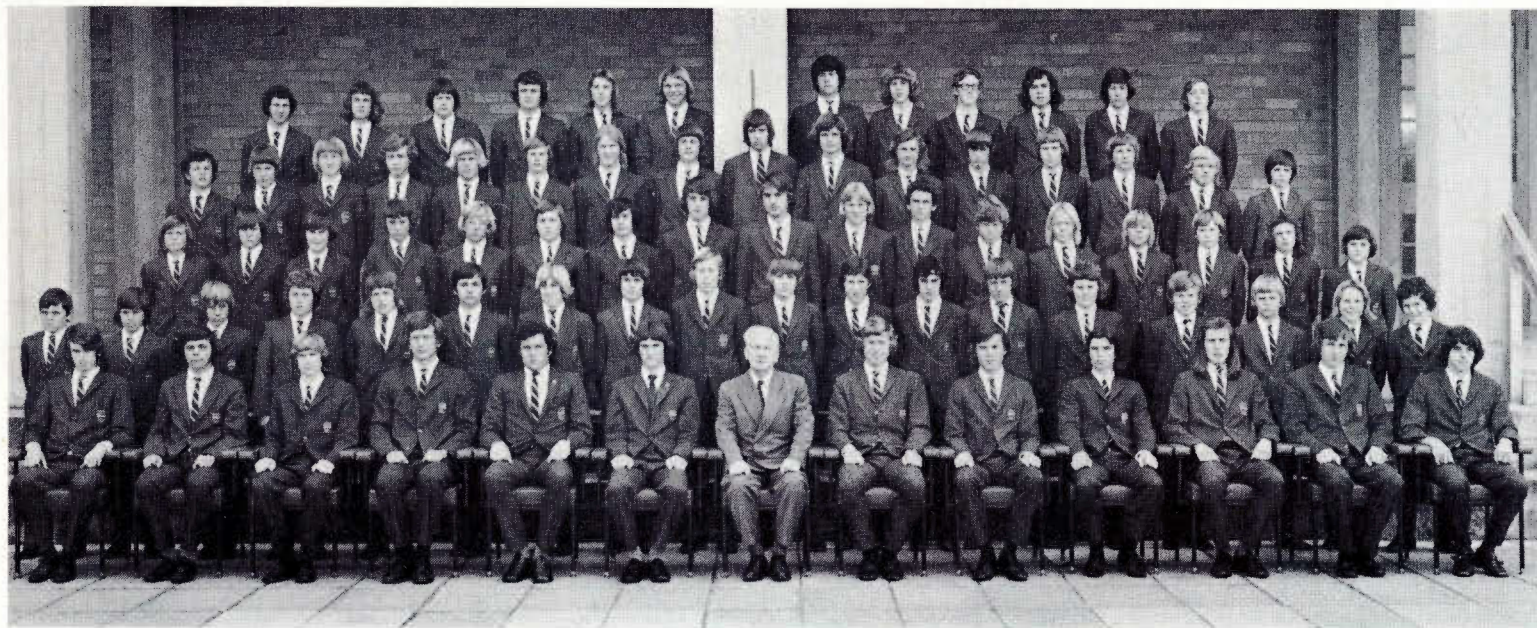

During Third Term, the House Charities Collector, John Crawford, told us that we had given over $50.00 to Charities this year—an excellent effort!

Third Term began with athletics training in preparation for the Inter-House Athletics Carnival which was held on October 9th. On the day of the carnival, we were filled with a great deal of enthusiasm. All performed well in their events, but when the final points were tallied, Riley was placed seventh in the competition for the Hantke Cup. School runners from Riley were G. Yeats, I. R. Roberts, M. T. Styles, R. Sear, K. Halligan, P. A. Roberts, M. Jones, M. Ashdown, A. Home and J. Thew.

Overall, the year has been a satisfactory one for Riley House. We have been represented by House members in Cadets, Chess, Debating and all sports. Again, we wish to thank Mr Poake for his tireless efforts on our behalf throughout the year.

House Captain: K. J. ATKINS

School Prefect: K. J. ATKINS

House Prefects: P. R. TAYLOR, B. ZINK, P. M. MALCOLM

At the beginning of term, K. Atkins, P. Malcolm and P. Taylor were appointed as House Prefects. Ken Atkins was made a School Prefect and captain of Stirling. Brad Zink was appointed as a Prefect later in the term.

Stirling House, although showing signs of improvement in previous years, excelled this term. The swimming was the first major sporting event contested with a large number of boys training with the School Inters squad. They were Paul Malcolm, Peter Taylor, Brad Hancock, Jim Morcombe, the Hughes brothers, P. Gregson, Kim Sandover, M. Henderson, C. Zimbulis, M. Buttsworth, J. Cox, G. Silbert and L. Roberts. Although not all swam on the night, the large number challenging for places reflects the spirit that took hold of the House this year. P. Malcolm, the Hughes, J. Gregson and the Sandovers were all involved in successful water polo teams – reaching the Grand Finals. Congratulations are extended to Jim Morcombe for his successes in both State and Interstate diving competitions. With all this talent and a good House spirit, it is not surprising that we finished second in the G. N. Altorfer Cup.

Brad Zink, B. Edwards, Tony Sandover and D. Weatherly represented the school in the Head of the River regatta. This competition, the Sholl Cup, was Stirling's first win of the season and was made possible by our strong House and team spirit. Both the tennis and cricket teams were less successful. Neither had any school representatives in the first teams – the tennis, however, finished third and the cricket eighth. Peter Hughes, a fourth year, was selected as captain of cricket because there were no fifth years in the team. His team of youngsters can only improve in future years.

On returning to school, the House was faced with the difficult task of consolidating its position in the Cock House Cup. Buntine already having a substantial lead on us in first place.

In the Inter-House Cross Country, we managed only sixth but a special mention must go to R. G. C. Hood and G. C. Johnston who finished in the first five of their particular races.

The Senior Football Team, supervised by Paul Malcolm who was unfit for most games, battled hard to finish eighth. However, the Junior team, captained by David Sandover, played exceptionally well over the season and held first place overall, but lost in the final. In the A. S. Devenish Cup, we came equal fourth.

This year, both the captain of Rugby and the captain of Hockey were Stirlingites. Congratulations are extended to Brad Zink and Peter Taylor and our other School representatives, R. Hood (rugby) and Ken Atkins (captain of the Second XI).

The House hockey teams showed great promise and the senior team even had visions of winning. With many players from either the First or Second XI, the backbone of the team was strong, and most of the season we played well, losing only one match. However, Wittenoom struck and with P. Kirkby (goalie) and Jim Morcombe away, we lost one match and drew the other. This left us fighting for third position in the final which we lost.

The junior team, although less talented, worked diligently for their fourth position. Therefore in the Brine Cup, we were fourth overall.

Before Second Term exams commenced, Ralph James returned home after a year in France. He obviously enjoyed himself and also passed his exams (equivalent of our Matriculation) in France, which enables him to enter any University in France. A very commendable effort.

Not long after, Brad Zink and Richard Hood left with the First XV on their South-East Asian rugby tour. Meanwhile, the rest of the House set about the job of examinations and the long-awaited August holidays which followed.

Athletics again assumed a minor role this year. House training operated with the minimum of fuss and on the day we came last. We obviously lacked the talent of other Houses, as well as the positive approach so vital for success. There were three victors in first division events, John Storey in U/14 High Jump, and Brad Zink and Peter Taylor in the Open and U/17 Shot Putt respectively.

Regretfully, the House was informed that Mr Loveland was to step down as House Master at the end of this year. Mr Loveland enjoyed his Housemastership and only relinquished his position in favour of the younger Mr Lupton. Ken Atkins presented Mr Loveland with a token of gratitude on behalf of the House members and those who have served under him and are now elsewhere.

After this, the Fifth Years left on study leave only to return for the Leaving and Matriculation Exams in the School Hall.

On behalf of the Fifth Years and those leaving, I wish the House well in the following years.

House Prefects: C. P. AYERS, J. E. CLARK, B. A. DEVENISH-MEARES, D. J. KIRTON

From that very first evening in the House, 1973 promised to be a good year for Wilson. Although only thirty six old boys of blue returned, the many new additions to the House ranks settled-in to the routine of boarding house quickly. Realising the urgent need for militia, the Prefects were sworn in and took up their different duties.

In terms of sporting endeavour, this first term was indeed a successful one. Wilson proved itself strong in rowing by coming second to Loton. Of our rowers, Ayers, Kirton and Thorn rowed with the First VIII — C. P. Ayers was Captain of Rowing, with D. J. Kirton his vice-captain. That other aquatic sport saw a dismal performance. Unfortunately, water still poses a fearful threat to us and we could do no better than last in the Inter-Boarding House swimming and be totally unrepresented in the winning Inters swimming team. F. A. Craig represented Wilson in tennis and captained the Mursell Shield team. Our First XI players were G. P. Dent and B. W. Shipway. In the Inter-House cricket, we managed to fill fourth place. A strong basketball team, led by K. J. Rose, was undefeated in the Inter-House competition.

At the end of First Term, five members of the House left with the First XVIII on its victorious tour of the Eastern States. Our tourists were B. A. Devenish-Meares, S. D. Ellis, F. A. Craig, G. P. Dent and G. S. Pollard.

We returned to begin Second Term with the usual curiosity to see who had left and who was "new". Altogether, there were five new faces in the House, one of which belonged to Mr Anderson who replaced Mr Atkins. Mr Anderson attacked his task with undaunting spirits although, for a while, his inexperience meant a good time for all when he was on duty. However, he soon mastered the tricks of the trade and became a master of control.

Our footballing travellers had returned and continued to play with the First XVIII and later were awarded symbols or colours. With such strong football talent we easily won the Inter-Boarding House Football though we were no match for the stronger Day Houses and could not do better than fourth.

We also had strong representation in the Rugby with J. Placanica, R. Brayshaw, B. Dickson, P. Syme and S. House playing regularly with the First XV. Naturally, we also won the K. S. Jones Cup for rugby — for the third successive year.

Although no Wilsonians gained a berth in the First XI hockey, the overall depth of our team, captained by T. Bogle, enable us to come a close second in the Inter-House.

Although Buntine proved to be slightly superior on the day, we maintained Wilson's good record in the Cross-Country by finishing second.

Towards the end of the term, J. Placanica, S. House and P. Syme left with the School Rugby team on its tour of S.E. Asia. From all reports, the tour was an enjoyable one and despite a lack of victory, all players gained valuable experience in the "art" of Rugby.

The "down-to-work" term came too quickly. After the hectic social round of Second Term, the Fifth years had to readjust rather drastically and focus attention on the onerous task of passing exams. Our strength in athletics was proven when J. Placanica, A. Craig, G. Pollard, G. Hall, B. Dickson, G. Thorn, G. Harris, I. Clarke, P. Riches and I. Brayshaw were included in the School Athletic squad.

Our genuine thanks are extended to the House Prefects, the Assistant House Masters and in particular to our House Master, Mr Massey, for making 1973 a great year for Wilson.

1973 was the first year Hale entered two Senior and Junior teams in the W.A. Secondary Schools Debating Federation Competition. As a result of this, more boys participated in the interschool activities of the Debating Society. Members of the Senior Team were D. G. Aitken, M. N. Benson, R. J. Egan, M. S. King, P. A. Kirkby, P. J. Litton and J. G. Morcombe. The members of the Junior Teams were M. S. Aitken, D. S. Brown, S. Buggins, L. Jones, P. D. Simpson, K. Spence, A. Taylor and D. J. Vaux.

The Hale No. 1 Senior Team started off well by defeating Mercedes and proving that "Family life has no future". In the second round, Hale lost narrowly to the strong Tuart Hill Senior High School Team in a well fought debate on the topic "Modern Man is mass produced". By losing this debate the team lost its chances of entering the finals. Hale lost the third debate against Sienna while attempting to prove "We readily accept what the media tells us".

The No. 2 Senior Team lost their first debate against John Curtin High School when they attempted to prove that "Ours in a self-fish society". However, in their second debate, the team convinced Morley Senior High School that "Today's social problems are being ignored". In their third and final debate with Wesley, on the theme "That the consumer needs protection", Hale took the negative argument and lost.

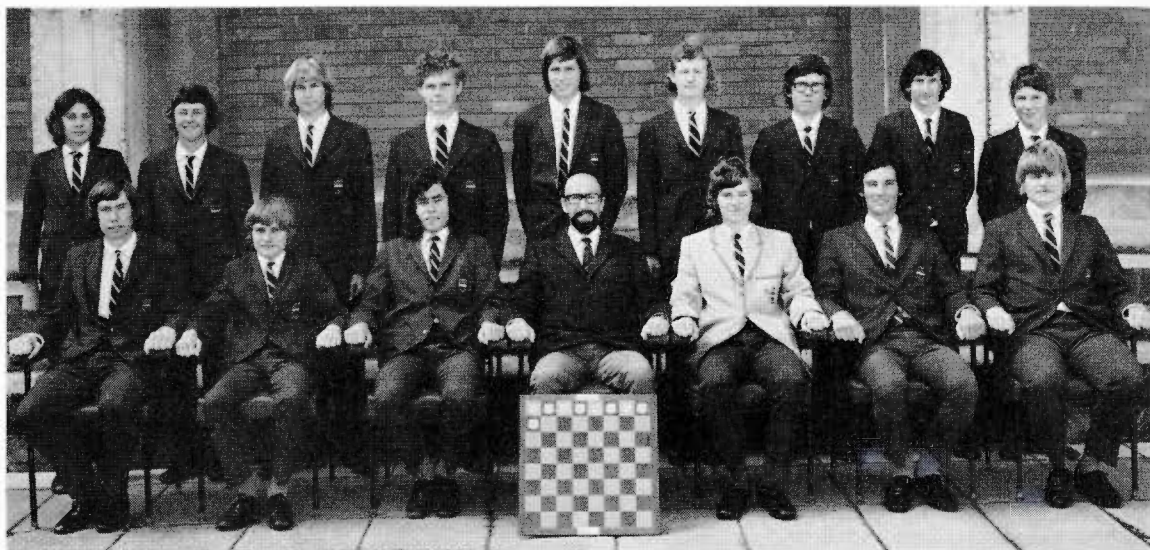

At present, social debates offer a greater scope to debaters because they are free from some of the "formalities and conventions" of the W.A.S.S.D.F. debates. Social debates also give other boys an opportunity to participate. This year, social debates for all age groups, were arranged with St. Hilda's Girls School, Presbyterian Ladies College, St. Mary's Girls School, Methodist Ladies College and Morley Senior High School. The topics of these debates varied from the serious "We should be ashamed to look a Kangaroo in the face", to the light-hearted "Debating is a waste of time" and "Only mugs work". The No. 1 Senior Team was noted for its entertainment potential in social debates.

One of the failings of the Debating Society has always been the lack of opportunity which exists for First and Second Year boys to debate. If we seriously want to see the standard lifted in the older age-groups we must look toward the younger boys who are interested and offer encouragement to them.

Our thanks go to Matron for providing suppers after the debates, to A. B. Nutt for chairing many of the "home" debates and to Mr de Graaf for his interest and help in the activities of the society.

If success is to be judged, not only by winning, but also by involvement and enjoyment, then 1973 has been a very successful year for Hale debating.

Chess at Hale continued to flourish in 1973. Many boys were prepared to practise during lunch times, and for the first time, Hale entered three teams in the inter-school competitions.

The 'A' team, consisting of C. C. Kinsman, P. A. Kirkby, A. M. Nyman, and A. A. Klimaitis, started badly with a first-round loss to Hollywood Senior High School, but won the next four games to win the Secondary Premier League.

The 'B' team, which won the Secondary Reserve League in 1972, was promoted to the Secondary 'A' League, but fared badly against the stronger opposition. The team of J. C. Crawford, B. J. Walkemeyer, D. G. Farnham, M.C.C. Lill and R. J. Sharpless, finished in 6th position.

The 'C' team of D. S. Brown, C. P. Rogers, P. J. Scales, I. S. Hilliard, D. J. F. Arbuckle and B. Hartley, finished in 6th place in the Secondary Reserve League, Division 1.

Hale was well represented in the State Junior Chess Championships, and gained third place in the Schools Cup for the best performance by a school. Individually, Keng Loke Chan and A. Luketina, two Junior School boys, played well in the U/12 division. A. A. Klimaitis finished seventh in a large field in the U/14 division while C. C. Kinsman came second in the U/18 division, and won both the U/18 and state, open lightning chess championships.

Several social matches were held during the year, including a simultaneous exhibition given by Mr Wolfgang Leonhardt, the state chess champion, and two matches against St. Hilda's. Our thanks go to Matron for supplying supper on many occasions.

Several members of staff, in particular Messrs Wapnah and Kirkham, have given advice and encouragement, which were gratefully received. The number of younger boys playing in the teams augers well for the future, and another successful year for Hale School chess can be expected in 1974.

SECOND ROW: C.S.M. D. W. Reed, Sgt. P. Watson, Sgt. J. S. Wallman, Sgt. A. S. Prideaux, Sgt. A. B. C. Quick, Sgt. A. J. Clapin, Cpl. M. A. R. Cugini, Sgt. L. W. White, Sgt. R. J. Wolff.

FRONT ROW: R.S.M. A. J. Guhl, C.U.O. C. S. Hall, C.U.O. J. P. Codde, Capt. A. J. Macmillan, Capt. G. E. Lupton, Lt. J. C. Craig, C.U.O. M. N. Benson, R.Q.M.S. B. J. Walkemeyer, C.S.M. I. D. W. Farmer, C.S.M. T. J. L. Bogle.

Cadets in 1973 were characterised by some remarkable changes. Parades were brought back to Monday afternoons, thereby providing a better opportunity for more intensive and useful training. Later in the year, Hale learned of a directive from the Australian Government making Cadet Units throughout the country voluntary. When the choice was offered to the members of the Hale School Unit, sixty per cent elected to remain with the army. This directive was perhaps a blessing in disguise, for although it reduced the number of cadets it did enable more thorough training to be carried out which helped produce better and probably more satisfying results.

With the retirement of Captain Wheeler, after eleven years of continuous service, Captain Lupton was appointed Commanding Officer. The services of Lieut. L. Hall were also made available and were directed towards the command of A Company.

The Unit Bivouac was held at Jarrahdale from 29th June to 1st July. The annual camp was again held at Northam, but was split into an overnight stay at Bindoon and intense work at Camp. The Camp activities consisted of a number of lectures, a day at the range and several exhausting circuits of the challenging obstacle course.

A much appreciated feature of First Term were the helicopter flights at Swanbourne Barracks, where a selected number of Cadets were shown over the helicopter and taken for a short flight.

The shooting team trained hard throughout the year at the Hale Range, benefiting also from the range day at Northam. The team competed in the Challenge Cup and Earl Roberts Trophy held at Swanbourne Range in October. Although the riflemen failed to win either competition, they performed creditably and improved considerably on Hale's 1972 performance in these shoots.

Awards this year went to Sgt L. White, who won the Tobruk Trophy for the best cadet and to W.O. P. Walkameyer who was awarded the Drake Baton. W.O. A. J. Guhl won the Pace Stick.

The Hale Cadet Unit will be much smaller in 1974 but will, at the same time, be more selective. The lists for promotion camp in January are full and all associated with the Hale School Cadet Unit are looking forward to a very interesting year in Adventure Training.

Wittenoom

Again in 1973 the Hale flag flew at Wittenoom with some one hundred and eight boys and eight masters each spending a fortnight in the area; one week being spent in the town house and the other at the base camp some fourteen miles from the town on the picturesque Hancock Gorge.

This year some variations were introduced to the basic programme as group masters sought to introduce more variety into the fortnight. Group three, led by Mr Poake, returned to the town house after their week's stay at the base camp by walking and swimming down Hancock, Red and Wittenoom gorges. Mr D. Williams' group seven tried a variation of this and returned to town from the camp by travelling overland to Knox Gorge, from there down into Red, down Wittenoom and into town. Group five, led by the Headmaster, journeyed back from camp via the bush roads.

As well as these innovations, other activities introduced included exploration of Kalamina Gorge, a full day's inspection of Hamersley Gorge and a week's stay for the biologists at Millstream Station.

The Millstream project was a success. It started on a Saturday morning when group eight, under Mr Shields, left Wittenoom at 6.30 a.m. for the one hundred and twenty miles journey. Although many of the group members were sceptical of what lay before them, all doubts were removed on arrival at the station. Millstream is a beautiful place and full of interest. For their week's stay, the group was to sleep under the stars, study biology and exist on supplies provided from Wittenoom, supplemented by what was available from the station. When the two Land Rovers arrived at the campsite the following Saturday morning to return the group to town, the entire group was happy with their experience and proud of their achievements.

During the term, the weather was unkind and Wittenoom had twice its average rainfall in a couple of months. This caused some inconvenience, especially to Mr Dean's group which was forced to return to town from the campsite three days early as roads began to flood. During these days, the resources of the town were strained to the limit with group three and group two both in town; bad weather preventing group three from getting far away. The local hospital authorities helped out by offering the use of their (disused) nurses' quarters for sleeping accommodation.

Bad weather caused the postponement of group four from arriving in early June. This group was put at the end of the line and arrived in Wittenoom in mid-July.

Mount Bruce (4100 ft) was again a popular climb, with three groups seen scaling the steep, loose sides at various times. Other activities again forming part of the fortnight's programme included the trek to and overnight stay at Mulga Downs Station, the incredible "miracle mile", the tour of Mt Tom Price and visits to Hamersley Station.

The now-aging Land Rover caused some interest as it was never guaranteed it would be capable of returning from a distant destination. Group two were stranded for a couple of hours at the top of the "catwalk" after a gear box breakdown, group six were towed back sixty miles from Dales Gorge by a co-operative National Parks Board Ranger after a fuel pump failure and group three were held up in the rain while the accelerator linkage was put back together. Needless to say, the Land Rover was a regular client at the local service station undergoing frequent, and often expensive, repairs.

As part of the School's community assistance project it was decided that two return air fares would be donated to the Wittenoom School's Parents and Citizens Association to enable two children from the school to come to Perth in the Christmas holidays and attend a camp at Pt Peron. This project was made possible with the co-operation of the University Camp for Children Club which operates the camps each year. The assistance of this Club is gratefully acknowledged.

As a culmination to the Wittenoom term a barbecue was held at the School early in third term to which all fourth form, their parents and the staff were invited. This was held as a replacement of the more formal Wittenoom dinner which has been held in the past. At the barbecue, a representative of each group spoke on their experiences and the winner of the J. B. Newbery Wittenoom prize was announced as PETER SYME of group eight. This prize is presented annually to a boy who shows initiative, practical ability and consideration for his fellow group members during his fortnight's stay at Wittenoom.

Wittenoom in 1973 would not have functioned as well as it did without the assistance of Ian (Bert) Anderson, a well-known Old Boy of the School, who was this year's assistant resident master. "Bert" was a tireless worker and a great help to all groups.

HANCOCK GORGE

At Wittenoom the entire community were happy to assist in any way possible, with special thanks to Hancock and Wright, Mr and Mrs J. Hooson of Mulga Downs Station, the Kennedy's of Millstream, the management of Hamersley Iron Pty Ltd, the National Parks Board, and E. G. & L. McGuire's Wittenoom Tourist Centre. The assistance of these people and organisations is gratefully acknowledged.

Wittenoom again succeeded in its basic aims: to provide boys with an insight into a different way of life; to learn to live as a team and to provide a means of improving the relationship between staff and students.

R. C. TRUSCOTT

Mr Truscott's role in making Hale-Wittenoom 1973 cannot be overlooked. His considerate attention to the needs of every group and his steady sense of humour were key factors in the success of this year's programme.

With half of the side of the previous year returning, hopes were high for a successful season. The pre-Darlot Cup games and a very successful trip to South Australia were promising signs, but even in these games our weakness was becoming obvious — inability to make a big score. By way of very hard practice in lunch hours the fielding of the side reached an excellent standard, and fully supported a very accurate bowling side. However, we were unable to score enough runs. Our final position of fourth was a fair indication of our all-round strength.

Congratulations to Michael Salmon and Ken Wheeler on being awarded Colours, and to Rod Pullin, Geoff Tomlin, Graeme Dent, Kim Gray, Keith Marshall and Colin Payne on their award of symbols.

My thanks to Michael Salmon for his support, and the efforts he put into captaining the side. Thanks must also go to Mr McKenna and his staff for the finest playing and practising facilities of any school, to Matron for providing drinks and lunches, and to all the mothers who, under the co-ordination of Mrs Salmon, provided afternoon teas at all home games.

The Hale swimmers, after winning the last six P.S.A. Inters, began the year fully aware of the mammoth task ahead of them if they were to be victorious once more. Many had performed exceptionally well in the state championships; team spirit and enthusiasm were at a peak BUT was there sufficient time in which to prepare a winning team?

Swimming training is FUN but sometimes at 6.00 on a cold, grey morning some semi-conscious bodies groaned complaint, especially when the afternoon training session lingered on until six o'clock, to be followed by the inevitable homework collected during the day. Weights training, although not as thorough as in previous years, was included in the training programme and helped produce a team confident of success.

Towards the end of the training period, the swimmers elected Don Pritchard as their captain. A vice-captain was not elected, thereby permitting all senior members to participate to a greater extent in the organisation of the team.

Several Saturday Carnivals were held, both to train the boys in race conditions and to help Mr Poake decide which boys were capable of performing well in the Inters. The Carnivals were held at Hale against Trinity, Marist and Scotch.

The scene at Beatty Park was one of great excitement as supporters from all the schools arrived to see their greatest hopes fulfilled — or demolished. It was too much to expect Hale to win their seventh consecutive Inters and the over-anxiety was reflected in the faces of some of the Hale swimmers.

Hale began well by winning the first six freestyle races through the efforts of W. House and D. Pritchard (Open), A. Quick and B. Hancock (U/16), K. Sandover and L. House (U/15). This initial success gave Hale a lead of 33 points over its nearest rival. During the breaststroke events, Hale appeared to falter and the margin narrowed. However, they were only catching their second wind!

The backstroke events saw Hale win eleven races straight to give them a massive lead of nearly a hundred points.

Hale's success was personified by the record-breaking efforts of Danny Rechichi and Antony Quick. In the Under 13 backstroke, Rechichi took Brad Hancock's record by half a second. Quick swam an outstanding race in the Under 16 backstroke to break a record which had stood for fifteen years.

Hale's high standard was maintained in the relays which saw Hale victories in three of these events and another record to the School in the Under 13 group.

Another extraordinary feat which revealed the depth of the team's ability was the fact that practically every swimmer gained either first, second or third place in his division. It was quite obvious that all swimmers fought very hard to maintain Hale's ascendancy in P.S.A. swimming.

From the evening emerged one of the greatest teams to represent Hale and the margin of victory established a P.S.A. record. Of the forty-one events decided, Hale swimmers were victorious in twenty-four.

Hale's seventh consecutive victory was a tribute to the efforts of the swimmers themselves and in particular to the dedication and foresight of the coaches, Messrs Hoad and Davis, and especially Mr Poake, who were supported by many Old Boys and parents. To all who helped, in whatever capacity, the swimmers offer their genuine thanks.

Will it be eight in a row next year?

FRONT ROW: R. L. Gibson, K. S. Wallman, D. H. Williams (Captain), F. A. Craig, B. McK. Murray.

The 1973 season for Hale tennis was a most successful and rewarding one for all those concerned. Training began, as usual, after the holidays and was once again led by Mr Max Bonner.

From the start, the First VI looked set for a good season and went through the season undefeated, losing only three rubbers out of fifty-four played. A magnificent effort. The team of Dean Williams, Kim Wallman, Bruce Murray, Ralph Gibson, Tony Craig, Lindsay Garstone and Glenn Bailey was probably the best team Hale has ever had.

The Second VI was also a particularly strong team and likewise went through the season undefeated, providing a reliable reserve for the First VI.

As in previous years, as many teams as possible were entered in the three State-wide competitions: The Slazenger Cup, the Mursell Shield and the Herbert Edwards Cup. Hale was successful in both the Slazenger Cup and Mursell Shield competitions, thereby making it the strongest tennis school in Western Australia.

The magnificence of the season was capped off by the awarding of Honours to Dean Williams who has contributed enormously to Hale's tennis supremacy in recent years.

All players wish to convey their gratitude to Mr Bonner, an invaluable coach, for his enthusiastic efforts on their behalf through the season and also to Mr Loveland who again devoted much time and effort as Master-in-Charge of tennis.

D. H. WILLIAMS — HONOURS IN TENNIS

When the name of Dean Williams is mentioned at Hale, one immediately thinks of his sporting achievements, for it is in the field of sport that Dean's name has become a by-word at Hale. A summary of his achievements would read as follows:

1966—In his first year at Hale, in the Junior School, he was table tennis champion and Under 10 Swimming champion.

1967—Dean repeated his swimming success of the previous year, becoming the Under 11 champion.

1968—This year saw the beginning of his tennis successes at Hale when he became Under 13 champion. He also regained the table tennis title he won in 1966

1969—This was Dean's first year in the Senior School and despite the greater competition here, he was runner-up to the Under 13 swimming champion and swam for the School in the victorious swimming team. Tennis success continued when he became the Under 14 champion . . . a commendable effort since swimming takes up a lot of time in the First Term.

1970—Again a member of the swimming team. Awarded symbols for swimming.

1971—This year, Dean gave up swimming to concentrate on tennis. He won both the Under 16 singles and doubles titles and was Hale's second player in the winning Slazenger Cup team. He was awarded colours for tennis. Apart from tennis, he represented the School in both football and athletics, gaining symbols for the former as a member of the First XVIII and winning a Stow Award for the 1500 metres and colours for athletics.

1972—Dean became number one player for the Slazenger and Corr Cups teams, both of which were undefeated. He was captain of the Slazenger Cup team. Although again a member of both the First XVIII and athletics teams, his most notable achievement was in tennis, when he became champion of both the Open and Under 16 singles and doubles.

1973—In his last year at Hale, Dean Williams was captain of tennis, leading the Corr and Slazenger Cups teams to undefeated victory. In the Corr Cup competition, he himself was undefeated. He repeated his performance of the year before by retaining the Open singles and double titles. For his outstanding achievements in tennis, he was awarded honours thereby joining the ranks of the few Hale students who have been awarded honours in sport. Again, he was a member of the First XVIII (which was undefeated in the 1973 season) and the athletics team.

The above are all part of Dean William's School career. Outside the School, his achievements extend further in the sporting arena. These begin with his representation in the 1970 Western Australian Junior Squash Team with repeated representation in 1971 and 1972. In 1973, he was made captain of this team and won the title of runner-up in the Australian Junior Squash Championship. He was the winner of the Under 19 City of Perth tennis singles championship in 1972 and by defeating Alan Gooch, the number seven seeded senior tennis player in this State, became Mt Lawley singles champion in 1973. Dean is a member of the Mt Lawley A Grade team which is one of the six, four-member A Grade teams in Western Australia. As well, he is a member of the Linton Cup training squad and has played on the Australian junior circuit in 1972 and 1973.

Undoubtedly, Dean Williams has met with outstanding success in all his sporting activities and has a bright future in either tennis or squash. Hale will be sorry to lose such a talented sportsman who has contributed to the School's successes in swimming, tennis and football. Wherever he goes he will take with him the well-wishes of the School and will be a fine ambassador for his School, his State and country.

Squash

Despite previous successes, squash has been an unheralded aspect of school activities. For the third year, Hale participated during second term in a schoolboys' squash competition which was open to all schools in and around the Metropolitan area. The draw was divided into an A and B division with Hale entering two teams in both divisions.

In the B division, the B2 side finished 9th and B1 side finished 5th. The B2 team was made up of S. Johnson, R. Turrell, L. Galbraith, M. Bell and S. Lowe, while the members of the B1 team were G. Kailis, R. Sear, R. Wolff and K. Lewis. These boys are all eligible to compete in next year's competition and it is hoped the experience gained this year will provide the basis for a strong team in 1974.

The A2 players were G. Johnson, P. Hearn, G. Guhl and D. O'Shannassy. This very young team, which finished seventh in their division, contains a great deal of potential and is expected to be quite successful next year. The number one player of the A2 team, Graham Johnson, was runner-up in the Under 15 section of the Coca-Cola squash tournament held during the May holidays and was later chosen to join the State Junior Squash Squad.

In the A1 division, Hale School was represented by I. Clarke, R. Gibson, C. Kinsman and R. Langlands. This team went through the season undefeated, losing only four rubbers of sixty-four played. Ian Clark, who went through the season without defeat, has proved himself to be one of the best players in the state in his age group. In the Coca-Cola competition, Ian won the Under 16 division while in the state championships, held in August, he won the Under 16 title and was runner-up in the Under 17 section. Ralph Gibson, who also completed an undefeated season, was runner-up in the open event of the Coca-Cola tournament and reached the semi-finals of the state schoolboys tournament, being seeded three for that competition. R. Langlands has also achieved some success in tournaments this year, winning the open plate of the state schoolboys' tournament.

This is the third successive year Hale has won the schoolboys competition and with I.

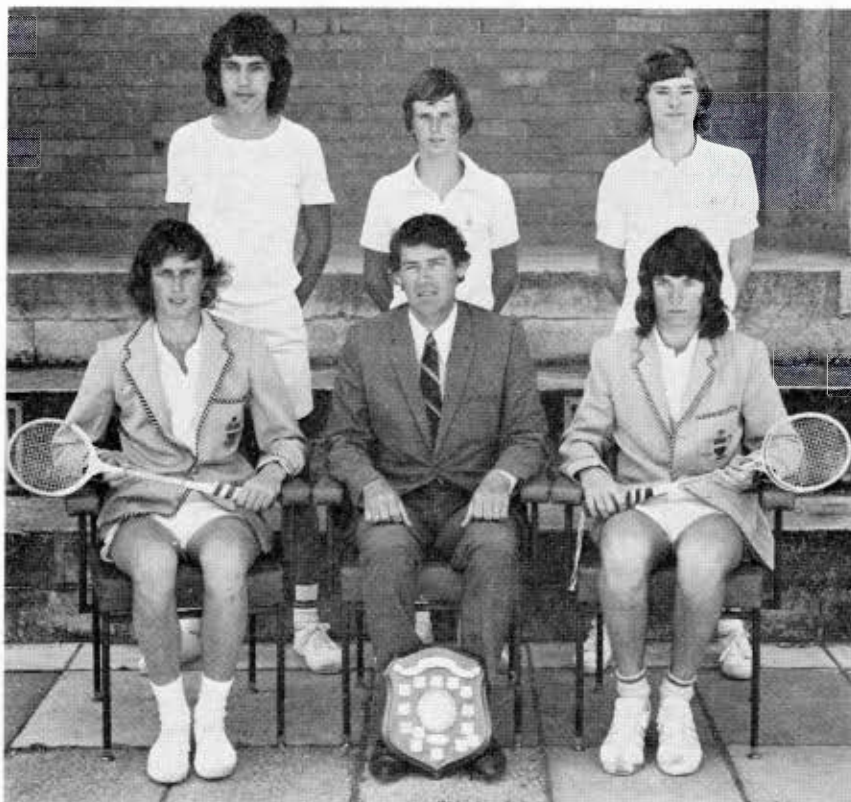

Clarke and R. Langlands, and members of the other three teams eligible to play next year, chances are Hale will retain the A1 title in 1974.

1973 has been a very successful year for squash and the proposed plan to build two squash courts in the new gymnasium will ensure continued success for Hale on the squash court. Allied with the building of the courts is the concept of an Old Haleians' Squash Club along the lines of the Old Haleians' Hockey Club which has been a very successful enterprise. There is a wealth of squash talent among boys at school and Old Boys. At Hale, we have Dean Williams, the No. 2 seeded junior in Australia and winner of the open event in the state schoolboys' tournament. Stephen Wall is a recent Old Boy who represented the state in squash and is seeded at number three in Australian junior ranks. Thus, a squash club with players of this calibre would be a very strong force and would pose a threat to many of the larger clubs in the metropolitan area. Therefore, there is a great potential for Hale to develop as a dominant force in both schoolboy and pennant squash if the game is encouraged and players are fostered with this in mind.

Thanks go to G. Jenkins and P. Taylor who replaced team members who were at Witte-noom. Although the teams were independant of any school assistance, the teams extend their thanks to Mr W. Edgar who assisted greatly in organising and encouraging them throughout the year.

The 1973 season began in the early stages of third term, 1972, with the introduction of physical testing sessions at the university. These tests carried through till the summer vacation and resumed with the week-long, pre-school training camp for the sixteen boys who formed the first and second eights' training squad. The week of preparation was a great morale builder, as well as an aid to fitness.

Mr Berry Durston was again the senior coach and devoted much time and great expertise in the development of the 1st VIII. Other crews were coached by Messrs R. Prince (2nd VIII), D. Berryman and E. Dodds (3rd IV), R. Jacob (2nd IV), J. Birman (1st IV) and G. Ruderforth and A. Wilkins (U16 VIII). Mr E. R. Prince officiated as Master of Boats while C. P. Ayers was Captain of Boats.

During the season, training and fitness preparations kept crews very active. First VIII seats were not allocated during the training period which gave incentive to each rower to strive to the limit of his capacity to maintain his position and even gain promotion to a higher crew. Morale and team participation were at a high level in 1973, helping make the season Hale's greatest (despite the success of 1971) since 1955 and inspiring the confident claim that 1974 will be even more successful.

The Hale Regatta was significant in a number of ways. It saw the christening of two new pairs by Mrs H. R. Thompson and Mrs E. R. Prince, mothers of sons whose names were given to the boats. After the ceremony, S. A. Anderson and C. P. Ayres were successful in their boat in the final of the championship pairs.

The regatta was important as a preview of the Head of the River. Unfortunately, the Hale junior crews were no match for their rivals though the 1st VIII gained a significant victory by one and a quarter lengths from Wesley and Christ Church. This performance gave this crew its eighth consecutive win.

The Hale Regatta was one of the most successful of the season and special thanks must be given to all those who gave their time in making it so.

HEAD OF THE RIVER 1973

With ten victories behind them, hopes were high in the Hale camp that the Aquinas mortgage on this event would be wrested from them. The conditions promised to favour the light Hale 1st VIII as they approached the starting position.

With the gun, Hale tragically lost three-quarters of a length and settled down at the rear of the field. Towards the 500m. mark, Hale had caught the other crews and by the time the 1,000m. was reached, had powered into third position, with Aquinas and Christchurch the boats to catch. With 350m to the finish point, the race had developed into a tussle between these two and Hale, though Christchurch were obviously weakening. With only Aquinas between them and the coveted victory, Hale lifted their rating and surged towards Aquinas. However, the concerted effort was a fraction late and Aquinas gained victory by the narrow margin of two metres with Christchurch holding on well to finish only a third of a length behind Hale. Despite their natural disappointment, the Hale 1st VIII deserve congratulations for their gallant efforts against heavier crews.

KING'S CUP REGATTA

A decision was made early in January that Hale would compete in the Australian Schoolboys Eight Oared Championships to be held in conjunction with the King's Cup Regatta at Murray Bridge (S.A.) on the fourth and fifth of May. The trip would act as an extra incentive during training since all rowers hoped to be selected to represent Hale at this competition.

Berry Durstan, coach of the First VIII, was selected to serve as manager to the state team and so could not coach the Hale crew for this event. However, his brother, Denis, an Old Boy associated with rowing and a former First VIII oarsman, generously offered his talents to the Hale team and to accompany it to Adelaide.

The crew left with two reserves and guardian angels in the form of Messrs Denis Durston and John Little. After a tiring journey the crew commenced training in a shell generously lent by St. Peter's College, Adelaide. The boat was similar to that used by the crew in W.A. and with a few minor alterations, the Hale team soon adapted to the new environment.

The initial qualifying heat was raced against Bell Park High (Vic.), Pultney Grammar (S.A.) and Guildford (W.A.). Bell Park was favoured by the draw and went on to win by six feet from Hale . . . a good effort by the Hale crew in view of Bell's protected station. With this second, Hale had to face the repechage that afternoon between the runners-up in the heats. Hale was to row against Scotch (Adelaide) and Christian Brothers (S.A.).

Determined to win their way into the final, Hale knifed into a twenty knot headwind and left their opposition floundering, winning by the big margin of five lengths. The final was to be contested between Hale, Aquinas (W.A.), Scotch College (Melbourne), and Bell Park.

Rowing conditions on the final day were ideal and none of the crews was favoured by its station. Hale easily won the start but by the time the 500m. mark was reached, the favourites, Scotch, had passed them. At the 1,000m. mark, Aquinas were gaining on Hale in second place. At the gun, it was Scotch, Aquinas, Hale and Bell Park. Though they did not win the championships, Hale upheld the tradition of the school by keeping up with heavier and stronger crews and performing as fine ambassadors of their school and state.

AWARDS

The determination and enthusiasm of the members of Hale's successful First VIII won colours for each of them. Together with this tangible award went the acclamation of the media and their followers. Mr Berry Durston, coach of the crew, was appointed manager of the Australian crew which competed in the World Championships held at Moscow in August.

Football

"MACNIFICENT"

Those magnificent footballers! Hale football zoomed spectacularly in 1973 and the Alcock Cup is again the property of the Light Blues — our seventh Cup in 67 years, the first since 1966 and only the third since the war. An undefeated team of "blue beauties" produced a special brand of team football that took it from the glory of Interstate success in the Geelong match to a scintillating Alcock Cup-winning victory against a talented Scotch 21.10 to 13.6. This was the zenith of a season of eleven games played and won, of excellent skill training, of games won from behind, of others won stylishly, of a fantastic Interstate and, most importantly, of the best and most closely knit group of young men I have been associated with. Hale's nine Alcock Cup victories saw it finish well clear of Aquinas, Scotch and Trinity (five), Christ Church (three) and Wesley (nil).

The origin was Geelong. By retaining the C. B. Fisher Plate (our first Interstate win away from Hale), with wins of 15.8 to 9.9 and 14.11 to 10.10 over Scotch (Adelaide) and Geelong respectively, the team played with great desperation and enthusiasm. The spirit of the group was staggering, their play skilful and their teamwork in defence and attack most impressive. On the flight, in Melbourne, at the M.C.G., at the functions in Geelong, at Lorne, in the games (especially in the Scotch clash where at one stage Hale was six goals down), at Waverley wearing Richmond hats, the team feeling developed and already Peter Williamson was skillfully leading a united group. Our Geelong hosts are to be congratulated on organising yet another great week, a carnival fit to rank with the best. In 1974, Hale will need the support of parents and past players when the order of Carnivals changes and the tenth Interstate is held in Perth.

The Cup mission began almost disastrously against a capable Trinity. They burrowed tigerishly for the ball and it was only Hale's accuracy which enabled them to triumph by five points. Against Guildford, too, the team had to work hard to win and then came the big test against Cup favourites, Scotch. On a typically wet day, Hale combined exceptionally well and with superb short passing, creative handball and rock-like defence, won comfortably by 11.15 to 8.11. Wesley and Christchurch lacked the power to match an accomplished Hale, but Trinity was again impressive in going down by fourteen points. The second Scotch game was to decide our fate and in a magnificent clash the blue men

(after a shaky first quarter in which the Scotch champion Whyllie kicked all four of Scotch's goals), proceeded to crush their opponents and win the Cup. The skill, the running, the handball, the emotion, the teamwork, were striking in intensity and all contributed. The huge crowd of parents, friends, Old Boys and staff gave those Hale men a great ovation for what many rated the best game of school football they had seen. The final game against Aquinas was similar to the heart-stopper of 1972 and nearly identical to the final game of 1966. In the latter year, the undefeated Hale beat Aquinas by three points after a memorable game and this 1973 unbeaten team also won by three points, 11.7 to 10.10. Aquinas, and especially the magic of Spencer, were fierce in this game and Hale was fully extended to defeat our traditional rivals. At a special ceremony after the game, Aquinas, the Cup holders, presented the Hale team with the Cup most of us rarely see.

All did well, but mention must be made of the role in ruck of fairest and best Don Pritchard, a player of immense talent and the classic handballer; of centre half back Brett Devenish-Meares, a magnificent defender and the best high mark in the P.S.A.; of "Croc" Williamson, the burrowing centre man; of Grant Pollard; of rovers Ken Wheeler and Gary Yeats, the speedy, clever opportunists; of Robert Lilburne, a forward of speed and a complete disruptor of opposition defences; of Dean Williams and Paul Bodycoat, who created numerous opportunities across the centre line; of Peter Farmer, the aerialist; of the physical power and application of defenders Mike Batchelor and Steddy Ellis; of the sheer strength in the packs of Michael Salmon, and of Robbie McLarty, whose form in Victoria was outstanding. Leigh McLarty, Graham Dent and Gary Jeffrey in defence, Leigh Beaman, Ralph Gibson and Andrew Clapin up forward and Greg Keynes and Tony Craig on the ball all played their part and at the season's end the record number of ten, namely Williamson, Wheeler, Pritchard, Devenish-Meares, Lilburne, Yeats, Ellis, Pollard, Batchelor and Salmon, were congratulated on receiving colours.

The team thanks Mr Williamson and Mr Wheeler very much for the wonderful lunch at the Booragoon Hotel after the Aquinas game and also Mr Ken Jones and his son Greg for their generous gift of a trophy to each member of the team at the Wind-Up Dinner — a magnificent gesture! My own thanks go to:— Mr Towers for all his great help again, Bob Glover an enthusiastic manager, Bevan Eakins for his publicity, Jim O'Connell who greatly helped our injured players, Carl Vinciullo an efficient and understanding runner, Jim Codde the timekeeper, Brian Neilson in goals and the boundary men. We also thank the parents for the great support of their team and for putting on the highly successful pie and soup fraternisation after the home games, and of course the Old Boys and students. They all, together with staff and Dr Tregonning and Mr Hoar, were tremendous enthusiasts and have been so for many years. My very special tribute goes to Peter Williamson, the pulse of the team and one of the great Hale captains, and Ken Wheeler who dedicated himself to the team. The unity of the group is due in no small measure to their efforts.

Hale footy has had two good seasons, winning sixteen of the nineteen games and losing three by less than a goal. The future will be harder (most of the team leave school) and it is worth remembering the lessons of 1973. This team was keen! From March onwards they gave much time to their games, all improved and eventually, they were a team with strength all over the ground. They thrived in the wet, their approach and real feeling made consistent football possible, they had numerous avenues of attack and combined well in a backline which was rarely changed. Their short and long kicking was sound, their play-on game significant, they checked opponents well and used the diamond intelligently. At all times they realised the value of handball, of diving desperately into the packs and flicking the ball out to talking players, of making handball the accelerator of the game. They benefitted in the crunch games because they had their skill and reflexes tuned to a high pitch. At training they were always striving for skills at top speed and were forever encouraging, enthusing and inspiring each other. No team, in my time, has trained better and no team, either, has allowed the coach to be so much a part of the group. The magnificent colour photo taken after the Aquinas game, and presented to me by the players, will be a constant reminder of this group and its deeds.

They were an "immaculate" team.

During 1973, the First XI won its first matches since 1970 and began to use a co-ordinated system of forward play, which shows considerable promise. Consistent coaching throughout the school in the past few years is starting to show results, although the First XI was disappointing early in the season. I must cite the matches against Trinity as an example of the great improvement shown. In the first match of the season we lost to Trinity 9-0 in a game in which the physically strong Trinity players ran right through our defence in the last twenty minutes of time. In the return match, on our own vastly superior ground, the team, showing tremendous determination, outclassed Trinity, finally winning 1-0 in the most thrilling and rewarding 1st XI game I have ever watched Hale play. It was disappointing that we could not carry on with quite the same high standard of play for the rest of the season.

I wish to thank my captain and vice-captain, Peter Taylor and Lindsay Garstone, for their efforts during the year and my particular thanks go to Mr Tom Greenwell and Mr Ian Biddle for their great assistance and advice throughout the season. —R. L. GRAY

The highlight of the 1973 rugby season was the wonderful tour of Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand with the usual round of training and local games bringing pleasure and some success.

Again, over a hundred boys played rugby. The Under 12s became a good side, losing four of its eleven games and improving greatly as the season progressed. The First Years came second to Guildford, finishing with a fine exhibition of running teamwork to beat Aquinas 54-0. The Second Years (with the best forwards in the competition) also finished equal second. The Under 16s actually won two games in the Junior Rugby competition, but more importantly, their games enabled four or five boys to develop into obvious First XV men for 1975. The Second XV finished second, but ended their season with a great win over the previously undefeated Aquinas team.

The First XV was the youngest Hale has fielded for a long time and acquitted themselves very well, finishing third after narrow defeats by Scotch and Christchurch.

HALE RUGBY IN SOUTH-EAST ASIA

On August 19th, seventeen players and their coach, Rev. R. E. Davis, left Perth to tour Singapore, Malaysia and Thailand and to play against schools in each country.

Apart from the usual tourist attractions, the party was able to see something of school life in three Asian nations and meet, in the world-wide fellowship of rugby union, some fine young men.

In crowded Singapore, school buildings house two groups of pupils and teachers. Morning school begins at 7.30 and finishes at 1.00 in the afternoon. Then the afternoon school commences, using the same facilities and working until 6.30 p.m. We were shown over St. Andrew's Church of England school where there are only boys to the fourth year, but for the final two years of school, girls combine with the boys for classes. Two thousand children attend the morning session and every room is full. One thousand students attend the afternoon session.

Although the Chinese team from St. Andrew's conceded a great deal of weight to Hale, they possessed such skill, speed and intelligence, that beating Hale 16-4 presented no real problem to them. The weather helped the locals as the temperature was 87°F and the humidity almost 100% and although Hale opened the scoring with a good try by Dickson, the team rapidly slowed to a walk and offered meek opposition.

At the Raffles Institution, the top government school, all the Hale boys were barred from inspecting the school because they had either long hair or wore thongs. However, the coach was shown over the magnificent new buildings occupied by meticulously neat and disciplined pupils. We were allowed to train on their ground, but they declined the invitation to play us.

The second game of the tour was played on the Padang against the social team of the Singapore Cricket Club. It was a bright game played before a big crowd with Lilburne scoring two tries, Riseborough and Dickson one each and Placanica kicking two conversions. The older, heavier and far more experienced hosts won 32-18. As we played rugby, a cricket match was in progress on the adjacent oval! After the game, we were entertained by the S.C.C. in their beautiful old pavilion.

In colourful, exciting Bangkok we visited what must be one of the loveliest schools in the world — the Vajirahvudh College. It is owned by the King and all the buildings are in the classical Thai style of architecture and are surrounded by beautiful gardens. We met the friendly, smiling boys who were to play us and were shown over their superbly equipped school.

In the National Stadium, before about 10,000 spectators and after elaborate ceremonial introductions, we were given an amazing exhibition of speed and rugby skills by the Vajirahvudh College. We were beaten 53-10 — our scores coming from a try by Lilburne and two penalty goals by Placanica.

That evening, we were entertained at a Thai banquet with Thai music and dancing. A team from Taiwan was also present (they too had been soundly beaten by a brilliant Thai team). After a few exciting and expensive days at Pattaya Beach, we flew to Kuala Lumpur where we met the Victorian Institution for another warm welcome and another defeat — this time by 23-10 with a try from Riseborough and two goals from Placanica.

We returned to Perth a lot wiser and with deep respect for S.E. Asian rugby players. Above all, we learned to regard the Chinese and Thais with a great deal of affection. Their quiet, happy dispositions and sportsmanship equalled their ability and cleverness. We would like to return there again. If Hale's First XV can play the type of football we saw in Thailand, we must be the next winners of the Brother Redmond Cup.

1973 Athletics' season was probably one of the most successful in recent years, not as far as final performances would indicate, but in the keenness, enthusiasm and dedication shown by all those involved. Members of staff, Messrs J. Williams, T. Greenwell and R. L. Gray, who joined the coaching team this year, were certainly welcome and valuable additions to the regular team of A. J. Macmillan, R. Johnson, W. Edgar, F. Constantine, Rev. R. E. Davies, and I. Biddle.

Training started on a high note with a large group of over 30 turning out on the first night and the subsequent three weeks of hard work led up to the two twilight meetings against Marist College, providing valuable competition to both schools. Other competition days in the School Championships, Inter-House Athletics Competition and culminating in an all-out effort against Scotch and Tuart Hill, gave everyone a chance to assess their prospects for Inters day. Our performances were generally good and this inspired the whole team with a confidence of giving a good account of ourselves on Saturday, 20th October.

A team of seventy-eight athletes, led by captain R. A. Lilburne, represented Hale on Inters day and although disappointed with our final placing of fifth, were far from disgraced. Aquinas fielded a very strong team and led throughout the day, never looking like being headed by Trinity who also broke away from the other schools as the day went on. However, the closeness of the rest of the schools probably contributed to the loss of points in some of our stronger events. One vital area in which we didn't gain our share (of the points) was the Under 14 age group where other schools were definitely superior to our best. Overall, Hale had few stars and once again the bulk of the work fell on too few, due to a general lack of depth — this is one problem we must face being the smallest school in the competition.

Conditions were almost perfect and a brisk tail wind gave the sprinters every chance to rewrite the record book. P. S. Williamson (Hale) showed the way in the Under 17 (Div. 1) 200 metres to record a win in the excellent time of 22.9 secs. However, he could manage only second in a blanket finish over the 100 metres, again in a record time of 10.8 secs. A. B. C. Quick shunned the dominance of Aquinas to win the Under 16 (Div. 1) 95 metres hurdles in 13.8 secs. (only 0.2 secs. outside the record). Our only other track successes were recorded by M. P. Johnston who finished strongly to come from 6th to win the Under 15 (Div. 1) 800 metres, and T. J. L. Bogle who led all the way to record a first in the Under 17 (Div. 2) 800 metres. G. E. Yeats and D. B. Pritchard dominated the Open long jump by winning first and second division respectively. Other performances worthy of mention would be D. B. Pritchard and P. W. Farmer giving us two seconds in the Open high jump; B. A. Devenish-Meares 2nd in the open 110 metres hurdles (Div. 1); S. A. Nicholas 2nd in the Under 14 high jump; A. J. Clapin and D. H. Williams who both recorded seconds in the Under 17 and Open 1500 metres (Div. 2) respectively.

In all, the season was again too short, but certainly its value cannot be measured in the final performances on the track. Everyone involved enjoyed and gained something from the "exercise".

WITTENOOM 1973

Wittenoom is an area of contrasting reliefs releasing a picturesque landscape to all who inhabit or visit the almost untouched surroundings of the Fortescue River flood plains. The almost sheer wall of the escarpment and the undulating Hamersley Plateau, incised with almost surgical finesse by the spectacular gorges, are the obvious characteristics of one of Western Australia's most rugged, yet breathtakingly beautiful, landscapes. It was this grandeur that we as Fourth Year students, were fortunate enough to see, explore and understand for two very brief weeks of the Second Term.

All who arrived at Hale-Wittenoom were complete strangers to their new environment. However, after a week we had shed our initial complexes about the harsh and foreign land and felt almost "at home". This first week in the Town House was spent viewing the flood plain which, to the southern eye, is almost completely devoid of natural beauty. We travelled (and walked!) to see man's efforts to derive pecuniary profit from this land.

A long journey in air-conditioned comfort took us to the capital of iron-ore mining, Tom Price, a true oasis in a barren land. Venturing into the escarpment climb (900 feet) proved a task well beyond expectations but very rewarding in revealing a panoramic beauty and a town nestling snugly against the protective wall of the scarp in an expanse which threatened existence. Dales Gorge, on another day, presented a vast and beautiful area with dense vegetation. Steep walls of solid, jagged rock challenged us to assault their heights. This was our first real experience of a gorge and the unforgettable memories of this locale are matched only by our eagerness, then, to discover its starting point.

More was yet to come in this first exhilarating week. Mulga Downs, a huge station complex with houses, workshop, shearing shed and quarters, airstrip and cattle yards, was, we were told, eight miles away as we started from the Two Mile Well to follow a compass bearing which would (we hoped) lead us to the homestead. A task not to be forgotten too readily as we trudged on in a heat surpassing 30°C. We conquered that land!

Tomorrow, it's Base Camp and Hancock Gorge. Our self-conscious strangeness in this land had disappeared as our experiences of new surprises came and lingered in the mind.

We felt a part of the select surroundings that are Wittenoom. We were no longer individuals but part of a team which functioned on behalf of each person and was guided, not led, by the Group Master and the Resident Master. Surely each group went as a team into a week of excitement on the Hamersley Plateau.

Tremendous strain was placed on the Land-rover as it laboured up the steep, winding 'cat-walk' to take us to our bush camp. The tortuous struggles made by the vehicle must cause it to age well before its time.

At camp, duties were distributed. As we settled in, we became aware of the raw beauty of Hancock Gorge with its walls of solid, red rock. Compass maches to Joffre Falls, Knox Gorge revealed a land utterly unmolested by the rapacious influence of man and exhibited a vast beauty which was feebly frozen on film. Though the pictorial mementos do not capture the total beauty, their revelation of radiant colours and powerfully fragile gorges serves to refresh the dulling memory of this magnificent terrain. The gorges themselves provided opportunity to discover unknown talents in the field of climbing (and perhaps unknown depths of fear when perched precariously on an almost sheer face).

The highlight of the Wittenoom experience was the renowned "Miracle Mile" which involves trekking down Weano Gorge to its junction with Hancock Gorge and the incredibly majestic Red Gorge. What we saw must be unique. As we waded through icy pools, engulfed by red, blue-smooth walls, the cameras clicked ceaselessly. Within the narrow confines of Weano we felt very small indeed, a feeling which was intensified when we reached the junction of the gorges and descended into Red Gorge. Surrounded by the silence of overtowering rock walls, we felt alone and feeble. The snappy gums, hanging in precarious poses, added contrast to the immense walls of the gorge, highlighting the blunt strength of the rock. The "Miracle Mile" must always be a part of Hale at Wittenoom.

Our expedition came to a too early end. We had achieved an understanding of ourselves, our teachers and our School — this we discovered was the importance of Wittenoom. This, with the jovial aid of Dick and Bert (Anderson) made our stay at Wittenoom an unforgettable experience.

VIE SANS ENNUI

Everything drifts across the threshold of reality,
And disappears in a cataclysm of colour and sensuality.

A Maelstrom of thought and comprehension swirling into oblivion.

Consuming yet creating consciousness in a complex of meaning . . . deeper.

Utopia and Paradise become Maya opening out into Nirvana,

In such a way reality diminishes into nonentity,

Retreating in favour of the impossible perplexity of the occident . . .

Such an intensity of fluid brilliance outshining the Jovian Aegis,

Colours engulfing and receding in a continuous surge of light,

Rising to bewildering heights and then falling . . . falling into emptiness.

THE SEASON HAS COME

poor johnny fell through the ceiling and crashed his head on a tile poor johnny fell for hours and gathered the world in his head freedom i found in a rock of the ground where the wind bellows out of the sea silence i found in the afternoon when the sun turns her back on the shade

DEAD CHRIST

The sun beat down savagely, down upon the hill, its piercing rays seeping into every corner-stone, every street, every house. Flies buzzed contentedly around, settling every once in a while on some cracked and weathered stone. The cyprus trees pointed their cone-shaped forms up to the blue, cloudless sky. They seemed to tell of some future or past or present occurrence. The streets were deserted . . . And there it was, a blackened, scarred, dead shape amongst the white houses.

Twisted and tortured, dead . . . but alive, still defying the savage sun, its blackened barrel threatening the sun's heat, or perhaps, something else, something worse than the sun's inferno. The thing its own people feared and hated so much, the thing that came swiftly, bringing death and oppression.

But there it stood, broken and ripped apart, teasing, defying the sudden death that had

THE SNAKE

The wind tugs gently at the eucalyptus leaves, causing a barely audible rustle. The moon, a full moon, is up, casting its ghostly shadows on the surrounding bush. Slowly and silently, a snake, a big, black, shiny snake, slithers out from a dark shadow.

The snake, as chilling as the night itself, creeps along causing a deathly silence in the scrub. Once it has passed, life returns to the nocturnal bush, and a frog croaks, proclaiming the passing of danger.

Intent upon its course, the snake winds its way forward, seemingly with the shadow of death on its glistening back. A wild mouse, ignorant of the snake's approach, darts across its path, but the snake, apparently unaware of the mouse, slithers on.

Unconscious of its surroundings, the snake slides towards the flickering speck of a camp-fire. Slithering silently, it worms its way around the dying camp-fire and enters a tent. It rears up and hisses viciously at its prehistoric enemy.

The man stares blankly in surprise and then fear. The snake ceaselessly hisses. An arm darts for a rifle and the heavy butt, with shattering force, pulverises the reptilian spine. Although mortally wounded, the reptile drives its fangs deep into soft, warm flesh.

Man and snake, ancient enemies, lie dead, side by side.

come. Men had fought beside, against, over and under it, eventually destroying it but not before this shape rallied its own troops to victory.

This steel husk had brought order and victory from confusion. This Christ had led the way for its apostles. In so doing, it had died but had paved the way for its victorious comrades.

Surely this Christ was good, lying at the foot of the hill. Surely it was a great and noble thing. Men had laid wreaths on its broken armour and ruptured wheels, worshipping, in a way, its reverence . . . but hadn't it brought more war, more conflict? Hadn't it been the enemy's excuse to fight again?

The sun shone relentlessly down upon the white-washed houses with dull windows gaping at their dead christ.

THE REPORT

No. 37586: Report XV. Zone E.
System — Galaxy 4375-X54 Aerial Code: 45X
Commander: J. K. Wilkes—X1 (E.E.S) 53-4931

The creatures have less intelligence than members of our order. It is obvious that they are merely an advanced form of ape. Their methods of reproduction are the same. The female of the species, and strangely also the male, have a protective instinct towards their young. They are basically gregarious and seem to enjoy one another's company at times. At other times, however, the reverse is true; they seem to shun one another's presence — truly odd creatures.

They do, however, have a basic technology, which was possibly similar to ours about three or four millennia ago on our own planet. Their methods of transport are indeed basic. Their Sciences are also primitive — archaic in comparison with our own, but they have a stubborn nature and are progressing in a stumbling way.

They have very foolish ways concerning other members of their race not as strong physically or mentally. They fail to select out the stronger of their species to carry on to produce a better race. They instead riddle their communities with useless "undesirables". They also fail to exterminate the old as we do, when their value is lost. They allow some of their members to live to eighty of their solar revolutions, or approximately 63 of our own planet's solar revolutions. They would profit from following our example of extermination at 55 of our revolutions or 55 of our "years", as they call it. Strange creatures indeed.

Another facet of their culture is that they actually kill active members of THEIR OWN SPECIES. They have peculiar ways indeed. It is possible that a hidden, mystifying, mental state causes this, stimulated by the fact that some members of their culture have more materials for existence than others. The ones without materials try to take these things from the lucky ones, and the death of some of their members can follow.

This strange mental state may also change to a thing they call "love". It is strongest between the female and the male of the species. They seem to delight in their methods of reproduction. It is far less efficient than the controlled chemical synthesis of our own order. Whereas we produce all physically and mentally efficient beings, each suited for their job in the order, they produce some physically strong beings, with low intelligence, and others with high intelligence and little physical strength. A few possess both properties. They obviously cannot continue their species without this primitive method of reproduction however. It will be a great day for their race when they discover our controlled mechanical method of continuation of species. They will be able to eliminate the weaker female members and have a race of people similar to our own.

But there is an odd relationship between their female and male members. It is inexplicable. Two members may seem strangely attracted to one another. It is hard to think that we once were as odd as these creatures and perhaps even acted the way these do.

But members of their breed have many inexplicable properties that must be studied. Many of their actions follow an illogical nature. Further study will perhaps allow us to find why they act the way they do and what it is that motivates this.

They are the only advanced sort of animal on their planet and have gained control through their superior brain. Most other animals have instinct rather than their logic.

But of all the animals on this planet they are the most exciting.

Note: Please send extra parties with apparatus for controlled experiments concerning their mental capacities.

Our planet, and in fact the whole galaxy, may gain much about our past from these primitive creatures.

THE PLUM PUDDING TREE

My second major interview as a reporter. What a thrill to have the job of interviewing Professor Risewell, whose new inventions are as yet unknown to most people of the world. How important I felt.

As I approached the professor's laboratory I was not quite as keen to be in charge of this important interview. What if I made mistakes or forgot the questions I was supposed to ask? . . . Too late now, anyway.

I knocked on the door of his laboratory and a voice from within told me to "Come in, my good chap." I was met by a strange sight. The laboratory was enormous and had a glass roof. Hundreds of trees covered the major part of the floor space and there were benches covered in different chemical bottles on one side of the building. In the middle, through all the trees, I could just discern a small desk at which sat the professor. He motioned me forward.

"You must be the reporter," he said, motioning me to a chair on the opposite side of the desk.

I decided that the best thing was to get straight down to the job in hand.

"Sir. As you may know, some news of your discovery has leaked past the doors of your laboratory, but what have you actually discovered?"

"My good man, I thought the whole world would have known about my plum pudding tree by now," said the professor, a little astonished.

(I was equally astonished.) What an interview I had let myself into. However, recovering quickly, I continued. "What is this . . . er . . . plum pudding tree?"

"This is quite obvious, young man," said the professor. "It is a tree that grows plum puddings instead of flowers."

Having digested this last statement, I asked the obvious question. "Professor. How, exactly, does the tree produce plum puddings?"

"Simple, simple," said the professor, suddenly eager to tell of his invention. "Firstly, you take a fine young plum tree, making sure it is in good health, of course. The problem I have overcome, is to make the tree produce plum puddings instead of plums. I like plum puddings, you see. They are my favourite afters, and my mother used to say, 'Have a plum pud for sweets at night, as that will reduce your appetite'. My mother was —"

(At this point I felt I must interrupt, as the professor was wandering a bit too much.)

"But, Professor. What exactly makes the tree grow plum puddings instead of plums?"

"Simple, simple!" exclaimed the professor again. "I have developed a unique formula that will revolutionise the making of plum puddings. Basically, I add plenty of water — to keep the plant alive, you see; and then I add large quantities of flour heated to 58.4°C — as the tree likes it at this temperature; add a large quantity of various minerals and spices — as this makes it taste much more beautiful, and finally, I add a large quantity of self-raising powder which makes the pudding rise, you see. Now this little recipe makes only the basic plum pudding and much more exquisite plum puddings can be made only by adding an excess amount of .01 molar trisucrate solution — which makes the top of the pudding beautifully brown and crisp. If it is desired for the bottom to be brown and crisp — it can't be done; or if an excess of the solution in that bottle there" (he was pointing to a bottle on the bench) "is added, the texture of the pudding gives a much more pleasurable sensation in the stomach — although with some people it may have adverse effects; or if some of the solution in that bottle there is added, the exotic herb therein add — . . ."

(Half an hour later I dared to interrupt the 'soliloquy' which had now worked up to break-neck speed.)

"Sir. All this may be so, but how do you get all these things into the plant and how does the plant make the pudding?"

"Simple, simple, young chap!" shouted the excited professor. "The plum tree acts as an oven. You place a special plastic bag with all the various chemicals in, at the base of the tree and from here the plant absorbs these through minute hairs on the roots and then conducts these up the plant in a vessel known as the xylem vessel. The xylem is a mass of vessels going up the stem which are very thin and thus, due to a process known as capillarity, the contents of the plastic bag are drawn into the plant. Of course, this is a very simple explanation. I will go into this in detail in a moment. Once these chemicals have been conducted up the stem they enter the oven which is a modified flower mutation. The ovary — once used for reproduction — now acts as a radiator (this having been induced by a chemical known as Nymanide). Other parts of the flower act in many different ways. The stamens catalyse the self-raising powder by a method — . . ."

(Another hour had passed and once again

I felt the necessity to cut the professor's "speech" short, particularly as he had "lost me" well back in the anatomy of the flower oven.)

"And when do you hope to give your product to the world, sir?" I chipped in.

"Well, of course, my boy, the unions have slapped an injunction on me forbidding me to market my invention. But I expect we'll find a way," he said, ushering me to the door.

I wonder if he will.

(The Haiku is a traditional form of Japanese poetry, usually consisting of three lines made up of five, seven, five syllables respectively. While the form of the Haiku appears simple, even trite, it is in reality a difficult form of writing to utilise, demanding a high level of intensity of thought and precision of language.)

FRIDAY ROUTINE

Seven-oh-five bell goes. Concentrate on remembering whether your dorm. is in the showers first or not. Give up defeated and go back to sleep. If not roused by prefect get up at ten past and stagger into a shower. This revives you somewhat then you get dressed and go downstairs. Sit down at prep-desk as you put your shoes on. Make sure hair is neat and shine shoes on your trouser legs. Seven fifty march up to breakfast. Force self to consume enough food to preserve one's health and after breakfast walk back to House. Pack school bag. Don't forget slide rule or diary or junk box. At about quarter to nine go across to school and dump schoolbag under stairs. Wait for assembly bell then walk slowly to house area to line up. Get hymn book and march into Hall. After assembly get books for first period—English. A period of reading poems. Then maths, logs and antilogs for half an hour. English again, brain-racking over word definitions. Recess at last. Pass some money, if you have any, into the tuck-shop and receive back a supplement to your daily diet, perhaps a cream bun or vanilla slice or some such delicacy. The fourth period bell comes too quickly. Maths again. Hiper-bowlers and Parabowlers et cetera. Physics. No comment. Lunch. After lunch stock up with jelly beans and lifesavers. Prepare the mind for a gruelling double-Chaucer. If you survived the double front up to the Last Period. Chemistry. Listen attentively to a period of subshells and electric dipoles. Then free. A week finished. Hooray. Eleven to go Oh no!

Back to the House to change. Scrape up some more money and go "down the Downs" to drown your sorrows. Back again, unpack bag. Five fifteen have a shower and change for tea. After tea play footy or otherwise occupy yourself till roll call at seven. After roll call, to prep. Look at Homework diary. Homework is an essay. Decide to write on Friday routine. Begin., "Seven oh five bell goes. Concentrate . . .

Junior School Notes

The new classrooms, music and art rooms were ready in time for the commencement of the 1973 school year. Mrs Campbell and Mrs Hills with their Grade 1 and 2 classes, moved into the modern and well-equipped building designed especially for the cluster teaching situation. Grades 3 and 4 were split into separate classes enabling each child to receive the individual attention so necessary to his development. Mrs J. Hamilton joined the staff as Grade 3 teacher and we welcome her to Hale Junior School. Other teaching changes for this year were Mr Orr teaching Physical Education and Mr Sweet teaching Art to all grades. The new sound-proof and carpeted music room and art room have proved to be valuable cultural acquisitions.

In the second term, a cultural afternoon was held in our attractive amphitheatre. This was an excellent afternoon's entertainment and it was unfortunate that parents were unable to be invited as so many participating schools occupied all available seating.

Early in the year, Mrs E. A. Campbell graduated Bachelor of Arts from the University of Western Australia. We congratulate Mrs Campbell on this fine effort.

During the August holidays, a party of 30 boys under the supervision of Mr and Mrs Mill and Mr Orr, undertook a week-long educational excursion to South Australia and the Northern Territory. Having flown to Adelaide by jet, the party boarded a Fokker Friendship and flew to Alice Springs. The boys camped the night in two large tents and early the next morning boarded a special coach to travel 300 miles to Ayers Rock where all were accommodated in a motel. The following morning the group conquered "The Rock", and that afternoon went to the Olgas, a cluster of steep, high rocks, 16 miles from Ayers Rock. Before leaving Alice Springs a quick inspection of the graves of Flynn of the Outback and Namatjira, the Aboriginal artist, were made. The group continued on to Adelaide where they made a tour of the city sights. Other interesting sights they visited included the Kangaroo Creek Dam complex, Mt. Lofty and a day tour of the Barossa Valley.

Towards the end of second term Grade 6, accompanied by Mr Richardson, Mrs Mill and Mrs Georgiades, toured the South-West of W.A. Besides being enjoyable, the trip proved to be most educational. Some of the highlights were a visit to the Albany Whaling Station while in full operation, a climb of the Gloucester Tree and a visit to the Albany Woollen Mills.

The Grade 7 classes in September, under the supervision of Mr Mill and Mr Holmes, spent a few days on the farm of Mr N. Fleay, at York. For some of the boys it was the first time they had been on a farm. The week was a great success and an experience we hope the boys will always remember and appreciate. Thanks go to Mr Fleay, an Old Boy of the school, for making this excursion possible.

This year, each class went on several educational visits. We consider the visits to be most beneficial in widening boys' experiences and extending their knowledge.

The Grade 1 class with Mrs Hills, went on excursions to the Perth Museum, Fremantle Maritime Museum, the Wildlife Show and Stoneware Pipes and Tiles factory.

The Grade 2 class visited the above places and as well, visited Lake Monger and Bake-well Pies.

The Grade 3 class inspected both the Perth and Fremantle Museums as well as the Wildlife Show and made a science visit to Perry Lakes.

JUNIOR SCHOOL PREFECTS

BACK ROW: C. J. Matson, C. A. Martin, D. L. Martin, G. A. Wolff.

FRONT ROW: G. M. Marsh, A. L. Hoar, Mr M. W. Mill, M. A. Brand, S. L. A. Torode.

and Co (Brass Foundry), the Coca-Cola Factory and Stoneware Pipes and Tiles.

Thanks go to all the Companies and people concerned with these visits and the mothers who often helped with the transport.

During the year more improvements were made to the Junior School, the tuckshop being responsible for a number of these. The two concrete cricket pitches donated by the Junior School tuckshop will prove to be a great asset this season and in the years to come. As well, the tuckshop has purchased many teaching aids such as a volume of "Wildlife Encyclopaedia" and a woodwork bench.

Our sincere thanks go to Mrs Mill and the other ladies who helped on the tuckshop. We are all most grateful and fully realise the contribution made by the tuckshop to the Junior School.

We are also grateful for the seats built outside the classrooms. In the winter the boys are now able to eat their lunches under cover of the verandah. Our thanks for this improvement go to the Parents and Friends' Association.

This year, the Junior School once more raised money for various worthy institutions including the Aboriginal Misson, and $100 for the Save the Children Fund.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Gentlemen,

I have much pleasure in reporting to you on the balance of my term as President of the Old Haleians' Association and which expired on Old Boys Day in September.

Basically, I do not wish to report at length as I feel somewhat of an imposter now, being a Past President at the time of writing this report. This appears to be a small anomaly of the change of date of Old Boys Day and I have summed up most events in the Old Haleian.

Our social events this year were the usual mixed bag of successes and moderate failures, notwithstanding the hard work on all occasions by John Wilkins and his social sub-committee.

In particular, I would like to report to you on three functions:—

1. At the end of the School Year in 1972 the committee were hosts to the boys leaving the School with some light refreshments and luncheon beside the pool. In the past, a formal dinner has been held for the boys during study leave but this did not have the relaxed atmosphere the committee always hopes for. This has been achieved by the new function.
2. Possibly the most successful function of all was the Country Dinner held at Bridgetown and organised there by Vern Williams and a committee of helpers. The past few years have seen the popularity of the Dinner on the wane. Our Bridgetown organisers persuaded us that this was possibly due to the fact that in the past, wives and girlfriends have not been present. As it is the country people we hope to attract to these dinners, your committee decided to agree that wives and girlfriends attend the Dinner. This move no doubt ensured the success of the Dinner. The following day, all participants attended a thoroughly well-organised Bar-B-Cue at Bagshaw's property.

3. I would like to comment also on the change of the date of Old Boys Day to Show Day. The appropriate alteration to the Constitution was made as a result of a resolution passed at a special General Meeting. Many Old Boys were concerned at the likely success of the day but the committee were gratified to see an excellent attendance for the Roll-Call and the numbers possibly increased for the luncheon. Tribute must be paid to Bob Gregson who, at short notice, organised the luncheon held by the pool and which was, I consider, the major factor in the day's success.

I am pleased to report that during 1973, the committee endorsed our scholarship sub-committee's recommendation for a scholarship to be awarded to a boy presently at Hale. I am confident the recipient will prove to be an outstanding member of the School.

Of less significance perhaps, but equally pleasing, was the committee's decision to reimburse the School for the cost of one boy's trip to Wittenoom. He had no chance of participating in this important activity without this aid.

Finally, I again wish to thank the committee and Past President for their advice, support and in many cases, hard work. I wish Frank Bird and his new committee every success in the running of the Association for the coming year. I feel sure Frank's leadership will be most enterprising.

T. H. SHARP
PRESIDENT 1972-73
