EDITORIAL..

S. R. McKELVIE

(EDITOR)

Debate over the rights and limits of the individual is becoming more important as the world staggers into the 70s. So-called civil liberty is being encroached upon from several political and social directions.

The ever-increasing amount of power being taken over by bureaucracy forms a threat to the individual in that, sooner or later, everything we buy, see, do or say will be licensed, subject to rules and bound by regulations. Many government policies, right or wrong, from all colours of the political spectrum, are an infringement on individuality and private rights. One only has to look at the Fuel Bill and National Health Bill for examples of this.

With a pile of laws which is continually growing, the individual is being forced into a conformity with society which may restrict that individual's actions and beliefs. Some conformity is necessary, as no modern civilisation can exist without rules, moral code and a loyal population, but worry remains about the extent to which society interferes with the citizen.

Too much reliance on society results in the individuals in that society being reduced to automatons, with no private impulse to achieve or create. To quote an example, though for no political motive—U.S.S.R. has boundless natural resources, but a relatively low standard of living because of a lack of creative drive and opportunism on behalf of the owners of industry to capitalise on profitable chances.

On the other hand, a country which leaves too much to the individual never becomes a civilisation at all. Everyone chases his own ideals, with the result that there can be no legal or moral framework to the nation, and no unity.

A middle course must be steered—the individual cannot be stifled by society due to his uniqueness, but he has much to repay society in order to maintain law and order and to finance government policies to aid the private citizen.

As bureaucracy takes from the individual to give to society, so must a reverse process be begun to maintain balance. In modern society, technology has accomplished part of this aim. Inventions such as television, radio and the gramophone keep people away from society, replacing the visit to the pub or the bridge night. The fear is that as technological progress slows, governmental control will meet with no obstacle, and may impinge upon religion, free speech or movement, and create 1984.

This applies at school. Individuality is tied down to a certain extent, and every student is required to give a reasonable amount to society, whether it be in House Sport or in prefectship. Uniforms, laws and discipline create an aura of conformity among students and anyone who becomes non-conformist, through wearing the wrong shoes, top button undone or overlength hair, is quickly jumped on. If the culprit is not immediately corrected, others may follow his example, with a resultant loss in respect for the rules, and a breakdown in school spirit. Law and order hangs on such a slender thread that if too much individuality is permitted, the system will disintegrate. On the other hand, if we are to give all to society and nothing for ourselves, why are we born separate and individual to begin with?

Cygnets Committee

Editor:

S. McKelvie.

Committee:

K. Walsh, M. Beaman, J. Birman, P. Kirkby,
A. Taylor, D. Vaux, S. Withers.

1974 could be called the year of disappointment. Of the fourteen names on the Cygnets Committee list at the beginning of the year, six did not bother to show up during the year, five did as they were asked and contributed fairly consistently, and three were full-time members who sorted out the last-minute rush and in fact, ensured the printing of Cygnets '74 would take place.

The main feature of this year was the apathy and lack of support from the school as a whole. Competitions organised for the students were badly patronised, despite cash prizes offered. Reports were practically impossible to collect in some fields, and trivial matters, such as too much noise emanating from the Cygnets Office, gave the committee a bad name among the staff.

The Cygnets is a magazine for the students of Hale, and until masters and other bodies stop trying to run it, its aim will never be fulfilled. Some members of the committee have placed their academic careers in jeopardy, simply because they have donated a great deal of their time to the promulgation of our magazine. For this they will get no thanks from anyone, and bad comments on reports will be the only record to them of their sacrifices. However, we hope that all the efforts have not been in vain.

An effort to lessen the cost of production of Cygnets, which skyrocketed along with everything else, by advertising Old Boys' firms in the magazine, was a dismal flop. The only response came from Lyon's and Pierce, and to them we are extremely grateful for their interest and promptness.

In spite of all the prejudice, mention must be made of some monumental efforts on the part of certain people in the school to help us. Our genuine gratitude is conveyed to Mrs Elliott and Mrs Cook, who undertook most of the typing and provided a great amount of information for the committee, without a murmur of defiance, and to the office staff in general. Mr Chadwick is to be thanked for his patience and assistance in collation of all the sport results. To the rest of the school we ask for support in future publications.

Publication was in the capable presses of Robfod Print, and Mr Arthur Ford deserves a round of thanks for retaining his sanity towards the end of the year, and for a wonderful job done. Mr Foss deserves mention for being available for any artwork, and for consultation on the cover design, which changed colour this year.

Best wishes are expressed to Mr Ford, and it is hoped he makes a speedy recovery from his illness.

Many thanks to the staff at Robfod Print who continued in his absence.

The presence of our visitor, the Archbishop of Perth, is an awesome reminder to us of how old we are. I speak for the School of course, which traces its beginnings (just as the diocese of Perth) back to Matthew Blagden Hale, the first Anglican bishop of this newly established colony. He came here in 1858, and established this school the same year.

There are many associated today with Hale School—the Rosenthals, McLartys, Fleays, Mitchells—who trace their links back to the Bishop (the great-grandfather of my own daughters, Henry Park, was at the School in the Cloisters, for example), and so it is an ancient Institution that welcomes Bishop Hale's successor, 116 years later.

His presence is welcome also in as much as it provides us all with the opportunity to reflect, if briefly, on what is the central aim of our enterprise. Were our guest of honour a politician one could be excused perhaps if one dealt with the rocky path of Government-School relations that one now has to walk; an educationalist of note as our guest could provoke some critical comments perhaps on the educational inflation now rampant, where courses are puffed up in colleges, Tertiary institutions emptied for nearly half the year, and moonlighting practised by lecturers who rarely see their students, yet call for more and more public money. The presence of the Archbishop however, invited us all not to consider the means of education or its ills, but its central purpose, the reason for it all.

For the justification of a school like Hale one goes back not a mere century or so but to those who began nearly everything

Headmaster's Report

(Christianity excepted) of which the modern world makes its boast, the Greeks. They were the first real educators of our western world, the first to separate education from instruction, the first to regard education as a means of moulding human character in accordance with an ideal, and to regard education as the making of men, not training men to make things. The complete man was the goal of the Greeks education, as it is—or should be—still today.

We are uncomfortably aware of our failings when we contemplate the ideal, for our complete man is a moral man, one whose actions are linked by a high morality, of self-control and purpose. We struggle always towards this goal, dreaming an impossible dream (as does the Church). We are sustained in our struggle and undaunted despite our failures, by our constant association with the young. They also stand in goodness upon nothing, because we educators have failed to harmonise the real with the ideal.

In this agnostic world we educators (and here I speak of parents and the community generally, and the Church, as well as the School itself), we educators have failed to provide a meaningful link or bond that would unite the varied elements of a complete man. We educate the boy in a multitude of manners, his mind, his body and his spirit all being affected and influenced; but we have failed, far more than the Greeks, infinitely more than the Jews, to provide that religious essence, that all-pervading sense of righteousness that makes a man, that brings him into obedience with moral law. We have failed and yet we blame those in our care for our failures and see not the reflected image of ourselves.

We have forgotten (and I fear implement never) the advice of Jesus concerning those who teach the young. "Causes of stumbling are bound to arise; but woe betide the man through whom they come. It would be better for him to be thrown into the sea with a millstone around his neck than to cause one of these little ones to stumble." It would do us all good to reflect upon this.

It is more distressing to admit our repeated failure to reach the central goal of our mission, not teachers, and it is in nearly all a matter of pride. The challenge to educate the complete man is accepted, whereas the teacher, by definition, is merely the technician teaching men to do or make things. Yet too many of us relapse into this latter role, lose sight of the ideal and in our daily details settle for subject instruction. It has always been thus, I fear—in the Church as in the school—to see the part and not the whole, yet we can but persevere, groping (as did the Greeks in various ways, the Jews, and all who came after), yet seeing education in its essence as the way whereby was shaped moral man, complete and living as in the eyes of God.

We are, as was Bishop Hale 116 years ago, in the direct tradition of the Judaic-Christian ideal, where every boy is regarded as an individual, but is forbidden to regard himself as an end; where moral purposes beyond individual desires are accepted; where compulsion and discipline are accepted as justified in Christian ethics; where again serious intent on the part of the student, and pastoral care on the part of the master, are seen as central reasons for our togetherness. This may not sound much like your son struggling with second year maths, but believe me it is what should lift us from being a training establishment to what can in truth be called a school.

Dr Arnold of Rugby School, in the last century, was one of those that re-established the school which stressed the links between learning and a code of behaviour, both based on Christianity. The aims of a true school as he put it in a famous trilogy were, "First religious and moral principles, secondly gentlemanly behaviour, thirdly, intellectual ability."

Turning from the general to the particular, you have heard from Lance White of some of our activities and I report briefly that Hale has had a good year in 1974. There have of course been problems, you cannot hold 750 boys together without them, and there have been injustices known and unknown—meted out to your son and his neighbour, but we have tried to eliminate them and we hope that our system of pastoral supervision has helped. The School owes a great debt of thanks to its senior masters in this regard, particularly the Deputy Headmaster, Mr T. D. Hoar. For many years a highly-respected boarding Housemaster, who stepped down from Loton House last year, he has been involved most deeply in the complex details of the school's affairs. He more than any one other individual has seen to it that this is more than most an efficient school; and if that phrase sounds rather cold, it is not intended so, for efficiency is at the heart of all practical and fruitful concerns.

As Confucius said, "Order is heaven's first law"; it is also one of the characteristics of a good school, where discipline marches amicably with school spirit, where purpose replaces panic.

And at the risk of being invidious, I would thank also Mr Mill, whose Junior School break-up was held this morning. I am always very suspicious when I go there for they all seem so very happy, no-one seems scared of me and to try and create a headmaster's traditional image seems beyond me. One boy asked me for a "whirly" the other day, and I think all that I could do would be to borrow a visitor's vestments. That might scare them. For I remember once in the Singapore Cathedral with my youngest daughter, and the Archbishop progressed up the aisle and she turned in awe and said, "Is that God?". "No dear", I said, "He merely works for him". In his own way, so too does Mr Mill, although I doubt if he would ever admit it.

Next year we face very considerable problems. In a country where no goal beyond preservation of oneself is apparent (and where even that goal seems to be escaping the government) it is becoming necessary to 'hunker down', in the American sense. And yet in nearly every way the qualities of Hale that give it a distinctive edge, involve cost. It is for you to ask whether you are getting value for money; whether the continuity of the institution and its staff, whether the involvement of that staff in your son's activities and studies, be it Wittenoom or cadets, Maths or Biology; whether our traditional commitment to hard scholarship and discipline, to compulsion and care, is worth it or not.

These are the constants at Hale, and if they making this School an anachronism, of little worth, we will soon know. We are surrounded by a pervasive atmosphere of permissiveness, where it is wrong to try and test and examine and we are almost alone in endeavouring to impose some sort of challenge and drive. No school can rise far above its environment and if this is not for you, then we will wither on the vine. We offer an alternate form of education, and there are those who see this as an anachronism, and would eliminate us. We may feel lonely at times, but we are not deterred. Our determination is reinforced by your support.

We say goodbye to Mr David Orr, of Junior School, off to England, and we thank also Mr Miller, who joined us only this year. Otherwise the 50 staff remain the same. Many boys now leave, most of whom are the fifth year, who will have bettered, I hope, their 1973 counterparts where 88% qualified for tertiary studies, with six of the twelve Exhibitions open to all the State going to Hale boys.

Some fourth and third year boys are also leaving, with our regrets and best wishes, the School however will be some 20-30 bigger next year, with over double the number in the Junior School boarding house. If the new boys are anything like their predecessors, it certainly won't be dull.

We are expanding slightly, and will have five streams in our First year, not four, but we are not lowering our standards at all, and indeed our expansion makes it possible for virtually every class or set in the entire school to be under 30 pupils; indeed most will be under 28 or 25.

The loyal servants of the school—Matron, the Bursar, the Sister, the Mrs Cooks, and the office staff, as well as the groundstaff with Mr McKenna—press on regardless and are at your service, but they too have our thanks and appreciation. I am sorry we have not lined them up for a Cygnet photograph, along with the hard-working ladies of the Clothing Exchange and the P. & F. committee. In the middle we might put Mr Truscott, our Wittenoom man; for all deserve our thanks. So too, if one can speak respectfully these days of one's employers the Board of Governors, and you.

School Notes

First Term:

After the Christmas recess, the new year began with Dr Tregonning welcoming back the students, stressing the need for solid work and for the sportsmen to reach peak performance. Results of sport through the holidays were passed on to the school, and three new Masters, Messrs Brohman, Pontin and Sonntag, were introduced to the boys. On the following Monday the School Prefects were inducted, with Lance White becoming School Captain.

The swimming season began as soon as the guys pulled on bathers, and hard training was rewarded by a fantastic win at the Inters once again. Although training began before the start of the year, the rowing season proved unsuccessful—at the Head of the River only two crews, one of which was the 1st VIII, were placed. Berry Durston took over the job of coach yet again. After the Head of the River, the traditional Rowers' Dance moved headquarters to the Cygnet Rowing Hall, and the result was a wonderful success, with 125 couples attending. The cricket 1st XI persevered despite being depleted by departure of much of the 1973 team, and captained by "Jock" Clapin, they finished 5th in the Darlot Cup.

During May holidays Hale was host to a wildly successful Interstate Football Carnival with Scotch Adelaide and Geelong, which this year was dominated by Geelong.

Second Term:

The term started on 28th May. The first Wittenoom group left in the first week of June, beginning a very successful period without many injuries, although Fortescue Falls were renamed in honour of Brad Coventry. Resident Master was once again Mr Truscott, and his assistant was Mike Hoar. The 1st XVIII, although a very good team, were not as successful as the 1973 winners, finishing 3rd in the Alcock Cup. Rugby took an upturn with the 1st XV losing only one match and taking off the competition in a nail-biting finish.

The annual cross-country was strategically timed to begin as a blizzard arrived from the South Pole, but it did not deter Loton House, who ran off with the title. Old Boys' Winter Sports Day was conducted with teams in hockey, rugby and football, and with the Old Boys' winning all games.

The time-slot for the Prefects' Dance was moved to a Saturday after exams, and resulted in an increase of about 50 in attendance. The group this year was Sitting Bull, adding to the night's success.

Buntine proved successful in the Inter-house Football, though conceding the Hockey to Faulkner House. Towards the end of term, Cygnet announced a literary competition to stimulate writing in the school. This was very slow in getting off the ground, but when everyone realised there was money in it, response was much better.

1974 saw the Cadets become voluntary, as is explained in the Cadets report, and one effect was the abolition of the traditional march-out parade.

Third Term:

From the first day of term, athletes were under a rigorous programme in preparation for the Athletics Inters in October, and the training paid off in that Hale improved a place to finish 4th behind Aquinas.

Attendance at Old Boys' Day surpassed that of the previous year and gave the organising committee an excuse to purchase a bigger keg for the booze-up at the pool, and for more steaks for the barbeque. This day also saw the return of Mr Vernon Murphy, Headmaster 1946-59, in an honorary capacity.

Old Boys' Day saw the end of the social round and the beginning of panic by the 5th years, as the end of the year arrived. Several reunion dinners were held by Wittenoom groups 6 and 9, naturally led by Messrs Macmillan and Greenwell.

The end of year brought a short reign of chaos as the 5th years left, but the situation was soon in hand.

The School was dismissed on 6th December and on that evening Speech Night was held, which was also the day when the Cygnet Committee found out whether to commit suicide or not! Good wishes are expressed to the 5th years leaving (we hope) and to the 1st XI cricket, who are to travel to Adelaide in January.

Staff Changes

At the end of the 1973 school year a greater turnover of staff than usual occurred, especially in the English department.

Mr Frank Constantine and Mr N. Kirkham moved into well-earned retirement in W.A., and Mr Greg Clune left on an overseas trip, centring on Europe and aiming towards Canada. The new staff who filled those vacancies were Mr Reg Pontin, from Ross-moyne High School, and Mr Larry Brohman, all the way from Canada.

Mr Mark de Graaf, of the geology and overland expeditions department, departed for the Community College, Darwin, and was replaced by Mr Nigel Sonntag, who left New Zealand to take up the position.

Mr David Williams left us at the end of first term, for a position at Leederville Technical School, leaving a vacancy in the Biology department which was filled by Mr Terry Miller, originally from W.A., but who had qualified further in Britain.

Mrs Haskett departed for a position at Marist Brothers College, Doubleview.

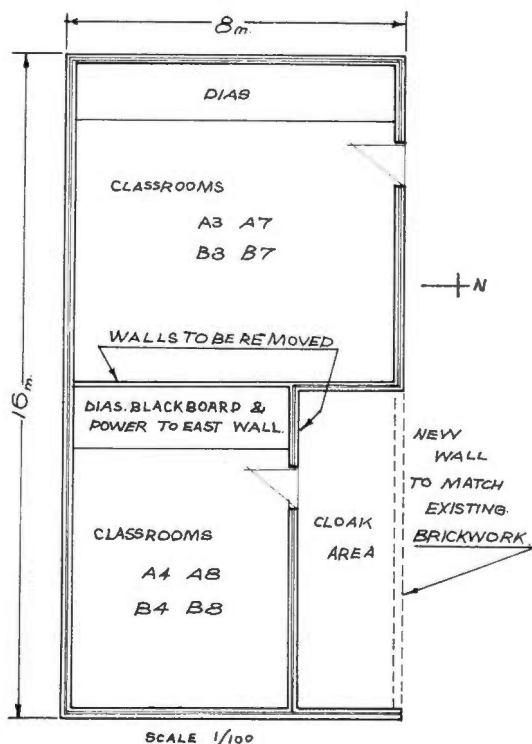

At the end of 1974, we lose Mr David Orr of the Junior School, off to England, and Mr Miller, after his short stay.

SCHOOL ALTERATIONS --

Early in the year a new metalwork building was erected alongside the Newbury science blocks. This modernised the facilities available for the subject, and brought them up to the same area as the other school blocks. This last improvement offered easier access to the building and eased the tempers of masters who were constantly interrupted by boys trudging up from the old metalwork shed and arriving halfway through the next period.

In the sporting arena, expansion took place. New tennis courts appeared between the hockey fields to ease the pressure placed on the existing area near the swimming pool. New cricket practice nets replaced the old, increasing the number of nets and enabling more frequent, if more chaotic, practice for all teams.

At the tail-end of this year, alterations are to be made to the end classrooms of each block. At present, the end classrooms, A4, A8, B4 and B8, are considerably smaller than the other rooms to provide room for bags. In the alteration, the adjoining wall between these rooms and their immediate neighbours will be demolished and replaced by a sliding door. This will provide a potentially larger area for lectures and house-meetings. The end rooms will be extended to normal size.

COMMONWEALTH SCHOLARSHIPS

Thirty Hale students were awarded Commonwealth Secondary Scholarships in 1973. These are valued at $140-$250 for each year of upper-secondary school, subject to a means test.

Commonwealth Secondary Scholarship winners were:-

G. H. Abbott	W. J. Generowicz	M. B. McDonald
M. J. Agnew	K. R. Hanson	S. R. McKelvie
M. J. Anderson	P. L. Hearn	R. H. C. Quick

MATRICULATION REGULATIONS

1974 will be the last time that students in 5th year will be obliged to take both a Leaving and Matriculation examination for the one subject. The University Senate has introduced a new tertiary admittance procedure to be implemented in 1975 and 1976.

Until now, a student has been required to pass a prerequisite number of exams at both Leaving and Matriculation level to gain entrance to tertiary institutions. The new system introduces one new exam to replace the old two, and in 1975 admittance to tertiary institutions will be based on an aggregate of marks from the student's five best subjects in the new exam.

The list of subjects approved for examination has been widened to include all subjects currently examinable at Leaving level. These "new" subjects are optional extras worth 40 marks, but only students studying both a Maths/Science subject and a humanities-social science are eligible to take the extra subject. This is an encouragement to students to broaden their education, as students taking advantage of the extra subject aim at a maximum possible aggregate of 540, as against the "specialiser's" possible 500 aggregate. This will not take effect in examination until 1976.

Students beginning 4th year in 1975 will be the first to try the new system. Students in 5th year next year will be judged by the transition system, taking one exam but not being affected by the new subject choice system.

Students can still be rejected through insufficient knowledge of English.

CRAIG KINSMAN

In his period at Hale School Craig has achieved marvellous results in the examination hall and on the chess board.

When Craig, in 1969, entered the senior school he had won the full scholarship; and he was dux of his year every time. In last year's Leaving and Matriculation, Craig gained 7 distinctions and matriculated. He was awarded a general exhibition for topping the state results and also a B.H.P. medal and prize money of $160.00 for maths 2 and 3 and Physics. Craig was then asked if he would accept a scholarship at the Australian National University in Canberra where he is now studying for a science degree majoring in Nuclear Physics.

In the recent Australian Junior Champion-for Chess in Brisbane, Craig came equal second and was the state junior champion as well as captain of the Hale team and number one player.

Craig Kinsman has proved a fine ambassador, and Hale can be justly proud of this brilliant young man.

VERNON MURPHY REPORT

Mr Vernon Murphy, an ex-Headmaster of Hale, was kind enough to give us an interview while returning for Old Boys' Day.

CYGNET reports

When were you last at Hale, Mr Murphy?

My duties as Headmaster ended in 1959, but I returned for a short while in 1960 to help with the new school at Wembley Downs.

From a quick glance can you notice any changes in Hale boys?

Only the long hair, but I suppose that's a sign of the times. Take that away and they could be the students of my day.

What would you say was the function of a public school today?

The same as always; to give youth a better background for their working days and to encourage hard workers and good sportsmen. This, as well as our better facilities, is our main attraction over state schools.

Do you think that too much emphasis is placed on sport instead of arts and drama?

No, I think young people should exercise their limbs while they have the chance. Arts and drama do have their place at Hale, but after being in class for five days of the week the body should be exercised. A healthy body is necessary for a healthy mind.

Are you disappointed that the Labour Government has forced cadets to become voluntary?

Yes and no. If the school were bigger I would say "Yes", but Cadets is only valuable if you have a choice between Air, Army and Naval Cadets. One of the disadvantages of being a small school is not being able to do this. However, as it stands at the moment, the Cadet Force is an elite because of the volunteer element. Also it is a smaller unit and thus is more mobile.

How do you compare cadets, with sport?

As I see it, the main function of cadets is learning discipline, and I feel that doing disciplinary training is preferable to drill, mainly because it develops fitness and skills at the same time.

Going back to the function of a public school, what are your views on Wittenoom?

It is a pity this opportunity has not been open to our students longer than this. Wittenoom makes us the envy of all other schools, providing a rare opportunity for boys to learn about life and get some practical experience while learning about the geography of our North. I would not mind going up there myself, even as a tourist.

Do you think that the Cygnet has improved much in the last decade?

Well, we never had interviews in my day. Perhaps the best thing you've done is to make the size of the pages larger, and I'm glad to hear you are going to do the same thing this year. It's good to see the transformation from a straight monologue and record book to a more readable and involved magazine, encompassing more interests every year.

What have you done since leaving Hale?

I went to New Guinea for a while, and was lucky enough to get a job with a medical school. Upon returning to Western Australia Dr Keyes offered me a job at Scotch College as careers officer, and I worked there until I retired.

"The Group became the first ever to succeed in getting every member lost on the hike to Mulga Downs." — GROUP 3.

"During our first day at Town Pool, Harry Herron decided not to go off: after he had jumped." — GROUP 6.

"At 4 o'clock, we all went for a swim in Crystal Pool and returned to sample Mr Shields' home-made bread, which was quite harmless. — GROUP 8.

Wittenoom '74 got under way in earnest as soon as the May holidays commenced with an advance party consisting of Mr Clune, Michael Hoar (this year's assistant resident master), and myself descending on Wittenoom on May 12th. This initial group was to be joined a few days later by Mr and Mrs Hoar and two members of their family who arrived on the Tuesday, having driven the Land Rover from Perth. Some time was spent in getting the house and its surrounds shipshape, no small job after nine months' growth and dirt had accumulated, and making a start on the setting up of the bush camp.

Later in the week the work force was supplemented with the arrival of Mr Macmillan, Andrew Prideaux, Gary Fletcher, Graham Dent and Ian Lilburne. This team busied themselves doing a paint job on the roof, further assisted the setting up of the bush camp and, as a community contribution, assisted the setting up of the "Henley on Joffre" course and facilities.

Towards the end of the holidays the advance party returned to Perth and all was in readiness for the commencement of Wittenoom proper.

The first group, led by veteran Wittenoom man Mr Poake, arrived on Sunday, June 2nd. A highlight of their fortnight was three days and two nights camping at Deep Reach near Millstream. An attempt was made on the Circular Pool "record" by Stuart Gee and although the old time of forty-five minutes was beaten, the new record was not to last.

Derek Reid's and Charlie Love's 84 descents off the town pool cliff was, however, to take some beating.

Group two arrived a week later under the direction of Mr J. Williams. Warwick Rose soon set about doing something to the Circular Pool record and managed one icy dip lasting some sixty minutes. Most of this group climbed the steep-sided Mt Bruce.

The Headmaster's group was next to arrive. This group succeeded in getting lost on the trek to Mulga Downs through failing to listen to all instructions. With the aid of Mr Hooson's aircraft, half the group was found just before sundown, the others a little later in the night some five miles past the homestead. During the Headmaster's stay, some thirty or so townspeople attended a party at the house. While at the bush camp Andrew Taylor and Andrew Klimaitis discovered some aboriginal rock carvings on the wall of Hancock Gorge. Later, following the policy of groups returning to the town house by means other than a vehicle, this group set off on the Sunday to the head of Joffre Gorge, proceeded all the way down Joffre to Red Gorge, down Red to Wittenoom Gorge, stayed overnight at the Town Pool and walked the remaining seven miles to town early the next morning.

Mr Bohdan arrived with group four. Most of this group made the most of their opportunities, and a successful attempt was made on the descent of Knox Gorge to Red Gorge; a trip unequalled for scenery and excitement.

Group five arrived early in July under the command of Mr Hoad. There was a slight deviation to the usual town programme when a trip to "Cowra", the Mulga Downs outpost, was arranged where shearing was in progress. David Weatherly shattered the Circular Pool record with a shivering sixty-five minutes. This group made their project a survey of the various pool temperatures around the area. The results are as follows:

Town Pool	15° C.
Fortescue Falls	10-12° C.
Circular Pool	10° C. ranging to 12° C. where seepage occurs at 25° C.
Joffre Falls Pool	9° C.
Hancock Pool	(at entrance to gorge) 8° C.
Hale Pool	(at base of camp site) 5-6° C.

Later on in the week during their settling in day at the camp an air drop was made of some forgotten gear by group four while on their scenic flight.

Mr Greenwell's group six was next to make their appearance. Among this group's discoveries were a rare comedy talent in "George" Johnson and more cold, long, and deep pools along Red Gorge than expected. The latter discovery was made on their return to the town house with one inflatable raft between the group.

The geologists under the direction of Mr Sonntag comprised group seven. A study of the geology of the area was made and there was a visit to Marandoo, the base camp of the Hancock and Wright-Texas Gulf iron ore venture. Some of the lads on the Mulga Downs trek thought they were lost but fortunately came across the local baker cutting wood in the river bed. His directions proved accurate.

Group eight consisted of biologists and they were to spend their first week at beautiful Millstream station. The day before departing for here the group was taken by Sir Valston Hancock on an aerial inspection of Mt Tom Price and Marandoo in Mr Lang Hancock's turboprop "Aero Commander" aircraft. The Millstream project proved a success with some useful work being done and Mr Shields again being named "bush baker of the year". On their return from Millstream after a couple of days in town, the group completed the fortnight at the bush camp.

Group nine was the last group for the year.. They arrived on August 6th, with Mr Macmillan. After a fortnight of the usual activities, the group had an extra three days in which to assist the general clean up and the dismantling of the bush camp. Members of this group proved splendid waiters and barmen when the school was host to some one hundred townspeople who attended a party held to say thank you and farewell. They also proved sound swimmers and climbers when the Knox descent was negotiated to Red Gorge, up Red to Joffre and up the Joffre dyke.

All too soon group nine departed and another year of Wittenoom had come to a close. Better weather and a better vehicle record made Wittenoom easier to administer than 1973 but the result was the same; an exciting educational experience and a better understanding developed between masters and boys.

All boys who visited the town again did the School credit. The School also assisted the community and the environment in a number of ways including the setting up and cleaning up of the "Henley on Joffre", course, assisting the National Parks rangers where possible and helping prepare the race track for the annual meeting.

A number of Old Boys and friends of the School dropped in to see the School's facilities while passing through the town. Official visits were made by Mr and Mrs Ted Hantke (Mr Hantke a member of the Board) and the Bursar, Mr R. Burr.

Many people assisted the operation of Wittenoom in 1974. Thanks go to Michael Hoar, the assistant resident master; Hancock and Wright; the Hooson's of Mulga Downs; the Kennedys' of Millstream, E. G. and L. McGuire's Wittenoom Tourist Centre; Hamersly Iron; the National Parks Board and the entire Wittenoom community. Mr Hoar, Matron and Mrs Cook all worked hard at Wembley Downs and the work of these people and all those who comprised the May advance party is gratefully acknowledged.

I wish my successor the best of luck for 1975 and hope that his period in charge will be as enjoyable and satisfying as mine.

R. C. TRUSCOTT.

Once again, Mr Truscott proved to be an able and popular "man at Wittenoom". His humour and willingness were a great asset to Wittenoom '74.—EDITOR.

Junior School Notes

Yet another year seems to have vanished at record pace, probably hastened by the exciting timetable that keeps students and staff fully committed.

Term one began with the boys preparing for their various swimming meetings scheduled to take place during the week and on Saturday mornings. Mr Orr and Mr Haskett looked after the squad these Saturday morning meetings. Keen cricketers had fixtures arranged for Saturday mornings and the competitions were under the watchful eye of Mr Richardson. It is hoped to continue the weekend cricket this summer.

The keenness of the cricketers prompted the thoughts of suitable practice nets for the juniors to use. The tuckshop kindly donated the necessary funds for the construction of nets; the hard wickets of concrete were poured and Messrs Richardson, Holmes and Orr spent several weekends mixing concrete and erecting cyclone netting. A very professional looking set of nets resulted from their efforts. The nets have been greatly utilised by the Junior School boys and the advantages have been in evidence from the results gained in interschool competition.

A swimming meeting was arranged with Scotch College involving Grades 1-4, in first term. In third term we returned the visit with an athletics meeting. The very junior grades do not have much opportunity to compete against new faces and both occasions were enjoyed by all.

The tuckshop provided further money for the purchase of two clarinets for use by members of the J.S. Band. The band now has a full range of instruments that may be borrowed for practice purposes. Whilst on the subject of the band, boys in the school who show musical interest are encouraged to further their studies under the guidance of Mr Harvey. Music is further encouraged by having Mrs Gladstone teach singing to Grades 1-6. A keen choir has evolved from these music lessons indicating how interested the boys have become.

This year we had our first experience of student teachers in our school. Third year students now spend a full term in various schools and we benefited from having Mr Julian Vinciullo (an Old Boy) from Churchlands Teachers' College in first term and Miss Vicky Vine from Graylands in second term. We look forward to more new life and enthusiasm next year. During second term, an interchange of teaching ideas between independent schools was organised. We were able to see ideas in action in other schools and we had visitors at Hale to benefit from the special interests of our teachers.

Mr Mill gave notice that there would be an educational tour of Tasmania in the May holidays, suitable for Grades 5, 6, and 7 boys. Some thirty boys went on the tour accompanied by Mr and Mrs Mill and Mr Holmes. A most enjoyable and informative time was had by the tour members and on return to school, boys gave talks and showed photographic slides dealing with various aspects of Tasmania.

The Grade 7 classes also spent a few days on a farm at York watched over by Mr Mill, Mr Holmes and Mr Orr. They seemed to thoroughly enjoy the country life. Other grades went on several trips. Grade 6 accompanied by Mr Sweet and Miss Vine trekked over Reabold Hill in the cause of Science. Grade 5 visited the Grain Terminal at Fremantle and Grade 4 went to L. Bartlett's plastic factory. Grade 3 have visited Woolcombers Processing, the Peters Ice Cream factory and had a rather unsuccessful attempt to look into the workings of the airport. They also made the trip to the city to watch the Anzac march.

During second term we were pleased to see the installation of slatted seating outside the classrooms on the north side. The seats are under the verandah, and in inclement or very hot weather, the boys can sit and have their lunches. The seating was provided by the P. and F. and we are truly grateful. Yet more seating was to come from the P. and F. This was to be bench seating for use in the covered assembly room, so that a large number of boys could be seated satisfactorily to watch educational films and TV programmes for schools. It is now possible to seat 90 boys at a time and all are able to see the screen properly.

In the August holidays, Mr Mill and Mr Holmes went to King's School Parramatta to attend the Bi-ennial Junior School Conference. They came back with reports on the latest trends in educational thinking and it was gratifying to note that we are keeping abreast of the latest ideas.

Dr Tregonning announced that sometime during 3rd term a Government surplus building would be delivered to the Junior School for use as an art complex. For this we are again indebted to the thoughtfulness of the P. and F. Although the Junior School has an Art Room it was often found by Mr Sweet to be inadequate when trying to cope with large art projects. When delivery day arrived, the boys watched fascinated as a low-loader with the building arrived, was manoeuvred into position and located on stumps. The building had hardly settled before Mr Sweet was at the drawing board putting down ideas to make the complex suitable to serve all the variations of art and craft that he has in mind for the coming year. There is no doubt that all boys will benefit greatly when the complex is completed.

Charities have not been neglected throughout the year and the boys can be relied upon to give generously to worthy causes. Several amounts have been collected but the most noteworthy effort was one of $103.98 donated to the Save the Children's Fund (Western Australian Division). Letters of appreciation from organisations are always read out to the boys at their morning assemblies.

The year will end with the staff saying farewell to Mr Orr who has decided to go to England to teach for a year. We have enjoyed having him as a colleague, and we know the boys also will miss him.

Chapel Notes

The Chapel of St Mark can hardly be ignored, as it dominates the main entrance of the School and bears striking witness to the fact that Hale School, founded by Perth's first bishop, is a Christian school.

All that a building can do to establish the character of the School, St Mark's Chapel does well. Its arresting exterior stimulates interest and comment, and inside its quiet beauty encourages meditation and worship. During last year a fine stained glass window in Haleian shades of blue, in memory of the late Graeme Parker, was donated by his parents and those who enter the Chapel are surrounded by symbols of faith.

The most important aspect though, is that the Chapel is well used within the context of education at Hale School.

No building is used more by visitors than Hale's Chapel. Every year, some forty weddings take place there and many thousands of guests gain from the Chapel and its surroundings their first impression of the character of Hale. The growing Wembley Downs parish uses our Chapel for its services, thus establishing a valuable link between the School and the local community. Planning delays in the City Council have postponed the building of the Wembley Downs parish church so that the School Chapel will continue to be the local place of worship for another year.

Changes in the system of Chapel for day boys have evolved perhaps the best pattern of worship followed in the School. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, normal assembly is held in the Hall and concludes with a short service. Tuesday is the Chaplain's morning when he is able to preach to the whole School. On Thursday, a hymn practice session which, after a rather traumatic start, has become accepted, is proving invaluable in improving the singing and in introducing new hymns. Each Day House visits the Chapel in turn during the lunch hour for a brief, intimate House Chapel service—a vast improvement on the earlier sardine-packed combined services. Perhaps the only fault in this system is that the day boys are still not being introduced to full-scale services in the style they will know in parish worship.

Boarders' services continue to follow the old pattern of 8 a.m. Holy Communion and 8 p.m. Evensong. Despite the drastic experimentation in the Church outside, Hale is persevering with the old style rites. When the Church makes up its mind Hale will of course change, but in the meantime, the familiar services, beautified by a vastly improved Chapel Choir, are providing a pleasing religious experience.

With Mrs Gladstone as organist, the Choir is now singing an anthem every week and visiting singers and instrumentalists add variety to the music.

BUNTINE HOUSE NOTES

The 1974 year began with 17 boys learning the secrets of guts and determination as, in fact, we all were.

Looking for a sixth-in-a-row swimming win, Buntine came second. "Nobby" Clarke and "Lambsy" Birman must be thanked for their organisation, and Buntine's Inters representatives, Gaunt, Birman, Clarke, Marsh, Tarik and Cardwell, are congratulated on their win.

The cricketers, led by Prideaux, won the Parker Cup with a young team. Its 1st XI representatives were "Prids", "Don Marco" Cugini and "Arty" Taylor. The Sholl Cup was snatched out of Loton's mouth, wiped clean, and presented to Buntine. The Senior basketballers, led by I. Clarke, were undefeated throughout the season, and "Davo" magically pulled many games out of the hat for the volleyballers to record second placing.

"Pec wee" Galbraith took his longballers to 2nd position, and Micucci's baseballers fought on to be 3rd. The Junior basketballers tried hard and the rowers finished 4th behind the boarders. White and Townsend represented the House in the 1st VIII, and tennis shrugged off its injuries to come 2nd under the guidance of Bailey.

White, "Bods", Goodridge, Birman, Paterson and Langlands were included in the team that played in the Interstate Football Carnival in Perth. The Senior Hockey dazzled with a draw for first place with Faulkner, who won the Brine Cup. The Junior side suffered a severe shortage of numbers. The two football teams were runners-up in their competitions, but still retained the Cup. Pollard captained the 1st XVIII and nine others played in the team, including Goodridge, who received colours.

Fielding eighty runners, Buntine came 4th in the torrential rain and mud of the cross-country. Our victory in the Athletics sealed the Cockhouse Cup, which we retained for the 8th successive year. A total of twelve people from the House ran in the Inters, namely: the two Berrymans, Galbraith, Sarinas, Lilburne, Taylor, Cugini, Beaman, Rathjen, Paterson, White and Goodridge.

Cpls. Barrymore, Allan, Simpson, Tarik and Lilburne were active members of Cadets and Sgt. Taylor won the Tobruk Trophy. Outside the School, I. Clarke became Under-17 squash champion and M. Rose won the Golden Gloves Championship for the six and a half to seven stone group, also becoming State Champion in this division.

Birman, Beaman and Taylor were Cygnet Committee members and assisted in the marathon task of getting it out on time.

We wish the 5th years the best of luck in the future, and thank them for their help and support over the year, especially to School Captain Lance White, who did a magnificent job. Once again Mr Macmillan must be given all credit for our success this year, and we are grateful for his enthusiastic assistance.

Messrs Brohman, Altofer, Truscott, Carey and Foss are thanked for their effort in various fields. Charities collected this year were a record amount, all of which went to the Cancer Crusade. The year ended with a barbecue around the pool, and this was a special event for all Buntinians and parents.

At the beginning of term the 1st years as usual were treated like Cygnet committee members; but as the year wore on many people were eating their words, as much of the year's success was due to them.

Our theme for 1974 was YOUTH and examples of this can be seen throughout 1st term sport. The inexperienced baseball team was led by 3rd year Paul Rokich; the victorious volley ball team had only two 5th year players; and the tennis team comprised 2nd and 3rd years, including Scott Nicholas, school champion, who left at the end of first term to take up a tennis scholarship in Europe. Rowing, also, has a middle school majority, emphasized by the fact that some interschool crews were entirely Faulkner.

Our cricket side was the year's biggest disappointment, having young 1st XI players in Geoff Marsh and Stephen McKelvie, and fearsome 5th year bowler "Northy". However the side lacked depth and we did not have enough strong players to pull us out of difficult situations, resulting in our being placed fourth.

A reduction in overall numbers left the longball team with only six hand-picked 1st years. This team fought with a rarely seen determination against outwardly superior opposition to come fourth.

Now, if all the fore-mentioned teams were examples of youth, where were the 5th years? The answer is—playing in a senior basketball team that did not have height as an asset, and which undermined, its way to 5th place. The junior team also suffered from this, but played well to come second.

Wednesday afternoon sport saw Mr Gidney walking the games circuit injecting enthusiasm into our every side, and it was this that made the games high-spirited and worth playing.

The interhouse swimming team did not train lest we all drowned, and we kindly let someone else win the cup; and proved conclusively that flat farmer feet are no advantage what-so-ever.

Against this background Stephen Arrow did well to swim in the "Inters" and came second.

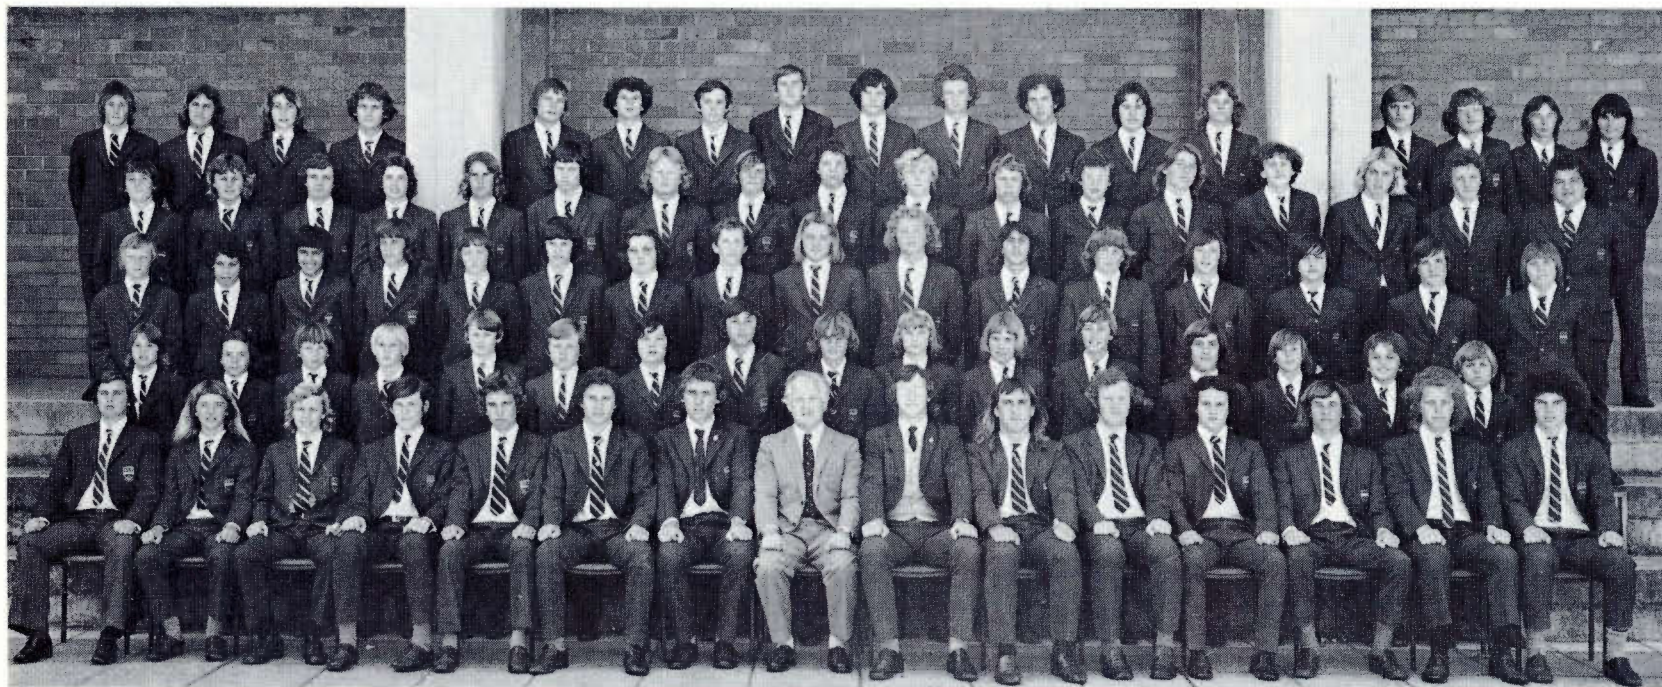

The cross-country race saw farmer-boys follow the firebreaks as if they had ploughed them, and to perform well in the Arctic conditions.

This team, with 1st XI players Stephen McKelvie and Nicky Burges, and many strong Under-16 "A" players, was itself an "Under-16" team, and had skill evenly balanced throughout. Age difference was never considered as we carved a trail of death and destruction to one of the closest grand finals played at Hale, with our Captain away at Wittenoom. The result was a tie, and with the junior team coming third we were able to win the cup for the third year in a row and the fifth time in six years. Next year, however, we may have trouble raising a junior team though the success of the senior team seems assured.

The senior football side, containing stars like "Butterfly" Knowles and Henry Mitchell, was the only brilliant side in the competition to win only one game; and was captained by Ian Broad, who was used in the 1st XVIII when they needed an extra half-player. Robby McLarty and Geoff Marsh earned us a constant one point as we crawled up the ladder to 6th. Our faithful coach who watched over us through thick and thin all term was Mr Bohdan. The junior team finished strongly in 2nd place.

After two rigorous third term months of espionage training under the guidance of Mr Wapnah, Faulkner took the athletics field in green camouflage singlets, and after a day of bummers we were narrowly beaten for the wooden spoon by a determined Wilson House. The second half of third term was spent playing unofficial interhouse soccer with Mr Hockenhull as coach and Mr Coney as Umpire, going through the season undefeated.

Mr Stephenson, who was probably the most-liked assistant Housemaster in Faulkner for many years, left us at the end of the year to get married. His humane, personal touch will be remembered in contrast to the military lines upon which his predecessors and contemporaries ran the House.

At the commencement of the year Haynes looked forward to a successful year in sport and as a house, and first term confirmed predictions. Mr Taylor appointed Drew Herron House Captain, and P. Farmer, A. Quick and I. Farmer House Prefects. Later on, Wayne House and M. Rollings were to be appointed. With initiations over, the House settled down to a hard-working term.

Sport was highlighted by the performance of the cricket team which finished 2nd. Polly Farmer, Monkey Marshall and Dave Vaux were selected in the 1st XI. At the interhouse swimming, Haynes performed well to come 5th, led by Inters representatives Wayne and Larry House, Yates and Durston.

The tennis team, blessed with some fine players, won the competition, and Wilderspin played in the 1st VI. Rowing was in the hands of Drew Herron, our 1st VIII man. Haynes ended up 5th in the House Fours. Haynes performed creditably in all the remaining sports, with everyone looking forward to Wednesday afternoon.

Second term began with our football strength reduced, as 1st XVIII players Polly Farmer, Marshall, Dunn, Spencer, Marty Johnston and Steve McQuillan could not play. However, Haynes battled hard and might have done better. Haynes won a few games in Junior hockey, but the Senior team under Wayne House lacked dedication.

The cross-country was endured by all healthy runners, and while many lumbered round the course, we had runners, like Marty Johnston, S. Boyd and D. Frankish running 1st, 2nd and 3rd in their sections. Our men in the triumphant 1st XV were Vaux, Herron and Spence.

Athletics began in third term, and on the House Athletics day we finished 3rd. We would like to thank the masters involved with House training. In the Inters we were represented by Farmer, Herron, Johnston, Vaux, Spencer, I. Ladyman, G. Fullerton, G. Craig, A. Farmer, W. Blackwell and R. Gell.

Haynes were represented in Cadets by Sgt. Nutt, and Cpls. Buggins and Gell. Dave Vaux debated, and Scott Buggins and Andrew Klimaitis played chess.

Haynes has had a successful year, and with new blood coming through the House, Haynes might conceivably win the Cup and end Buntine's dominance. Under the management of Mr Taylor, who this year did an understanding and well-appreciated job, let us bring the Cockhouse Cup to Haynes, and claim our right as Champion House. Fight on!

When the year started, there were 20 new faces in the House—19 boys and one Housemaster Mr Towers, who took over from Mr Hoar. A. J. Clapin was appointed House Captain, and S. Anderson, J. K. Colero, D. J. Fleay, S. J. Fowler and M. Meredith became House Prefects. Clapin and Anderson were inducted as School Prefects. The House received the unwelcome news that until the Inter-house swimming was held, everyone would swim and run early each morning. While it did not earn Mr Towers any votes, it paid dividends as Loton finished 4th. Johnny Matthews and Henry Cooke were Loton's representatives in the winning Inters team.

Jock Clapin was made captain of cricket and Lew Anderson captain of rowing. Loton showed all-round strength to finish second in the Sholl Cup for team games. The tennis came 4th and the cricketers could only manage 4th position. The House Rowing Team, with 1st VIII members 'Lew' Anderson and Steve Fowler, won the Interhouse rowing.

Loton collected over $600 in the Red Cross Appeal which was about half the total amount collected by the whole school. Midway through the term, the house had an enjoyable rest at Mullaloo. On the last morning of term the House went to see the "Sting" which was a very good film. By the end of first term the emphases on sport and homework diaries was quite apparent and the year's slogan was clearly "Beat Buntine". The first production of the Loton House paper was again, like previous years, a success.

Second term, as usual, was centred around sport, and every Wednesday was a big day. Our senior footballers, under M. Dunkley, managed third place while the juniors, led by S. York, finished fourth. In the 1st XVIII we were represented by A. and R. Clapin. Underwood and Dunkley. Both our hockey teams could have won their divisions but failed through poor concentration. Each team lost only one game, the seniors coming third and the juniors losing the final. David Fleay and K. F. Chan were 1st XI members.

The success story of the term was the winning of the cross-country. 50 out of 64 from Loton ran, with all of the ten runners in the open division from Loton finishing in the first sixteen. S. Anderson, M. Meredith, S. Fowler and J. Griggs were in the victorious 1st XV, and in the Interhouse rugby Loton lost the final to Wilson. Lew Anderson was selected in the team to play the English Schoolboy rugby side.

On the social side, highlights were the visit to "Live and Let Die" and the House Social. Third term was in two parts—Athletics and Study. Jock Clapin, Captain of Athletics, led thirteen Loton representatives in the Inters team. In the Interhouse Athletics our lack of numbers let us down, and we finished fourth. Overall sporting achievements gave us second place in the Cockhouse Cup.

In extra-curricular activities Loton did not perform as well. A number of boys were in the band, but no Lotonians were involved in Chess, Debating or Cygnet.

1974 was a year of change for Loton, and a different style of House emerged—discipline was relaxed but replaced by co-operation. This was promoted by Mr Towers in his first year. He is to be commended for his excellent job in aiding another successful year.

Parry

Housemaster: Mr R. L. GRAY

House Captain/School Prefect: I. B. LILBURNE

House Prefects: G. I. FLETCHER, L. CADDY, B. NIELSON

1974 began with Mr R. L. Gray welcoming the new boys into the House appointing the House Prefects for the year. I. Lilburne was made House Captain with L. Caddy, G. Fletcher, B. W. Nielson and M. Dye as the House Prefects for the year. Ian Lilburne was also appointed a School Prefect.

As in 1973 Parry again lacked depth and only managed seventh in the Sholl Cup.

In the Inter-house swimming, though we finished fifth in the G. N. Altorfer Cup there was a great amount of spirit in the team.

Our representatives in the victorious "Inters" team were S. King, J. G. Morris, L. J. Laurenson and G. M. Taylor.

Parry, unfortunately had no members in the first six and finished a close eighth in the Haswell Cup.

With our first XI members Colin Payne and D. E. Kelly supplying the backbone of our team Parry finished a commendable third in the Parker Cup.

Our First XVIII man Brian Nielson Captained the House rowing, which finished second to Loton in the George Rogers' Trophy for House fours.

First term ended with Nielson and Fletcher in the first XVIII to represent the School during the holidays. Leigh Caddy is to be congratulated on his appointment as Captain of hockey for 1974.

Second term began with Football and Hockey as the Inter-house Sports. The hockey teams led by L. Caddy and S. Makin finished a good third in the Brine Cup.

Thanks go to Mr Gray for his assistance throughout the season. Our representative in the first XI apart from Captain Caddy was Greg Abbot. The football also went well, the juniors under David Foulkes tried hard throughout the season.

The senior team won the grand final for the first time ever. This team was led by M. Dye. Parry's representatives in the first XVIII during the term were Fletcher, Neilson, Placanica and Payne. In the victorious first XV were I. Lilburne and Rhu Laurenson.

In the Cross-country there were fine performances by Colin Payne, Gary Barham, and Charley Love. Despite these good performances Parry was only able to come fifth.

With success in the winter sports Parry looked forward to a good result in Inter-house Athletics in third term.

Third term began with a very vigorous training programme set down by Mr Gray. It was pleasing to note the large amount of Parry men in the initial athletics squad. Parry entered the athletics day with confidence well. Many fine performances were obtained on the day especially in the under-17, under-16 and under-15. In a fine display of running and field events Parry finished second to Buntine, a fine effort. We thank Mr Gray for his invaluable assistance.

The Inters team included Ian Lilburne, Gary Fletcher, Colin Payne, Rhu Laurenson, Charles Love, Mike Dye, Gary Dye, Allan Placanica, C. Warne, and I. Chiswell.

The House owes Mr Gray a great deal for his efforts in organising the House in 1974. He has adapted to the position of Housemaster in a manner that makes him a worthy successor to Mr Altorfer.

Riley

House Prefects: J. STRATTON, M. STYLES, R. WOLFF, I. ROBERTS, K. WALSH

Housemaster: Mr D. F. POAKE

House Captain and School Prefect: P. WALKEMEYER

At the beginning of 1974 Mr Poake appointed four House Prefects: John Stratton, Mike Styles, Richard Wolff and House Captain Peter Walkemeyer. Two more were inducted later on in the term, they being Kim Walsh and Ian Roberts.

On the sporting field Riley experienced fluctuating fortunes. After winning the first race in the Interhouse swimming, Riley dropped back to finish third behind Buntine and Stirling. The baseball team, led by Ben Knott, came fourth, while Wolff's tennis team managed seventh. The rowing team, lightest of all the crews but most experienced, could only grab seventh. Walky's volleyballers, through the efforts of Halligan and Trickey, finished equal seventh. Mike Styles, our 1st XI member, led the cricketers in B division. The longballers and basketballers fared better than most, being placed 4th and 5th respectively.

Riley men participated in other areas of school, with Michael King and Peter Walkemeyer in the debating team, and Tim King debating in the 2nd year team. Tim and Ben Knott were "B" Chess players, while Michael King was a member of the "A" team.

Charities for the term amounted to nearly $30, a figure well above that of the previous year.

Second term saw Riley eager to make up ground in winter sport. The senior hockey side, with 1st XI players Wolff and both Orriss brothers, were plagued with ill fortune. Riley could only manage one win, finishing eighth. The Junior side, however, captained by Sheridan, won their section.

The senior footy team, under Ian Roberts, took out the wooden spoon. Many juniors played in this team, and they are to be commended for their efforts. Mike Styles was a member of the 1st XVIII, and John Stratton was in the victorious 1st XV. The Junior footballers after trying hard all season, were placed seventh.

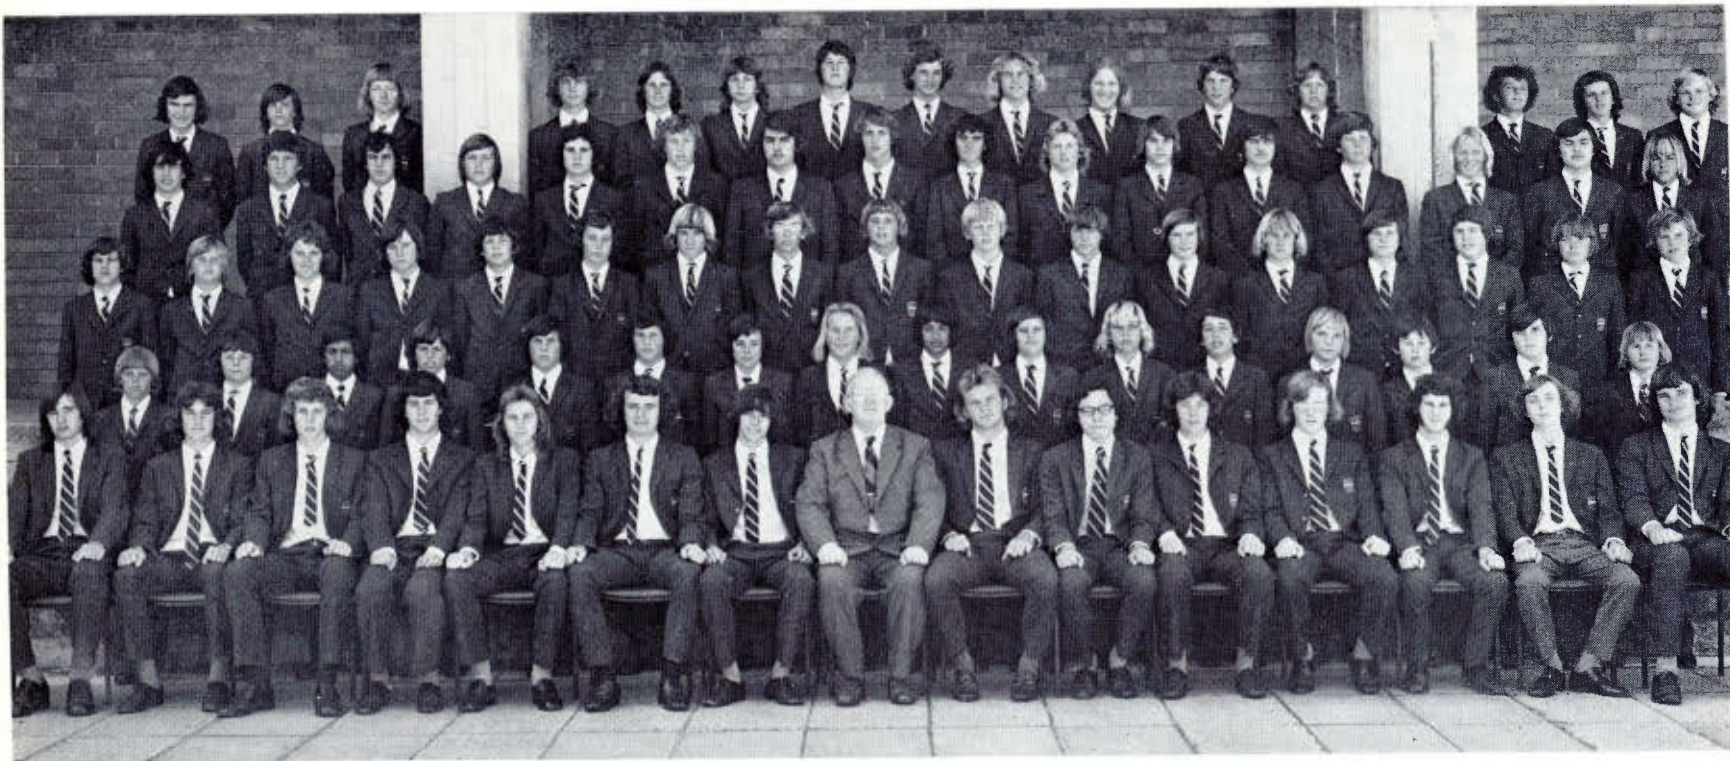

The Cross-country was not one of the most memorable days of the year, but despite the rotten conditions, Riley performed well. Notable performances were those of M. Brand, who ran first in the Under-14 group, and Peter Orriss, 4th in the Under-16s.

Rod Sear was appointed Captain of the State Junior Lacrosse team in second term, and he toured the Eastern States with them. Richard Wolff played in a combined P.S.A. team which opposed the Hotspurs hockey side.

On the educational side, for a change, Mirek Generowicz won a Maths Association Prize of $15 during the term.

Third term began with torture training for Athletics. On the day of the House Athletics, Riley ended up fifth, a big improvement. The Under-14 age group obtained some very good positions. Members of the Inters team from Riley were Styles, Sear, Q. Richards, E. Winter, and J. Thew.

During the year Charities kept up their record-breaking success with $60 collected—an improvement of $10. The term drew to a close with the 5th years leaving for study, and putting leadership on the shoulders of the 4th years. Thanks must be extended to the Prefects, and to Mr Poake for guiding Riley through a successful year.

House Captain: B. HANCOCK

School Prefect: B. Hancock

House Prefects:

R. HOOD, P. HUGHES, P. KIRKBY

Stirling House welcomed Mr Lupton in with the New School Year. New Prefects appointed were Brad Hancock, (Captain of House and School Prefect), Peter Hughes, Peter Kirkby, and Richard Hood. All fifth years participated in the running of the House, with good results.

In swimimng, the House achieved its first success. Inspired by chants of "Beat Mac", we won the G. N. Altofer and D. F. Poake Trophies. Brad Hancock is to be congratulated on obtaining honours in swimming, after leading Hale to a record win in the Inters.

Wth moderate success in the team games we were all set to take out the Cock House Cup.

Chess and debating representatives from Stirling House were numerous and both Captains—Peter Kirkby and Jim Morcombe respectively—were Stirlingites.

Winter term began with Stirling senior talent becoming a little cold, and we were only able to finish fifth in both hockey and football.

The juniors still fired by their first term successes, won the footbal and were beaten into second place in the hockey.

Wearied by our efforts on the sports fields and intensive training behind the desk, we ran a valiant sixth in the cross-country.

Our fourthyear representatives returned from Wittenoom convinced of its "gorges" sceney and the belief that perhaps masters are after all a little human.

The only other item of interest was Peter Kirkby's place in the "Youth Speaks for Australia" quest.

The "Horrors" term exploded with delight. Only one night a week training! This was to be supplemented by private practice. Revitalised, we ran ourselves into sixth place. Now with healthy minds in supposedly healthy bodies, we toughened our rears for the long study stint ahead. All was not drudgery, however. Peter Kirkby, entering the Mobil Youth Travel Award, found himself in the State final where, although not winning, was so sated after lunch, he could not get over the high jump bar in the afternoon.

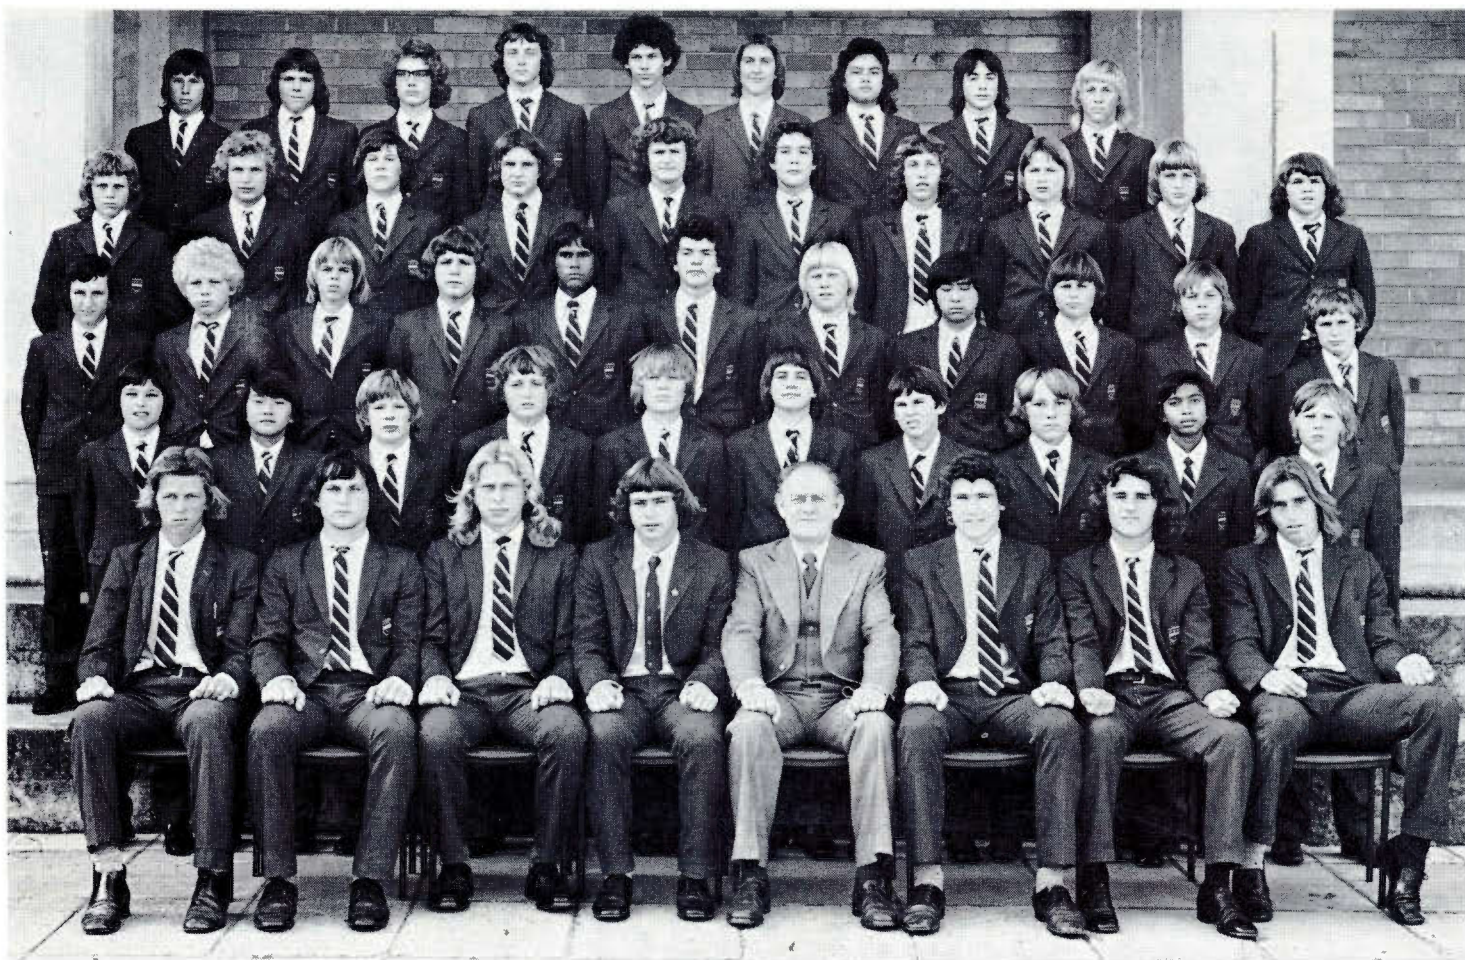

Leigh Featherby, another culture vulture, danced his way into second place in the Australian Junior Ballroom hampionships, after winning the W.A. Junior hampionships.

Pensively, the fifth years faced the Mock Leaving, almost passing—out. After scaling, however, the struggles were well rewarded. John Bebbington achieved highest success, taking out Dux of the School, along with the Maths II and II prize, While Peter Watson was awarded the Chemistry Prize and Peter Kirkby the Debating Prize.

The Leaving Students were farewelled with orders to study hard, while the third years and other students leaving Hale at the end of the year were wished every success in their future ventures.

On behalf of those leaving Stirling, we wish the House well, and urge the members to continue to support Mr Lupton in his period as Housemaster.

1974 saw a somewhat diminished Wilson House, which continued to shed members throughout the year. During the year, two third year students, namely Plume, and Johns, a second year student, Hill and one fourth year, Gee arrived, while the Ware brothers and Pollard left, making a great loss to our swimming and football teams respectively.

In seventy-four there was also a shake up of the Staff. Mr Saint, an Old Boy, replaced Mr Hyland, who had held a respected place in the House for some time. In second term, Mr Dodds left the House after a short but reminiscent stay. He was replaced by Mr Jurkiewicz.

In the swimming, Wilson finished a hard fought seventh, losing to only six other houses. With only two members in the squad Peter and David Ware, our lack of numbers really showed through.

Baseball: We came equal first, beating all the teams except Stirling with whom we drew.

In cricket Wilson excelled. First in our division was a really tremendous result. In the other summer sports we struggled through in our usual successful way.

Rowing is traditionally our best sport and this year was no exception. After winning in all the heats we went through to the final but only finished third due for the most part to passengers among the crew.

In the second term we made third place on the Cross Country course. In our efforts at football we were all set for a good place before the Final, when Barry West joined our other representative Graeme Dent in the first 18. Helped largely by our Rugby players, namely Thorn, who seemed capable of playing anywhere, but mostly on the field, we achieved 5th place. Our other good players were Neville and Gregory Angel, who snapped into the first eleven earlier in the season. Wilson Rugby team came top of the school by good co-ordinated play.

Athletics isn't and never will be our best sport, but with a lot of effort and quite a bit of extra training we gained a place from last year.

We have not been noted for our Academic achievement for quite some time, but it looks like this is changing with our first years coming top of every first year class.

1974 has perhaps been one of the most enjoyable years at Wilson and apart from a little confrontation between the fifth years and the Headmaster, which resulted in a short suspension of all but the House captain, I think it is safe to say it has been an unusually untroubled year.

Debating

Hale School Debating 1974 received a promising start in first term in practice debates. Debating at Hale has long been enjoyed by all for the opportunity to indulge in social debates, and the year began with four such debates: against M.L.C. and St. Hilda's, which the senior team won, and against Sienna and P.L.C. in which the team did not fare quite as well; the juniors, however managing to lose only against St. Hilda's.

Mr Coney took on the task of co-ordinator after the departure of Mr de Graaf, and appointed Jim Morcombe as Captain of Debating for 1974. Two senior teams and two junior teams were entered in the W.A. Secondary Schools Debating Federation Competition. The Hale No. 1 Senior Team, consisting of J. G. Morcombe, M. S. King, P. A. Kirkby and P. L. Walkemeyer, debated against Applecross in the first round of the W.A.S.S.D.F.C. and enjoyed some hard-hitting repartee on the subject, "That vegetarians are more dangerous than meat-eaters". Hale, without their captain, took the affirmative and won. The team was not as fortunate in the final two rounds, debating with their captain against Brigidine in the second, and St. Louis in the third, and being shouted down by St. Louis who were quite vehement in their argument.

The Hale No. 2 Senior Team fared a little better, losing their first round against Guildford, but completing the double against Applecross in the second and winning the final round against Trinity. Their loss to Guildford eliminated them from the finals.

There was only one social debate held during second term. The juniors won their debate versus Mercedes, while the senior team, debating against the Mercedes senior team, were presented with a fine display of drama by the opposition's second and third speakers. The adjudicator was more impressed with the beseechings from the floor for a better presentation from the Hale team than with the points-duty performed by M. King, consequently Hale lost.

The Hale juniors performed creditably in all their debates, and with continued practice in social debates will provide Hale with strong senior teams in the years to come. Thanks go to Mr Coney for the work he put in, to Matron for the continued provision of supper, and to all the spectators who attended the social debates to make the opposition spectators feel welcome.

Throughout the year, during social debates, the senior team was reminded by the adjudicators not to concentrate on just one person in the audience but to look at everyone. Thanks go to the adjudicators, to those who chaired, and to the timekeepers.

J. G. Morcombe is awarded Extremist of the Year for his alternately too loud and too soft performances, both from the debating floor and from the Hale School stage; M. S. King receives two free tickets to the Police Ball; and P. A. Kirkby is summarily retired from the team. Hale debating will continue to benefit from the use of social debates, as it has developed a style which is truly Hale.

Music

Music this year. The band in the Junior School has been through many of the less famous periods of the musical art. Progress has been steady: in the beginning a small inept group which produced a small, though unpleasant, sound, fought through the fog of sopranos, basses, breaking, and in some cases shattered voices, every Monday morning.

Now we have a large inept group which produces a large cataclysmic cacaphony that roars through the vocal gymnastics of the assembled enthusiastic singers below.

The Junior School Band and choir has been asked to perform at the Alfred Carson Hospital Fete again this year. A second term concert at the hospital was very well received and it is hoped that these types of activities will continue. Some excellent progress has been made this year and with continued support from everybody a very competent musical group will eventuate. Indeed even the hymn singing may become intelligible.

Un Poco Accel.

Chess

1974 saw the initiation of a programme of growth for the Hale School Chess Club. This resulted in Hale entering a record number of teams in the Inter-School Chess Championship's secondary schools' competition. With six teams and twenty-nine students participating, Hale also had the greatest number of players from any school.

Early in the year, P. A. Kirkby was appointed Captain of Chess for 1974. Practice was then begun in earnest and the club's thanks go to the Old Boys for the generous loan of the Old Boys' Room where the club met. A ladder competition was started with the matches being played at recess and lunch-time, as all the players vied for positions in the six teams.

The Inter-School Competition began four weeks before the finish of the first term and with the large number of teams organization was difficult, though not impossible. The Hale "A" team, which consisted of P. A. Kirkby (Captain), A. A. Klimaitis, M. S. King, B. J. Knott and J. C. Morcombe, was unable to regain the shield which was won last year. The position of fourth in the Secondary Premier League is not a true indication of the strength of this team, as all the year many of the games should have been won but for careless mistakes.

The "B" team played creditably to gain a well-earned second place in the Secondary A League division two but the "C" team played very poorly and could manage only eighth place in the first division of this league.

The "B" team then competed in the finals, but was knocked out in the first match. They are to be congratulated on their fine effort, and they should do well in next year's competition.

In the Secondary Reserves League Hale was represented by the "D" team in division three, the "E" team in division one, and in the second division by the "F" team, finishing fourth, fourth and sixth respectively. As most of these players were in first year, with continued practice and inter-school matches Hale should see some strong sides emerge in the near future.

Hale Chess 1974 has been a period of re-development and upbuilding, an interim period between past champions, such as Fitzpatrick, Fishwick and Kinsman—under whom the school reached great heights, and the possibility of future champions. The practice gained by all the players has produced a marked improvement in the standard of chess at Hale School and this should result in much improved results next year.

The club's thanks go to Mr Wapnah, the master-in-charge, to the Old Boys' Society for their kind donation of five chess sets and their support throughout the year, and to all the boys who gave their time after school to play for various teams. I would urge all boys, past and present, to support the bid by Hale School to regain the shield next year. Good luck and good chess.

Army Cadets

ARMY CADET CORPS OFFICERS AND N.C.O.'s 1974

Service in the cadets is now voluntary; the unwilling have been allowed to leave, and a dedicated group, keen to carry on, remains. The unit, comprising two training platoons and an efficient HQ section, aimed its activities at living in the bush, in preparation for Hale Wittenoom. The minimum amount of drill was performed, and its place was taken by map-reading, first aid, radio procedure, compass work, patrolling and weapon training.

Major Taylor took over the job as Commanding Officer, and Lieutenants Greenwell and Craig controlled administration and training, respectively. The two training platoons were commended by Sgts. Taylor and Rosenthal.

The bivouac at Jarrahdale was a great success. The cadets put into practice the theory they had learned on Monday afternoons, using compasses and radio. During the May holidays the Junior Leaders camp was held at Northam, with twelve Hale cadets in attendance.

The second bivouac was held at Northam training area, instead of Bindoon, due to weather problems. Although cadets slept in huts, most of the time was spent outside on compass marches, and re-inforcement of radio use. Each cadet cooked his own meals from personal rations. The annual camp had to be cut short due to the transport strikes, and the unit returned to school instead of going to Bindoon.

Travel to Northam was by train, a welcome change from trucks and buses. Once in camp, lectures on many different aspects of bush-life were given, and physical activities including orienteering, firing weapons and the confidence course placed great strain on the body.

In third term, Hale's shooting team, led by WO II Sear, improved on last year's performance to come seventh. Hale failed to reach the final of the Earl Roberts Trophy, which is held throughout the Commonwealth.

In all, it was a very successful year for everyone concerned. It is expected that the size of the unit will grow, with a Senior platoon training in engineering tasks in the next year.

CRICKET FIRST XI

BACK ROW: S. R. McKelvie, A. S. Prideaux, C. L. Payne, D. J. Vaux.

SECOND ROW: D. E. Kelly, M. P. Styles, M. A. Cugini, A. T. Taylor, G. Dent.

FRONT ROW: K. R. Marshall, A. J. Clapin, Mr B. B. Gidney (Coach), P. W. Farmer, G. R. Marsh.

Cricket

Despite having a very inexperienced side, with only two "symbols" from the previous season, the Hale 1st XI won two Darlot Cup matches, losing three others by the smallest of margins to finish 5th in the competition.

Although not the most talented side to represent Hale, the players showed a most commendable attitude towards remedying faults, and at the fielding practices, leading to better results than expected.

Mention should be made of some sound batting performances by Marsh and Styles, with great improvement in this area shown by Vaux, Cugini and Marshall. Keith Marshall, who developed into one of the finest bowlers in the competition, Clapin and Farmer shared the bulk of the bowling most capably.

Appreciation should be recorded for the work of the mothers who provided teas, for Matron who organised cricket lunches, and for the efforts of Mr McKenna and his staff, who prepare the finest wickets in the P.S.A.

Squash

Hale entered three teams in the Junior Pennant Series run by the W.A. Squash Rackets Association—two under-17 and one under-15 side. 1974 saw the competition split into age groups for the first time.

The under-15 team, consisting of Allen, Barham, Barrymore, Cook and Micucci, did very well to finish 6th in their division and gained experience for the future.

The Hale B team of I. Roberts (captain), G. Guhl, S. Gee, and D. O'Shanassy played against opposition of a much higher standard, and their season was interrupted by Hale Wittenoom. Consequently they failed to have any influence on the composition of the final four.

The Hale A team faced the formidable task of living up to the reputation built by former school teams in gaining three successive pennant victories. The team of I. Clarke (captain), G. Johnson, P. Hearn, and K. Lewis were unlucky not to reach the final, losing the Preliminary final by a single point, losing only one match in qualifying rounds.

The captain of this team, Ian Clarke, who remained undefeated throughout the season, proved himself to be one of the best junior players in the State. Ian won the open division of the Coca-cola Junior squash tournament, and was victorious in both the open and under-17 divisions of the State Schoolboys championship. The "Coca-cola King" capped off a fine season by being selected in the State Junior team which competed in Adelaide.

Despite Hale's excellent record in squash, there has been little support from the school. The sport has been established for five years, in which time it has risen to the very top, but does not receive the same recognition as other sports. Interest must be generated in younger ranks if Hale is to continue as a power in this area. Perhaps the Sports Council could give consideration towards introducing awards for squash, in order to acknowledge the performances of the players.

The teams extend sincere thanks to Mr Edgar for his encouragement and dedication during the year.

TENNIS FIRST VI

Tennis

Although Hale wasn't the power this year that it has been in the recent past, the team finished a creditable equal third in the Corr Cup, won by Trinity.

With three members of the team returning next season and a very promising array of 2nd and 3rd year players developing, Hale has the nucleus necessary for strong teams in future years.

The first VI consisted of C. Wilderspin, S. Nicholas, G. Bailey (Captain), A. Placanica, R. Wolff and I. Campbell. R. Clapin and G. Johnson were selected later in the season and both contributed strongly.

The first year VI have so far won the majority of their matches and the second year VI, perhaps our most promising group, are so far undefeated.

The school also entered teams in the West Australian Lawn Tennis Association's state-wide fixtures. Two of our under-15 teams reached the grand finals of both divisions of the Herbert Edwards Shield. The senior Mursell Shield team reached their semi-final. Again Hale entered more teams than any other school in the state.

Mr Max Bonner continued his excellent work as coach to the senior teams and his infectious enthusiasm and great knowledge of court craft were key factors in all the teams' performances.

Mr W. Edgar took over as Master-in-Charge of tennis this year from Mr M. F. Loveland. Mention must be made of Mr Loveland's efforts for Hale tennis over a period of years. During his 'reign' Hale rose to the undisputed position as the strongest tennis school in W.A., winning many Slazenger Cups, Corr Cups, Mursell Shields and Herbert Edwards Cups for under-15 players.

Much of this success is due in no small way to the organisational ability and encouragement of Mr Loveland. The school and the players, past and present, extend sincere thanks to him for his invaluable contribution.

Thanks go too, to Mr Wapnah and Mr Coney for their efforts in 1974.

We look forward to a busy and rewarding '75 season.

INTERSCHOOL SWIMMING TEAM

Swimming

In 1974 Hale School was again dominant in the P.S.A. swimming, winning the cup for the eighth year in succession by a record margin of 175 points. Training began two weeks before the start of term but the attendance was generally poor. As soon as school began, the squad size increased appreciably. Brad Hancock was elected captain of swimming and Wayne House vice captain. The training began slowly but the tempo increased under the guidance of "Doug".

This year we expected tough opposition from other schools, especially Scotch and Aquinas. After several Saturday morning swimming meets, it became obvious that even though the team lacked "stars" it had great depth.

After a season of hard training the Night of the Inters finally arrived. The big day; had our efforts been in vain? In the free-style Hale won eight of the first ten races. The team went on to win "The Cup" by a record margin.

Brad Hancock broke the open 100 metres freestyle record and was awarded honours for his aid in Hale's attempts to retain aquatic domination.

On behalf of the swimming team I would like to thank Messrs. Hoad, Purcell and Reverend Davis, and pay tribute to Mr Poake. It is impossible to give Mr Poake enough praise for all he has done for Hale School. Eight victories in a row speak for themselves. No words of praise could ever describe the effort he has made.

WATER POLO TRIP TO SINGAPORE

In 1971 Mr Hoad took a group of twelve Hale School water polo players on a world trip, and claimed he would never do it again. However he had a change of heart, and in January 1973 offered to take another group on a smaller-scale trip to Singapore.

The members of the team who made the trip, beginning January 12, were: K. Sandover, A. Sandover, B. Hancock, P. Hughes, P. R. Hughes, S. King, L. House, R. Sear, P. Scales, J. Gregson and J. Birman. The team was managed by Mr A. J. Macmillan.

Overall, four games were played, the highlight being the game against a Combined Schools' side, in which Hale ran out victors. The trip was a great success, from an educational and social aspect as well from the sporting experience gained.

A tribute must be paid to Mr Hoad, whose efforts have brought great success to Hale in yet another field. Both the under-16 and under-18 teams won gold medals in their divisions, and the State side which won the national title was dominated by Haleians. This is due largely to the efforts of Mr Hoad, which are much appreciated.

COACH

ROWING FIRST VIII

BACK ROW: M. L. Smith, P. D. Syme, B. W. Neilson, S. J. Fowler, Townsend.

Rowing

Rowing this year was away to an early start with a camp in the last week of the holidays. Four of the 1973 1st VIII returned, and the other places were soon filled. Training began in earnest under the guidance of Berry Durston, with other coaching position filled by Mr D. Durston, Mr J. Birman, Mr R. Jacob, C. Ayers, and Mr R. Prince.

As part of the intensive training, a rowathon over a 20-mile course was organized to raise funds for a new coaching boat, $460 was obtained from sponsors.

The Wesley Regatta, held very early in the school's preparation and in poor conditions weather-wise, was disappointing, as only two crews gained places. However, four crews visited Bunbury during Easter, and all were placed.

The Hale Regatta, on April 20th, established the 1st VIII as a threat for the Head of the River, when they finished a close second to Aquinas. The regatta was well organized by Mr Prince, with the mothers contributing a delicious morning tea.

RESULTS OF HALE REGATTA:

1st VIII: AQUINAS
 2nd VIII: AQUINAS
 Under 16 VIII: GUILDFORD

HEAD OF THE RIVER CREWS

HEAD OF THE RIVER: One week later came the big day. Once again, arch-rivals Aquinas dominated the events, winning all the races up to the 1st VIII. At the start of the 1st VIII Hale pulled away to a half-length lead before dropping back. The crew produced a mammoth effort to catch up to the rest of the crews, and then gained on Aquinas in the sprint to the line to finish third in a race in which all the crews were within two lengths at the end.

That evening the close of the season was celebrated by the traditional Rowers' Dance, which was held in the Cygnet Hall instead of the school. The dance was a success through the efforts of the band "2001" and the mothers, who provided a magnificent supper.

Special thanks must go to the coaches, who put so much effort into the preparation, and to the crews for their dedication and enthusiasm.

Rugby

In 1974 Hale School won the Brother Redmond Cup, playing a new style of rugby, which Reverend Russell Davis brought back from England where he was representing Australia at the 150th anniversary celebrations of the origins of the game.

After playing well throughout the season with a high standard of teamwork, Hale lost only one game—to arch rivals Aquinas. However, the team thoroughly deserved to win the cup. Highlights of the season were the 60-0 defeat of Trinity with 10 members of the side scoring, the game against Guildford—which hung in the balance until the last minutes, and the selection of outstanding lock forward Stuart Anderson to play for Western Australia against the English Schoolboys.

Hale's forwards were an aggressive, hard-working pack that developed into the finest pack of forwards in the competition. The back line, although lacking weight, impressed with determined tackling and elusive running.

With most of the backline returning next year and some strong forwards developing, Hale should retain the Brother Redmond up and remain the number one Rugby school in the P.S.A.

Special mention must be made of Reverend Davis, whose knowledge and experience of the game helped the 1st XV greatly this season.

COACH'S COMMENTS

Hale has won the Brother Redmond Cup five times in the eleven years since Rugby became a official Public Schools sport, but no win has been more meritorious than this year's.

With the standard of schoolboy Rugby improving every year and schools like Guildford and Aquinas fielding teams of formidable physique and driving aggression, any side must now be really good to win.

Hale's victorious side did contain some tall forwards but we had no efficient hooker, an over-all lack of speed and a collection of young, light backs.

It was with no great confidence that we approached the season—especially since some of the squad showed little initial enthusiasm for the demanding training and style of play I sought to introduce.

Following the Welsh pattern we hope to have our forwards running and handling like backs, our backs rucking and mauling like forwards and all players working in constant support. Modern continuous Rugby demands a high degree of fitness, skill and unselfishness.

All credit to the boys of the Firsts. They did learn and played some delightful Rugby. They scored some good tries after third and fourth phase moveemnts and went through most of the season before their line was crossed. In scoring 215 points they conceded only 24.

Hale's game depended on hard-working, ball-hungry forwards either winning possession or spoiling their opponents' possession. Our scrummaging was solid and we outpushed all other packs. Peter Syme developed into a match-winning hooker while "Lou" Anderson and John Stratton usually controlled the line-outs. In loose play breakaways John Gregg and Kim Riseborough were very quick to the ball and Hale were able to retain or win possession with a regularity our opponents found quite demoralising.

The Hale backs stood up flat and tackled well at set pieces with Richard Hood not only stopping his opposite number but frequently cleaning up with tireless cover defence.

Hale won against teams with more speed, and weight, through teamwork, sound tactics and hard work, and that is the best way to win.

Football

The Hale 1st XVIII congratulate Trinity and Christ Church on their joint victory in the 1974 Alcock Cup. Cup holders Hale strove hard but found games hard to win and finished fourth to Trinity.

Christ Church and Aquinas. Hale opposed two fine sides in '74—the super-efficient Geelong College and a classy Trinity. We had good players but lacked the depth of the 1973 team and failed because our defensive football (and not only in the back line) was below standard. The group had their morale dented by the ease with which opposing sides scored goals. Indeed in the nine cup games Hale conceded 875 points and thus needed to score sizeable totals to win.

The Tenth Inter-state was great! Our friends from Scotch Adelaide and Geelong made it a memorable week. My thanks go to Messrs. White and Prideaux for organising a successful raffle, to Mrs Towers for help on quiz night, to the Glover and Craig for all they did, and to Mr Towers for making Loton House home for visiting staff. A special "thank-you" goes to Hale's great band of parents for looking after our guests so admirably. The Dance, Car Rally, Barbeque and Wind-up Dinner were their usual success and brought boys, staff and parents together in a unique way. After Geelong had obliterated Scotch, Hale 13.1 beat Scotch 9.16 in a good game, but were then humbled by Geelong 14.18 to 5.5. Congratulations Geelong and congratulations on the tenth birthday of this Carnival.

During the 1974 Interstate and cup season, Jock Clapin and Robbie McLarty out-ranked their colleagues. Clapin developed into a fine rover and McLarty's form at centre was often outstanding. At back Brian Nielson was a great competitor and Kim Goodridge was a hard working ruckman. The talented Peter Farmer was used with effect in many positions and the skilful Geoff Marsh and Paul Bodycoat did well. Pollard tried hard to reach his '73 standard and Fletcher: Placanica, Gawned and Langlands worked hard for the team. All players had their moments and the form of the young is a good sign for the future.

BACK ROW: M. P. Spencer, A. G. Placanica, A. M. Dunn, P. K. Hancock, A. P. Patterson, R. M. Langlands, A. S. Prideaux, P. D. Hughes, G. D. Gawned.
 SECOND ROW: A. N. Sandover, G. P. Dent, L. J. White, K. R. Marshall, G. R. Marsh, M. W. Dye, M. P. Anderson, S. H. McQuillan, R. C. Clapin.
 FRONT ROW: P. V. Bodycoat, K. E. Goodridge, B. W. Neilson, G. S. Pollard, Mr A. J. Macmillan (Coach), R. P. McLarty, A. J. Clapin, P. W. Farmer.

We are all most grateful to Mr Pollard for his generous donation and splendid end-of-season lunch. The team also thanks hard-working manager Bob Glover, parents for morning teas and after-game get-togethers, Lyall Davieson the runner, timekeeper Rogers, Craig Wilderspin in goals, our boundary men, all our supporters, and of course the two leaders, Robby McLarty and Grant Pollard, who always strove to lift the effort.

And so '74 saw us slip back. The worry is not in losing games, but rather occasional indifference to the job, of not always being fully committed or involved. Aquinas, Trinity and Christchurch were more emotional and had greater spirit and feeling. Hale needed speed, hence teamwork and, most importantly, hence confidence. Confidence springs from success, but comes also from concentration, from belief, from involvement. It's easy when things are going smoothly, harder and more rewarding when you defend your Cup with only five of the team left.

And so while we did fail to "build a bridge over troubled waters", I believe all must realise the value of stressing skills, of emphasising defence and attack, and of being as excited and exciting as the Kevin Sheedys of football. They have indomitable spirit!

RESULTS:

v WESLEY at Hale, 1st June.

Creative forward play by Marsh and Clapin kept Hale in contact with an enthusiastic Wesley in the first quarter, but after that it was all Hale as the whole team combined brilliantly. A splendid opening!

Score: Hale 19.11 d Wesley 8.6.

Goals: Marsh 5, Goodridge, Clapin 3, Johnston, Pollard, Langlands McQuillan 2.

Best: Clapin, Marsh, Goodridge, K. Sandover, Pollard, McLarty.

v AQUINAS at Aquinas, 8th June.

The usual close game did not eventuate as Aquinas played team football and won well. Hale looked always likely to recover, but left too much to McLarty, superb at centre, and Farmer.

Score: Aquinas 14.7 d Hale 9.8.

Goals: Clapin 3, Pollard, Farmer 2, Johnston, Marsh 1.

Best: McLarty, Farmer, Nielson, Goodridge, Bodycoat, Clapin.

v TRINITY at Hale, 15th June.

At Hale the Trinity machine cut loose. Well served by wingmen and gifted forwards, they played strongly to win by 49 points. Hale scored many fine goals, but failure to check opponents proved costly.

Score: Trinity 16.17 d Hale 9.10.

Goals: Spencer 3, Gawned, Clapin 2, Dye, Goodridge 1.

Best: Clapin, Dye, McLarty, Nielson, Spencer, Gawned.

v SCOTCH at Scotch, 22nd June.

This was the heart-stopper of the season. Hale kicked seven goals in the first quarter, but had to withstand a powerful fightback; and in a marathon last quarter won narrowly. Marsh was magnificent on a wing.

Score: Hale 13.13 d Scotch 12.17.

Goals: Marshall, Farmer, Marsh 3, Bodycoat 2, McLarty, Pollard.

Best: Marsh, Pollard, McLarty, Prideaux, Goodridge, Clapin.

v GUILDFORD at Hale, 29th June.

In a high-scoring game Hale defeated Guildford by 4 points. Some great goals were kicked, both sides played with enthusiasm, and the result was in doubt till the end.

Score: Hale 15.10 d Guildford 14.12.

Goals: McLarty 4, Pollard, Clapin 3, Goodridge, Anderson, Hancock, Marsh, Gawned 1.

Best: Pollard, Farmer, McLarty, Goodridge, Clapin, Nielson Gawned.

v CHRISTCHURCH at Christchurch, 13th July.

Disappointing! Christchurch played well, being dominant in the ruck, and more effective in the blustery conditions. Hale played without much feeling against a team that was not invincible.

Score: Christchurch 11.13 d Hale 7.9.

Goals: Spencer, Nielson, Pollard 2, Clapin 1.

Best: Farmer, Gawned, White, McLarty, Langlands, Pollard.

v WESLEY at Wesley, 20th July.

In scoring many points, Hale almost wrecked their winning chances, and did not establish an advantage until the nal quarter. It was a rough and tumble game, and neither side exhibited much teamwork.

Score: Hale 13.26 d Wesley 6.10.

Goals: Placanica 3, Langlands, Farmer, Broad, Clapin 2, Marsh, Pollard 1.

Best: Marsh, Clapin, Gawned, Broad, Dye, Bodycoat.

v AQUINAS at Hale 27th July.

In another high-scoring game, Aquinas led by 5 goals at half-time. Then Hale played it's best half of the season in outscoring an Aquinas team that was later to defeat Christchurch, and force them to share the Cup with Trinity.

Score: Aquinas 20.14 d Hale 15.11.

Goals: McLarty, Clapin 3, Marsh, Farmer 2, Marshall, Broad, Pollard, Hughes, Bodycoat 1.

Best: Placanica, McLarty, Fletcher, Goodridge.

v TRINITY at Manning, 3rd August.

Bodycoat, Gawned.

Trinity outclassed Hale in the final game. Trinity's ten goals in the first quarter proved too much for Hale, who struggled on gamely against a superior team.

Scores: Trinity 24.9 d Hale 13.7.

Goals: Farmer 4, Langlands, McQuillan, Birman, McLarty 2, Marsh 1.

Best: Placanica, Bodycoat, Farmer, Pollard, McLarty, Marsh.

HOCKEY FIRST XI

Hockey

The 1974 season for the first eleven was encouraging in many ways and yet so disappointing in many others. The season looked very promising with seven members of the 1973 side still at school and training began keenly. The forward line again showed great control and at times penetration with the backs forming a solid combination. We started the season on a high note with a win over the fancied Wesley side.

The story of the remainder of the season was a series of tremendous first halves so often followed by disastrous second halves. In many games, the scores were level at half-time with our opponents finishing well ahead by the end of the game. We showed that we were match for any team in the competition and I do not believe that the team lacked physical fitness. Mental application and dedication for 70 minutes of a hockey match are vital in all grades of hockey and particularly in the pressure of first XI games. Lapses in concentration cost us a high position in PSA hockey this year.

Despite some disappointing results, I enjoyed working with the first team this year because they were a team and a team of triers. Much of the credit for this goes to the captain, Leigh Caddy, whose example of determination on the field was tremendous and he is to be congratulated on being awarded colours for hockey.

I wish to thank members of staff in Mr Biddle, Mr Foss and Mr Greenwell for their assistance to me this year and their efforts for Hale School hockey generally.

Athletics

Hale's prospects for this year's Athletics appeared rather grim as training commenced after second term vacation with a large number of our '73 Athletics team having left school. These losses not only occurred at the senior level but also left some of our under age groups a little light. However, after the first week, there were some 120 boys in training and it was very pleasing to see a large number of new faces on the track.

Once again our tight schedule included two twilight meets against Marist and a Saturday morning meet against Churchlands. These together with School Championship day and House Athletics day provided the necessary pre-Inters competition needed. Overall times for track events were not outstanding during these days—however, a great competition developed in the open middle distance group between A. J. Clapin, M. J. Styles and R. G. B. Hood producing some very exciting finishes.

Inters day saw some 82 athletics competing for Hale and with the thought of finishing worse than last year's 5th position, everyone was keen to do their best. From the outset Aquinas again showed their dominance and moved well clear of the rest of the schools with Trinity and Guildford comfortably holding second and third positions. Midway through the afternoon the closeness of competition between the other schools was indicated on the board with only 11 points separating 4th and 7th position, and it was quite possible that we could have finished in that unenviable 'wooden spoon' spot. All fears were dispelled with great running from our middle distance group who recorded two 1st's, three seconds and a third over the 1500 metres to leave us fairly safe in our well-deserved fourth position.

This result was very pleasing and due in a large degree to:

- (a) An excellent attitude and degree of responsibility displayed by all athletes on the day.
- (b) Sound leadership given by the captain, A. J. Clapin; and vice-captain P. W. Farmer.

- (c) Our best performance for some years in the long jump pit where we scored 64 points with no 'no jumps' recorded on the day.
- (d) An inspirational run by M. P. Johnston who broke the Inters 1500 metres Under-16 record (previously held by Hale's K. A. Grist) and inspired others to give above personal best performances.
- (e) The hard work and interest shown by all coaches.

Overall, the season produced an expected fourth place on Inters day with all who participated enjoying the competition and comradeship.

I. Biddle.

Mr Biddle and his colleagues are to be commended for the dedicated effort they have shown.

CYGNET LITERATURE COMPETITION

In hird term Cygnet organised a literary competition to stimulate creative writing and also to provide material for a more worh-while 'Original' Column in Cygnet. Response was mixed, with most material being forwarded from the Junior School, for whom there was no section. However the prize money from the 2nd year section, with no entries, was transferred to a Junior School Section. In some areas there were no entries, or entries were of a standard not acceptable to the magazine. Prizes were only awarded if the article was published.

THE ABORIGINE

*I watched him come home,
Tears in his eyes,
Puzzled as can be he came inside;
His words were forced out;
He told me his problem;
So I told him that black is a colour and white is another.*

G. Tuckwell.

*What is life
Could you imagine yourself dead
Are the words Socrates said
Poems, and plays seven days of the week
No time for Plato to speak
Confucius knows a tree just grows
Nero knew nothing except death
So now he's down below, holding his breath
But I have no favourite
They all seem the same
So I'm not going back to where I really came!!*

G. N. Tuckwell, 1st year Faulkner.

'FEAR'

All alone with no-one to turn to. Faced with . . . with it. What shall I do? Shall I run? Shall I fight? Shall I try to bluff my way out of it? Oh, what to do, what to do? If I try to . . . No, that wouldn't work. What about . . . No. Oh Hell! What can I do?

My stomach aches. I swallow. I feel the saliva trickle all the way down my throat. As I gulp, my Adam's apple seems to want to jump right out of my throat.

I clap my hands to my head. The only way to come through is to keep control of myself. My head aches. Keep cool. Don't let the situation get on top of you. I swallow again. The aching of my head and stomach increases. If only I could get away. But no, I have come too far.

I start to make my move, but draw back. Is this the right thing to do? As I lift up my foot to take another step it feels as though I am dragging a ten ton weight. I stop again. Have I worked out everything fully? What if it doesn't work? What do I do then? Should I think it over more?

I take a step backwards. It's far easier to retreat than to advance. But which is best in the long run. If only I could speak to someone who had been through all this before. He'd know what to do. But I guess I'll have to battle through on my own.

Thoughts of flight run wildly through my mind. The nerves behind my eyes begin to ache. What doesn't ache? I suppose I'll have to do it sometime, and now is just as good as any. I take another step forward. I glance over my shoulder: Nothing is there, but a shiver creeps down my spine. I slowly turn my head and look over the other shoulder. Still nothing. My heart seems to be thumping its way out of my chest.

Oh well, this is it. I swallow again and brush the hair from my forehead. I walk forward boldly for five paces then stop. I hesitate. I reach out my hand . . . then knock on the door and walk into the Headmaster's office.

Peter Simpson, 3-1.

THE DRUG ADDICT

A. Paterson, 5-1.

The fierce sun awakened me. The world around me was hazy but discernible. My whole body ached, especially my head and arms. The people round me were still asleep but I could hear some moans, and people turning in a restless sleep as I had done. The world was becoming sharper but it felt like Hell. My body was burning and felt wasted from the after-effects of last night's "fix". I knew I was craving for more but it would be hours before I'd be "high" again. The rank smells of vomit and urine wafted through the air.

I got up and nibbled on a small crust. I couldn't eat much because I would probably be sick. My head was reeling from movement and my insides felt as if everything was churned up inside. I sat down and had a smoke to calm down. I drew in deeply and sharply and my whole body was quivering. I shut my eyes for a while and the world was empty and life seemed meaningless.

Others were up and more were stirring. No-one spoke. Their glazed eyes and lean unshaven faces looked ragged, matching their clothes. The scene of the 'junkies' pad was one of dejection.

Most of the day people wandered aimlessly around, or sat staring at nothing. Sometimes little groups would form to talk in slow, quiet voices.

As the evening drew on some smoked "grass" but when it was fully dark the needles came out by candlelight. I brought out my "snow". My whole body was quivering in expectancy of its revival. I crumbled some and heated it in a spoon and filled the syringe. I put the needle over the flame to kill the germs and looked for a spot to inject. Squeezing my arm tightly, I pushed the needle into my arm and pushed the syringe down. My arm was tingling and the world became alive. I felt fulfilled and happy. Shapes were dancing before my eyes, my senses reeled with excitement. I was high.

ORIGINAL

CLAUDE: "Hey, don't litter Australia." (He picks up the wrapping and gives it to Mrs Labrynth.) "Come on, contribute to the cause; it's people like you who spoil the whole thing."

MRS LABRYNTH: (Surprised). "Look here, young man, who are you to teach me morals. Look at yourselves, long hair, untidy, dull clothes, out of work, lazing around doing nothing; you people are just parasites, sucking off the economy."

CLAUDE: "Wait a minute. You complain about the way I look and dress, and what I do with my life. What the hell gives you the right—you—Mrs ¼ acre, 9 to 5, conformity freak. You don't like me because I'm different. But I don't like you because you're different. You tell me, what I am doing to offend you."

MRS LABRYNTH: "You don't contribute to society."

CLAUDE: "Well, why the hell should I? All it gives me is bummers, frustration, hard times, criticism, confusion. It's unnatural environment clogs my mind and makes me feel so down."

MRS LABRYNTH: "But you're a minority, my boy."

CLAUDE: "Rubbish. I am not. What about the pub freak. He goes straight from work to the pub so he can drown his sorrows. And you, look at yourself—you wear stockings and coloured dresses and camouflage (Make up) and you do your hair to get some kind of satisfaction derived from the respect given to you by others. This is a cover-up for all the frustrations of this WONDERFUL society. You don't realize, but you're caught up in the rat race yourself using religion, material objects and sarcasm to cover up your frustration. And it's like this with most of us, the drinker, the smoker, the housewives taking Bex relaxer tabs. The religious nuts who call to a make-believe remedy for their insecurities."

What you should do is analyse yourself and everyone else. Try to live for happiness in a peaceful existence. You complain about my clothes but look at yours, gaudy, vain, clashing colours. At least these clothes are comfortable (POINTING TO HIS COMPANIONS) which is the reason for wearing them, not as cover-ups."

MRS LABRYNTH: "Well if you don't like this society why don't you leave."

CLAUDE: "I intend to. As it happens we all do, you see we don't come from here. Actually, we are en route, our lives are involved in a nomadic existence, drifting from town to town. When we need money we get jobs, otherwise we cruise. We don't hassle anyone so why should they hassle us. We try to be happy, peaceful, and do just as we want to. Why shouldn't we be allowed to as long as we don't harm anybody else."

MRS LABRYNTH: "Why can't you just be normal and live in a town, settle down, work, get married and buy a house."

CLAUDE: "Well, that's fine, if that's what you want. But as it happens, I see more to life. I feel sorry for the scholar who leaves school and begins working for the rest of his life in a pre-determined career. Personally, I would rather chase the unlimited experience and wisdom from travelling. I'd rather see the world in peace of mind than live in a domestic bummer. Conformity, which is dished out by the media should be realized as being the destroyer of society, of which you are a true victim."

MRS LABRYNTH: "So now do you expect me to sell all my luxuries, abolish my struggle for achievement and live in your involvement of peace with the world, do you?"

CLAUDE: "NO! Not at all. All I ask is that you don't criticise me and my friends because we derive different pleasures from different things, and maybe look at yourself in comparison with others."

THE LIFE OF A TYPICAL DETECTIVE

Jim Caporn, (7H).

I am Detective Sergeant Rockbottom the 1st. The Date, 1st April. I am in my lounge busy watching Andy Pandy, when I hear a shrill scream from the neighbour's house . . . I rush in, to find Mrs Jelly-bean Jar, lying dead on the floor. Suddenly, I hear a revving of engines, and look out of the window to see a 2 wheeler tricycle roaring down the street. I decided to inspect the body more closely. I found that she had been brutally bashed with a Jelly bean, and she always did hate jelly-beans. The only clue was a slip of paper with "April Fool" written on it. I decided to search for the murderer the next day.

As dawn broke, I put it together, and slowly rose from the bed. Suddenly out of the window, I saw the familiar tricycle, but this time with 3 wheels. Hah! He's added a wheel, I said to myself as I rushed out of the house. I was met by a little boy, about 5. But I was mad with anger. You Beast! I yelled and bashed his head on the ground.

Swine! I said as I poked out his eyeballs!

After a few minutes of this he died. I don't know why, must've had a weak heart.

I decided to inspect the body, but it wasn't there, it was propped up against the wall!

Then I walked Mrs Jelly-bean Jar. I asked her why she had screamed, and she replied that there was a mouse in the kitchen, and that she needed a dummy for stunt scenes in the movies she's in.

After that I went mad. I cut her up into little two inch square blocks and mailed her to Rumania.

And that's how I ended up in this padded cell in the loony bin.

THE BIG DAY

*We're happy to hear Mr Sweet say,
Rosier's going to win today,
When a kid breaks a record,
It's really good.
Every year somebody should.
High jump, long jump, hurdles, bean bags,
Relays when you don't drop the flag.
We jump and shout and scream and yell
Until at last we hear the bell.*

DEATH TO THE DINGOES

She trotted through the scrub down to the water hole. Lifting her head she sniffed the air and glanced up the slope to her den. She then put her nose into the water and lapped thirstily.

The sun was far down to the west when she came back from hunting. Her pups weren't yet ready to eat flesh. Now she would go back to the den to sleep and produce the life-giving milk for her pups. She came back past the water hole where she had taken a drink an hour ago. She stopped and sniffed the air. Her ears pricked up and her muscles became steel. There was danger in the air. The den was obscured from this part of the water hole by a dense growth of scrub and trees. She trotted around the water hole to a position where she could see the den.

Instantly she sprang forward into the scrub and commenced her difficult journey up the slope to her den. Would she be too late. Her love for her pups made her stronger.

She must have been totally exhausted when she broke into the clearing around her den, but she came with her eyes flowing with anger. Her teeth were bared and her body was tense. She was ready to protect her young even if it did mean her life. A snarl of defiance came deep from her throat.

Her enemy moved slowly back towards his horse. His outstretched arm found its mark. The rifle slid silently from its holster.

Then she saw them. Her pups lay limp and bleeding at the mouth of the cave. Now she knew she had nothing to live for. She plunged forward, her only intention was revenge for her pups' deaths. She twisted and turned in the air like a dead leaf falling into a rock just in front of her enemy. A portion of her spinal cord had been shot away paralysing her back legs. With every last bit of anger and strength her tortured body and mind could muster she made one last desperate struggle toward her enemy, but the same blinding force that had hit her on her first charge, hit her again.

Now she lay limp on the ground with her pups.

C. Riseborough, 3rd Year.

THE DAY THE STUDENTS REVOLTED AT HALE SCHOOL

It was 8.50 on a Thursday morning, the boys of Hale School, lining up and preparing to walk into the hall, yet there was a strange feeling in the air, because everybody was doing everything properly and orderly.

Once there was quiet and the masters had taken their place on the stage, a boy stood to his feet and blew as loudly as he could on his trumpet, the curtain behind the masters was ripped open, and boys cascaded out and surrounded the masters.

They were promptly taken out of the hall after a few scuffles and tied to trees and wooden poles and had water and then flour poured on them; however, one master who was the oldest, was spared the water, as it was thought it could make his old heart stop.

All the office ladies and other people, were put in the kitchen of the boarders dining room to suffer under the smell of the boarder's lunch and other such atrocities.

The masters' cars were then stripped and every conceivable part was distributed among the fifth years who had licences (as we didn't want to break the law), and they went to dealers all over Perth and sold the goods, and when they all returned, the money was distributed between the boys evenly.

Unfortunately, however, as we were having lunch, consisting of a ham and salad roll, a cigarette, and a bottle of Vodka and Coke (bought with money kindly donated by the masters), a master escaped us and went to the nearby police station where he told his story.

Within the hour the school was surrounded by the police from twenty suburbs, and members from the S.A.S. at Swanbourne, also kids from the surrounding schools, who were giving us a great many cheers.

And so, against such odds we bargained with hostages and police for nearly an hour; some of the points of our surrender were that there would be no action from any of the parents, no reprisals; we keep the money we took and we get three months holiday at Christmas.

And so Hale School is back to normal, oh well nearly normal—we lost a lot of teachers after the uprising, and for some strange reason masters now carry with them black jacks and flick knives, and by the way that old master is dead—yes, hit him suddenly, poor chap; seems he was allergic to flour.

1972 CAPTAIN OF SCHOOL'S REPORT

Due to the modernisation of Cygnet in 1973 by printing reports from the same year instead of the following or next year, the 1972 Captain of School's report prepared by P. Bedbrook was unfortunately not printed. To atone for this error, we are printing the speech in this publication.

Due to the unavailability of the 1974 Captain's report, before printing deadline, it will be published in the 1975 edition.

CAPTAIN OF SCHOOL'S REPORT 1972 -

My Lord Mayor,

Mr Stow, Chairman of the Board of Governors,

Dr Tregonning,

Distinguished Guests,

Masters,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Boys,

Hale's sporting and cultural year has been one of ups and downs, one of great expectations followed by some disappointments. The year in general, however, has been one of gradual changes which follow with the changing times and standards. The School has found it too difficult to keep some old standards, when new ones surround us everywhere we look. Because of this, the hair length of students has changed with the times, students no longer take an active part in Anzac Day Services and the Cygnet takes on a slightly more permissive look. Also, I believe, the old barrier of Master/Pupil is slowly giving way to better things. Although these gradual changes appear popular with students, whether they are good or bad will only be seen through the passing of time. Although the school is changing in general aspects, sport still plays a major role and is still giving, right or wrong, true or false or otherwise, an indication to the public the standards of the Independent School. Personally, like many others, I believe that judging a School on its sport is wrong, but the fact still remains.

Looking at Hale's sporting achievements, this year we see some success and some failure. In the swimming; the swimming team, under the tight coaching of Mr Poake. Reverend Davis and Mr Hoad, convincingly won the "Inters" competition for the sixth time in succession. This winning streak looks likely to continue, as the younger age groups are as strong as the senior ones. The swimmers also managed to win the Law Shield for Lifesaving and this is the second year running that Hale has won this Shield.

At the Head of the River, however, Hale failed to win a race and were fourth in the main event of the day. This was disappointing, considering the great amount of time, effort and spirit the rowers put into their task.

In Tennis Hale continued to dominate School Boys' Tennis on a state-wide scale. The School returned the Inter-school Corr Cup and also retained the coveted state-wide trophies—the Slazenger Cup and Mursell Shield. It is worth mentioning in tennis that the number one player of the School, Dean Williams, of fourth year, was good enough to be selected for the State's Linton Cup team.

Cricket was another world to tennis, however, and the cricketers fared poorly to finish in last place. If attendances at matches are any indication to performances, however, it is no wonder the team fared poorly, as supporters were few and far between.

Unlike cricket, football was relatively well supported this year. This was largely due to the fact that the Annual Interstate Carnival between Scotch, Adelaide, Geelong College, Victoria and Hale, was in Perth this year. The Carnival was its usual success but perhaps even more so this year, as Hale managed to win the competition convincingly. This led most to believe that Hale School had the Alcock Cup won as well. However, this was not to be the case, as the team finished equal third. The team lost three matches, one by four points and the others by just one point. This left the team theoretically just one goal away from the Cup.

The Rugby team continued to give a good account of itself, in both the tour of Sydney and its normal competition and finished third this year.

The Hockey players, however, could only manage sixth place in their competition.

Whilst on second term sport, it is worth mentioning that Hale entered two teams in a state-wide squash competition. The "A" team won the competition and thus opened the eyes of the School to the up and coming sport of squash. Teams will now be entered regularly in this squash competition, thus giving those wishing, a new sport.

Unlike all other sports, athletics seems to be a somewhat sore spot at Hale and this year's fourth place in the "Inters" just continued to indicate Hale's perhaps mediocre standards in athletics. There was, however, a little more enthusiasm and interest this year, than is normal. All one can hope is that this may grow into something worthwhile and bring Hale's years of mediocre athletics to an end. It is worth noting that the last year Hale won the "Inters" athletics competition was when the present Headmaster, Dr Tregonning, was Captain of the team!

Moving on to the cultural side of the School, we see the highlight was Chess. With the recent world championships, chess has come under the attention of all and Hale's efforts in this field, were outstanding to say the least. With three state players in their midst, the two chess teams took all before them and easily won their competitions.

Debating also had some success. The senior team won two out of three debates in the W.A. Debating Federation Competition. The team was only defeated by the Brigidine team who eventually went on to win the overall competition. The debaters were usually the boarders; however the number of actual speakers in the school were few and only the first and second year students show real keenness to speak in debates regularly.

The School as per normal, took part in a stage production; this year in conjunction with P.L.C. It was good to see the number of boys taking part in the production, as usually most students of the school shun any form of this activity. The production was a musical comedy "La Belle Helene".

Going on to the music field, we see it was only an active minority that made use of the school's many instruments and good facilities.

A band, nevertheless, was put together for the Cadet Marching-out Parade and it should be noted that it was comprised mainly of Junior School boys, who are most active in the music field. This leads me on to Cadets.

The Cadets took on a new scheme this year. With the abolition of the regular Monday afternoon parades, a new full day type of training came into existence. This method had some merit. However, due to the longer gap of time between parades, discipline was perhaps not what it could have been, nevertheless cadets still gave those doing it, valuable experience. This year's marching out parade still retained its high standard with His Excellency the Governor, inspecting. Also to be noted this year, is that the Cadet Dance was re-introduced to provide a wind-up of the Cadet Year.

Now that I have mentioned Sport, Culture and Cadets, I would like to mention some points I believe should not go unnoticed. For instance, some members of Hale's surprisingly active Interschool Christian Fellowship have been doing work at the Shenton Park Rehabilitation Hospital every Monday afternoon. Also Ralph James, dux of fourth year, last year, is now living in Northern France on a field scholarship, a feat not to be left unnoticed.

Also the School's morning Chapel Services were run purely by the house prefects this year and in one case, one student took the actual Service. As a result of this, Chapel was different every week and more interesting for most. Also it was not uncommon to hear all types of music coming from the Chapel each morning as House Prefects tried to convey their message in the form of records. This gave Chapel a more interesting outlook.

The boys of the school also did well to donate a much needed 1000 books to the Port Hedland Library and two students in fourth year, Ralph Gibson and Craig Kinsman were awarded Maths grants to study in the Eastern States during their coming holidays.

Also the Parents and Friends' Association bought a piece of Sculpture by John Worth to add to the artistic side of the School—it now rests outside the library.

To end, I would like to thank my fellow prefects for their support and efforts throughout the year, but more so, I would like to say the following:—

If Hale is to remain one of the better Independent Schools, it is up to those returning and them only, as the name of the School cannot and should not just rest on its buildings, its grounds and its past achievements. A good School is one that gives a good account of itself in all fields it undertakes, especially the academic field, but also, a good school is one that appears at ease both externally and internally.

P. J. Bedbrook.

OLD HALEIANS ASSOCIATION

FLOREAT SCHOLA PERTHIENSIS

OLD HALEIANS—PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Gentlemen:

I have been privileged to work with one of the most energetic and dedicated Old Haleian's Committees I have known. Their record speaks for itself:

- ☆ A careers sub-committee was formed to help Hale School boys with advice on future careers. More than 40 professional men who are members of the Association have offered their services as counsellors.
- ☆ A public relations committee defined its task of communications and will be an increasingly important arm of the Association.
- ☆ Our social events covered a wide spectrum with an imaginative sub-committee working hard to ensure success.

The alteration of the date of Old Boys' Day to the Wednesday of Show Week—this year it was on 25th September—was further confirmation that this is the social event of the year.

More than 200 old boys were present at the smorgasbord luncheon in the marquee near the swimming pool and we were delighted to have a former headmaster, Mr V. S. Murphy, among our guests. Mr Trevor Rowlands, another master from past years to be invited, was welcomed by his many friends in the Association.

During the year I attended meetings of the Public Schools' Presidents and Secretaries with the idea of testing the feasibility of forming a Public School's Club. In the light of subsequent events this is now regarded as only a possibility. But from these meetings we learned that our Association is the strongest of any and it is with pride that I write that we now have 1 600 financial members. This is close to double the number of the next largest Old Boys' organisation in the State and it is indeed an honour to preside over such a vital organisation as ours.

The new chairman of the public relations committee, however, must place a high priority on our Association remaining at the top of the tree. Obviously the future of the Association lies in increasing membership intake and this is also the most painless way of meeting rising costs.

How can we attract more Old Haleians to join the Association? The public relations sub-committee's task will be to formulate an attack plan to increase membership.

Unfortunately during my term of office we suffered the loss of Sir Henry Cooke whose place on the Board of Governors was taken by another prominent old boy, Mr Michael Gregg.

The constitution has now been amended to allow a president of the Association to be re-elected—a situation with which I thoroughly agree because it takes more than a year to learn the job and its wide ramifications. To do the position credit involves many hours of day and night meetings and I no longer have this flexibility.

It was with great pleasure that I nominated our vice-president Mr David Foulkes to take over my role. He has been a friend on whom I could lead for help and advice at all times. I would also sincerely thank Dr Colin Benson, my right hand man as secretary, and Ian Dunstan, one of the Association's great treasurers, for their unfailing support.

It is unfortunate that the pressures of business forced them to decline office in 1974-75.

To lose such strong officers of the Association at the one time will make David Foulkes' task all that more difficult. However I am delighted that David's business associate Mr Maurice Chiswell has offered himself for the secretarial vacancy and I expect them to make a first-rate executive team.

With David and Maurie at the helm, how can the Old Haleians' Association's future be other than bright? We can look forward to their guiding us through a memorable year.

Frank Bird,
President, 1973-74.
