Editorial

In 1935, one hundred and fifty odd acres of wild bushland at Wembley Downs were bought by Hale School. Now, some forty years on, this bushland has been turned into a School with some of the best facilities in Western Australia. Large expanses of playing grounds, modern buildings with up-to-date teaching aids and a core of dedicated teachers provide the components for a successful School. However, the catalyst required to turn a successful School into a great one is not a material thing. It cannot be bought with money or turned on by edict. I refer, of course, to the intangible, but clearly felt emotion that breathes life into a school — school spirit.

At Hale School it is evident on some occasions that school spirit does exist. Anybody who was present on that warm night in April could not forget the hundred or so boys who time and time again flung themselves into war-cries to lift "their men" into winning races, and finally the "Inters", by the smallest margin in years.

However, only a hundred boys out of the five hundred who attend the School were present. Allowing for a further hundred who had legitimate reasons for not being there, the rather depressing fact emerges that more than half the boys apparently do not care for the School or its achievements in Sport.

This difference in attitude is also displayed on the sporting field. There are many Staff members who, having given up their Saturday mornings to supervise a School team, are placed in an embarrassing situation by boys who don't show up. One wonders if any of these boys have ever considered how difficult it is to explain to the opposition's coach why Hale apparently plays thirteen-a-side football. On the other hand, in the First Teams all the players are dedicated and are prepared to give freely of their own time to attend training sessions. Why does this difference in attitude exist? It is surely not just the honour and glory of being a member of, say, a winning Darlot Cup side because this dedication is not confined to First sides. There are also the 'triers' who are really the backbone of the School. They may not have made a First Team in their lives yet they front up twice a week for training and they try their hardest just to have the opportunity to represent 'their School.'

I feel that Hale's policy on sport is not always conducive to promoting School spirit; rather, in some instances, it achieves the opposite. For those boys without natural sporting skills, showing up for training and matches, to participate in something they detest, makes them hate the system forcing them to attend. Obviously, from the School's point of view, exposure to team sport, even if forced, produces some result. However, there is another way of involving a non-athletic student in a group activity that can achieve the desired result. Interschool debating, chess and quizz nights can be arranged instead of Saturday morning sport. Surfing and sailing competitions between schools would attract a vast number of boys; these activities could supplement rather than replace the more traditional sporting activities.

Finally, there is another group of people who can contribute towards the development of School spirit. I refer, of course, to the parents. One of the reasons that influences many parents to undertake the financial burden of sending their children to Hale is the desire to provide them with the opportunity to become part of a peer group. However, the parents' task is not completed simply by providing the opportunity. They must display a real interest in their son's involvement with the School. The most practical way of achieving this lies in attendance at School events and functions in which their son is participating.

In the final analysis a successful school results from a combination of interest and enthusiasm from parents, teachers, boys and the governors. In the end the transformation of a successful school into a great school depends on you. No matter who you are, there is always some contribution you can make towards the School and its future.

M.F. LOVELAND RETIRES

At the start of the school year most of us were surprised to hear of the retirement of Mr. M.F. Loveland. In his characteristically unobtrusive way his decision to retire had been kept a closely guarded personal secret.

Monty, as he was known to his many friends at Hale, had given ten years of outstanding example to both staff and students alike. His high academic distinctions had been much appreciated by very many pupils throughout the years. He was for five years Stirling Housemaster but he surely will be remembered best for his outstanding leadership in, and the organisation of, the school tennis teams. For a decade Hale tennis was renowned in Western Australia and much of the credit was due to Mr. Loveland.

We wish him well in his retirement.

THE REV. E.P. WITHAM

The Rev. E.P. Witham joined Hale for 1976, standing in for the Rev. R.E. Davis, who was away on sabatical leave.

It is realized of course how sensitive Chaplains are to praise of even the most genuine sort; but it needs to be recorded that boys and staff are really appreciative of his ministry. He combined breezy but challenging instruction, the keynote of which was its emphasis on commitment and its appropriateness to our situation. He combined this with a pastoral care which was affable and in his own words: 'simple and effective'.

Ted goes from Hale to take up pastoral duties as curate and fac to tum in Applecross.

G.N. ALTORFER 1937-1976

Forty years — one third the life time of Hale School — all ones working life — this has been the period of time covering Mr. Altorfer's association and involvement in all that is Hale.

1937-38 Student at Hale School — Prefect 1938 1939-60 Senior Boarding Housemaster responsible for all of the hundred plus boarders of Hale at Havelock Street, West Perth

1961-73 Housemaster of Parry House. Day boy House at Hale, Wembley Downs 1965-76 Senior Master

In addition to the above, Mr. Altorfer also found the time and genuine interest to:

Run School Cadets from 1942-46 — School Cadet Shooting Team 1945-46.

Coach the Interschool Swimming and Life Saving Squads 1943-63.

Run School Dramatic and Debating Societies 1946-63.

Coach both Cricket and Football Under Age teams.

Serve on the Sports' Council and Colours' Committee.

Dignity, dedication to duty, positive leadership and example — these are some of the traits we, who have had the privilege to know Mr. Altorfer well, will recall when we look back over the last forty years. Recording this involvement has been a relatively easy task. Endeavouring to put into a few words the impact on the life of Hale is in no way a simple task. It may even sound pretentious, but to some of us it will be regarded as the passing of an era.

Hale School — when we see or hear these words what do we think of? The Cloisters, Havelock Street, Chapel, Old Boys' Hall, Library, Modern Buildings, Magnificent Grounds: these would no doubt be some of the thoughts to come to mind. Other thoughts, to me anyway, would be Mr. J.B. Newbery, Mr. L. Drake, Mr. A.C. Marshall, Mr. G.N. Altorfer.

This dedicated group of staff and their impact on the history of Hale will outlive those material aspects in the memories of staff and students. For us, the staff and students, the impact of these men on the history of Hale, is more enduring than memories of place and bricks and buildings.

To many School generations, Mr. G.N. Altorfer has been part of Hale. He is known and respected by Old Boys and their families from all parts of our vast State. His long and faithful service will not be forgotten; and Hale School, in thanking him, extends to Mr. G.N. Altorfer, sincere wishes for good health and happiness in his retirement.

Headmaster's Report

As our Chairman has said, we are honoured to have as our guest tonight our Governor, Sir Wallace Kyle.

Over the last 120 years we have had many links with our Governors, some good, some bad.

Shortly after Bishop Hale founded this Collegiate — School, back in 1858, the then Governor, Hampton, a tyrant from Tasmania, refused aid to the School — and absented himself from the Cathedral, as he found the Bishop's sermons too liberal. We had better luck with another Governor, Broome who sent his son here and whenever we moved — in 1914 from George Street to Havelock Street or in 1958 when on the hundredth anniversary of the School the foundation stone of these buildings were laid or in 1961 when we begun classes here and on various Speech Nights as well, the Governor has been our quest.

It is a great irony that throughout history, man only reaches the heights of which he is capable, in bravery and co-ordinated effort, in ingenuity and fortitude, when he is plunged into the depth of war. Be this as it may, the Air Force stands as a fine example to all of us involved in the shaping of character through institutional means, for there initiative is linked to discipline and bravery becomes responsibility. You fly rarely alone, and you work as a co-ordinated group. Should you fail your friends suffer and when the goal is achieved it is reached through team work of the highest level.

No school can hope to acquire the high morale and esprit de corps of the Air Force, for it has not merely its volunteers and its keen participants but those others, those conscripts to whom the school is drudgery, the goals not comprehended and the choice not theirs. No adrenalin flows at the thought of another period of maths and the sound of breaking surf is more attractive any day than the School bell.

Yet it is a fine goal to aim for, to crowd upon the young, to make as many participate in the activities of the School as is possible, to resist and not acquiesce in this syndrome of opting out and to demand of them such levels of work and such commitment of enthusiasm that they too, come to realize as with a bomber crew safely returned, they have scaled heights of achievement that otherwise they would never have contemplated.

DR. K.G. TREGONNING

Not for over 30 years has it been necessary for a Hale boy to navigate to Berlin, forced to be so accurate and so brave that after 6 — 7 hours of night flying and repeated attacks on his life, he had to be there within 30 seconds of his given time. This ordeal has not been for them — though some I would imagine would prefer it to a football session with Mr Macmillan — and we have not had to ask that they ever consider tackling it. But the spirit of dedication, the training and the courage are goals we can aspire to. I am groping for words, but it is the committed School, the ever involved School, the School that produces the disciplined youth that best produces the full man, as the R.A.A.F. produces the warrior.

As such a warrior and as such an example, we welcome you tonight and we can only deplore in passing that your father did not follow the example of Governor Broome.

The airlines and air forces of the world have been one of the major factors in shrinking this world and it is all the more regrettable that as Australia is brought closer to continents and countries hitherto remote, it increasingly abandons learning their languages. All over Australia there has been for a decade or more a steady decline in the number of students learning a second tongue. Soon at secondary level we will be a mono-linguistic nation. The reasons are many, but one of them has been the nature of these studies.

The foreign language people have regarded their subjects as orientated towards the literature of their country. Learn German to read Geothe — the mere thought is off putting, there would be a few enough who could spell him, or pronounce his name — and the same emphasis on translation of literature pervades the other languages.

We have decided to scrap this outmoded concept and to introduce next year our own language programme, designed to give competence in the spoken tongue. It will be regarded as a tool, useful to very many. The average young Australian today is travelling overseas as never before. Travel is no longer linked to retirement, but to tomorrow. We plan a course, a fun course, comprising the first three years of secondary school, where the living language will be taught to help boys, as young adults, enjoy themselves.

Fortunately we have three very keen teachers in Messrs Hoad, Wapnah and Massey, and I hope parents will see the value of this for their sons.

Parents find it hard to judge a School other than in the context of their own experience as seen through their son. Glib phrases then from headmasters that it has been a good year carry only as much weight as this can apply to one particular boy; yet overall the features that make Hale of value to many again have proved their worth. The House system, where a pastoral supervision has watched over your son, has had far more successes than failures — and the latter are our constant concern.

In our academic programme we have maintained our view that the abondonment of examinations and the Achievement Certificate has done little if anything to maintain standards or to encourage students to work. Hale was very alone for some years in persisting with examinations, and in its Junior Certificate it has been very old fashioned indeed. But as with shorter hair, examinations may be creeping back.

There has been of course a strong ideological element in the move to abolish examinations, you see it clearly in the United Kindom and in Victoria perhaps, where the Secondary Teachers' Union feels that as they perpetuate the class structure of this capitalist state they should all go, and entry to tertiary studies should be by lot. Not even China has gone that far, and of course in Russia you are selected after a most rigorous examination. This is one time when I hope Moscow's influence and not London's might be effective here

In any case, I hope we can preserve our independent stand and we appreciate the liberality of the State Education Department that places little pressure on us to conform to their policies. In other States, Independent Schools have to toe the line pretty closely and we are very lucky to be in Western Australia, where being Independent can mean something. More the pity that so few make use of it.

Our Wittenoom programme this year was marred by the tragic death of a student, Lindsay Gardiner. It caused much anguish at the time, particularly to those most deeply involved. But the response, from his parents and the Parents and Friends, and School as a whole, clearly indicated an appreciation of the value of Wittenoom and a deep desire that it continue. We have been very fortunate in this added dimension to the School and despite the many problems it causes we remain convinced of its great value. Plans for its continuance in 1977 are under way.

Wittenoom is but one of many distinctive features about Hale that clearly are attractive, for our entry of 130 boys into Year 8 (first year secondary) now has waiting lists until 1984 and our primary school also at Grade 7 level is full until 1979; even Grade 1 is booked out two years in advance.

It places on us all a great responsibility to keep this venerable institution young and relevant and as our reputation has been made by the fine work done by many staff, permit me here publically to acknowledge their worth, particularly that of the Deputy Headmaster, Mr Hoar, whose capacity for organization seems boundless.

We say farewell to Mr P.A. Carey this evening and wish him well in his retirement. He joined Hale in 1966 from England and has been a good friend of the School. As Housemaster, coach of the 1st XI (he had been a professional himself in Sussex England) as organizer of our stamp and coin club and latterly as organizer of our 50m rifle club, he has given a very great deal to the school, and he will be much missed by boys and staff alike.

Our temporary Chaplain, the Rev. Witham, also leaves us. His work this year as replacement for the Rev. Davis has been most appreciated and we hope he enjoyed his time with us and that he will return to school chaplaincy when the opportunity arises.

Forty years loyal and enthusiastic service ends this week, with the retirement of Mr G.N. Altorfer. "Bill" Altorfer joined Hale in 1937, a long time ago and throughout that time Hale has been very fortunate indeed to have such a dedicated gentleman on the staff. Generations of boys have been taught by him, including most of those sitting on this platform, not only subject-wise in the classroom, but in the many other things that a real schoolmaster manages to get across, in and out of class. Throughout the difficult war years and beyond he was in essence the Boarding House, and as Housemaster and Senior Master under five Headmasters he has epitomized the finest qualities of this School.

I knew him as a friend long before I came here, for as a senior boy I rode my bike with this young master to York and then down to Albany one summer holiday, returning along gravel tracks though the Karri to Pemberton, Manjimup and Bunbury back to Perth. This saga cemented a friendship that proved invaluable to me when I came as Headmaster, for his kindly advice and long experience saved me many a time. All of the staff and the School community generally are going to miss him very much, for he bridged the years with consummate ease and his courtesy and tolerance made us all feel better than we really were. He will probably suffer a few withdrawal symptons himself and I still half expect to see him presiding over our old lags camp of detention and checking the incredible absentee stories when we begin again next term. I should perhaps re-assure the boys that Thursday afternoon detentions for misdemeanours will still continue and as Mr Altorfer moves into benign middle age we are scouring the State for a most ferocious replacement.

The opportunity is taken of thanking the many groups that have helped the School in 1976. Although Dr Raiter led the P & F, its most active members were the mothers and we have many other ladies also to thank, matron, sister, the Clothing and Tuckshop mothers, all the rowing, cricket, football and other mothers and many more. There has been a considerable female element in this School for many years and though we remain a boy's school only and are not going the way of the R.A.A.F. — where I heard the W.A.A.F was to be abolished and women and men could join the R.A.A.F. and do everything — yet we are very grateful to them all.

May I in conclusion thank you all for your support, wish you all happy Christmas holidays, wish again good luck to the boys — the young men — now leaving, while regretting their departure and certain that next year we will slide downhill; but that we will do our best in what may well be another year of great involvement and much enjoyment.

Captain of School Report

Most students at Hale School, whether they be at the beginning, middle or end of their school career, have found their place in our close-knit community. Thus they contribute accordingly and know what is expected of them. Consequently there are very few misfits in the system at Hale. This is mainly because of the way in which students are motivated to contribute.

This motivation comes principally from each and every boy having his own personal goals within the school. These goals are important to the student whether they be becoming a House or School Prefect; playing in the 1st XVIII; being the first to jump off town pool at Wittenoom; winning a prize at Speech Night; playing in the school band; or competing in any of the challenges offered by the school. For example, a first year student may be impressed by the responsibility and prestige of being a prefect and also the honour of playing in the top sporting teams. He will then, whether realizing it or not, strive to reach the goals he has set and to prove to himself whether he can make the grade. As he progresses through the school he will have to prove his worthiness in various ways in order to reach his aims, namely to show responsibility, leadership and personality as well as talent and endurance on the sporting field. While this is happening his interests will spread because of the wide sphere of school life. He will get to know many of the staff better, will participate in House activities other than just those he prefers or has ability in, and will become an active school member giving support to those areas with which he is not directly involved. In these ways the student begins to give back to the school what the school gives him and to enjoy his experiences at the school. This is what produces the essential involvement of those at the school, from which stems a strong 'school spirit', a perhaps overstressed but still very significant part of Hale School life.

This involvement and school feeling was most evident at this years swimming 'Inters', where Hale had a thrilling victory by a few points. The swimmers really excelled to come from behind during the final relay to win the Cup for the tenth consecutive year. It was tremendous to see so many Hale boys, not actually participating, become so involved in supporting the school, thereby all contributing to the exciting victory. Staff involvement was another contributing factor and here a tribute must be paid to Mr. Poake who retired as swimming coach this year. His personal effort in thirteen years of coaching has contributed greatly to eleven victories and has helped many a boy on his way through the school.

In first term Hale had three other major sporting successes. By a combination of talent and teamwork the cricket 1st XI. won the Darlot Cup (after an enjoyable and unbeaten tour to Adelaide during the holidays). This year, Geoff Marsh was awarded Honours in Cricket - a just reward for an outstanding sportsman and a good example to all those in lower years. The tennis 1st VIII, with plenty of talent and class, won both the Corr Cup for the P.S.A., and the statewide Slazenger Cup. With continued interest and much of the talent remaining, next year should yield similar good results. Hale also proved strong in Lifesaving by winning the Statewide Law Shield.

Rowing this year was another good example of strong school support. The major rowing functions were well supported by school members, mainly senior boys, and even though the 1st. VIII came only fifth in the Head of the River, they did their very best and were encouraged by the spirit of the supporters.

And so first term ended with sporting victories receiving much attention.

Sport is always given much attention at Hale. This is not because the aim of the school is just to produce accomplished sportsmen but because sporting activities highlight many important aspects of school life and it is right that every boy should be involved. Just from the point of view of physical education sport is justified. But sport also provides the opportunity to reach personal goals and with them self satisfaction. It also enables the staff to personally get to know many students well, and vice versa. Very importantly sport is a sound basis for comradeship.

This comradeship showed itself particuluarly in this years football 1st XVIII, and rugby 1st XV. The footballers, after returning from a successful and enjoyable tour to Geelong, were unlucky not to win the Alcock Cup. With strong support, they were undefeated until the Grand Final, which was narrowly lost to Trinity disappointment to many in the school. The rugby players had a somewhat similar season. They also were undefeated in the cup season, losing to Scotch in the Grand Final. An indication of the team's talent was that four players were included in the State Schoolboys Rugby Team, including Pat Lilburne who was captain of this team. Although they were worthy of it, neither of these teams won their major competition. Most importantly both the 1st XVIII and 1st XV were 'teams' in the true sense of the word, whether on or off the field.

Hockey throughout the school was not strong, with the 1st XI finishing seventh. Both coaches and the players are keen but this sport does not get the same following of other sports. There may be better results in the future if more interest is shown by players at the lower levels and more application by senior players.

The school sporting year ended with the Interschool Athletics. With more coaches, including several Old Boys from outside the school, hopes were high of improving on last year's position. This was possible throughout the day right up to the last event but Hale finished fifth overall — the same as last year. The attendance from the school was poor but nevertheless all the athletes gave of their best.

Most of the credit for the sporting results is given to the fifth years and rightly so. Many fifth years also take on positions of responsibility in the school. Fifth year is certainly the most important year for students. However, this doesn't mean that those in other years do not play their part in the school. Indeed fifth year may bear the fruits of previous years at Hale, but the strength of any fifth year boy relies largely on his activities, his impressions, and the encouragement he receives while progressing through the school. Unfotunately many boys do not realize their part in the school before their final year and this results in most of the involvement in school activities coming from fifth years.

In debating this year interest continued to grow from both speakers and spectators, especially among fifth year members. Although performances were not outstanding the important thing is that all involved enjoyed themselves, particularly in social debates. Interhouse debating continued to provide lunchtime entertainment during second term and it is hoped that all debating activities will be well supported in the future.

The photography club grew in numbers this year. Their excursions and exhibitions were a constant reminder that this is a very active club. It is good to see extra-curricular activities such as the photography club being well supported when there is little incentive other than personal interest to join in these activities. With more encouragement from the school in these areas, more interest could be stimulated and the cultural side of the school would benefit greatly.

The bulk of the interest in the Chess Club this year was taken by the fourth years. In the years to come we look forward to both greater numbers and a higher standard in the Chess Club. The quality of music played at each Monday assembly by the school band has risen considerably in recent years and much credit must be given to Mr. Harvey for this. The band has impressed many while playing to the Old Boys, at Speech Night and on other occasions. In other fields the rifle club proved popular, squash was recognised as a school sport by the Sports Council and golf was introduced as a sporting option for first and second years.

The Hale Wittenoom project again gave all fourth year students the chance to experience an enjoyable and worthwhile stay in this outback town as part of the all round education Hale provides outside the classroom. This project, unique to Hale, helps greatly in keeping the senior boys together in their final year. It develops staff-student relationships and shows many boys that there is still much to be gained from school life. It was a great shock to the school to hear of the tragic death of Lindsay Gardiner, in the eighth group. This threatened to end the whole project but it is pleasing to know that it will continue next year. The school thanks Mr. Somers Vine in particular, and all the others who helped in Hale Wittenoom 76. Wittenoom is a fine example of the involvement and interest shown by teachers in the school, some of whom have been associated with Hale for many years.

One master worthy of special tribute is Mr. Altorfer who retires at the end of 1976. Mr. Altorfer's association with Hale dates back to his school days at Havelock Street, West Perth. For the past forty years he has taught at Hale.

It is true that Hale could well have the best facilities of any school in the state, but this is not what makes it a great school. The greatness stems from the efforts of both boys and staff. Students at Hale are very lucky to be part of a school where the staff give so much extra time and effort for the benefit of the students, and where the boys have the chance to make personal friendships with their own teachers; where the old boys are truly proud to be Haleians and give their full support to the school in many ways; and where the Parents and Friends are actively involved.

In view of this I thank the Headmaster and staff and all who have contributed to Hale this year.

For those leaving Hale this year, I hope that you will also be proud to be Haleians and I look forward to seeing the present and future students of the school upholding Hale's fine standing in the community.

MICHAEL AITKEN.

Obituary

Lindsay Gardiner

The School was saddened to record the death of Lindsay Lewis Gardiner in a tragic accident in Joffre Gorge near Wittenoom, on July 29th of this year.

Lindsay's friends and fellow-students farewelled a popular and cheerful student in a funeral service held in the School Chapel five days after his death. First, Second and Third Year boys formed an impressive guard of honour as the cortege moved out of the School grounds.

Lindsay was a generous and open person who knew the secret of forming warm friendships with whomever he met. His school-friends describe how he was able to communicate his friendship and how he inspired them to enjoy the company of other people around them. Adults who knew him were impressed by his ability to get on with people of all age groups and from all walks of life.

Lindsay tried hard and gave of his best, enjoying whatever he did to the full. We know too that Lindsay was a human being with faults and weaknesses common to us all. But we record his good qualities because he was a person who taught all who knew him something about life. In his short life, he made a real and lasting mark on those around him. He taught us something about enjoying life; he taught us something about the wonderful gift of friendship; he taught us how precious life is.

These are things which outlive him; they are real things we can continue to hang on to.

Lindsay left a heritage not only to his friends, but to the communities to which he belonged. The School has planted a tree near the Chapel in his memory, and the Stirling City Council has agreed to name the island in Jackadder Lake the "Lindsay Gardiner Memorial Island." Both are appropriate memorials to a boy who deeply appreciated nature. Lindsay was an organizer of the petition to the Stirling City Council asking that an island be made in Jackadder Lake as a sanctuary for the birds of the Woodlands area.

We commend Lindsay to God's loving care. The School shares with his mother and father, his grandmother and younger brother Darren, a sense of deep loss.

Chapel Report

SPECIAL SERVICES

The most significant innovation in Boarders' Chapel in 1976 was the introduction of "Special Services". Held twice a term on Sunday evenings, they were an endeavour to involve the boarders in different forms of worship. In First Term, some boys from Faulkner House performed the mystery play "The Betrayal of Jesus." This was a simple and effective (and at times amusing) re-telling of the Last Supper and Judas' betrayal.

The first Special Service in Second Term asked us "Who is Jesus?" Steven Arrow's excellent cartoons projected on overhead transparencies told us who he was not, and a series of songs and stories tried to explore who Jesus is, for us in 1976. The film "Parable" about a Christ-like clown provided the focus of the third special service in which we were reminded of the cost of being Christ-like.

CHAPEL COMMITTEE

Early, in First Term, a Chapel Committee was formed to take part in decisions about our Chapel life and who have been very useful in providing the Acting Chaplain with feed back about boarders' attitudes to Chapel.

One of their first decisions was to begin using a modern service of Holy Communion (the English "Series 3") because it was felt important that everyone understands what we are doing and saying when we meet for worship.

The new service was introduced on Palm Sunday, and we had a special Palm Sunday procession. The Grade 4 Divinity class had made colourful banners on bright hessian, and the Junior School boarders carried these in the procession.

The Chapel Committee decided to express our concern for those in Perth less well off than ourselves, and $100 from boarders' collections was sent to St. Bartholomew's Home in East Perth. A small group of boarders also delivered a cheque for $100 to the Girrawheen Contact Centre to provide facilities for under-privileged families in that parish.

CONFIRMATION PREPARATION

The Confirmation Classes followed three themes during their preparation this year; the Church in Sacrament, the Church in action and the Church at prayer. We were able to visit Parkerville Children's Home to see the Church in action. and we shared in worship in the Cathedral and in St. Nicholas' Church, Floreat Park to experience the Church at prayer. Our Confirmation candidates shared in the last phases of the Perth College girls' confirmation preparation by visiting Perth College for a film evening. We were able to return their hospitality when the boarders of Perth College came to Chapel with our boarders in second term. It was important and symbolic that the day-boys' Rectors attended the School Confirmation service and presented the boys from their parishes to Bishop Bryant who was the confirming Bishop.

VISITING PREACHERS

The tradition of visiting preachers was continued in 1976, and our visitors included the Rev'ds Richard Appleby from Belmont, Ron Pearce from Wembley Downs, Chris Albany, curate of Wanneroo-Greenwood, Len Firth, curate of Claremont, Terry Curtis, Perth College Chaplain, the Rev'd Canon Bill Rich of the Anglican Missionary Council and Father Jack of the Society of the Sacred Mission in Girrawheen. Staff members were also invited to preach this year, and the Headmaster and Mr Taylor and Mr Cardell-Oliver were also "visiting" preachers. We are grateful to Mr. Truscott for allowing his residence to be used as a coffee house where boys could meet visitors after Chapel.

Mr Michael Lush, Children's Missionary with the Scripture Union visited the Junior School Chapel with his puppet Bertie, Most Monday mornings, the Junior School enjoyed their Chapel service with songs and a Bible story.

MONDAY MUSIC

On Mondays during Second Term, the Chapel was used for a very successful experiment. "Monday Music" was a lunchtime occasion, with up to 80 boys attending weekly to listen to music of all varieties, rock and classical, New Orleans Jazz, musical comedy and pop.

THANKS TO GOD AND ...

The Chapel life was enriched again this year by the services of Mrs Gladstones, the organist, whose work in training the Chapel choir and in providing music for services is much appreciated.

The following boys should also be thanked for their musical contributions to our worship: Kim Harrison (trumpet), Andrew Young (trombone), Michael McKelvie (guitar). David Alderson as the Chapel Committee co-ordinator also made a large behind-the-scenes contribution to the running of the Chapel.

Junior School

The year of '76 has been an extremely busy one for the Junior School, the staff and the boys have seen to that. Dr. Tregonning and Mr Hoar have made their weekly visits to keep up to date with happenings and have given encouragement and reminders where necessary. Even though contact with the Senior School has lessened in some ways, the Junior School boys and staff feel a sense of genuine pride in the achievements of the School.

The staff this year has been most stable, with one small break, while Mr Haskett visited the United Kingdom and Mrs Mill took over most capably in his absence. The health of this staff has been marvellous and that is amazing — knowing what germs small boys tend to carry around with them nowadays. Apart from the regular class teachers, thanks must once again go to the following:

Mrs Gladstones for her unenviable task of trying to teach boys to sing in tune. Mr Harvey for introducing and teaching the various band instruments, and then having to tie them all together to form a much larger group this year. Assembly would not begin our day so harmoniously without him. (Music gets more milk from cows, I wonder if it helps a small boy's brains); Mr Cox for his Wednesday drumming; Mr Harrison for his clarinet lessons; Mrs Cohn for her clay work with the Wednesday Club boys; and of course the Teachers' College students — Mrs Carter, Mr Pierce and Mr Pescod who spent a term with us as well, teaching and learning at the same time. Many thanks to Reverend Witham for enlivening our Chapel visits each Monday and his weekly enlightening lessons in the classrooms.

At the year's end, Mr L. Richardson will be resigning and leaving for Katanning to take over a newsagency. He has spent many years at the Junior School and has influenced many boys with his pleasant, quick witted manner. As Sports' Master every activity has been run smoothly, which has shown his many hours of preparation were well spent. He will be missed a great deal; so best of luck to you in the future Mr Richardson from us all.

Mr McLean will be beginning his duties in February 1977, having taught in the Senior School for some time.

Each class has much to report on apart from the 3 "R's" and allied subjects. The standard of these however, is kept high by the small manageable classes and the improving facilities.

Small classes and improving facilities have kept high standards in the 3"R's" and allied subjects, but each class also has much else to report.

Grade 1 and 2 — the 'House' training years, have been enjoyed by Mrs Hills and Mrs Hamilton who have broken in the small ones. Drown proofing at the beginning of the year was ably assisted by Misses Susan and Margaret Tregonning and Mr Peter Laskie. Their help was greatly appreciated. A visit to Grade 2 by children from the corresponding classes at the Speech and Hearing Centre at Wembley was a highlight. They joined in the activities of our children, and Neville Redmond renewed some acquaintances with joyful shouts. The visit was greatly enjoyed by both groups of children and we hope we may have them again.

Mrs Campbell's Grade 3 (or 2½ – being sixteen boys on the class roll) have tripped around extensively – fitting into the school bus easily. Brown's Dairy, the Airport, Fremantle Museum, Atkin's Factory – Stoneware, Pipes and Tiles and Sunny West Ice Cream Factory have all felt their presence. Some goodies even returned to the staff freezer on the last trip, unknown to the class of course. Grade 3 will have had the ultimate in teaching – greater individual attention and should benefit from this in future years.

Grade 4 has a couple of trips coming up when the weather becomes more stable. Toodyay and the Farm, and the industrial area of Fremantle and Kwinana. Both being day trips, rain will not be appreciated. The inspection of Diamond Poultry taught the boys a great deal — not just about food processing, but the people involved with it. This is what Social Studies is all about. It is pleasing to see the boys at this age beginning to take a bigger part in the Junior School Activities — such as tennis coaching, drumming, chess, musical instruments, speech training choir, gymnastics, puppets, Esperanto and Saturday cricket and rugby.

All these activites certainly keep their minds from becoming inactive; and I am sure any teacher who has handled this year's Grade 4 will have noted their mental and physical activity.

Mr Haskett's Grade 5 went to Woodbridge House with assistance from two third year students, Mr Pierce and Mr Pescod. Classroom activities were associated with the visit. An Art lesson was conducted by Mr Sweet outside Woodbridge House too. A study pioneer days, they visited Fremantle Museum. Perth's Museum, and its vintage car exhibit helped a great deal with a project carried out on Transport. The boys brought many items of interest to school and the room took on the appearance of a cluttered garage All the boys had to give a talk about some item they had brought along.

A more thorough trip was taken when the Airport was revisited this year. Ansett workshops and aircraft were investigated minutely. Like other classes, Grade 5 had a stall and what with a whole school "Spellathon" helped raise $1370.00 for Guide Dogs for the Blind, another Social Studies project. The Save the Children Fund is now in progress. This is all a part of developing an attitude towards helping others less fortunate than ourselves.

Grade 6 has worked well this year too — Mr Richardson has made sure of that. A beach excursion from Watermans to Triggs and a working party to Atkins Pipe and Tile Factory kept them extremely busy. Judging by the pile of clay behind Stalag 13 Art Room they really had to work. Grade 7 helped a little I believe, as well. David Blumentals was welcomed back after a long stay in hospital again, and it is good to see his spirit — even to taking part in Shot Put and the 800m trials for the House Athletic team. A lesson for the other boys I am sure. Future Grade 6 boys will find this year, a year to really settle down to more serious school work.

Grade 7 has been prepared for the Senior School by Mr Holmes, Mr Mill and Mr Sweet. Being such a large group — nearly 70 boys — three teachers have been needed. Mr Sweet does of course, take the whole Junior School for Art and Science — in his spare time — as he says; and Mr Mill and Mr Holmes make excursions to the Senior School to take classes for English and Woodwork. Mr Mill also helps keep the school running efficiently and acts as a buffer between parents, headmaster and staff. Grade 7 fit in somewhere between all this.

Grade 7 have been out and about too — B.H.P. Kwinana, and also boarded the ore carrier "Tolag" They made a T.V. programme using the School's video tape pack equipment as they were conducted through the steel works complex — including the rolling mill. Bickley Observatory, Perth Art Gallery (for a bit of "culcha") and a camp at York, on Mr Fleay's farm. Clubs within the rooms were begun. Debating, Video and Model Aero Clubs being the most popular. Mundaring Weir gave the teachers further opportunity to teach the boys the skills of correctly written reports.

Mr and Mrs Mill and Mr Holmes spent the May holidays — the first week of them, that is — in the eastern states with a selected group of Grade 5, 6 and 7 boys. On this tour Mr Mill reports:

On our school educational tour, during the May holidays we visited Adelaide, Renmark, Mildura doing a city tour of each city and noting the occupations of the people and the climatic conditions. At Mildura, the main occupation is fruit growing and vineyards where, because of the dryness, irrigation is essential. This was achieved by the use of the pump, invented by the Chaffey Brothers in the mid 1800's. This type of pump is still in operation, pumping water from the Murray to all irrigation channels in this dry area.

We followed the Murray River down to Swan Hill where we visited the Swan Hill pioneer settlement for the sound and light tour conducted at night. The next day we had a guided tour of the settlement and a river trip on the P.S. "Pyap". On the bus again, we continued down the river to Echuca inspecting old paddle steamers on the river bank. Here we inspected one of the early wharfs where the paddle steamers tied up. The river was the only mode of transport in the early pioneering days until horse and bullock wagons took over.

On then to Wedderburn, where we saw many early Colonial buildings and equipment and an eucalyptus still, still in operation. Through the central Victorian countryside to Bendigo where we inspected the Deborah goldmine and all of its works. Twenty-one million ounces of gold have since been mined in the area.

At Ballarat we visited Kryal Castle, Eureka Stockade and Sovereign Hill. This again was set up as an early goldmining village, set around a once very rich goldmine. For a novelty, panning for gold is possible in the creek running through the settlement. This, being our last day, we travelled through the central Victorian countryside, where wheat and sheep farming is the main occupation.

We eventually arrived back in Adelaide after six days of travelling through most interesting country. We boarded the Ansett plane for Perth — a most enjoyable trip with a very well behaved groups of boys.

Sport has taken a large part in school activities and Mr Richardson has given his report here:

Cricket: Saturday U/12 team were Premiers in the Floreat Park Junior Competition, winning the W. Gurner Shield — after being runners up last year.

Lightning Carnival

Hockey: The 1st XI got into the finals for the first time in 11 years. Just lost in the end.

Rugby: Hale won the Plate competition. Well done!

Football: Hale played Aquinas, St Patrick's and Christ Church and were beaten narrowly. It was a most enjoyable day and something for all competitors to remember. The school entertained St. Patrick's of Geraldton, before they returned home. Thanks to the ladies who helped with the eats.

Parents have always been most welcome to visit the school at any time, and Grades 1 and 2 parents take this opportunity regularly. On Parents Day this year, many a new face was seen and it was much appreciated by the staff as well as the boys. Please do not make this your only visit.

Next year should see the beginning, if not the completion, of a new Library for the Junior School. For such a project considerable planning and co-operation has been needed. I am sure both the boys and the staff will use this new facility to the full. What is held in the next 'five year' plan depends on the support given by everyone — especially the parents.

This has been a very happy year, and we are sure the future will be too.

Brine House

After eight years at Brine House, the Reverend R.E. Davis relinquished his duties as Housemaster and left for a well earned twelve month sojurn in Israel and the United Kingdom. When he returns in 1977, we could well have the first XV rugby team shouting line-out instructions in Hebrew (or Pakistani?).

Thanks are extended to the Reverend Davis and family for the countless hours spent in caring for and guiding the many boys who have begun their Hale School days at Brine House.

Mr W. Edgar took over as Housemaster at the beginning of 1976. Matron and Mr Cook entered their 7th year at Brine House, again providing the invaluable touch of 'homeliness' for the large percentage of boys who had left home for the first time. Mr. P. Farmer and Mr. K. Walsh, both Old Boys of the School joined us too, as assistant housemasters.

Of the 28 boys in the house, 15 were Grade 7s and 17 were boarding for the first time, the majority coming from far-flung corners of the state or from overseas.

Turner, Richards, Timermanis, Wyllie and Wagnell all made up the Hong Kong brigade, Brown from Derby, Barney Foulkes-Taylor from Yarloop, Garnett from Bremer Bay, the Smiths from Karratha, to 'Rocky' from downtown Doubleview made up the ingredients for a heterogeneous brew.

Nevertheless, the year has been an enjoyable one overall. The stability within the house is attributable in part to the character of the boys, and also their willingness to work within the framework of essential disciplines.

One of the highlights of the year was the strong contribution by Brine boys in the various sporting teams.

In first team Paul Johnson was selected in the 1st XI, Khoo, Moore, McGhee and Hyde all contributed strongly in the swimming sector.

Traditionally, the rugby season saw Brine strongly represented, but it was left to a raw recruit in "Barney" to scoop the Most Improved trophy. Rumour has it that rugby will now replace the major sport of boomerang bending at 'Yuin Station'. Khoo, Garnett and Collins were selected in the 1st XVIII and so Australian rules wasn't entirely swamped by the Unionists.

In third term the boys exchanged studs for spikes and trained keenly for athletics. Many creditable performances were recorded by the boys of Brine, but the most noteworthy was Kinton Khoo's effort in becoming Open Champion.

Hobbies of model aeroplane flying and kite flying filled in many hours of spare time. 'Dogfights' between Baron Von Timermanis and 'Ace' Garnett were the highlights.

The soccer game against Wilson House 1st years was enjoyed by all, though a few were peeved that a Wilsonian handled the ball at a crucial stage and enabled his team to score a goal and so win 4 — 3. Consequently, Brine House consider the game was drawn and promise to trounce Wilson next year.

A trip to the beach in Mr Walsh's station wagon, loaded to the gunwales with bodies of all shapes and colours, sometimes backwards as well as forwards, was memorable too, especially when 'Rocky' lost his bathers.

Timermanis's electronic organ flew in from Hong Kong toward the end of first term and the saxophones, clarinets and guitars soon had plenty of competition. At this stage, though, we're all a bit 'browned off' with "Yesterday's Heroes".

We had our scholars too. Wayne Garnett was consistently top of Grade 7s, Tim Collins and Craig Smith were strong performers in Grade 6 and Nigel Withers topped the Grade 4s. It is pleasing to note that the majority of the boys in the house improved their performance as the year progressed.

Two natural garden areas were started early in the year by Wayne and Harry. At this stage they are beginning to reward our head-gardeners for all the time and effort they have lavished on the beds. 'Garnett's Garden' and 'Hyde Park' will be a credit to their original guardians for many years to come.

As the year draws to a close we wish the boys leaving for the senior boarding houses their appropriate share of luck and success in the years ahead, at school and in whatever vocation they choose. Drop down and see us occasionally and let us know how you're going.

Thanks are extended to Mr and Mrs Cook, Mrs Edgar, Mrs Donnelly, Mr Walsh, Mr Farmer and Mr Stratton for help and guidance during the year

Wittenoom

Once again, Hale boys have made use of the facilities that Wittenoom has to offer. Towards the latter half of Term One, all Fourth Year boys were assigned to various groups, each group consisting of from nine to twelve members. One significant factor is worth mentioning. As far as possible, each group consisted of boys from varied backgrounds so that boys from boarding and non-boarding houses were required to mix. Preparatory briefings took place and, before leaving for Wittenoom, each group received training in first aid and artificial respiration. The time devoted to this by Mr Lupton and Sister Robson was appreciated by all concerned.

The advance party arrived in Wittenoom on the 17th May, having been preceded by several days by the Deputy Headmaster, Mr. Hoar, and myself. This party consisted of Mr R. Gray and several of the Fifth Year Boys who had offered their services. Thanks to the efficient caretaking of Ted Godwin, there was little to be done at the house and the advance party was soon able to begin the important task of establishing the bush camp on Hancock Gorge. This task completed, the advance party then spent several days visiting various gorges before returning to Perth. I thank all concerned for their cheerful assistance.

Perhaps at this stage it would be appropriate to explain what is done at Wittenoom. Each group spends one week in the town house and one week in the bush camp. Most groups followed much the same programme, with the obvious exception of the four specialist groups. Upon arrival, the group would be met at the airport and transported to the town house where they would be given an introductory talk on what to expect, and what would be expected of them. A roster of duties was drawn up as all boys were expected to participate in the general running of the house. These duties included the cooking of all meals, washing up, mopping floors, etc. A storeman, and a radio operator were appointed for the bush camp. The radio operator assisted me to make the morning and evening calls to the bush camp each day so that he was conversant with the radio.

During the afternoon of the first day the groups climbed the escarpment. This, for many, was the first experience of the dreaded spinifex — the source of many "horror stories".

All groups saw the lower reaches of Wittenoom Gorge on several occasions as this was the route taken to the bush camp and other gorges. The boys swam in several pools in the gorge (particularly Cathedral Pool and Town Pool) and barbecues were often held there. A point of particular interest in Wittenoom Gorge was the Colonial Blue Asbestos Mine. Most groups were intrigued by the amount of equipment that was abondoned when the mine closed down ten years ago.

It was not possible this year to walk from Wittenoom to Mulga Downs Stations because large areas of the Fortescue Flats were still under water as a result of the cyclone that hit the area during December. However, the groups were taken to a point on the Roebourne road, several kilometres beyond the station, and given a compass bearing calculated to bring them to the Two Mile Well. From this point they followed the road to the homestead and spent the night in the shearers' quarters.

The tourist bus from E.G. & L. McGuire's Tourist Centre picked up the boys on a Monday morning and took them to Mt. Tom Price for the day. It was here that many first appreciated the enormity of the North West mining projects. On the return trip they visited Hamersley Gorge and saw its almost bizarre examples of geological folding.

To my mind the visit to Dales Gorge was the most fruitful of the town house days. On the way there, a stop was made at the old asbestos mine in Yampire Gorge which, in the early days, had been supplied by Afghan camel trains. On arrival at Circular Pool, the parties climbed down into the gorge and swam in the pool itself. As the cyclone had scoured a lot of the vegetation from the bed of the gorge, it was relatively easy to walk to the aboriginal carvings and then proceed upstream to the Fortescue Falls. The boys enjoyed another pleasant dip at the falls before setting off for the bush camp where they entertained by the preceding group. This gave them an opportunity to swap news and views as well as providing the "old-timers" with an ideal opportunity to "con" those who would be moving into the camp on the following day. Thereafter, they returned to town via the Catwalk and Wittenoom Gorge.

In addition, some groups also visited such places as Bee Gorge, Kalawina Gorge, Eastern Gorge and Marandoo. The Biology group spent a week at Millstream which was an experience that none will forget. Under the able leadership of Mr.

Shields they achieved much of biological importance and also learned a great deal about living in the bush.

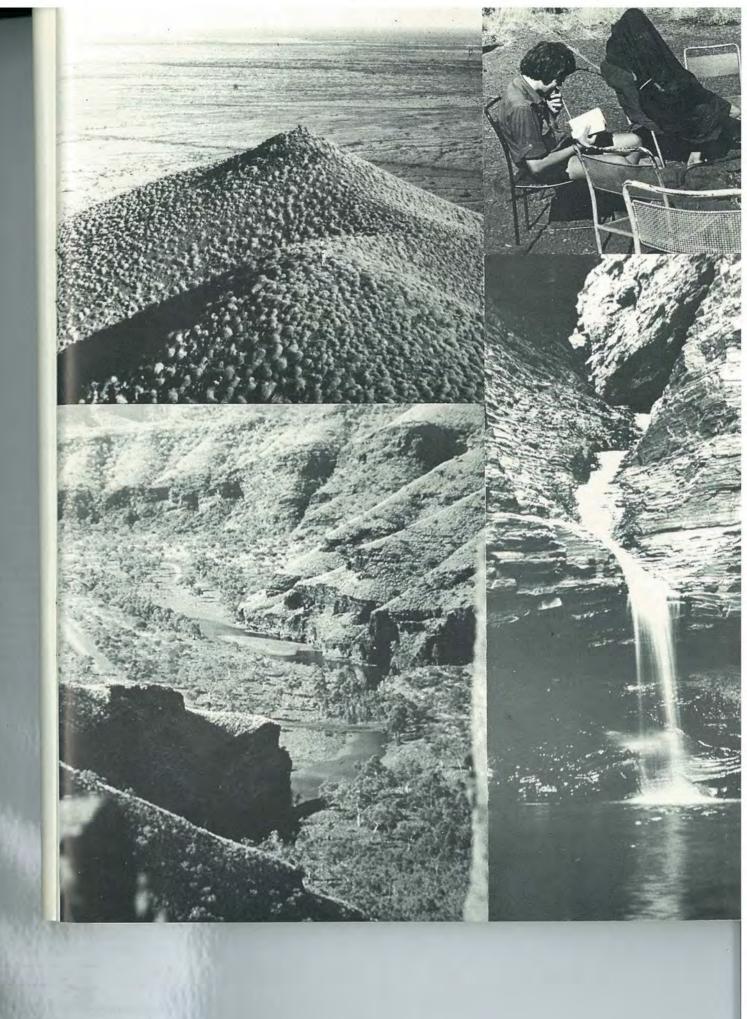

The week spent in the bush camp was the high-light of the stay at Wittenoom. Groups visited Hancock Gorge, Weano Gorge, Red Gorge, Knox Gorge and Joffre Gorge and Falls. This is an entirely different world and it was an awe-inspiring experience to walk through the gorges, even if the walk through spinifex to reach them was not appreciated! In particular, it was during this week in camp that the boys were forced by circumstances to unite and help each other when help was needed. It was a busy week for all groups with little time left in which to be bored as there were always the regular duties of cooking, washing-up and fetching water.

At this stage I must mention the tragic death of Lindsay Gardiner on the 29th July, I suppose that one must always take into account the possibility of an accident even when the utmost precautions have been taken. Lindsay was a popular lad and contributed greatly to his group and the accident was a shattering experience to all those involved. I can only say that I admired the mature and responsible reaction of the Group 8 boys who acted swiftly and sensibly. Naturally, it is at a time such as this that one needs outside help and I will always be grateful for the way in which the people of Wittenoom rallied to our assistance. It is extremely difficult to single out any particular individuals, but, in particular, I must commend the actions of Geoff Gray, Mike Hoar and Ron Chandler who acted without thought of their own personal safety.

The Hale-Wittenoom programme would not be possible without the co-operation of the people of Wittenoom and the surrounding area. We especially thank the personnel of Hancock and Wright, E.G. & L. McGuire's Tourist Centre, Mr. & Mrs. Housen of Mulga Downs Station, Mr. & Mrs. Kennedy of Millstream Station and all the people of Wittenoom who went out of their way to offer their friendshipm advice and assistance to us. In our own way, we did what we could to reciprocate and helped during the annual fun day, Henley-on-Joffre, as well as giving a hand to collect stones for the erection of a wall around the local Shire Hall.

Last, but certainly not least, I must thank those who contributed to the smooth running of our programme. My thanks go to Richard Truscott who handled air bookings, etc., from Perth and particularly to Richie Clapin and "Ernie" Goyder who were assistant resident masters this year. Their cheerful efforts to make Hale-Wittenoom, 1976, a success were greatly appreciated.

Buntine

1976 has been a good year. Academically many boys have worked hard and the House was a sound second in the Cock House Cup. We congratulate Loton on their first win. Five School prefects in one House may be something of a record and certainly reflects intense involvement.

First term sport was keen. Buntine had first eight rowers in Peter Liddle, Rod Gawned, Steve Johnston and the captain of boats, John Davidson and were third in the House event. Led by School swimming captain Richard Marsh, the swimmers finished only eight points behind Stirling in the swimming cup. Nick McDonald's volleyballers were undefeated; the baseballers were equal first; the basketballers were third overall and the longballers had some dramatic games. It all added up to a narrow but splendid Sholl Cup victory over Loton. The inexperienced tennis players could only manage seventh, while the cricketers led by 1st XI members Allan and Barrymore, were third.

Second term and the house appreciated Mr Foss's help while Mr Macmillan was at Wittenoom. Our sport was sporadic. The powerful senior footballers finished third, but the juniors, despite Mac's emotion from the boundary, could only manage seventh. In hockey, youngsters Hemery, Rogers and others too, made the juniors a talented combination that finished third. The seniors had to be content with eighth. As usual, the cross country was a highlight and all members ran well to give the House fourth place, just behind the boarding houses.

The House trained and ran well in the athletics to be a close third. Pat Lilburne (captain of the Hale team) led a keen House group that featured an enthusiastic U/14 group — a great sign for the future!

The House has provided four of the eight School sport captains and many members of "firsts" teams. Lilburne, Marsh, Liddle and N. McDonald were in the 1st XV and Lilburne captain of the State Schoolboy Rugby Team, Peter Liddle a member. Davidson and Gawned did well in the 1st XVIII and Les Galbraith and Steve Johnston were placed in the National Manly Junior Sailing Championship. Nick McDonald's photographs were excellent, P. Simpson (captain) and Harrison were School debaters, Harrison played in the W.A. Arts' Orchestra, the latter two also designed and produced the Wittenoom T-Shirts, and a number of young men were in the School Band.

Our fourth years enjoyed the Wittenoom adventure and are most grateful to Mr Somers Vine and all the group masters. All members of the House were deeply shocked by the tragic death of Lindsay Gardiner. Lindsay was a quiet young man, sincere, determined, so well mannered, so keen to do his best. Letters sent home to his family and to the Headmaster the day before he died showed how excited he was by Wittenoom. The boys of the House will always remember Lindsay — his smiling face, his loyalty and friendship and we extend our deepest sympathy to his mother, father and family in their great loss.

The House pays tribute to its fifth year group. They have been enthusiastic participators in Hale and in Buntine. Their time in Buntine ended at our annual Poolside Barbecue, at which "Mac" was again thanked for his enthusiasm.

Faulkner

1976 saw members of Faulkner mostly cheerful and content, with first years enjoying their new life and a smaller gap between years. The efforts to reason out our boys' mistakes rather than the other way worked well.

Mr Laskey (from Harrow, England) helped our house sport greatly, and with Mr Johnson and Mr Whitham aided Mr Gidney in the House. Mr Laskey returns to Cambridge fairly well introduced to the Australian way. Mr Johnson leaves after five years. Despite his Warrant Officer's voice, his constructive interest especially in individual help and counselling will be missed. Thanks also to Mr Whitham and to Mr Shipley, who replaces Mr Laskey.

At the end of Term 1 we were well positioned in the Cock House Cup competition. Under rough conditions on the Swan, the magnificent Faulkner House crew, with Glenn Rogers (Vice Captain of Boats in the School) as stroke, gained a convincing victory over Loton.

Our cricket side produced three first XI players; Geoff and Stephen Marsh and Rick Sutherland; but did not dominate the competition. We congratulate Geoff Marsh on his selection in the State and Australian Schoolboys' teams, and in the Sheffield Shield squad. He received Honours after three centuries in Darlot Cup. Scott Nicholas did well in tennis.

Second Term Sport: In Football, the House side's courageous efforts unfortunately did not bring victory. However, in Rugby - coached by Mr "rentapom" Laskey, we were victorious - as in the hockey. Geoff Marsh captained the First XVIII - and in that team also were his brother Stephen and Rick Sutherland. In Rugby, Greg Mengler was a member of the First XV. Nick Burges, Glenn Rogers, Michael McKelvie and Dean Rogers represented us in the First XI Hockey. Nick was Vice-Captain of that team.

In the Under 14 event of the cross country, a mass of green (Faulkner1) lead the field for the first 500 metres, after being warned by the House Captain to sprint "all the way - or else!" The mass of green was rarely seen again that afternoon, although we finished a good third.

Third Term Sport: At the time of writing, the dreaded grind of House athletics has finally come to an end. In the Inter-House competition, Faulkner achieved a good seventh position. Faulkner House had a good representation in the Inters squad this year.

The tuckshop continued to prosper with a greater selection of goods. With the profits, a pool table and a table-tennis table were purchased. Overall a very pleasing result, in all fields in which we competed, and we are sure that this will continue next year.

Haynes

First term 1976 was a term of mixed fortunes for Haynes House sporting teams.

In the Interhouse Swimming, Haynes struggles to finish fifth after an enthusiastic start which put us in the lead at the completion of the freestyle and breastroke relays. Four of the 1st VIII tennis players, including the State U/16 Tennis Champion, Chris Johnstone comprised the Hayne's House tennis team. After going through all the proceeding matches undefeated, Haynes lost to the only other undefeated team, Stirling, in the final match, on the day when the 1st VIII played the State Veterans and consequently our usual four members were unable to play.

In other team games, the Hayne's House Globe Trotters came first in the senior division basketball and the cricketers were fortunate enough to retain fifth place.

Sport in second term was highlighted by the performance of the Haynes senior football team. Although the season began shakily the team quickly matured into a winning combination under the captaincy of Glen Craig and went on to win the final from Loton House, holding them scoreless until the final minutes of the match.

The Junior football team surrendered fourth place to Faulkner House in the final and although it was not to be known till later, this loss cost Haynes the overall football Cup from Loton House by the narrowest of margins.

The Hockey players turned in a mediocre performance to come seventh overall.

Good performances in the cross country this year were few, although special mention must be made of Chris Johnstone's win in the U/16's. Overall Haynes managed fifth.

Haynes performance in coming a close second to Parry in the Inter House Athletics in third term was particularly commendable and was a fitting conclusion to the Haynes House sporting year.

Although House notes this year have been in the most part a sporting review, Haynes men also figured in the School's cultural activities, including debating, chess and other various societies.

To the House Prefects, Mark Spencer, Trevor Benson and Henry Cooke, go my thanks for the continued assistance throughout 1976. As always, the organization of Mr Taylor and his interest in all members of the House have played a major part in ensruing the success of Haynes in 1976.

Loton

Formed in 1966 Loton topped off its first decade by having its most successful year yet. The emphasis for the year was placed upon doing whatever we took upon ourselves to do to the best of our ability with involvement from everyone in the House.

The prefects were inducted on the first Friday of term after an enjoyable barbecue, in what is becoming an annual occasion.

On the following Friday half of our House prefects were inducted as school prefects — the first time the House has started the year with three School prefects — a good omen. First Term sport was attacked with vigor and enthusiasm hence was enjoyable and successful. We achieved our best swimming result to date in coming third. The dearth of stars was countered by hard work by everyone on the day and in preceding weeks. We narrowly lost the Sholl Cup to arch rivals Buntine and came a creditable second in the rowing. Our cricketers made history by winning the cup for the first time ever, due to some surprisingly fine performances by our cricketers of lesser renown and a very high standard of fielding.

We moved into second term and a continuation of our first term attitude ensured continued success Courageously led by Roy Tuckey the footballers won the A.E. Devenish Cup for the second year in succession. Although the senior hockey team won their competition we unfortunately came an overall second to Faulkner.

The cross country saw Loton run away from a determined Wilson to win for the third year in succession — a hat trick!

The result of our efforts in the first two terms saw Loton with an unbeatable lead at the end of second term — in the overall competition — the Cock House Cup — a great effort for the third smallest House in the School and our first ever Cock House Cup.

Loton did a lot off the sporting field. The Uncle Bill's Humpy, formerly released as Uncle Tom's Cabin is in its eighth year of production and is still the only House paper in the School. THORLEY MUSE a Cygnet style magazine under editor Karl Woolfitt was again a high quality production.

Throughout the year several barbecues, a number of films both at School and in a town theatre, and even a one hundred dollar order from Hungry Jack's helped to break the monotony of boarding house life — and food.

Parry

Parry again participated well in the Inter House competitions under the enthusiastic leadership of Mr R. Gray.

Michael Aitken took the helm of the House as House Captain and has carried out his duties with style. Further, he has performed his duties as School Captain admirably, and I am sure his efforts are appreciated by all.

Mr Gray in his three year reign has revitalized the House spirit and his influence can be seen in a steady climb to the upper rungs of competition ladders. His three years of conscientious work have paid off in 1976. A glance at the previous years' sports' records shows clearly the improvement in Parry's performance. This year Parry had, in almost every competition, improved its overall position.

From the outset in Term 1, Parry showed an increased strength. The cricket team, although dogged by bad luck, fought on under Dan Kelly and improved from last position in 1975 to fourth in 1976. Truly a commendable effort.

In the Rowing Parry managed to improve on last year, gaining fifth position. The crew was led by David Hall and with greater efforts will improve next year. Parry's depth in numbers helped win fourth place in the Sholl Cup. The only losses in positions were in the D.F. Poake Trophy and in the Haswell Cup for Tennis. Hopefully these will be rectified next year. Thus Term 1 concluded well for Parry. Progressive points for the Cock House Cup showed Parry to be in fifth position and poised for further advances.

Term II opened and a dynamic Junior football team began a triumphant series of games which won them the competition. Captain Chris Foulkes did a great job. The Senior football team, captained by Colin Payne and in his absence, Nick Kailis, began well winning several hard matches before faltering in the crucial stages. Yet Parry finished in a commendable fourth in the Senior group and did very well in securing a final place in the A.E. Devonish Cup. Let's win it next year, Parry!

The hockey led by Jeff Dye in the Juniors and Gary Dye in the Seniors gained an encouraging fourth position in the Brine Cup Competition.

Then in Term III Parry commenced a strenuous training course under the personal supervision of Mr Gray. His dedicated attitude towards athletics infected the whole House and some really gutsy efforts were put in. As a result Parry won the T.F. Hantke Cup and the Housemaster Cup and came second in the J.C. Taylor Cup.

All these efforts gave Parry third place in the Cock House Cup and the incentive to dominate next

This year's prefects have (by and large) remained sane thoughout and, where possible, have improved the standard of behaviour in the House by example rather than enforcement. Many thanks to all of them, with special mention made of Nick Kailis who enlivened many a day with impersonations of Mussilini.

Riley

"It doesn't matter whether you win or lose, It' how you play the game that counts".

nis comment could best sum up Riley's sporting activities in 1976. Riley competed actively always at their best, but not always with great success. First term saw Captain Peter Orris lead the House into ming where Riley fell into a hole compared with previous years. Danny Rechichi competed in the onal Titles and together with the juniors show promise for the future. Mark Lovelady (fourth year) captained Riley's rowing crew to a consistent seventh and gained valuable experience for 1977. Firm two provided marginally better results. The junior hockey managed second while Peter Orris as an integral part of inter house inter school and combines P.S.A. hockey. Good individual efforts e cross country were achieved by John Morrison and Peter Orris and in football, Dean Illingworth da trip to the eastern states.

ird term provided the usual difficulty in cultivating a disciplined effort in athletics, this being mostly come by the service of Mr Poake, Mr Pontin and Mr Coney. Riley received a poor placing on the s day. However meticulous recording of events and times will improve our chances in 1977.

s day. However meticulous recording of events and times will improve our chances in 1977.

ot all Rileys achievements are in sport. The first days of '76 saw Mirek Generowicz return refreshed an interesting maths camp at the University. Riley fielded Tim King, another fourth year in the chess team and in debating, where strong competition was met in the first round and Riley was ked out. Ian Watson and Mirek Generowicz constituted a major part of Hales ever expanding photoy club and contributed much wanted graphic art material to the Cygnet. Geoff Raphael and Brenton has also shown promise in this sphere.

uring 1976 Garry Mack collected $30 for charities. This was built up in small amounts during the the theory being that small, frequent personal donations offer a greater sense of giving than large tions of parents' money.

During 1976 the face of Housemaster changed many times. First and third term saw Mr Poake at the wheel, while in second term Mr Greenwell brightened up the House. Furthermore in Mr Greenwell's absence at Wittenoom, Mr Biddle made a remarkable increase in discipline within the House, appreciated by most.

Riley has had an eventful year under the guidance of Peter Orris, prefects, Mr Greenwell, and Mr Poake All these we thank and we look forward to 1977.

Stirling

The year opened well for the House. Great spirit produced a wonderful effort in team games. We won the D.F. Poake and G.N. Altorfer Cups for the third year in succession and once more took home the tennis cup. Our Charities, led by John Foster, donated $400 to the Guide Dogs for the Blind. We organized a lapathon to launch a candidate for the "Day Girl Quest".

The winter term opened with great promise especially for Junior and Senior Football. The Hockey Teams scrambled into fourth place.

The third term Athletics reached its peak with Stirling once again in fifth place. Our third and fifth year students settled down to their own personal challenge and "dug in" for the final charge to the examination room. We wish them well. Brett Treasure and Hayden Chrystal won $50 and a Hick Commendation for their Wittenoom Film. Scott Ellis came fifth in the Alliance Francaise. Tim Gepp was chosen in the Schoolboys' State Cricket Squad, for the second time, and Andrew Lill, for the State U/16 Squad. Glen Eccles was the House representative in the State Schoolboys' Lacrosse Team.

The House contribution to the more cultural aspects of School life. I congratulate B. Treasure, T. Griffith, N. Buttsworth, S. Ellis and A. Lill for their work in the manufacture of the Cygnet. A. Lill especially for his appointment as Editor.

J. Waghorne, T. Griffiths, S. Ellis, B. Treasure, R. Ellis and R. Lowe all added greatly to the Photographic Society and their immense contribution to the School.

J. Storey and S. Ellis were elected captain and vice-captain, respectively of Chess at Hale.

This is the first time the positions have been filled by fourth years and we hope, that with increased experiences they will improve upon their performance.

On behalf of the fifth years and those leaving Hale, I would like to record a personal tribute to Mr Lupton's helpfulness and concern for our House and individual welfare.

Wilson

This year saw the House under the new leadership of Mr R.C. Truscott who has enjoyed a very successful first year with the House. Mr G. Dent was welcomed as an assistant master.

The year started with a trip to Rottnest Island on the first weekend of term. All went well and it was enjoyed by everyone. The House showed a very competitive attitude in all sports, finishing seventh in the swimming in front of old Wilson rivals Faulkner. Rowing was well represented and both John Fountain and Grant Harris gained first VIII symbols. First term concluded with a successful picnic at the John Forrest National Park.

Second term saw Wilson men prominent in the major sports. David Alderson, John Fountain, Paul Riches, Wayne Plume and Campbell Smith in rugby, (Campbell Smith being named the most improved player) Grant Harris and Ian Clark in football (both awarded symbols) Phil Gee, the illustrious first XI goal keeper and Dave Alderson were among those awarded inaugural symbols for squash. In the inter House competition Wilson secured seventh place in the senior football competition and eighth in the Junior. Hockey was more successful with the seniors being placed fourth and the juniors seventh. For the second year in succession, second place was gained in the cross country.

Third term and Grant Harris, Ian Clark, Wayne Plume, Paul Riches, Ted Hill, Ashley Plume competed for the School in the 'Inters', but even with their talents only eighth position could be achieved in the inter House athletics. The Wilson House 'Golf Classic' attracted some twenty two competitors. An enjoyable afternoon's golf was played followed by a meal at a steak house. The inaugural champion was Johnathon Cowan.

Throughout the year the House maintained a high standard of cleanliness due in no small way to the energetic and cheerful Mrs Thomas. In first term Mrs O'Donoghue was farewelled and Mrs McCarr joined us as seamstress. To all these ladies we offer our thanks as we do to the two assistant Housemasters Mr Devenish-Meares (who leaves the House at the end of the year) and Mr Dent. The prefects are also to be commended for their efforts and example throughout the year.

1976 has been a successful year for Wilson and this has been largely due to the leadership and efficient organization of Mr Truscott. If the present House spirit continues, success for Wilson is assured.

In the dingy corner of an ill-lit alley, amongst the piled-up boxes of rubbish, propped up against a grimy wall, slept Finn McGraw. He lay, encased in a tattered and ragged overcoat much too big for him, with knees resting on his chest and head hidden by a hat resting on it. He stirred slowly, exposing a long gaunt, bleary eyed face, bloodshot as usual. Shifting his hands from the coat's depthless pockets, he rubbed his chin, feeling what felt like a three-day growth but what was really three weeks.

This was the beginning of a seemingly endless cycle which had lasted for five years. Every day, seven days a week, he shuffled through back alleys, peering down bins for food, and continually slugging away at the bottle in his pocket. If he found his way to the back of a hotel he would either be kicked out or given a bottle to keep him quiet.

It was different years ago. Reaching back through his memory he recalled the great moment in his life — winning the lottery. On consulting friends he invested it, seemingly guaranteeing a lifetime's income. With this thought in mind he went off to his favourite pastime, the races. Before long he had associated with gamblers of all kinds and become interested in cards. After two months of hard gambling all his cash was lost and in a vain attempt to regain his losses he liquidated most of his shares to see them lost in five days.

Having lost most of his money Finn sobered a little and couldn't continue living in "such style" so he moved to a poorer district and, after selling most of his furniture and his house, he settled down to adapt a new standard of living.

This new standard sparked a desire to regain his riches — at the races again and this time with only a fraction of the money he had before. This time his downfall only took a day and, without his shares to fall back on and no skill to get a job, he went bankrupt. The bookies garnished his house and furniture so he entered a government housing home and lived off the dole. At this time he became an alcoholic and his wife and now grown son deserted him.

Finn got up unsteadily, using the wall for support. He began his routine search of the bins, finding half a tin of soup and a box of empty beer bottles, which he sucked greedily. After finishing "breakfast" he made his way down a side street that led to his favourite hotel. He shuffled along, hands thrust in pockets, eyes fixed on the ground in front of his feet. Suddenly something blueygreen flashed before his eyes! A fifty dollar note! He stooped and held it up to the light, it was real! With a grasp of joy he hobbled quickly to the hotel now only a few blocks away. As he approached however he slowed down and began to think, recalling his past, the gambling and the odd occasions when he won, he would regain his wealth, nothing would stop him!

As he climbed the stairs leading to the poker room he felt a thrill of anticipation which he had not felt in years. He sat down and commenced. In the first hand he lost thirty five dollars and before the start of the next hand he begged to an old friend next to him "Go on Bill just for old times sake, a hundred dollars." After five hands he owed two hundred dollars and was getting nervy and tired. The bouncers were eyeing him questioningly and then Finn expectantly. After another five hands the dealer stood up and flanked by the bouncers, said viciously, "You owe us a thousand mate, fork out."

Finn leaned forward on to the table and laughing nervously he said, "Aw, come on you guys, give us a chance. I'll have it for you next week."

"We want it now."
Finn sprang towards the door, "Get him boys."
The bouncers grabbed him and gave him a good working over before dumping him in the gutter unconscious. He would probably catch pneumonia.
Could he sink any lower?

Never before that day had I ever seen such a courageous act, I expect I never will see such bravery again in my life . . .

It was February, a hot dry month in central Australia, and the insect population were out in myriads, always willing to land on your unprotected flesh and bite you. The sun was at its highest, as I left my cattle station, to drove my mottled herd to the annual sale at Alice Springs. My only companions were Bill, and my stationhand, Jo Jo. Bill, who had been in my service for twenty years, was, as some people would put it, my right-hand man. I had complete trust in this fine handler of cattle. On the other hand was Jo-Jo, who was yet to prove he was a competent and responsible as Bill. This deduction had nothing to do with his race, (as he was Aboriginal) but possibly under that hard exterior was a fine man. I was to find out that today.

The distance to Alice Springs was two hundred gruelling miles, under the desert sun, which has sent many men mad in the never-ending search for water. We had accepted the fact that water was scarce, and this life-giving substance was our main provision. The first day we had covered twenty odd miles, which was excellent under the conditions of travel.

Jo-Jo woke early the next morning and went wandering in a radius of a mile from camp. He discovered a pool of cool, clear water at the bottom of a small crevasse. He rushed back to camp and informed us of his amazing discovery. We were hot and in good need of a bath, so Bill and I followed him. We scaled the dangerous cliff, Jo-Jo leading as he was an excellent climber, informing us of all foot-holes, hand-holes and, most of all, places where not to go. As we neared the end of our expedition, Jo-Jo noticed beautiful clear water fish swimming around in the pool. After reaching our target we immediately got to the task of catching these delicious fish. Unknown to us, above our heads looming dangerously, were over-hanging rocks about to fall, as if sensing our presence.

After that, all I can remember was Jo-Jo's muffled cry, "watch out Boss" in an urgent tone, and his spear-like body diving toward me. His safe, sure hands pushed me out of the way of the lethal boulders plummeting towards me. Jo-Jo's agonizing scream pierced the silence of the Australian outback.

LIFE IS NOT

Moulded, pressured, sealed, Clothed in either of three, authentic uniforms, housed in a galvanized transportable, lightweight shack. Accommodations are limited to three in a one room shanty.

Forcibly sold with many of our kind, Light enters for the first time; Unkind hands squeeze our pride;

We are tossed, slammed, sliced; and finally forced into new accommodations, I made the acquaintance of a new can, Orange peel...

Swift mushroom cloud. Glowing, red and bulbous Growing, hot and deadly. "And men were scorched with great heat."

Feasting cancers, devouring mens lives, Gnawing from within, Smouldering patient deaths, they wait "And these were cast into a burning brimstone lake."

GAUNTLET

I walked slowly into the old building and began the dangerous ascent to its summit. Step by step I began to mount the cold concrete steps. One slip, one noise could mean exposure and a fate worse than death.

My legs ached, but still I climbed, ever higher, until finally I reached the topmost step. I craned my head back and looked up the vertical wall. Almost beyond seeing distance was a small white door. To climb up there I would have to use the small, loosely-driven iron rings. I began.

Step by step I moved closer to the door, my life depending on the strength of my arms and legs and the small iron supports they held. If one should give way I would fall and if I was not killed "they" would find me and take me to their leader. At this very thought my grip tightened and I began to climb faster. At last the handle to the door was in reach. It opened with a loud screech.

Surely they had heard! I must increase my pace or be caught. Before me lay the most difficult stage of my journey. My heart was beating

WATER

It was a nice sunny day and everything was bright. My father and I were going to have a nice cruise in the sea. While we were in the boat we heard an enormous eruption coming from a nearby ship. When we approached the ship we knew from the flag that it was an American warship on its way to base in the Pacific. The ship was covered with a thick cloud of smoke and we could hardly hear anything except for the cries of the poor sailors.

"Help! Please somebody help us!"

Unfortunately most of the life boats on board the ship were destroyed by the explosion.

Dad quickly radioed for help and to our relief a Government rescue ship soon appeared on the scene. By now the front of the ship was under water but thanks to the help of Dad and the rescue workers all the sailors and the captain of the ship were safely taken ashore.

quickly. My body sweated. I dried my hands, took several deep breaths and began.

To get to my objective I had to walk through a maze of pipes and beams. One slip, or a foot placed on a loose board would mean a long fall to certain death.

As I walked carefully through this maze I noticed the names of many previous adventurers carved on the beams. I wonder how many of these brave fellows escaped from "them" and lived to tell the tale?

Then after many minutes of terrifying climbing I reached my objective, a small wooden door, held closed by a steel bolt.

I slipped open the bold and pushed the door open. I took two deep breaths to calm my excited nerves and squeezed through the doorway. I stood up.

I had joined the legions of students who had braved death and torture to reach this spot. The roof of the school hall.

THE APPLE

As the light of the sun sank behind the face of the hills Adam stopped walking, and made haste to shield himself from the cold of the night. He chose the base of a crevice as shelter and there he prepared to spend the night. Though there was hunger in his stomach fit to consume mountains he did not notice it. He was hardened, hunger was his usual fare.

But as he slept the Lord God said, "It is not good that man should be alone." And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall on him and he took one of his ribs. From the rib which the Lord God had taken from man, he made a woman, and he brought her to man.

And the man saw her and was greatly pleased. And because he was starving, he killed and ate her, and knew of satisfaction and desire.

The Lord God was angry. In his anger he smashed worlds. And the Lord God spoke thus, "Oh well, back to the drawing board."

THE KILL

The tall dark mysterious man crawls from his den, His hair over his eyebrows, and his white teeth from ear to ear,

His claws hidden by black, tough, leather gloves, and his beard, tatty with age.

His eyes are like cat's eyes, and would stun the birds, And his claws that would pierce your gutt. His teeth would rip the hide from a buffalo And his feet as soft as a leopard.

His overcoat hangs to his knees, And a brown cap lies upon his head. As he slithers through the shadows, Not a light nor a lantern catches him.

The corner is near and death is at hand, As an old woman struggles for her home. Off come the man's gloves, and out pop his claws, His eyes are as sharp, as an eagle's.

But the old woman never reaches her home, Because his claws pierce her gutt, And his teeth carry her body away, And then silence lies once again.

ROADSIDE

Waiting, while the people pass me by. Most have sad, sour faces who stare blandly ahead. Their long shining, small dirty, old new cars showing their status, their wealth, their souls.

The road stretches in each direction both just going there but never really making it. Always short of their destination by such a small distance. Striving but never reaching it. Oh, so like the grey faced people that travel on this grey, grey road.

They all have their destination in mind but are not sure that it is the proper place to go. The loose sand on the side of the road knows where to go. These sun stained grains of knowledge do not spend their time deciding but just letting the wind take them where it blows.

I look at the brand of science, the ruler of the world, around my wrist. Two hours of standing on this spot have passed by with no one offering a lift.

Most move too fast to even have time to consider whether they should slow down and offer the hand of humanity. Others sneak glances at me, suspicious and doubtful from years of reading and seeing the horrors of the world that can be picked up from the roadside. Most though are too lost in their thoughts of emptiness to offer a lift.

These are the faces that scare me most. Blank, empty and lost — Oh the words flow and the fears form for these people but they are too twisted and unenlightened to stop. Most have forgotten what it is like to offer help to a needy person.

I dry my eyes and move off the roadside to where my back-pack, my house-in-canvas, lies propped up by a small green bush. Sitting down, I reach into my jacket pocket and pull out my tobacco. With the care of a faithful lover, I open the old pouch and remove the necessary equipment to make a smoke. Rolling it so very carefully, making sure not to drop a strand as the pack is nearing its death. Replacing it in my jacket, I forage in my jeans for a match. Hearing the friendly rattle, I feel at peace. I have everything I need around me, my travelling pack, my walking boots and my mind.

Leaning on my pack I feel a sorrow spread over me instead of the expected elation. All the sad people in their cars. What have they alone to themselves? Where did they go wrong?

HALE AND FAREWELL

It was disturbingly quiet for the outback. Too quiet in fact. Kim D. Williams stepped out on to the verandah of "Beefive" his homestead on his property "Shale". He sniffed the air and wriggled his little moustache. The pungent odour of Brut 33 filled his nostrils, informing him that his only friend was approaching.

"Gidday, Baldie" he called with a big smile spread over his face. Tom Green stepped out of his European car and walked forward a few steps, then stopped

"I've got some bad news for you K.D." said Tom staring at his feet. "It's Rick Duscot. He's dead. The kids at the Shale Institution for Child Slave Training are revolting.

"You can say that again. Horrible little beggars."

"No silly, they're uprising. They've thrown off their uniforms and gone back to their tribal ways."

"You don't mean . . . "

"Yes" said Tom, "they've gone on to the dole. Everyone of them. Rick tried to stop them but they overpowered him and put him to silence. Now they're heading this way. Kim you've got to get out," pleaded Tom.

"No, I am staying" said Kim raising his head and filling his small chest with air. "I will fight them in the classrooms, I will fight them on the ovals. But I will not surrender. It will be long, hard and efficient, but my cane will not give in. I will strike, I will strike and I will strike again, but above all, I shall be victorious. Never have I given so much for so little."

"You're a brave man" said Tom, "You're also silly. They'll kill you, I'm moving on. I'm going to stay at the Bill Towers for a while, till everything clears up. So long."

Kim D. Williams met a miserable death. Impaled by rulers and pens thrown by savage oncoming rebels, his dying words were "I'll make you learn your algebraic identities, if it kills me, and if you don't, so help me I'll put your name on the board."

Because of this man's sheer idiocy to fight the oncoming mobs, the other members of the town were able to bring them to their senses and offer them what they wanted — fixed prices at the tuckshop.

PROPHET OF DOOM

The wrought iron gates closed for the last time for him. He passed his uni exams and attended his last lecture, seen the last of Mr. Boon, the last of the endless hours of study and the last of his insular life. A moments thought, a drawn out sign, a shaken head indicated his bewilderment that he now, already had entered the new world of genetics and left the old one of learning behind. He opened the car door and perused the sparkling dashboard, the thousands of instrument dials, while formulating the computor data necessary to guide the interceptor through the maze of streets and roads of hundreds of kilometers per hour and avoiding collision.

After an hour's view drive he came to the Chinese village that his fellow Japanese had overcome and surrounded with a high steel like wall, within which were carried out their "experiments". He had been told of them and how they had resulted in world wide advancements in embryology. Here, he was told, the professors and intellectuals of his field had joined to find a suitable antidote for the radiation from the bomb dropped ten years

THE MOST IMPORTANT STEP

Suddenly, he was alone. The people around him were just images; most of them distorted and blurred. His mind was awash with emotions.

As he stood there, surveying the building and taking in the surroundings, a cold sweat blanketed his forehead and made him feel ill.

All was quiet. People around him were talking, moving, pushing, but he neither heard, nor recognized them. They were just a background.

Several steps to the edge. They had laughed at him. Friends, he thought.

Now a step closer. It was a long, long way down. The sweat had stopped now, but he had begun to tremble. The pavement far below seemed to be full of anticipation.

Another step. Now he was standing on the edge. Alone. One movement and he would feel a little pride. A coward, they had called him. He would not be called a coward.

One last glance at the people behind him. At a time like this, a man should be alone. He cursed them.

He tried to think of something clever to say to himself about life, but couldn't, and he cursed himself.

He lifted his feet into the air. And the blood ran hot through his veins as he shifted his weight forward, and his foot felt for the space below him.

That was it. The step taken. It was over. God – how he hated escalators.

Bret Treasure Fourth Year ago and which had slowly and steadily altered the processes of gestation which had resulted in horribly deformed and vegetable like humans. So far, all the third world had been affected and the radiation was encroaching the western civilizations. Here the professors put forth their theories about alternating genes and chromosones and the people of this village were their guinea pigs — they had no choice.

Here they blundered across a far worse tragedy, the tragedy of not knowing what they were doing. In amongst the rooms of test tubes and chemical apparatus the scientists worked seemingly impressively but whose minds knew the difference between the reality and the truth. The majority of them were sadists, frustrated men taking their fury out on a village of peasants. Here they did worthless experiments altering genes by chemical processes and resulting in abominations too appalling to describe. The outside world supplied them with endless funds. If only they knew. If only Paul Jameson knew. The new gates opened and the car moved in and took its place near the administration building. He took the mask and fastened the air chamber to his back before fitting on the anti-radiation suit.

The plunge of a needle into his suit and flesh took him completely by surprise. The dizzy nauseating feeling overtook him and he was hauled on to an operating table. Shapeless faces moved about him with silver instruments flashing. He felt his skull open up and then everything went black.

His eyes slowly opened and sweat beads dotted his brow. He remembered his dream that seemed so real, he sat up and an agonizing pain shot through his head. His senses came together and he remembered the party the night before.

NEW LIFE - Ian Watson

FEELING SCARED

It was a Sunday morning and I woke up excitedly because Dad had promised to take the whole family for a picnic to New Valley Farm. Simon, my best friend, was coming too, and we both looked forward to an exciting trip. After an hour's journey we soon arrived at the farm. While Dad was getting the B.B.Q. going, Simon and I decided to explore a large nearby cave. We entered the cave through a small opening, and as we kept walking, we soon found ourselves in total darkness. Shaking with fear Simon held my hand tightly. Suddenly I heard a loud screeching noise, and I felt something flying past my head. Soon there were thousands of bats flying all over the dark caves. When Simon saw this he screamed with fright and accidentally fell into a nearby pool.

"Help me . . . Help me . . . I'm drowning," Simon cried loudly.

Quickly I jumped into the dark pool and managed to drag him out of the water. As Simon lay wet and unconscious, I cried for help. It was cold and creepy in the smelly cave and I prayed hard that someone would come to rescue us. Soon my prayer was answered, when I heard Dad's voice calling for us . . .

I shouted to Dad for help, and soon with the help of a torch, he found us.

Gently he lifted poor shivering Simon from the damp cave and soon we were recovered and were pleased to be with the family again.

DRAGONS ARE WHAT YOU MAKE THEM

"Oh, God!" Thought the dragon, "Not another one". He gave vent to a loud sigh that singed the opposite wall of the cave.

Day after day the same old things he observed. Never any peace. Every stupid young buck who's inherited his grandfather's rusty sword wants to kill a dragon. The tradition's origin was obscure. Apparently there was some fellow called George before the break-up who had killed a dragon with a sword and became famous. The legend had been carried to the villages by word of mouth and with the existence of mutant intelligent, fire breathing crocodiles, every fool and lunatic on the land had tried to bag one. This was no joke. The dragons could be 50ft long and no one man had ever killed one alone. The term "fire breathing" was of course misleading. The dragons did not actually breath fire but burped a methane compound in the direction of the foe. The compound was ignited by a chemical secreted by a gland in the lower jaw, all this resulting in a flame which could reach 30ft in length.

A small figure was toiling up the slope towards the dragon's cave. It looked like an industrious ant carrying a small, rusty iron toothpick. When it reached the mouth of the cave it showed itself to be a tall skinny youth of about eighteen summers. A scraggy attempt at a beard hardly covered his pimply chin and a large adam's apple that bobbed up and down when he swallowed. It bobbed up and down now. The dragon looked at him scornfully from the back of the cave. They must be scraping the bottom of the barrel.

The youth leaned his rusty sword against a rock and fumbled in his pocket. He brought out an egg-shaped object about six inches long and four inches wide. It was corrugated and had a ring at one end. The dragon recognized it as a relic from before the breaking up and wondered what it was for. Never mind, it didn't matter. He opened his mouth wide to send the unsuspecting boy back to his ancestors. The boy grasped the ring firmly and pulled at it. It stuck, then pulled free. The boy drew back his arm and threw it to the back of the cave, catching the dragon neatly in the back of the throat. He gulped convuslively and swallowed it. There was a muffled bang which blew the back of his head off. Ah well . . . he thought, and quietly expired.

The boy set off down the hill.

DEATH

Just what is death? I'd like to know.
It can't be an endless dream,
For you've no mind with which to dream.
It can't be mere nothingness,
You have to be conscious to experience it, and you're dead, so, it is not such.
Heaven and Hell are just religion
the beliefs of ages past.
So just stop, and think,
where are you headed?

THE STREAM

The stream runs smoothly along,
Then suddenly a wish and a whirl,
Over the rapids like boiling water;
Then it slows down and becomes murky,
It becomes smelly and green,
And the algae grows.
But then the floods come,
And the water whirls down past the banks,
Debris and dirt go rushing down,
Animals floating down the stream
People drowning and dying
Then the stream runs into the sea,
And it is no more.

INSECURITY

Up at precisely 7.15

And into shirt starched with the one that people notice Pours all of nature's goodness from the real cellophane pack. Kisses wife goodbye, not noticing her super smile. Then boards his bus, paper on his knee. Four killed in crash, I guess they were the lucky ones. I wonder what Miss Overstone will be wearing this morning. Who are all these people? They're just like me. What am I doing here? Cheer up, weekend coming Chance to live the good life, Run free in my quarter acre — all mine. What happened to me? I wish I could get away Need to find life.

Awake at morning light

Its Monday again — new pair of jeans this morning Where's my food going to come from today?

Lady left me during the night — better get another. Think I'll move on — better find a lift. People in the next tent got busted last night, At least they'll be fed where they're going. Who can I pick up to come with me?

Someone'd be glad, we're all in a mess 'round here. New town tomorrow, change of scene.

What could I have been? Wish I could settle down.

Need to find life.

SECURITY

A blanket, a thick warm blanket.
Crushing me with its warmth,
Engulfing me in its size,
Thick.
As thick as I like.
A blanket, protecting me from any fear.

A blanket, protecting me from any fear. I trust it.

A blanket for my comfort.

SEAGULL

Seagull crying,
Seagull crying,
See the gull wing its way
Away.
He has seen the sea in its wildest storm
He has seen the waves and the crashing foam,
He has seen ships sink and men die alone,
He has learnt of life.
Today.

. AND IN CONCLUSION,

Societies

Culture has long been a poor second to sport at Hale. Fortunately, what little culture is available is well patronized. Membership in the respective clubs seems to be on the increase.

It is a shame more time is not allocated for class participation, as the societies represent an important part of every Christian boy's education.

Music

Music making at Hale has continued to expand. 1977 will see all assembly music played by students. Two bands will be providing music at Hale, one in the Senior and of course the Junior School Band.

This has been made possible by a generous grant from the Parents and Friends — enabling the purchase of some of the larger less portable instruments.

During the May holidays several Haleians attended the highly successful State Music Camp held at Presbyterian Ladies' College. Next year it is hoped a larger group will represent Hale at this most worthwhile musical event.

The Band now numbers forty-five and produces a better quality of sound. A new location in the gallery has helped as the acoustics are superior to the stage area.

Finally, Hale loses the talents of R. Gladstones next year as he has been awarded a Music Scholarship to Scotch.

Debating

The enthusiasm and support for the Hale Debating this year has been marvellous. Support from boys willing to debate, help organize by chairing or time-keeping, or by being spectators has shown that the poor response in previous years is not a difficult problem to overcome.

The senior No 1 team of Kim Harrison, Mike Aitken and Peter Simpson had a most successful season. Out of the six debates held, only two were lost. All members of the team were awarded 'Best Speaker's at least once with P. Simpson and K. Harrison being best speaker three times each. By winning six out of the eight debates held, the No. 1 team gave the necessary spirit in the leadership of the other teams.

Hale No. 2 team of Brent Clarke, Michael Allan, Brad Goerling, Patrick Lilburne, David Alderson and Dan Kelly also had a satisfactory season. With some speakers debating for the first time the result of three wins and three losses is most creditable. Unlike last year there was no problem in filling out these teams as all members were keen to participate when necessary.

The junior debating, if anything, holds promise for the future. An overwhelming response from the middle school made the task of choosing a team very difficult. It is quite obvious that a solid future is ahead for senior school debating.

All the teams have been mentioned, yet the real substance of the whole network of school debating must yet be praised. To the chairmen, time-keepers and adjudicators, many thanks from all the teams.

Most people tend to forget that a good audience is essential for successful school debating, without an audience to listen and participate what would be the point of debating? At some schools the audience support was poor, a fact that Hale School can proudly deny. Support from day boys also increased from zero of last year to the dozen or so this year. The boarders actually seemed to care for the debating and not the supper afterwards, as has happened in previous years. These relentless supporters deserve as much credit as the debators.

In conclusion, one person has made all this possible and to the efficient and reliable organization to Mr Coney, all concerned give their grateful thanks. Thanks must also go to Matron for the much appreciated suppers she made. Unlike the past, the concentrated effort from all years in the School has made inter-school debating really successful in 1976.

Photography

1976 saw Photography at Hale progress by leaps and bounds. Under the guidance of N. MacDonald, elected president at the start of the year and of staff members Mr. Pontin and Mr. Jurkiewicz, the quality of work produced and the influence of the club increased greatly. Instrumental in this were the display of photos in the library and the slide-tape shows in the lecture theatre at lunch time. The work that went into these displays was considerable, the results impressive.

This year sees the departure of N. MacDonald, N. Generowicz, I. Watson, J. Waghorne and R. Lowe. As fifth years, they were instrumental in the founding of the club and its continued progress. Though there is a core of dedicated, highly competent third and fourth years, first and second years are scarce. This is a barrier which will be overcome next year by increased liaison with the rest of the school; the future remains bright for photography at Hale.

Rifle Club Report

After the unfortunate decision of the late Federal Government to abolish the School Cadet Corps, the Headmaster decided to re-form the Rifle Club.

Mr. Carey had no difficulty organizing a most enthusiastic group. Membership this year was restricted to third years, but next year it will extend to fourth years. The ground-staff aided by Club members remodelled the old shooting range. Shooting started after some instruction in the Lecture Theatre. The early results were encouraging and indicate that we have several potential marksmen in the ranks. Joe Crowe was elected secretary and has done an excellent job. Thanks must also go to Peter Simpson and Rick Ellis who have assisted the master-in-charge. During second term Mr. McLean took charge of the club and during third term Mr. Somers Vine took over.

David Berry and John Willy, two old boys managed Sunday morning shoots for boarders.

Inter-School shooting competitions have been arranged for next year. In addition, there will be regular competition shooting between members.

Chess Report

1976 season started with J. Storey elected Captain of Chess and M. Goold, Secretary-Treasurer and S. Ellis, Vice Captain.

Mr. Stuart Wapnah, who had given so much help to the club over the last few years, was replaced by Mr Nigel Sonntag as chess coach.

The 1976 interschool competition began early. Hale entered four chess teams in four different divisions. Although all of the teams finished well down the list, everyone played creditably and furthermore enjoyed, the interschool competition.

The "A" team consisting of John Storey (Capt.), Ellis, Goold, Featherby and King (all fourth year students and one of the youngest Hale "A" teams for years) provided the best effort of the year in finishing third in the tough premier competition.

Other results were "B" team sixth, "C" team third and "D" team eighth. There are eight teams in each division.

In the coming weeks, the chess club is looking forward to the traditional (and very popular) Staff versus Students match and also the School tournament social chess and all very popular events.

Finally, on behalf of the chess club, I would like to once again thank the Old Boys for letting us use the Old Boys' Room again and Mr Sonntag and Mr Wapnah for their services to the club.

Cricket

At last . . . 1976 was the year that the Darlot Cup, previously won outright in 1961, returned to Following an unbeaten tour to Adelaide, with victories recorded against Scotch, Rostrevor and St. Peter's, and a drawn game against Welsey College, Melbourne, Hale proceeded to a handsome Cup victory by three points from Scotch. Outright wins were recorded against Wesley, Christ Church, and after a heart-stopping first innings struggle, against Guildford, Trinity and Aquinas were defeated on the first innings.

This was a well balanced and tightly knit side the same twelve players forming the squad throughout the season. The main features contributing to our victory were great depth of batting, the ability to bowl sides out reasonably quickly, and highly aggressive fielding - the result of much lunchtime practice.

We started the Cup season disastrously by being 7 for 52 at tea on the first day against Scotch. No praise can be too high for the recovery, led by Barrymore and Clark, which enabled us to reach the modest total of 134. Our bowlers and fielders rose to the occasion to have our strongest rivals back in the pavilion for 78, in the only innings in my memory where no fielding chance was missed.

Fairly leisurely wins were recorded in the following three matches, but when things started to go wrong in the games against Guildford and the vital last match against Aquinas, the Championship qualities of the team were seen to the full. Chasing a Guildford first innings total of 144, Hale crashed from a sound 3 for 80 to 9-130, when Clark joined Lill, who had held the side together for the previous two hours, and under great pressure the vital lead was achieved. A week later against Aquinas, chasing 127, Hale lost 7 for 87, and it was left to Barrymore (66 not out) and Stephen Marsh (52) to see us through to vict-

At the end of the season Honours were awarded to Geoffrey Marsh, Colours to his brother Stephen and Symbols to Sutherland, Lill, Clark, Aitken, B. Farmer and A. Farmer.

Congratulations to Geoff Marsh and Tim Geop on their selection in the W.A. Schoolboys' Cricket Team and also to Geoff Marsh on his selection in the All-Australian Schoolbovs XI.

I would like to thank all the Mothers who organized the afternoon teas, Matron and her staff for the drinks and lunches, and Syd McKenna and the rest of the ground-staff for the finest facilities as usual, in the P.S.A.

BRIAN GIDNEY

PLAYERS

Geoff Marsh: - One of the outstanding athletes produced at Hale. The only player in the history of the school to score three separate Darlot Cup centuries. Plays very straight, is an excellent field but his bowling lost effectiveness this year. Did an outstanding job as Captain of the XI.

Stuart Barrymore - Along with Jock Irvine and John Bandy, one of the three best all rounders since the war and without doubt, Hale's best leg spinner. Did almost as much as any other two players to ensure Hale's success this year.

Tim Gepp - An outstanding left arm fast bowler who should reach great heights next year. Could always be relied on to get the early batsmen out. A very sound field and capable lower order batsman.

Colin Payne - In his fourth year in the side, he did not have the success hoped for. Over the years he has played a valuable part in Hale Cricket, and he gained some vital wickets this year.

Michael Allan - Pressed into wicket-keeping this year he did a fine job, especially to our spin bowlers. When given the opportunity, he again showed considerable ability as, an opening batsman.

Eric Sutherland - Hardly a player to delight the purist, but a hard hitter of the ball and as an opening batsman, courage personified. Played a number of fine innings and was a great asset as a close fielder, especially in the gully.

BACK ROW: A.W. Farmer, A.J. Lill, B.F. Clark, B. Farmer, T.R. Gepp, S.E. Marsh. FRONT ROW: C.L. Payne, M.J. Aitken, G.R. Marsh (Capt.), Mr. B.B. Gidney, S.J. Barrymore, E.R.H. Sutherland, M.N. Allan.

Michael Aitken — A very useful all-rounder, who contributed in every aspect of the game. His bowling at Scotch, his 50 against Christ Church and his slip catching at Trinity were especially memorable.

Brent Clark — The unsung hero of the team. Batted in many different positions from 1–11, he accepted this treatment without complaint, and made a number of match winning contributions. A very useful medium fast bowler, and the finest fielder in an excellent fielding side.

Andrew Lill — Did not get many opportunities to show his undoubted class, but his effort at Guildford was as fine an innings as one could wish for. Providing he can discipline himself at the crease, he will score a great number of runs next year. Fielded extremely well in the deep.

Stephen Marsh — Coming into the side as a promising young batsman and excellent field, he emerged the bowling find of the season, topping the averages and being awarded Colours. Showed his true batting ability in the last match, and with two years left at Hale, is a most exciting prospect for the future.

Brett Farmer — Coming to us this year from Geelong College, with a century already under his belt, great things were hoped for. Brett showed a number of signs of potential and is a good stroke player, especially on the leg side. I have high hopes for him next year. A very good close fielder and useful off-spin bowler.

Tennis

The 1976 tennis season at Hale can be described as one of great endeayour and success.

From the beginning we looked set to have a good season with the team consisting of Chris Johnstone, Scott Nicholas, John Storey, Mark Spencer, Ian Campbell (Captain), Jeremy Raiter, Trevor Benson and Charles Grist.

Our first win against the strong Scotch team, (18 sets to 6) boosted our confidence and on the way to the final match against the powerful Aquinas side we recorded two 24 sets to nil results against Trinity and Guildford. Justin Taylor forced his way into the team half way through the season and determined efforts from this player provided depth in the latter half of the term.

Finally we were forced to compete at our best against an Aquinas side which was no less determined than in other years.

Fine efforts from Chris Johnston, Scott Nicholas, Jerry Raiter and Mark Spencer, in particular, gave us an unassailable lead in the P.S.A. competition. When Aquinas defeated Wesley the following week it transpired that we had clearly won back the Wilfred Corr Cup that Hale had last won in 1973.

Overall, the team won 104 sets and lost only 16, a percentage of 650.

Outstanding individual performances for the Corr Cup Competition were by John Storey, who did not lose a set throughout, and by Chris Johnstone and Jerry Raiter, both of whom ended with a personal percentage of 300.

Some fine individual performances (calculated on games won and lost by each individual), Nicholas, Spencer, Grist, Storey and Taylor, all ended with a percentage of over 200.

Mention must be made on the 2nd VIII's performances in also completing the season undefeated. The team's top players, Breckler, Young, Dohle and Clapin should all be strong contenders for places in the 1st VIII in 1977.

But for the team's players the season was not over yet.

As usual we had entered teams in the West Australian Lawn Tennis Association State Schoolboys' Teams Championships. After a win over Wesley in a semi-final Hale narrowly defeated a powerful and determined Scotch team, 4 rubbers to 2 in the final and so won the Slazenger Cup, the premier trophy in schoolboy tennis ranks in Western Australia.

Mention must be made again of Mark Spencer's determination and dedication in his singles match. The Hale team was down 1 rubber to 2, Mark Spencer had lost his first set; he changed his game and wore down his opponent to win in three tight sets and then draw the rubbers.

e won both doubles rubbers convincingly and so the coveted cup.

Our 2nd and 3rd senior teams both reached, but lost, the finals of the 1st and 2nd divisions of the Mursell Shield; our 1st year team however, won the 2nd division of the U/15 Herbert Edwards Cup, probably the youngest team ever to do so. Congratulations to Douglas Smith (Captain), Rowan Bigwood, Michael MacDonnell and David Payne for this effort. These efforts have made Hale again, unquestionably, the strongest tennis school in the State.

With five of the 1976 Corr Cup retiring next year and with a stag 'crop' of youngsters coming through, Hale looks set for an outstanding season in 1977.

Rowing

Rowing commenced early in first term with John Davidson and Glen Rogers being named captain and vice captain of rowing respectively. Training began in earnest soon after with a relatively small group of boys attending, but each displayed a fierce determination to row for a crew and there was a lot of competition and changes for seats in the first few weeks. Swimming and injuries also caused many changes in seats which tended to upset crews in the early stages.

Crews were finally settled and crews were entered in regattas with good results being obtained. Meanwhile rowers and coaches spent much of their time in training (six days a week) and also a fourteen mile rowathon was rowed by all crews.

The Hale Regatta was held in overcast and windy conditions a week before the Head of the River. Hale crews adapted to the conditions well and some very good results were obtained.

Head of the River came and after a week of rough weather, conditions were perfect with the river extremely flat. All crews rowed to their maximum ability and some races were very close. The first eight rowed well but were unable to match the powerful Aquinas.

It was unfortunate for the Under 16 VIII that they had to row 500m more than they had trained for. After the regatta a barbeque was held to round off the season and was enjoyed by all.

Thanks must go to the parents who helped the crews throughout the year, the members of staff of the School for their support, to the boys who worked so hard and to the coaches, Mr Cardell-Oliver, Mr Harrison, Mr Durston, Mr G. Gray and Mr Berryman for the time and effort put into training the crews. Mr Foss and Mr Don Wright did a great deal of invaluable work on the boats and the work of Mr Truscott was enormous. His rowing organisation guaranteed a fine season that had its climax on the Rowing Cruise in the evening.

Swimming

This year's Hale School swimming team went into the Inters carnival with the knowledge that they were about to face their toughest competition for the past ten years.

Hale immediately took up the challenge that was issued by Scotch. Hale began by scoring six wins out of the ten freestyle events, including a record breaking swim by Danny Rechichi in the U/16 100 meters freestyle in a time of 58.04 seconds. In spite of this Hale only managed to hold a bare seven point lead over Scotch.

Hale has never been renowned for its breaststroke ability but gained three wins and a number of good placings in these events. This was not enough to hold off the expected burst of point scoring by Scotch and they hit the front to lead Hale by 143 points to 141 points.

In the beginning of the backstroke events the Hale Open and U/16 swimmers made a bid to catch Scotch and with efforts like Danny Rechichi's record swim of 31.16 seconds in the U/16 50 meters backstroke we overhauled Scotch to acquire a lead of eight points. However, this effort failed to extend over the younger age groups and Scotch once again regained first place. The score now being Scotch 211 to Hale 203.

In the butterfly events, Hale tried to keep the pressure on by winning three out of the ten butterfly races. This included a record of 28.79 seconds by Richard Marsh in the Open 50 meters butterfly. This pressure however, was not good enough to hold Scotch and they moved away to increase their winning margin by another thirteen points.

Scotch, now with a lead of/twenty one points seemed assured of victory. At the commencement of the Open 200 meters freestyle, Hale was still prepared to fight on. The result of this was a clean sweep to Hale in both divisions. The gap was now reduced to twelve points but it seemed as though we had left our run too late as Scotch are renowned for their strength in relay racing.

It was at this point that a surge of confidence came over the team and they bonded together with true team spirit to make an eleventh hour bid to regain the cup. In the grandstands the rest of the "Team" who had supported us so well all night, joined in to give the swimmers the little extra they needed. When the U/13 relay team caused an upset with a run-away win in their event, the rest of the team took their example to heart and lifted their performances. Hale then gained momentum and proceeded to win the U/14, U/15 and U/16 freestyle relays with the U/16's winning in a record time of 1 minute 51.23 seconds.

Hale was now thirteen points in the lead. The whole carnival now rested on the last race but the Open team also lifted their performance and swam courageously as the Hale teams before them had done. In the final leg of this race, John Matthews personified the efforts of all of the Hale relay swimmers, as he overhauled the leading Scotch swimmer all the way down the final 50 meters to gain Hale second place in the race. This result finalised the carnival with Hale winning the swimming cup for the tenth year in a row.

A decade of Hale victories. It was a well deserved result and was a tribute to the team spirit and dedication of the Hale swimmers, supporters and coaches, all of whom went together to form a victorious Hale "Team".

Special thanks must be given to Mr Poake, He has coached Hale teams for the past thirteen years and out of those years he has coached Hale to victory eleven times. Thanks also must go to Mr Hoad for assisting Mr Poake throughout the season.

Congratulations must be given to all those involved in the swimming this year for a job extremely well done.

Life Saving

On March 20th the Royal Lifesaving Society held their annual State Championship at Beatty Park.

A four man team consisting of John Matthews, Eero Tarik, Richard Marsh and Danny Rechichi, was entered in the Blue Ribbon Event, the Law Shield. At the start of the eight hundred meter rescue relay race, Hale lay third just behind Wesley and Guildford. For the first six hundred meters Hale fought neck and neck for first place with the other two contenders and finally acquired a two meter lead. With one hundred and fifty meters to go the Guildford and Welsey teams began to tire. The Hale team capitalised on this by applying even more pressure and drew away to finally win by twenty five meters in the fast time of 9 minutes 25.0 seconds. This time was only nine seconds outside the record.

In the past sixty three years that the Law Shield has been contended, Hale has won it thirty-two times, including an eleven year spree from 1923-1934. This record leaves Hale as the most outstanding boys' lifesaving school in the State.

It was unfortunate this year that Hale was not entered in more events, as we were outright favourites to win the State Medley Relay Championship.

I hope that, in the future Hale will enter in more events, and bring home other lifesaving awards and trophies along with the Law Shield.

Rugby

Rugby this year at Hale as slightly different, the difference being the absence of the Rev. Davis who since rugby first started at Hale has been the main driving force. Without him to push rugby there has been a drop in interest and we were unable to field a team in the U/16 competition as we usually do. In training the 1st XV Mr. Pontin took over and did a very good job in coaching the team to the grand final which they lost narrowly 12-9 to Scotch.

Hale has had much success in the past with rugby and if one were to look at the teams we field it is easily seen why it is so. It does not come from teams fielded in the senior school but from the junior school. We have two U/12 teams and U/10 team. In this department we must thank Mr Heibner who organized the junior school teams' training and arranged transport for them.

It is this sort of dedication to rugby which gets the younger boys interested in the game and gives them the experience to produce the 1st XV of later years.

Hale School contributes a lot to W.A. rugby. Four members of the 1st XV were selected in the State Schoolboys' Rugby side. But it does not end there. The Old Boys from Hale have made an impression with two being selected to play in the State Senior Side and three playing in the State Colts.

With this background Rugby at Hale will continue to grow from strength to strength.

Football

Hale will remember 1976 sport. Cricket, tennis, swimming and life saving triumphs made it an outstanding first term. Rugby and football believed they could make it our most successful year ever. They nearly did — both teams were undefeated till their respective finals brought double defeat. Certainly the 1st XVIII were a determined team, a group of young men whose skill and unity made them logical winners.

As usual, Interstate was tremendous. On the huge Geelong College ground a brilliant Hale set a Carnival record in obliterating a weakened Scotch Adelaide 38.25 to 2.2. After Geelong had inflicted a similar crushing defeat on Scotch a great final was expected. A more physical Geelong won a hard fought final 10.10 to 7.5 after Hale had had their chances. Injuries to Clarke, Home and Campbell plus the failure of the forwards under typical Victorian pressure, cost us the title. The quality of off the field endeavour was first class. We thank Bob Casey and his Geelong men and especially the Geelong birds, led by Penny, Gina and Heather, who clearly voted Hale the top team.

Over the season none did better than the skilful Geoff Marsh. His ability to win the ball, to control it and use it, made him the team's best player. The fine defensive talents of Tim Gepp and Mike Aitken were further highlights, the latter being the outstanding improver of the season. Then there were the skills of Blackwell and Johnstone on wings, of Sandy Home in ruck, of Ian Campbell (capable of brilliance), of the tenacious rovers Tuckey and O'Meehan, of ball getter Kidner, of the potential of Brett Farmer, of the consistency of Grist, of the infectious youth of Steve Marsh. Their ability was matched by the strong men - the likes of Davidson, Rod Gawned, John Matthews, the three S men, Storey, Spencer and Sutherland. They had the rest made in a teamwork team.

A wonderful weekend at the Marsh property at Wandering wound up '76. The team is most grateful to Mr and Mrs Ted Marsh and also pay tribute to many — Truscott the friendly, to Mr Spencer the prince of timekeepers, to Mr Chadwick for all his support, to our youthful boundaries and to all the parents, especially Mr Gepp for the function on final night, and supporters for their great encouragement.

The team especially appreciates the work of our champion masseur' Jim O'Connoll in treating our injured. In 1965 when Interstate started, Mr Towers and I set out for Adelaide. Now after twelve carnivals, Mr Towers has decided to call it a day. He will miss Interstate but not as much as the Interstate movement will miss his influence. The team thanks him very much for his service to Interstate and Hale Football. My thanks also again go to senior players, and especially to Mark a fine player and inspirer.

Scotch, Hale and Trinity led the way this season. Hale defeated all sides easily in the qualifying rounds, having the most difficulty with Aguinas and playing extremely well against Scotch, Trinity and Guildford, Scotch annihilated Trinity in the last fixture, but a week later their loss in the semi-final against the same team on a waterlogged ground, meant it was Hale versus Trinity for the Cup.

And what of that final? Trinity won the game (if such it could be called) and the Cup. We congratulate them on their success, on adapting to the water, and on possessing the best on the ground Geoff Hendricks. Their discipline was better, they were well practised on their water polo surface, they kicked straighter and longer and they had a gutsier side. It has been claimed Hale and Scotch were the best sides of the season, that the final should have been transferred to Manning (as it was in 1974, when the School ground was certainly no worse than this year) and that Trinity had an unfair advantage. There is some truth in these claims. The game was farcical but it was played and won. For Hale it was heartbreaking, and yet we can learn from it. We tried and fought, but our 'talent' faded, we did not commit the body enough and lacked the system needed to kick goals. Wins against all schools, against the Old Boys again, and the State Schoolboys' seemed to matter little in the end. And yet it was a character team, a feeling, skilful team that trained well, played sylishly and deserved victory. I thank a great group for their fine season and wish all of them the very best for the future, wherever it may be.

FIRST XVIII RESULTS

V SCOTCH AT HALE 12th June.

In a high standard game, both teams did well. An even Hale team had pace and teamwork and led throughout. Kidner was an outstanding defender, the flow on game of the team allowed the forward talents of Blackwell, Campbell, Marsh and Johnstone to dominate. A great victory! SCORE: HALE 13.6 defeated Scotch 8.11.

GOALS: Campbell 4, Marsh 3, Spencer 2, Farmer 2, Johnstone 1, Clarke 1.

BEST: Kidner, Blackwell, Campbell, Farmer, Aitken,

V WESLEY AT WELSEY 19th June.

After a devastating opening quarter, Hale was matched by a tenacious Wesley. The team's control of the ball and use of handball varied somewhat. Aitken gave notice of a fine season to come; Marsh was established at centre and the youthful O'Meehan made an excellent debut. SCORE: HALE 17.11 defeated Wesley 10.7.

GOALS: Farmer 5, Marsh 3, Johnstone 3, O'Meehan

BEST: Aitken, O'Meehan, Blackwell, Marsh, Farmer,

V CHRIST CHURCH AT CHRIST CHURCH 26th June. Christ Church played with determination. After half time, though, Hale's talented forwards controlled the ball, Marsh took command, Farmer's handball opened up the game and the team combined well to win comfortably, SCORE: HALE 10.16 defeated Christ Church 6.11. GOALS: Home 3, Tuckey 2, Davidson 2, Marsh, Grist Matthews.

BEST: Marsh Kidner, Johnstone, Home, Aitken,

V TRINITY AT HALE 10th July.

Hale produced top form in outplaying Trinity. The spirited team talent swept aside a fast moving Trinity team. Tim Gepp's masterly displayed at halfback, along with that of Aitken and others, guaranteed the forwards plenty of the ball. They did the rest.

SCORE: HALE 11.9 defeated Trinity 7.10.

GOALS: Home 5, Harris, Campbell 2, Marsh 1, Matthews 1.

BEST: Gepp, Aitken, Marsh, Home, Blackwell, Harris.

V GUILDFORD AT HALE 17th July.

Unbeaten Hale continued on. Unselfish team football based on power and system left Guildford floundering. In the second term the "machine" fired and forwards and backs combined effortessly to record a 21 goal win. After five games, Hale was two ahead of both Scotch and Trinity.

SCORE: HALE 22.21 defeated Guildford 4.3.
GOALS: Home 5, Aitken 3, Matthews 3, O'Meehan 2, Marsh 2, Foulkes 2, Sutherland 2, Campbell, Payne, Harris.
BEST:Marsh, Home, Spencer, Aitken, Johnstone, Gepp.

V AQUINAS AT AQUINAS 24th July.

On a breezy day Aquinas played with great enthusiasm to be nine points ahead at half time. The light blues struck form in the third quarter and won fairly easily. The defenders were again an impressive unit and kept a busy Aquinas at bay in the final quarter.

SCORE: HALE 9.12 defeated Aguinas 6.12.

GOALS: Home 3, Marsh 2, Farmer 2, Johnstone 1. O'Meehan 1.

REST: Gepp, Johnstone, Kidner, Marsh, Aitken, Campbell.

FINAL V TRINITY AT TRINITY 14th August.

Hale learned that the season doesn't make the game. but that the ONE game makes the season. A superb Geoff Hendricks, the skilful Trinity rovers and the courageous Mike Aitken singled themselves out as unusual footballers, literally able to play in any conditions, even atrocious. We turned our backs on the Cup, we turned our backs on a dream.

SCORE: Trinity 8,2 defeated Hale 4.13.

GOALS: Marsh 2, Aitken 2, BEST: Aitken, Blackwell, O'Meehan.

Hockey

After a reasonable pre-season buildup, we began the P.S.A. season with optimistic hopes and much enthusiasm. Early losses to Scotch and Christ Church by the odd goal and substantial defeats at the hands of Wesley and Trinity lowered morale somewhat and in the Guildford game rested our only real remaining chance of success. A slightly rearranged Hale side crushed Guildford 5 — 1, this victory being the high point of the season. The remainder of the season was most disappointing, going down to Aquinas by a mammoth margin and lowering our colours in the finals to Guildford of all sides. This left us seventh in the P.S.A. competition.

During the year, the side was a happy unit who possibly lacked the necessary 70 minute determination and effort for success at first eleven level. The coaches thanks go to the captain and vice-captain, Peter Orriss and Nick Burges, for their efforts and to the considerable number of staff who lent their assistance during the term.

Squash

Hale squash took a turn for the better this year with much enthusiasm being shown for the sport. Junior teams were fielded in various competitions.

The Senior team, the Hale venturers, comprising D. Alderson, G. Gulh (Captain), R. Harrison and M. Micucci, played well throughout the season. A creditable fourth position was eventually achieved in their competition.

The Hale "Squash Trotters" began the season well, but because of key players away at Wittenoom, fifth position could only be achieved in their competition. The team included D. Breckler (Captain), H. Chrystal, R. Turrell and J. Raiter.

The U/16 Hale Blues consisted of D. Luketina (Captain), G. Wolfe, M. Scales, M. Rigo, M. Kent, P. Silbert and C. Matson. After a slow start we improved gradually, had several good wins and finished in fourth position.

The U/15 Hale Cygnets of M. Garland (Captain) G. Marinko, S. Lill and C. Allan successfully beat other schools in their competition but the club teams were too strong, resulting in a final position well out of the final four.

A further U/15 team the Hale Gremlins also competed. The team consisted of P. Galvin (Captain), P. Williams, G. Barrymore and A. Nye. They had a good season considering they were the youngest side in their competition.

All competitions enjoyed the season and Hale Squash now has a strong following. Thanks must go to Mr Edgar for his efficient arrangement of teams and fixtures.

The Sports Council is to be thanked for awarding symbols to members of the senior team. This should prove to be a major impetus for the sport. This sort of encouragement should see more support for Hale squash and even more players are expected next season.

D.A.A.

Congratulations are extended to Geoff Guhl on being awarded the Dean Williams Perpetual Trophy for the person contributing most to Hale School Squash in 1976.

Symbols awarded to: D.A. Alderson, G.B. Guhl, G.E. Harrison, M.I. Micucci.

Athletics

1976 perhaps, was the start of a changing era for Hale Athletics, with the introduction of specialist coaches from outside the School taking a greater part in the preparation of our team. The tremendous enthusiasm and expertees displayed by Peter Williamson (Sprints), Dave James (Hurdles), Matthew Baber (Shotput) and Don Pritchard (High Jump) was encouraging to all and greatly appreciated. With the competition between all schools being extremely close, it is vital that even greater involvement from specialists contribe if we are to avoid the 'wooden spoon' next year.

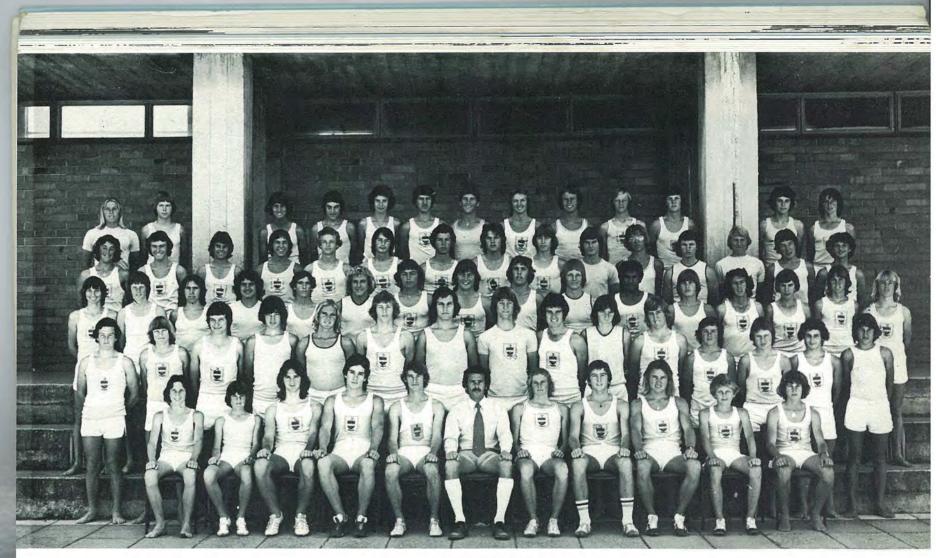

Inters day was the most exciting in years, with Aquinas defeating Trinity in the last event of the day to maintain their tremendous record Not only was the struggle for first place exciting but the other five schools fought tooth and nail throughout the day and our final position of fifth was a creditable performance. It was a long wait before Hale recorded its only first division win of the day, when G.D. Rogers was successful with a new school record of 14.60m. I.A. Campbell made this our best event for the day with an easy victory in the second division. Others to win second division events were: B.F. Clarke (open 100 metres, and 200 metres), P.D. Orriss (Open 800 metres), G.C. Harris (Under 17 Long Jump, C. Seed (Open 3000 metres) and J. Thew, (Under 16 Long Jump). Although winners were hard to find we had many athletes who gave good efforts - none better than G.C. Harris with a fine second in the Under 17 Hurdles First Division.

The sprinters gave a solid performance throughout the day and particularly G.L. Jeffries and G.L. Kennedy in the Under 14 age group and then combining with M.A.F. McDonnel and P. Techman to run second in the Relay. Other sprinters who performed well were S.E. Marsh (Under 16) and captain P.G. Lilburne.

In the middle distance events where the competition was of high standard we received good support from E. Tarik (Open 1500 metres) E.J. Hill and N.D. Saggers (Under 17 1500 metres), C.D. Foulkes (Under 15 800 metres) and D.J. Roberts (Under 15 1500 metres).

Good contribution in the field events were from shotput, G.J. Mengler, high jump, J.M. Storey, B.C. Fullarton. J.A. Morrison, and long jump, A.W. Plume and P. Tejchman.

Overall the season was once again enjoyable with many people contributing to its success and it is to all who make it so that appreciation is expressed.

Old Boys Report

COMMITTEE

The monthly Committee Meetings held in the Old Boys' Room at the School on the fourth Tuesday of each month, have been well attended. I would like to thank Dr Tregonning for his attendance at our meetings. His Reports have kept the Committee well up with the School's activities. There is a lot of hard work done by the Sub-Committees in between the regular monthly meetings. These Sub-Committees have performed their allotted tasks with enthusiasm and efficiency.

FINANCE

Thanks to the help of the Investment Committee our Life Membership Funds have been invested at the best rate of interest available. These and our general funds are in the very capable hands of our treasurer Michael Atkins.

MEMBERSHIP

It is pleasing to see quite a few annual members transferring to Life Membership, thanks to the sterling efforts of Dr Tregonning a greater number of boys leaving school are joining the Association as Life Members.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

John Ewing and John Barrymore and the boys of the Social Committee have been busy during the year. The Australian Beer Night at Royal King's Park Tennis Club on Friday 11th June was a great night, but unfortunately was not as well attended as it should have been even though it had a great deal of publicity in the Old Haleian which was out in plenty of time to enable people to get their parties together. The Art Competition was a great feature of the night. The Committee had the Senior Art Class submit posters depicting their idea of what an Australian Beer Night should look like. Their entries were excellent and final judging very close.

Boat Race Day on Saturday 10th April, the Association hired the Dauntless. This was well attended but, unfortunately, was marred by people throwing flour bombs at all and sundry. An Annual Dinner had, after a lapse of several years, been put on the list of social events, but unfortunately had to be dropped as a suitable date could not be confirmed.

The Winter Sports' Day on July 4th was well attended. Those who participated in the Hockey, Rugby and Football matches against the School teams had a marvellous time as also had the enthusiastic spectator supporters of both teams.

The Annual Country Dinner is due to be held at Pinjarra on the 9th October. A lot of hard work has been put in by both the sub-committees and the boys at Pinjarra.

THE OLD HALEIAN

I have endeavoured while continuing in the position of Editor and as President to make the magazine as informative as possible, but at times it has been hard as I have had little to put in it. I would like to thank Trevor O'Keefe for the high standard of the publication and for the assistance he has rendered me over the last four years, and Dr Tregonning and Alistair McMillan for their regular and informature articles.

Old Boys' Day and the Annual General Meeting were held at the School, 29th September 1976 and was again a great success with Old Boys of all ages in attendance. Members of last year's committee were in attendance early and organized the tables, name tags, and attendance cards. Tim Hantke was elected President, John Gregson, Vice-President, Maurie Chiswell, Secretary and Michael Atkins, Treasurer.

We had one of our best ever attendances by Old Boys, after the Roll Call and Annual General Meeting everyone adjourned down to the marquee down by the pool where Bob Gregson and his helpers had been working enthusiastically all morning to provide the excellent luncheon which was enjoyed by one and all. A vote of thanks was passed on to Bob and his helpers for their great work.

I would like to thank the past Presidents for their attendance at the monthly Committee meeting. Their attendance is not only encouraging to the Committee, as they are able to pass on the benefit of their experience, but it is also very pleasant to be able to keep in contact with these Old Boys who have been active in the affairs of the Association in previous years.

In conclusion I would like to thank all members of the Committee and especially our hard working secretary Maurie Chiswell for their support during the past year and the willing manner in which they performed their duties. I have been grateful for the opportunity to serve my term as President and I look forward to a continuing association with the Committee.

J.B. COX President
