1989. What a year it has been.

For Australia it was again year one, the first year after the highly publicised and much celebrated bicentenary, the beginning of yet another century of Australian culture and economic development.

3500 km westward from the diplomatic centre of our nation, on the peak of Hale Road, lies Hale School, overlooking the ocean to the west and the city of Perth to the east. The year is 1989, but for many who have only recently become involved with our school, it would seem to be year 0001.

As everyone around Perth knows, 1988 saw the retirement of Dr Tregonning, the end of another great chapter in the history of Hale School. Coming back after the summer holidays early this year we were met by Mr Inverarity, the newly appointed headmaster, who had recently returned from England. With him comes a new decade, and hopefully his stint at Hale will continue well into the next century.

Mr Inverarity's influence is keenly felt by all boys, and everyone appreciates his genuine interest in everything and everyone as he moves around the school grounds, here giving a short cricket lesson, there encouraging good sportmanship. Mr Inverarity's great reputation in sport may have led some individuals to think that whilst Hale's sporting activities would flourish, the academic aspect may suffer. However, the Headmaster has shown that his qualities in the classroom well equal those on the sporting field.

Hale School is renowned for its sporting and academic achievements and in recent years it has continued to excel in both areas with the change of helmsman this has not changed in the least. In fact, Mr Inverarity has provided an important link between sport and academic education and encourages comradeship and fair play in all areas, an aspect which is of great importance and remains one of the aims of this institution.

With the new headmaster came a new outdoor adventure programme. To maintain this activity for all Year 11 students after the decision had been made by the Board of Governors not to return to Wittenoom a new area in the peninsula of Exmouth was selected. Here, all 1989 Year 11 boys were treated to the inaugural North West Cape Programme, a fantastic 12-day stint in Learmonth. During these two weeks a variety of outdoor activities were run. From bush walking, camping, canoeing to abseiling and caving, this camp, expertly organised by "Adventure Out", enabled the participants to experience life to its fullest in the northern landscape.

Right from the word go, during the 1500 km bus trip up to Learmonth, students and teachers of differing backgrounds were mixed together and had to 'stick together' for the remainder of the camp in a region unfamiliar to everyone. This resulted in not only new friends being made among peers, but also boys and teachers being brought face to face with each other in an environment new and strange to both. The outcome of this confrontation is a 'special' friendship where each has learned to value the other as an individual. Whether it resulted from the combined navigational efforts during the outings or the relaxed evenings around the camp fire, the comradeship and spirit amongst all was tremendous. Happily this spirit has continued and I hope will remain with us all for the rest of our time at Hale.

Mr Inverarity, in his first year at the reins of such a renowned school as Hale, has started off in the manner in which Doc Tregonning finished — with sheer determination to succeed in his efforts to secure Hale School's position as premier school and with a genuine interest in the school and the welfare of its students. Today's society is a society where problems being solved with money and evasiveness are often the norm. However, Mr Inverarity has shown the commitment which he so often presented on the cricket pitch and the commitment which is required to keep up the standard of all-round performances, tolerance towards others, fair play and pursuit of academic worth. Commitment to curricular and co-curricular life flourishes at Hale.

As cricket followers used to chant during the late 70's, "let's go, in'forever'rarity". May Hale continue to prosper under your leadership.

School Captain's Report

The end of the 1989 school year is drawing closer. Within another hour the year twelves of Hale as well as some others will be saying their last goodbyes to a fine institution. Tonight is the end of the first part of our education. It is now our responsibility to make full use of the opportunities so far given to us at this school. From a personal view, my time spent at Hale has been one of the most rewarding periods of my life. The knowledge and experience as well as the many valued friendships which have been made will be treasured by us all for ever.

This year saw the changing of the guard at Hale school, that being a change in Headmasters. After a distinguished 22 years at the helm of Hale, Doctor Tregonning gracefully retired at the end of 1988 bringing to a close an era in Hale's history. Immediately, our newly appointed Headmaster, Mr John Inverarity took the reins and set about establishing himself in the Hale community. His ability to communicate with people both young and old amongst many other attributes has helped him make a wonderful debut. So far Mr Inverarity you have 'batted' superbly and set the foundations for what I have no doubt in saying, will be a very successful innings.

Hale is an educational institution but our efforts are not limited to academic pursuits. Through various sports, students and staff alike are able to combine their talents.

The 1st V Basketball team led by Clive Pickford showed a great deal of determination to go through the season undefeated. The facilities of the new gymnasium meant that the teams skills could be used to their full potential. Congratulations on bringing home Hale's sixth successive Blackwood Cup. Special mention must be made of Elliott Bruton who was awarded honours for three years of dedicated service and brilliant play in the Hale 1st V, a fine achievement.

The 1st XI Cricketers led by Mark Foster had a somewhat mixed season. They finished in second position behind Wesley. Four batsmen scored in excess of 200 runs each. Mark Foster, Adam Mallabone, Paul Major and Jason Norrish. Norrish scored 376 runs at an average of 125 for Darlot. The last person to perform this well at Hale was Geoff Marsh the current Australian Cricketer.

The 1st VIII Tennis team had a relatively good year to finish equal second. The side showed great determination and won 4 out of 6 matches. Jason Marinko led the team as both captain and top seed.

The Rowers performed well and in the lead up regattas they showed a lot of promise for the final race, the Head of the River. Captained and stroked by Michael Roe they rowed well to finish third, just a bow ball behind Scotch.

Staying on water sports the swimming team, captained by Stuart Blackwell performed well at the Inters to be placed 3rd. They trained with a lot of enthusiasm and this showed through in all of the other meets and especially in the fiercely contested school championships. With some top swimmers in the younger age groups Hale swimming looks promising for future years.

The Hale 1st XVIII captained by Dale Warren had a very hard fought and eventually successful season. Considering that in year 8 this side only won one game this success was remarkable and only brought about by sheer hard work and dedication. We managed to share the Alcock Cup with Aquinas and Scotch in a unique three way tie.

With the new Baspo Grasse Hockey field the Hale 1st XI started the season with a great deal of enthusiasm. Led by Stuart Blackwell the team fought hard and came 5th in their competition. With this new facility the skill level at all age groups is destined to improve considerably.

Rugby at Hale has suffered in recent times due to a lack of numbers but all teams put up spirited performances especially the 1st XV led by Andrew Jones.

The big improvers in the past few years have been the Cross Country side. This year saw many gallant runs by the team and they were eventually placed second by one point to Christ Church. With many of the top runners being in the younger years I think that Hale can look forward to winning their first ever Cross Country Cup in the near future.

Soccer, since its inception as an official P.S.A. sport in 1987 has quietly grown in stature at Hale. This year saw our team transferred from 2nd division into 1st division after some fine performances in the first few rounds. Although the initial change was difficult the team got better and better and hopefully the team will go from strength to strength in the future years.

Although Squash isn't an official P.S.A. sport Hale does enter teams into the state school competition and we have always been strong. This year was no exception with both the U/16 and U/18 sides reaching the grand finals. The younger side lost their final but the senior team narrowly beat Christ Church to win the state title. Having the facilities of the 4 new squash courts has certainly led to improved standards at school.

This year it was decided by the P.S.A. to hold the Interschool Athletics in third term. With this in mind training was intense with meets being organised for each Saturday leading up to the big event. All these competitions assured that an enjoyable athletics season was had by all. Many Stow Awards were achieved and some records were broken. At Perry Lakes Hale finished 4th. The team was well led by the open age group with the highlight of the day being the win of the relay team, which included the captains of athletics Jason Norrish and Paul Leuba as well as Dale Warren and David Booth. The team must be commended for its endeavour and commitment in such a short season.

Although the top school teams get most of the attention it is in the house sport competition where the true spirit of sport at Hale comes out. Every Wednesday afternoon boys of all age groups compete in a wide variety of sport from T.Ball to Volleyball. Due to intense house rivalry a healthy competitive spirit is never lacking. This year Parry House was a dominating force, not only winning the football and athletics but also they took the Cock House Cup.

There are many extra curricula activities which the boys at Hale are able to be involved in. These include such past times as drama, debating and chess.

This years school play, "Fleance — A Classic Coincidence", was yet another play written and produced by Mr Jeff Hopkins and (as is now expected from drama at Hale) was one full of both class and professional performances. Rehearsals were conducted with enthusiasm especially when we had to compete with a stray cat thrown up from the band pit. With all age groups involved, the play draws together a wide cross section of the Hale family.

Another indoor activity undertaken at Hale is that of chess. With the likes of Jason Field (an Australian representative) and Frank Tenji leading the Hale Chess sides they had a successful year. Their stature showed through in first term when they won the state Allegro title.

Debating, certainly an asset in later life, is always well supported at Hale. With a large participation from all years it is very competitive. Two teams reached grand finals and many others performed well.

Adam Pinto's superb skill on the piano resulted in his winning the Garland Music Prize for the second successive year. Another Hale achiever was Andrew Benness who gained 1st Prize in the I.B.M. competition for mathematics. Well done!

As usual Hale had boys involved with several charities, collecting for the Red Cross and The Salvation Army and this year saw the inception of the mobile Red Cross Blood Clinic coming to the school. All these activities are important as it involves boys in the wider community.

This year saw the year 11 outdoor program move to Exmouth. Here boys were involved in many different activities ranging from abseiling to caving. From the reports that I have heard this looks like becoming a very successful venture for Hale.

The social event of the year, the Prefects' Ball, was held on the 19th August and was a great success. There is a lot of organisation that goes into a night like this and there are numerous people who need to be thanked. Without the tireless efforts of Steve Varty and his kitchen staff, Mrs Hawkins and the rest of the Prefects' mothers and fathers and Mac, the night would not have gone ahead, I thank them all.

In passing I would like to make a comment on the boarding situation at Hale. I have been a boarder for five years and I have seen a marked improvement not only in the facilities but also in the cohesion between the boys of different ages. No longer is there a large gap in communication between such age groups as year 8 with year 12. The atmosphere created in boarding is a very inviting one, and hopefully with this in mind numbers will gradually grow to full capacity.

With the last paragraph I bring to a close my summary of the major events this year. A year at Hale for a young Halian is one full of activities and enjoyment and there is a long list of people that need to be thanked for their efforts in creating this enjoyment. At the risk of omitting someone, people such as the teachers, the office staff and the groundsmen must be commended and thanked for their involvement with the school in 1989.

Thanks to all the staff especially Mr Shearer (Director of Studies) whose tireless efforts in organising the school's curricula is ever so important. Also to Mr MacMillan, (Mac), as he is commonly known, not only for his job as Deputy but also as coach of 1st XVIII. Last but not least is Mr Inverarity our new Headmaster, he has settled in well and we thank you for your expertise and wisdom and the best of luck in the future.

Not only are the senior boys leaving but two staff members also. Mr Kelley is leaving us to teach in England and Mr Welsh for Tasmania. We wish them luck in greener pastures.

With these thank yous in mind I will bring to a close my resume of Hale's academic year of 1989. I feel, knowing the young men that will be attending the school in 1990, that next year will be just as fulfilling. So farewell and thank you Hale School for everything and I wish you the best of luck for the many years to come.

A. Webster
Captain of the School.

1989 Valedictory Speech

Today sees the end of the careers of 106 of us here at Hale School. For some it's their twelfth year such as Stuart Blackwell and Frank Tenji and for others it's their first. However, a majority of us came together in first term, 1985. This marked the start of many careers at Hale, both distinguished and less distinguished.

Only 18 of us have boarded for the full 5 years at Hale although many others have experienced the joys of boarding life. These joys include getting up for a run or a swim at 6.30 a.m. and also enduring a Chapel Service instead of watching a good movie on Sunday evenings. This big change to homelife was taken by some far better than others. Depleted numbers haven't seen a loss of spirit as shown on House Athletics days! However the revamping of the boarding houses has seen a few changes. Gone are the days of dorm raids and pillow fights between the years but it still provides a good home away from home.

A lot of progress has been made within our year since that day in '85. Who would have thought the likes of David Booth and Dale Warren could both win on Athletics day. Who thought Phil Watson initially in '84 would reach the academic heights he has. Generally as a year, we have been able to improve through the years in most fields and with a few minor additions such as Paul Leuba and Jason Norrish, achieve high levels in both sporting and scholastic areas. These are typified by our winning of the Basketball and Football Cups in arguably the top competition for school boys in Perth.

Hale's Dramatic Society has given many of us a chance to reveal our hidden talents throughout the five years. The likes of Nick Miller, Matt Gebbie and Tim Allan come to mind as people whose roles in many cases fitted their characters. Being involved in four productions myself, I can safely say that they are both very educational and rewarding. Drama together with Debating, Public Speaking and Chess have given our year options other than sport to be involved in at Hale.

Many faces disappeared following the Junior in Year 10 and the start of Year 11 saw many new faces appearing. It also saw us embark on a two week outdoor adventure to Wittenoom. Any remaining divisions between "Daygos" and boarders were broken and friendships involving both students and staff were strengthened. It can be seen as one of the highlights of our time at Hale with an attack by 'Aborigines' of doubtful ancestry and a few extraordinary jumping feats standing out.

Other extra curricular activities included dancing classes with St Mary's in years 9 and 10. Many of us had hopes of finding a few attractive friends only to be let down on discovering that the two nice ones were already taken, firstly by Lincoln Dye, then by Jason Marinko. Despite this we all managed to find partners to attend the annual dances in years 10, 11 and 12.

Many physical changes have occurred around the school. These include the building of the long awaited Gymnasium, a synthetic Hockey field and the converting of the boarding houses from dorms to cubicles. The arrival and departure of teachers has also continued but to name them isn't necessary as they know who they are. The obvious exception being the appointment of Mr Inverarity as Headmaster to replace the now retired Doctor Tregonning. He has done a very impressive job in his first year at Hale and we wish him well in those to follow. Perhaps Mr Mayne, our very own Merv Hughes should also be mentioned since he missed out last year! Others that are set to move on to other things are the slightly balding Mr Welsh and Faulkner House's Mr Kelley. We wish them the best of luck!

I'm sure we would all like to thank the staff for helping us along the path to TEE success. Who'll forget Mr Smith's Geography exams or Mr Simpson's Accounting periods. Perhaps they too should thank all of us for being so eager to learn and for being dedicated to our work throughout our years at Hale. (I'm sure Mr Lock will support his History students!)

Back at the start of this year both school and house prefects were named together with Adrian Webster as School Captain and the respective house captains. Although these people were specifically chosen it has been up to all the year 12's to show leadership. We have all managed to do this in some way being well led by Adrian and the other prefects. Before finishing I would like to wish my fellow year 12's the best of luck in their TEE and also success in any future endeavours. There are sure to be many budding Doctors, Lawyers, Engineers, Plumbers or Farmers here today. Saying goodbye to this truly fine institution may be easy for some but difficult for many others. The security and good times it has provided will be missed in years to come. The friendships made during our years together at Hale should be maintained as should contact with the school. The memories will remain in our own minds even if in five years time, few at Hale will remember who any of us were or what we did.

I'm looking forward to my first Old Boys Day so I'm going to use the French "Au Revoir" which means goodbye till we meet again. But then perhaps the Australian expression is even more appropriate: "Thanks and I'll see you all later".

Headmaster's Report, Hale School, 1989.

Your Grace, Chairman, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen. It is with pleasure and a profound sense of being part of a long and great tradition that I deliver my first Headmaster's Annual Report of Hale School in its 132nd year.

I wish to begin by saying how pleased and privileged I feel to have joined this fine School in this capacity. I have found the School to be in excellent heart and wish to record my recognition and deepest appreciation of the outstanding efforts and achievements of my predecessor, Dr Tregonning. Further, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the entire Hale community, the Chairman and his Board, the Staff, both teaching and non teaching, the parents, the Old Boys and the boys for the welcome and friendliness that has been extended to me and to my family.

In this very exciting and rapidly changing world where all too little remains stable, schools are being expected more and more to be cores of consistency and centres of support and community. Independent schools such as Hale are well able to meet these challenges for it is essentially along the lines of what they have been doing for scores of years and doing very well. The sense of identity, of belonging, of there being a set of values and a developed presence of the spiritual have always been prominent in the independent school ethos but one can now detect a heightened search and demand for these things.

We are becoming ever more aware of the swelling of support for the proposed new Roman Catholic University in Fremantle; Notre Dame, Australia. It is all about scholarship within a moral, a well defined set of values framework; a Christian framework. It will teach the law and business and it will link it to ethics.

What we teach is of crucial importance, not only the facts, the content, but more especially the thinking skills and the intellectual development that takes place with the grappling with this content. It is, however, the attitudes that are acquired and the all round personal growth that takes place that is of the greatest importance. It is the context within which the School's prime function of teaching the content of academic subjects takes place that provides us with our most demanding challenge.

Treat students firmly and fairly, with justice and respect, and, with time, they will learn all about justice and respect. Treat them with love and care within a set of values and a lively spiritual environment and they will be inclined to learn to love and operate with good judgement and well based integrity. There is an obligation for our schools to justify their ethos and nature by their products. If we make claims to "educate the whole person" then our boys must rise above cleverness to wisdom, above good nature to courtesy, above athleticism to sportsmanship, must go beyond ockerism to sensibility and beyond a code of manliness to a set of values, a balance and depth of understanding arrived at through genuine spiritual and moral activity and exploration.

Today we are witnessing a disenchantment with the shallowness, the rootlessness, of many of the attitudes and associations people have. There is a searching for something more substantial and independent schools are well placed to respond and we need to respond to this exciting challenge.

Mr Richard Pengeley is to become the Chaplain of Hale School next year. He is a fine Christian man who has a natural rapport with the boys and with his energy and commitment we look forward to him doing profound and exciting work in his new role. We offer him our prayers and every support.

There are great challenges in curriculum development, too. Hale is strongly committed to the benefits of a true liberal education whilst fully appreciating that students, with their wide range of abilities, have differing needs. The Australian economy is in a great deal of trouble at the moment and changed attitudes and skills are desperately needed. Too few of our most able young people are going into science, engineering and technology and we give insufficient recognition to the fact that our economic future lies very much with the brain economy; with research, innovation and development.

The great challenge for our schools is to develop the minds of our students within a context that will well serve the needs of Australia. There is much to be argued for the careful integration of the elements of a traditional liberal education with the initiative developing aspects of invention and design in a setting of high technology. In the 1990s our students need to be stretched in the principal disciplines of English Literature, Mathematics, Science and History and be exposed to and fascinated by the process of conceptualizing, planning, designing, constructing, making operational and evaluating within a high technology setting. It would be exciting if Hale School could take a lead here and give the chance to all of its boys to be fascinated by and drawn to the challenging world of design, engineering and manufacturing. Our great hope is to have a major Craft, Design and Technology facility within a couple of years and take a lead in education in Australia in this way. A great deal of expertise and financial support will be required for this.

A school's most precious asset is its teaching staff and in this respect Hale School is richly blessed. I am grateful, indeed, for the tremendous efforts of the staff and the great support they have given me as I have searched to come to know Hale School. I thank them all; The Deputy Headmaster, Mr Macmillan, for his extraordinary devotion to Hale School and his outstanding organisation of the School; the Director of Studies, Mr Shearer, for his clarity of thought and decisive judgement; the Housemasters for the expert and cheerful manner in which they shoulder the pastoral care load of the School; the Heads of Departments for their academic leadership which results in the classrooms of Hale School being so well ordered and effective; the Sportsmaster, Mr Chadwick, for making the sporting side of the School blend so well and effectively with the overall fabric that is Hale School; and the many Assistant masters who bear their loads so willingly and well. The staff work professionally, with a good sense of humour and they relate extremely well with the boys. Fortunate boys, and I salute their teachers.

Even though this occasion is the Senior School Speech Night and the Junior School had their own separate Speech Night earlier this week I wish to make a special reference to the Junior School. It has been a year of excitement and development in the Junior School and I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to Mr Holmes for the outstanding manner in which he discharged his duties as Acting Master-in-Charge during the First Semester, to Mr Weston for the energy and initiative he has shown since becoming Master-in-Charge last July, and to the entire Junior School staff for making 1989 such an excellent year. During the year we said goodbye to Mrs Hills, Mr White and Mr Cornwell, (and now Mrs Brayshaw), thanked them for their outstanding contributions and welcomed Mrs Farris, Mr Peirce and Mr Tremayne.

In the Senior School we farewelled Mr Staines and Mr Mumme during the year and tonight we farewell the Reverend Bryan Eccleston, Mr Roy Kelley and Mr Paul Welsh. The Reverend Eccleston retired from Guildford Grammar School at the end of 1987 and was good enough to come to Hale in an interim position for these two years. Sadly, he has not enjoyed the best of health for the second half of the year but he is a fine Christian gentleman and his contribution to Hale School has been far greater than he would imagine. Personally, I have valued his wise and patient counsel enormously and I shall miss him a great deal. We wish him health and happiness in his retirement. Mr Kelley is to leave us to go to Sherbourne School, Dorset, England which is an English Public School of the first order. It is a wonderful opportunity for him and his family and one fitting of an outstanding young schoolmaster. He has shown extraordinary maturity and judgement as Housemaster of Faulkner House and we hope that one day he might be able to return to us here at Hale. Mr Welsh is to go to Scotch Oakburn in Tasmania as their Head of Science. They have chosen wisely for he is a fine teacher and all round schoolmaster and we shall miss him greatly. Madame Margot has been with us for the last three terms replacing Mr Wapnah who has been on leave. She has taught well and added much to our Common Room and we thank her for her contribution.

I cannot let this opportunity pass, without expressing my thanks and appreciation to the Bursar, Mr Hatch, the Maintenance Foreman, Mr Truman, the Head Groundsman, Mr Moor. The Chef, Mr Varty and their staffs and my secretary Mrs Rosendale for their help and my acknowledgement to them all of the fine jobs they have done. Further, I wish to record my most sincere appreciation of the Parents and Friends and the Ladies Auxiliary for the enormous support they have given Hale School in 1989.

The School continues to perform very well academically. 97 of the 123 students who sat the Tertiary Entrance Exams at the end of 1988 qualified for tertiary studies and 82 enrolled. Twenty four students gained a tertiary entrance aggregate in excess of 400. All of this reflects splendidly upon the teaching within the School and the manner in which the boys respond to it.

Early this year the Board of Governors sought expert opinion on the advisability of continuing to use Wittenoom or an adjacent area as a base for the Year Eleven outdoor programme. We were advised that whilst there was negligible danger of asbestos related diseases affecting any of our past or future participants in the programme it would be wise, in view of the current legal climate, to move well away from Wittenoom. The decision was made not to return to the spectacular country of the Hamersley Ranges which has a very special place in the memories of the many hundreds of Hale boys who have been there over the past nineteen years, and it was very sad that this was necessary. The programme was relocated to the Learmonth RAAF base near Exmouth and I am very pleased to be able to report that the venture proved to be a resounding success in all respects. It is our intention to return there again in 1990. and succeeding years. My grateful thanks go to Mr Gray and Mr Heibner for their willingness and ability to change and adapt at such very short notice.

This year saw the introduction of Parent/Teacher evenings. Evenings were held for parents of Year Eight, Nine and Ten students and fruitful interaction which could only assist the educational process was the judgement of parents and teachers. A more comprehensive programme in this area is planned for next and succeeding years.

1989 has been a busy and an excellent year for Hale School. There has been much lively teaching and learning and much development and personal growth. I wish to pay tribute to the young men who are now leaving Hale. As a group they have made a fine contribution to their school. Adrian Webster has been outstanding as School Captain. A natural leader he has led by example and his integrity has matched his physical stature. Mark Foster has been a most able and reliable Deputy and he has complemented Adrian admirably. As a group the Year 12's have provided most commendable models for the younger boys and I wish them all good luck and God's speed as they leave Hale School as young men with their lives full of promise before them.

I wish all gathered here tonight and the entire Hale community a joyful Christmas and a happy and rewarding 1990.

RJI Nov 1989

Interview with the Headmaster

Question: Where were you born?

Answer: I was born in Perth, (in the King Edward Memorial Hospital).

Question: Did you go to primary and secondary school in Perth?

Answer: Yes, I went to North Cottesloe Primary, the one that was partially burnt down recently, and was a student there when Mrs Hills was teaching at the school. I then went to Scotch College for the last three years of primary school and secondary school.

Question: Did you attend university in Western Australia?

Answer: I attended UWA in the early sixties, doing an Arts Degree in Mathematics and a Diploma of Education.

Question: Was it always your ambition to make a career out of teaching?

Answer: Yes it was. During my secondary schooling I saw myself becoming a school master and I never really veered from that course. I thought I would like to combine teaching with some cricket and that is what I did.

Question: So when did you make the decision to concentrate on the profession of teaching in preference to cricket.

Answer: I always saw myself as a teacher who played cricket rather than a cricketer who taught. In fact, I was spared the decision because whilst I played some international cricket and went on three overseas tours, I wasn't selected for any more, and therefore never had the option of making a career out of cricket. It really was a decision I didn't have to face as it was made for me. I stopped playing cricket only four years ago. In March 1985 I was still playing Sheffield Shield cricket for South Australia at the age of 41.

Question: Where did you teach before you came to Hale School as Headmaster?

Answer: My first teaching appointment was at Guildford Grammar School for two years in 1967-1968, although I spent most of 1968 in England with the Australian team. Due to difficulties with replacement teachers I left the independent school system to join the government department and taught at Applecross High School in 1969. I then went to Scotch from 1970-1978. During that time I went to England and taught for 18 months in 1976/1977 at Tonbridge School in Kent. In 1979 I went to Pembroke School in Adelaide as Deputy Head and I was there for 10 years before coming to Hale.

Question: Where else in England did you teach?

Answer: I've actually taught in England twice. Last year I was on an exchange from Pembroke at King's College School in Wimbledon.

Question: What were you thinking when you faced the school for the first in assembly?

Answer: It was an awkward position, having come from a school where I knew all the staff and all the students, to a situation where I looked out at a sea of faces and I knew nobody. It was a little unnerving realising that I was expected to make the decisions and to lead the school, yet I was less informed than anyone else about the school. Nevertheless, I realised that other people had been in a similar situation and coped and knew that I would receive a great deal of help and support from many very able people.

Question: You must have divided loyalties when Hale teams confront Scotch teams on the sports field. Where do your loyalties lie on such occasions?

Answer: I have been asked this question often and I think people exaggerate the issue. Scotch is obviously very dear to me, having both attended and taught at the school. I must admit that in the football season when they first ran out in the maroon jumpers that I used to wear with pride my stomach turned a bit. I don't know any of the Scotch boys now and knowing the Hale boys I feel strongly aligned to them. There is really no doubt where my loyalties lie. However, to me the most important thing is that there are good hard games with high levels of enthusiasm, comradeship and sportsmanship.

Question: What changes have you seen in PSA sport since the time when you once participated and now?

Answer: Things haven't changed a great deal. I've been very impressed with the attitude and the straight forward sport which goes on. Teams still play with great heart and commendable sportsmanship. Good spirit and high skill levels have been a feature of PSA sport for many years.

Question: Do you see any advantages in Hale's education system?

Answer: Yes, I do. I think in some ways standards in education have been eroded over the years. I see them being strongly preserved at Hale and I applaud this preservation of academic standards and rigor. We also have to recognise however, that there are more boys who stay on at school now who are not academically strong and we have to cater well for them too.

Question: Do you think that many of the second and third teams at Hale lack recognition in relation to the first teams?

Answer: The thing that I look for most in sport is effort and attitude. Effort can be just as great in the 'minor' teams as in the first teams and it warms my heart to see tremendous effort from all these teams. However, we have to recognise talent where it exists. It doesn't matter whether it is music or academic or sporting. We seek excellence so we have to try to combine recognition of effort with the recognition of achievement in an absolute sense. I think this balance is something we need to always address and improve upon whenever we can.

Question: What do you see as the aims of an outdoor education programme such as the Exmouth Programme?

Answer: The principal one is that everybody involved has the opportunity to develop in another way and learn more about themselves and their neighbours. In Exmouth there was a challenging situation which you all survived and felt better for it and better about yourselves. Also, often a boy who is neither strong academically nor on the sporting field shows great strength in the outdoor situation. This often gives rise to a nice reversal of roles amongst a group of boys. And, of course, environmental awareness and sensitivity is a major aim, too.

Question: What do you think of the present relationship between boarders and day boys at Hale?

Answer: I think the relationship between all people should be cordial and good. There should be no barriers, especially artificial ones. House spirit and School spirit are very important but these do no need to cut across good relationships between people. All should make an effort to be friendly to all others. Boarders and day boys at Hale are members of the same school and all should make a real effort to get on with others at all times.

Question: Is that one reason for the idea of putting dayboys into the boarding houses such as Faulkner year 8?

Answer: Well, that is one reason, but the other is simply numbers. The number of dayboys is quite high while boarder numbers are relatively low. So if we are going to have meaningful house competitions then the numbers have to be roughly equivalent.

Question: Do you see any future development in language at Hale?

Answer: I think we should offer more languages and I hope increasing numbers of boys will opt for them. We were hoping to have Japanese taught here next year but unfortunately we were not able to find a satisfactory teacher.

Question: Do you see many differences in educational policy between Australian schools and those in England?

Answer: There is a great range of schools in Australia and an even greater range of schools in England. I taught at Tonbridge School and King's College School which are schools with selected entry. Their cleverest boys weren't any cleverer than ours but there was a higher concentration of them and a much reduced cross-section of ability. There was greater emphasis on languages, literature, history and science there with not nearly as much on the commercial side.

Question: Did you find a stronger sense of tradition in the schools of England than those of Australia?

Answer: There is certainly a great deal of tradition in schools such as Tonbridge which is 500 to 600 years old. However, the tradition in these schools forms less of a resisting force than it does in many schools in Australia. I would say that these schools in England are more open to change than schools are in Australia.

Question: What hopes do you have for Hale? Have you any personal aims you wish to achieve through Hale school?

Answer: Hale is a very fine school and I want it to remain that way. Any Headmaster of a school wants to see the school keep on improving and I want to see groups of boys continue to enter the school and grow and flourish having been challenged and extended by the school. I want this to be a disciplined and firm yet friendly and encouraging environment in which almost everyone will prosper and I look forward to Hale continuing and developing in this direction.

Question: Hale is the smallest PSA school. Do you think this will change in the future through a policy of Hale accepting more students?

Answer: Hale is a slightly smaller school than the others and I can see it growing a little but within its present structure. We are certainly going to expand the Junior School, by having two extra classes. I think we will see more boys staying on in years 11 and 12. This trend has started already.

Mr J. Inverarity.

Mr P. Dowding, Mr J. Inverarity.

Question: Do you think that Hale as an independent boy's school will survive in a society in which co-educational schools are becoming more and more the norm?

Answer: I think we will see the preservation of all types of schools. I do think, however, that the move towards co-ed schools will continue and continue strongly.

Question: I know some PSA schools have co-ed Junior schools. Do you think this is likely to happen to Hale?

Answer: No, I do not. Being partially co-ed has little to commend it in my eyes.

Question: In your eyes does Hale have a strong relationship with St. Mary's?

Answer: I think it does and it seems to be growing steadily.

Question: Having been a test cricket player are you tempted to coach the first XI cricket team?

Answer: I enjoy coaching sport but have no real preference for particular age groups. At Pembroke I used to coach the year eight footballers because it proved a good way to meet the new boys.

Mr Inverarity, thank you very much for the interview.

Buntine

Housemaster: Mr J. G. Hopkins.

House Captain: A Caldow.

House Vice Captain: A Mallabone.

House Prefects: G. Erskine, T. Allan, B. Peirce, T. Berryman, A. Caldow, A. Mallabone, M. Berry.

School Prefects: T. Berryman, A. Caldow, A. Mallabone.

House Tutors: Mrs L. G. Green (Year 8), Mr P. J. Mayne (Year 9), Mr R. H. Johnson (Year 10), Mr R. J. Prater (Year 11). Mr J. G. Hopkins (Year 12).

1989 saw the 4th year of the Hopkins era in Buntine House. The year started in Buntine in its usual determined fashion with the appointment of House Prefects and Andrew Caldow as House Captain. They worked hard through out the year reflecting the spirit of Buntine in all their actions.

On the sporting field Buntine again did well finishing 2nd in the Cock House Cup which was really very disappointing considering we had led all year to have it slip gently from our grasp at the last hurdle. But perhaps it was lost before this?

First term saw many sporting events in our quest for the Cock House Cup. Buntine, with all round swimming depth in all years put in a determined and dedicated performance to finish 3rd in the Swimming Carnival. Buntine Cricket Team who were undefeated for the past two seasons struggled this year to finish 3rd with a slight lapse against Haynes. The team was led by Adam Mallabone and Andrew Caldow who dominated with the bat. The Buntine House Tennis players had a good season coming 1st and remaining undefeated with outstanding contributions from Greg Erskine, Matthew Trudgian and Simon Bedbrook. The Buntine Rowers didn't have the same success but led by Greg Eastwood tried hard, to finish in 7th position.

Once again Buntine produced a winning formula in the Sholl Cup. Buntine's efforts in all the sport contributing to this was brilliant. The Senior Basketball Team under the control of Brenton and Garen Peirce finished 3rd. The Junior Basketball led by Simon Tan and Robert Barugh came 2nd the same as the Senior Volleyballers led by Tim Allen. The Junior Volleyball, Teeball and Baseball also finished in the top 4.

In between the Summer and Winter sports season was a hectic time for Buntine. Mr Hopkins was unfortunately absent for three weeks but quickly recovered to direct the play. The play included boys from Buntine: Nick Miller, Tim Allen, Tim Berryman, Greg Erskine and Jason Nelson. Another important event was the House Cross Country in which we came 4th, the best of the day houses. Good performances from Buntine came in the U/14 division with S. Mallabone and S. Trudgian coming 1st and 2nd place respectively as well as P. Daffen who came 2nd in the U/17.

Buntine sporting success carried over into the Winter sports. The Senior Football had a hard year with a number of injuries to finish 6th. Good players were Ben Mann, James Jonasson and Corey Duncan. The Senior Hockey Team had a disappointing year to finish in 3rd place when they were really the second best team. Congratulations must go to one of the team's key players Andrew Davey who was selected in the U/16 State Hockey Team. The Junior Hockey led by Paul Duuring and Paul Healey dominated to finish 1st. The Junior Football alas came 2nd losing just one game with the stars being Jeremy Whybrow and Craig Johnson.

Off the sporting field James Jonasson went on the "Leeuwin", the Chess Team led by Michael Wiggins came 2nd and the Debating Team led by S. Bedbrook came 4th.

The final sporting event was the Athletics. Buntine trained hard but with the absence and injury of key runners we were never competitive finishing 5th. Parry were the eventual winners and with this success overhauled our 11 point lead to win the Cock House Cup by 2 points. This was a tragedy and a little disappointment for members of Buntine and Mr Hopkins considering we had led all year. Nevertheless, good houses come back from this.

In retrospect 1989 was an enjoyable year for Buntine members. Thanks are due to the departing year 12's as well as Mr Hopkins and tutors Mrs Green, Mr Mayne, Mr Johnson and Mr Prater.

Faulkner

Housemaster: Mr R. Kelley.

Assistant Housemasters: Mr R. Goater, Mr D. McPartland, Mr R. Murdoch.

House Prefects: M. Roberts, B. Ashby, D. Warren (vice-captain), J. Haywood, R. Sadler.

House Captain: A. Webster.

School Prefects: A. Webster (School Captain), D. Warren.

House Tutors: Mr R. Sweet (Year 8), Mr J. Williams (Year 9), Mr R. Goater (Year 10), Mr M. Hughes (Year 11), Mr R. Kelley (Year 12).

1989 saw the implementation of a scheme which now allows dayboys to become a part of the house. This has proved a great help throughout the year in sporting events with the increase in numbers.

Adrian Webster was appointed House Captain and also achieved the much honoured position of School Captain. He has become the third Faulkner School Captain to do so in four years. The Inter-House Swimming Carnival saw a drop from sixth to eight position this year. However, everybody tried hard and hopefully our efforts will be better rewarded next year.

A strong house Rowing Team took our position of third place this year with only one year 12 in the team. The rest of the Summer Team Games included baseball, tee-ball, basketball, volleyball and tennis. Great improvements were experienced by our tee-ball and tennis teams, although the inability to make up full teams again disadvantaged us. Faulkner achieved equal 6th position with Wilson in the Sholl Cup overall.

The main events for 2nd term were the Cross Country, exams and the start of Winter Sports, Faulkner House members destroyed the theory pursued by some — that boarders are low in intelligence by taking out many 1st places in subjects.

In 3rd term, Faulkner Senior Football Team came 3rd after a slow start and disappointing losses to Riley and Parry. The Junior Football came 4th after a good game with Parry. Senior Hockey came 6th place and it was a good performance due to shortness of players. The Junior Hockey finished equal 7th due to lack of experience — they will get better next year. The main highlights in 3rd term was the House Athletics. We made a great improvement by coming 2nd (4th last year). It was rarely done by a boarding house team and an excellent effort from all the boys who participated. This event will always be remembered by Mr Kelley who will leave Faulkner House this year.

Once again Faulkner House has had an outstanding year in both sport (finishing 6th in the Cox House Cup), and academic studies. This year wraps up a five year period in which Mr R. Kelley was our Housemaster. He is now moving to England for a teaching post there. The whole House would like to thank him for the time, effort, embarrassing and painstaking moments he spent with the House. Good luck Mr Kelley in your future endeavours.

A new Housemaster has been chosen and will be accepted by the house next year. After seven applicants, Mr G. Lange was chosen to take on the position. Moving from a day house to a boarding house will be a big step. But I'm sure Haynes House will wish him well. Faulkner will welcome him with great enthusiasm. Congratulations Mr Lange.

Fourth term is coming up rapidly and our recreation competitions are coming to a close both table tennis and squash competitions are in the final stages but our pool competition and golf competition is yet to start. The highlights of 4th term is exams which the house will settle down for in the weeks to come. To wrap things up we will have our annual feast night where all the house awards are presented.

Faulkner would like to thank Mr D. Simpson for his help on weekend recreation — throughout the year and Mr and Mrs Kelley for putting up with us for the last five years.

Vice Captain: P. Leuba.

School Prefects: S. Blackwell, P. Leuba.

House Prefects: T. Simpson, T. Caporn, A. Jones, M. Gebbie, S. Gale, P. Leuba, S. Blackwell.

House Tutors: Mr L. Smith (Year 8), Mr G. Young (Year 9), Mr G. Lange (Year 10), Mr J. Cooper (Year 11), Mr W. Hutchinson (Year 12).

1989 was Mr Lange's fourth and final year as Housemaster of Haynes. He provided tremendous encouragement to the House Prefects, led by Stuart Blackwell.

One of the most exciting and important events on the school calendar is the Inter-House Swimming Carnival. As usual, competition was fierce but Haynes' hard work and determination paid off and we achieved an excellent result; second place, just behind Tregonning.

Competition for the Sholl Cup followed, but this time the results weren't as rewarding with Haynes finishing fifth. This result, however, does not reflect the immense effort and determination put in by the house.

Haynes did, however, score extremely highly in the House Cross Country. Unfortunately, this is one of the rare sports in which the team with the lowest score wins! Nevertheless, there were numerous impressive individual performances and the persistence shown by so many is a credit to the house.

Away from the sporting field, it was excellent to see members of the house participating in numerous cultural events such as the School Play, Chess and Debating. Our Year 11 House Debating team had the ability to win the competition but ended up third following a controversial semi-final. This team shows great potential and should hopefully improve on this result next year.

Haynes performed impressively in the Winter sports season, particularly in Hockey, and later, in the Inter-House Rugby competition. The Senior Hockey team in particular, led brilliantly by Stuart Blackwell and Tim Simpson, played superbly to win the competition. The Senior Football team had a lot of potential, but failed to deliver the goods and finished 6th. The Haynes House Rugby team had a tremendous victory over Parry in the final of the Inter-House Rugby competition. The entire team played extremely well, particularly Paul Leuba who was the chief "try-scorer", and showed that the last minute coaching sessions by the rest of the team paid off.

By this time of the year, the Cock House Cup was beyond reach; a disappointing fact, having won it for the last two years. The final competition of the year was the House Athletics Carnival. Haynes competed fiercely and did well to finish 4th, having lost the particularly talented year 12 group at the end of the last year.

On behalf of the house, I would like to thank Mr Lange for the immense dedication and support he has provided for the house over the last four years, and wish him the best of luck in his new position as Housemaster of Faulkner. Thanks must also go to the Haynes House Tutorial Masters, Mr Hutchinson, Mr Young, Mr Cooper and Mr Smith, as well as the House Prefects and the enthusiastic members of the house, all of whom greatly contributed to making this another successful year for Haynes House.

In 1989 Loton House came under the complete leadership of Mr Tompson for the first time after taking over from Mr Jordan half way through last year. With the help of the 5th year group the house achieved some fine results throughout the year.

The Inter-House Swimming Carnival saw a lot of early morning training but we were again not strong enough and finished last on the day. However our 1st years performed extremely well and are sure to be a strong force in the years to come. The Sholl Cup for team games saw Loton finish 8th, which was very disappointing. Our Tennis and Rowing teams performed admirably to finish 4th in their respective competitions.

Second term saw Loton participate in the annual Red Cross door knock, raising well over $2000 which clearly surpassed or total raised in '88. With the annual Cross Country came the annual groans and complaints at the early morning training runs. However the work paid off with Loton retaining the trophy for the 6th consecutive year. There were many fine runs on the day and special mention must be made of S. Tompson and H. Green who finished 1st in their respective age groups and P. Stewart who finished 2nd in the open division.

Both Football and Hockey were rather disappointing for Loton this year finishing 8th in the Football and 7th in the Hockey. However, the Junior Hockey side must be congratulated, for although they lacked the skills the amount of effort that they put into their games was tremendous.

One of the highlights of 3rd term was the House Athletics with the traditional fighting spirit of Loton House shinning through enabling us to claw our way into 6th position. Special congratulations must go to S. Brindal who was named the U/17 champion boy in school Athletics.

In all, this has been a rewarding year for Loton and thanks again to Mr Tompson for doing a fine job in his first year at the helm and perhaps even more rewards will come Loton's way in 1990.

Parry

Housemaster: Mr I. Biddle.

House Captain: N. Flavel.

House Prefects: L. Dye, R. George, F. Tengi, C. Giles, N. Flavel, C. Johnson.

School Prefect: N. Flavel.

House Tutors: Mr S. Hunn (Year 8), Mr J. Wallman (Year 9), Mr K. Moir (Year 10), Mr R. Pontin (Year 11), Mr W. Edgar (Year 12).

The year started on the house sporting field with varying success. It was mixed year for the cricketers. Led by Rob George and Paul Major, the team lacking in depth fought hard to achieve 4th position. An under-rated tennis team did well to grab third position with notable performances by P. Mills and B. Whitehead. Once again Parry's supremacy in baseball was proven, however, the Junior Teeballers couldn't follow up with such a performance by finishing a disappointing 6th. Both Volleyball teams unfortunately didn't possess the skilled players that were required to win games. The Junior Basketball while achieving a creditable third, lost games that possibly could have been won. Although there was much promise shown, the side made of entirely year 9's must be a worry for next season. The Seniors, however, flourishing in depth and under the captaincy of L. Dye, and the brilliance of E. Bruton managed a close second to Riley. It was a remarkable season from the rowers who managed to achieve a dramatic draw for the George Rogers Cup with Riley. Overall Parry finished third in the Sholl Cup competition. Parry at the Inter-House Swimming Carnival tried hard but could only manage 4th position, with J. Morphett being the outstanding competitor for the house.

Winter house sport proved to be a successful season. The Senior and Junior Hockey teams improved greatly upon previous years results by registering fourth and fifth respectively. The footballers won the A.E. Devenish Cup for the second time running. The Seniors possessing half of the 1st XVIII, easily accounted for their rivals. The Juniors while trying hard, were unlucky to finish in 4th position. Parry's strength in House Rugby powered them into the final only to be beaten by Haynes. Cross Country was an event Parry tried hard in with little success. Notable achievements from D. Broom, J. Pettitt, Hantke and T. Scaff who did well in their age groups.

Sporting achievements were numerous and widespread throughout the house. M. Tringas and J. Wilberforce featured in the 1st XI Cricket, while in the 1st XV Rugby N. Flavel, C. Johnson, D.

Blake and C. Daniels played consistently. The victorious 1st V was vice-captained by E. Bruton and supported by J. O'Halloran and L. Dye won the Blackwood Cup. A large contingent of Parry footballers made up the 1st XVIII Football Team which shared the Alcock Cup. These were: L. Dye, J. O'Halloran, C. Shorthill, R. George, B. Whitehead, B. Althorpe, B. Hantke, C. Castledine, P. Major, S. Ham (colours), D. Broom (colours), ran strongly for the Cross Country Team.

On the academic side Parry also featured strongly. Under the able guidance of F. Tenji and backing by N. Flavel and R. Shilkin the Debating side came a notable 2nd. The Chess side with F. Tenji, N. Piggott and outstanding performance by J. Field (whose trip to South America to represent Australia in Chess proved his enormous potential), forged themselves a first place.

After solid performances, the Inter-House Carnival gave Parry an opportunity to win the Cock House Cup. All of the house, despite hampered by injury pulled together with an awe inspiring win. Such brilliant performances as C. Daniels 400 metre run, J O'Halloran's win against the favourite and school champion S. Dethlefsen and B. Whitehead's run in the relay despite a swollen ankle from his triple jump will be remembered for years to come. The great support from the injured in the side and the resting competitors were very much appreciated by all of Parry House. Thanks must be paid to masters Hunn, Moir, Edgar and Pontin for giving up their time to train the house.

Parry's win in the Cock House Cup was the first in 48 years and much of the credit for this win must go to Mr Biddle, Nick Flavel and the rest of the year 12's for guiding Parry to a most successful year. With the depth of Parry an even better 1990 can be expected.

1989 was a year of mixed fortune for Riley House led by a very talented 5th year, including five school prefects and the school vice-captain, Mark Foster. As every year, this year also started off in the pool. However, not even the talent of Paris Watt could stop us from dropping to 5th position at the end of the day. As usual we fared well in the Sholl Cup for team games coming 2nd to Buntine. The cricket team, led by captain of cricket Mark Foster, did well to gain 2nd place. In the tennis we were second last. Having half the 1st VIII Rowing crew amongst us, including captain of boats Mike Roe, we gained equal first place in the George Rogers Cup. Led by captain of basketball Clive Pickford, the Riley V easily outplayed the other houses and finished a comfortable first, a great effort by all. This completed a successful summer season. Many house members from all age groups participated in the cultural highlight of the year, the school play "Fleance — A Classic Coincidence". David Chappell received Drama Colours for many years of outstanding backstage leadership. Second term saw the arrival of the Winter sports season and Riley was represented by many 4th and 5th year boys in various senior teams. In the football our juniors, directed by Josh Hodby, fought gallantly all season as underdogs and won their final to come a creditable 5th. The seniors on the other hand with David Darragh as captain, played stylishly to gain 2nd placing to a dominant Parry team. While Nick Smith's juniors displayed skill and talent in achieving runner up in the hockey, the seniors, captained expertly by the enthusiastic David Booth, gained a somewhat disappointing 5th place.

Next on the agenda was the Cross Country Challenge Cup. Mark Chadwick won the U/17 division in grand style in the fastest time of the day. However, Riley only managed 6th position overall. The last sporting event of the year was the fight for the T.F. Hantke Cup for the champion athletics house. Our hopes were high, as was the standard of competition and at the end of a warm day we went home sunburnt and a commendable 3rd.

The debaters, led by David Booth argued well but lost the deciding debate in the 3rd round when they prepared the wrong case. Still there is lot's of youth in that team which augurs well for the future. Very pleasing also were the results achieved in various academic competitions conducted throughout the year. Most notable was Andrew Benness, who topped the State in the IBM maths competition in Year 10. Chris Jones and Grant McGill also showed considerable success in the Australia-wide science and Westpac maths competitions respectively. This year after the bicentenary proved to be not as successful as previous years for Riley House. However, the overall enthusiasm and spirit amongst house members was tremendous and everybody enjoyed another year in the Riley society. Thanks a lot to Mr Greenwell and Mark Foster for showing the way in 1989, and to the other 8 house prefects and tutors for their commitment throughout the year. With a talented group of year 11's taking over next year, all is set for an another good year in 1990.

School Prefect: J. Marinko.

1989 saw Stirling House renamed as Tregonning House, after the school's retiring Headmaster. We did the name proud early in the first term when we convincingly won the G.N. Altorfer Cup for swimming. The year 8's were our best year, being undefeated in all their events.

During the year, Tregonning made considerable contributions to Hale's first teams. Our house captain Jason Marinko captained the 1st VIII tennis team as well as being a member of the 1st XI hockey team. John O'Brien played in the 1st V basketball. Darren Haunold (U/13 Champion), Kevin Yong (U/13 Runner-up) and Duncan Hogg (Open Champion) were keen members of the inters swimming squad, whilst Jamie Dutton won the school surfing championship. In the winter sports Paul Major, Duncan Hogg and Elliott Rowton played in the 1st XV rugby while Ed Oldmeadow, Troy Barbagallo and Utpaul Gope were members of the 1st XI hockey team.

In the Scholl Cup, Junior basketball and volleyball were our best teams finishing equal first and first in their respective competitions. With strong performances in most of the team games, Tregonning finished a creditable third.

On the tennis court, the Tregonning team comprising Jason Marinko, Ed Oldmeadow, Cliff Winby and Chris Wisniewski finished a close second, losing narrowly to Buntine while our cricketers finished 6th.

The end of summer sport saw the start of the first term holidays in which Darren Haunold had a tragic accident. He returned to Hale 6 months later confined to a wheelchair. It was good to see him back again and showing great house spirit by assisting with the time keeping on athletics day.

Second term saw the Chess team, led by our 1st team member Lloyd Pinzuck, finishing 4th in their competition. While in the third term the Debating team consisting of Greg Wheatley, Richard Sewell and Mark Hopkins (all Year 10's) won the competition by convincingly overpowering Parry House in the final.

On the cultural side, Tregonning once again took part in the Salvation Army appeal raising in excess of $2550.

On the sports field in terms 2 and 3, Tregonning performed admirably in the junior and senior hockey by coming 3rd and 2nd in their respective competitions. In the overall championship for the best hockey house Tregonning finished a commendable third. Our junior football side were by far the strongest team in their competition and finished undefeated for the season while the senior footballers only managed one win in finishing eighth overall.

At the end of term three the inter-house athletics was held in which Tregonning needed to win to have any chance of winning the Cock House Cup. Unfortunately we could only manage seventh place in the athletics which resulted in us coming fourth overall.

In conclusion, Mr Colgate, the tutorial masters and the year twelves must be thanked for making this year such an enjoyable one for all the Tregonning house members. We anticipate a very rewarding and successful year in 1990.

Wilson

Housemaster: Mr R. Gray.

Assistant Housemasters: Mr M. Campbell, Mr S. Mumme (terms 1-3), Mr J. Wood (terms 1-2), Mr K. Walsh (terms 3-4), Mr A. McBean (term 4).

House Captains: T. Eyres, R. Lucas, (Joint).

House Prefects: B. Kirby (Vice Captain), T. Shallcross, J. Norrish, J. Purves.

School Prefects: T. Eyres, R. Lucas, B. Kirby.

House Tutors: Mr St. J. Kenny (Year 8), Mr V. Uphill (Year 9), Mr M. Campbell (Year 10), Mr D. Alderson (Year 11), Mr R. Gray (Year 12).

The year 1989 saw Wilson House start very well. The Assistant Housemasters were welcomed back for another year but we were soon to lose James Wood, who has gone to supervise at an English Summer School and Steve Mumme to Switzerland to further his teaching career. We acquired Kim Walsh who has a teaching position at the Junior School and Andrew McBean who for term 4 is Assistant Physical Education teacher.

Two other changes also confronted the boarding house system. These being that day-boys from year 8 and 9 were now Wilson members to increase numbers for competitiveness and the Brine House residents were moved into the year 9 dorm because of lack of numbers and so that Brine House could be changed to classrooms.

The first sporting activity was the Inter-House Swimming which saw Wilson perform well to win the Les Nunn Trophy for 1st boarding house and 6th overall. Notice should be made of the year 12 backstroke team who won their race for the fourth consecutive year. The highlight of the summer house fixtures was the 1st place in the Parker Cup gained by the cricketers. Special mention to Jason Norrish who scored a century and Brad Kirby who took many wickets.

The junior Basketball managed 8th, while the seniors came 7th. Junior volleyball finished a worthy 4th, with great vocalism from Steve Lacey while the seniors came 6th with acrobatic dives shown by John Purves. T-Ball came 7th though playing with great heart and Tennis ended up 8th due to lack of school players. The Cross Country day was eventful for Wilson as we came second behind Loton. Jason Norrish led the way by winning the open race.

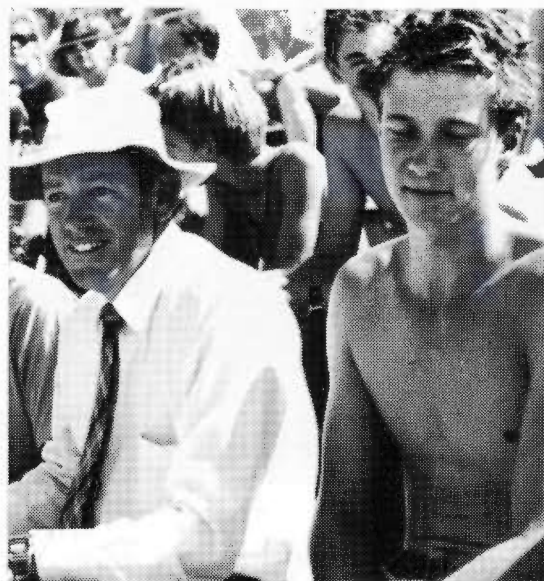

Winter house fixtures saw the senior football end up a very creditable 4th, ably led by Richard Lucas and the juniors finished in 7th place. Senior hockey finished 8th, while the Juniors managed 7th. Lack of numbers and the people who had never played before, didn't help the situation. The seven-a-side Inter-House Rugby was held and Wilson did well to get to the semi-finals, with solo performances from Bryon Lockyer and Stuart Dickins.

The House Athletics was held in perfect conditions, but this wasn't good enough for Wilson House to finish higher than 8th. Everyone showed tremendous spirit and special mention must be made of the performances by Jason Norrish, Glen Francis and Stuart Dickins.

Debating at Wilson received a new lease of life, when we reached the quarter finals where we lost to the eventful winners by one point. Tony Eyres, a full time debater, spoke very well throughout, and first time speakers David Pritchard and Daniel Hester performed creditably. The House Chess managed 8th but Vernon Fogarty stood out winning both his games. Mr D. Simpson once again provided weekend activities for stranded boarders and the Wilson Rottnest day was enjoyed by all. Wilson House valiantly competed throughout the year, only to be rewarded with 8th position in the Cock House Cup. Tremendous spirit and effort was shown at all times. Finally a note of many thanks to the prefects who upheld their duties faithfully and well and to Mr R. Gray for his time, effort and contributions towards the house throughout the year.

Swimming — 1989

The 1989 Interschool Swimming Carnival saw the Hale swimming squad end up in third position with 615 points, behind this year's victors Christchurch (814 pts) and the big improvers of 1989 Aquinas (646 pts).

The swimming season began on day one of the first term with some keen swimmers starting training that afternoon. The squad was soon enlarged by a big group of enthusiastic year 8's after time trials. The number of boys who turned up to training regularly was the largest for some years and hopefully this enthusiasm will continue into the future.

Instead of the traditional meet with Scotch on the second Saturday of term, Hale confronted last year's winners — Christchurch. The depth of their team indicated their chances of retaining the cup. A large amount of potential was shown by the younger Hale swimmers as they won most of their events.

Over the next few weeks the squad entered into a vital training period, where the hard slogging had to be done. During this time, Hale held a social meet with St Hilda's which was enjoyed thoroughly by all concerned. The times were relatively slow mainly because many boys had "things" on their mind other than swimming. On the Saturday of that week Hale was meant to have a swimming meet with Guildford, unfortunately they did not arrive due to the "bad" weather (or being scared?). The Hale swimmers, undeterred by the weather, decided to swim against each other. The following Thursday morning "Trog's Iron Man Classic" was held at Scarborough beach to give the team members a break from the normal training session.

On the Saturday before the Inters the annual school championships was held to determine the age group champions. Everyone tried their best knowing that the team would be chosen from the results of this event and Mr Hopkins added to the excitement of the races with his commentary extraordinaire. Two school records were set on the day by Jamie Morphett in the U/14 50m freestyle in a time of 27.8 seconds and in the U/14 100m freestyle in a time of 61.1 seconds. It should also be noted that Hamish Jooste came second to Jamie Morphett in both these races in times under the old records. On that night the Quads were held in which Christchurch dominated and showed once again they would be a force to be reckoned with.

After a few challenges and a training session at Beatty Park in the last week, the day of the Inters eventually arrived. That afternoon the team in their "designer" T-shirts arrived at Beatty Park for the 84th Interschool Carnival. The atmosphere was once again fantastic and the conditions for swimming superb. Hale started off badly in the senior freestyle races but won both the U/13 and U/14 divisions courtesy of H. Jooste, J. Morphett, T. Pearson and D. Haunold. Thus Hale managed to hold third place after the freestyle events. Jamie Morphett in winning his freestyle race set a new school record of 27.6 seconds. Once again breaststroke was our strong point and we consistently gained places in the top three. Hale consequently moved up to equal second place after the breaststroke.

After a dismal performance in the backstroke Hale fell back down to third. This position was retained for the rest of the night. During the butterfly events, Jamie Morphett set a new U/14 record of 29.9 seconds and he backed this up by winning the second division Open 200m freestyle. Hale did not win a relay but we still managed to hold onto third place. Nearly every swimmer recorded personal best times on the night and this was demonstrated by the 38 Hantke standard times achieved.

The team would like to thank many people but most importantly Mr Richard Pengelly who took over the role of head coach this year. His enthusiasm, hard work and devotion towards the team were greatly appreciated by all the swimmers. Thanks must also go to Mr Les Nunn who stood down as head coach last year and concentrated on training the year 8's, and to 'Old Boy' James Legge for his large amount of support at training and the Inters. Mr Varty must also be thanked for feeding the starving swimmers every morning after training. Finally thanks must go to the team captain, Stuart Blackwell, and his vice captains Luke Hawkins and Richard Lucas who all put in a lot of work in encouraging, organising and running the team.

The results of the Inters look very promising for the future with our juniors dominating the U/13 and U/14 age groups. With a very talented group of swimmers coming up from the Junior school next year the future of Hale school swimming looks to be on its way to the top once again.

Inter-House Swimming Carnival

The annual Inter-House was held on Wednesday the 1st March in excellent conditions. The newly-named Tregonning House came from 5th place last year to blitz the field and win their first carnival for ten years. Although Tregonning won, Haynes House won both the freestyle and medley trophies while Tregonning finished with the breaststroke trophy and the G.N. Altorfer cup for overall points. Thanks must go to all the officials and to Mr Hopkins for his lively commentary. Once again congratulations to Mr Colgate and his winning Tregonning House team.

Basketball Report

This year saw the opening of the new Gymnasium by the Premier, Mr Peter Dowding. It provided the Hale basketballers with an excellent court to train and play on, although the 1st V were not able to use it until the third round of competition, as the Wesley and Christchurch games were both played away.

The first game of the season was a hard one as Wesley proved difficult to break away from, although the 75-43 score line did not show this (Wesley were to be a dominant force this year).

Christchurch were next and Hale went into the game undermanned as John O'Halloran was not available to play. This almost proved costly as Christchurch won most of the rebounds and with 8 minutes to play Hale were 9 points down, however Scott Dethlefsen made some fine rebounds and with some good team play the 1st V secured the game winning 40-36.

We then played our first game at home and Hale convincingly defeated Trinity 80-50 and the gymnasium had proved its worth as we no longer had to play outdoors in the heat and wind.

Guildford were next and due to rain only the 1st V were able to play and hence a large crowd of cricketers and tennis players watched us defeat Guildford 68-42. The highlight of the season came when John O'Halloran scored two points for the opposition (a split second he will never live down). This round for the 2nd V was disappointing as they lost by one point (and in so doing came second to Guildford overall).

Aquinas and Scotch also succumbed to the 1st V fast break type of basketball allowing Hale to win the Blackwood Cup for the sixth consecutive year.

Mention must be made of Elliott Bruton who again broke the Hale school points record which was already his — 138 points. He scored a huge total of 168 points. Elliott received Honours for an outstanding three years of 1st V basketball in which he broke the points record for two years in succession.

The 2nd V had another superb year. Under the guidance of Mr Kelley and competent captaincy by Cameron Eiszel, the 2nd V came extremely close to winning the championship. We missed by losing to Guildford by 1 point. Steven Brindal commented on our loss with some unprintable but true words. Great flair was shown by our team in particular John O'Brien and Adam Rule, while our greatest new find was Craig Rowston who started during the year. Mr Kelley summed up the year when he said, "We missed getting a colour photo by just 1 point."

This year the 3rd V basketball team, led by school prefect Tim Berryman, had a very successful year. They joined the firsts in top position. In a rather disorganised fashion the team always got down to business and won, whether it be by 4 points as against Guildford or by 40 points as against Aquinas, with only 4 players on court at the end. The team was a high scoring one, attaining a top score of 67 points and breaking the 30 point mark every time. Individual total scores varied with Daniel Hester getting 90 and Cory Duncan 34. The team consisting of Kelvin Munro, Daniel Hester, Tim Berryman (Capt.), Duncan Hogg, Tony Eyres (Vice Capt.), Corey Duncan, Owen Bowden, Nathan Hawksford and Jamie Edis owe many thanks to the coach Mr Sonntag.

1st XI Cricket Report

Wesley

The Hale 1st XI travelled over to Wesley for their first Darlot Cup match of 1989 against the highly favoured Wesley Team. After losing the toss, Wesley batted first on a very quick track and compiled a respectable 234, all out. Unfortunately many of the Hale bowlers suffered no-ball problems, without which would have meant a score of just over 200. Jock Wilberforce in his first Darlot Cup match was the best of the bowlers, with good backup from Adrain Webster and Brad Kirby (2 for 4). With the match still in the balance Hale got off to a solid start, losing one wicket before lunch on Saturday. Unfortunately our batting faltered to the persistent Wesley attack with only Jason Norrish 26 and Paul Major 23 making any significant contributions. Hale were dismissed for a disappointing 143. Wesley battled again and finished the day at 3 for 134, proving themselves to be the team to beat in 1989.

Christchurch.

The match against Christchurch was in stark contrast to the week before, as Hale outplayed their opposition in all facets of the game to record a very convincing victory. Christchurch batted first and all bowlers contributed to their demise, with outstanding efforts from Jock Wilberforce 2 for 19 from 18 overs and Brad Kirby 4 for 33. In reply Hale scored a very controlled and positive 3 for 273 with Paul Major scoring 82, Jason Norrish a punishing 76 n.o., Mark Foster 64 and Adam Mallabone 30. The highlights were a 2nd wicket stand of 131 between Mark Foster and Paul Major and Jason Norrish's 3 successive sixes. In an attempt to gain outright points Hale declared and had Christchurch reeling at 5 for 98. A fiery Dale Warren made the vital breakthroughs and finished with 2 for 34.

Trinity.

A 140 run opening stand between Adam Mallabone (96) and Mark Foster (73) paved the way for a large Hale school 1st innings score. Mallabone was unlucky to be run out only 4 short of a determined century. Norrish contributed with 42 n.o. and Major compiled 30. Unfortunately on a very flat wicket our bowlers failed to break through often enough to force a win, falling one tantalising wicket short. Trinity finished on 9 for 189. Jock Wilberforce bowled extremely well to finish with figures of 34 overs 19 maidens 5 for 36. Dale Warren also chipped in with 2 wickets.

Guildford.

In this rain affected match Hale made a very promising start on the Friday afternoon scoring 3 for 211 with each of the top four batsman contributing. Major 29 and Foster 33 made good starts but could not capitalise on this, whereas Norrish made a whirlwind 56 and Mallabone a patient 86 n.o. In view of this commanding position, Hale was very unlucky to have play washed out on Saturday, caused by overnight rain seeping under the covers and soaking the pitch. A special mention must be made of Adam Mallabone who once again missed out on a "ton", this time because of the bad weather.

Aquinas.

After winning the toss for the first and only time of the season, we sent Aquinas in and had them in trouble at 4 for 80. Unfortunately Hale dropped several vital catches and allowed Aquinas to reach an impressive total of 8 for 298. This was, however, an attainable score on an extremely small ground with a fast outfield. Unfortunately the Hale batsmen failed to exploit these conditions and were never in the hunt, with wickets falling at regular intervals. Norrish and Webster provided some resistance, each scoring 38. A determined Dale Warren resolutely defied the strong Aquinas attack with Brad Kirby but by then it was too late and Hale crumbled to be all out for 153 — a dismal effort.

Scotch.

The final match of the season saw a memorable unbeaten century by Jason Norrish. After having a bye the previous week, Hale went into this match requiring a win to secure second place. Batting first on a docile pitch, Hale batted well on Friday afternoon to be well in excess of 200 by the close of play. Once again the first 4 batsmen made a start but Jason Norrish was the only one to go on with it, flaying the Scotch attack to all parts of the ground in a masterful innings. Hale ended up with 6-280 declared early on the Saturday morning allowing almost a full day to dismiss the Scotch line up. Our bowlers toiled with enthusiasm but wickets were hard to take and at 4 for 164 we looked to be in trouble. After an inspired spell of bowling by David Darragh and Adrain Webster, Hale broke the shackles and the last 6 wickets fell for the addition of only 29 runs. Darragh finished with 3 for 25 to be the pick of the bowlers.

The season ended on a high note as Hale secured second position, behind the disciplined Wesley team. Throughout the season a good time was had by all members of the team — which did not vary at all throughout the season. Finally thanks must go to our manager, Mr Gray, to Mr Maetam, Mr Inverarity and especially to the head coach Mr Chadwick for their invaluable assistance and support throughout the season.

Tennis Report

Once again all tennis teams fared well in the 1989 season, achieving high placings in their respective competitions.

The Hale first eight battled hard in fourth term matches in 1988, and realized that the Corr Cup competition beginning in February would require dedication and determination to achieve a good result.

On the weekend before school returned the Hale 1st VIII met the Old Boy's team and there were exceptional efforts by members of the 1st VIII resulting in a resounding victory.

Hale's first victim was Wesley College and the previously under-rated Hale team outclassed Wesley 20 sets to 4 sets. However the next two fixtures against Christchurch Grammar School and Trinity College resulted in expected losses due to the higher calibre of players in both of these sides. Unfortunately, inclement weather prevailed prior to the match against Guildford which resulted in no play. Hale's next opponent was Aquinas and a sound victory was recorded. In the last match of the season Hale defeated Scotch in a cliffhanger to end the season on a high note. These two matches illustrated the depth in the Hale side after many weeks of training. The 1st VIII achieved equal second placing which was an outstanding effort.

Hale's Slazenger Cup team comprising Jason Marinko, Michael Spartalis; Greg Erskine, Simon Gale and Mathew Trudgian drew Guildford in their opening match, and played brilliantly to win 3 rubbers 8 sets 68 games to 3 rubbers 6 sets 57 games. After the Easter break Hale's next opponents were Trinity, the Corr Cup winners in 1989. In blustery conditions the Hale side was defeated 6 rubbers 12 sets 74 games to 0 rubbers 33 games despite gallant performances from all four players.

Prior to the end of term an enjoyable evening was experienced by players and parents of the 1st VIII at the Marinko residence, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr & Mrs Marinko for their hospitality.

Buntine House won the house tennis cup in 1989 by winning 225 games throughout the season. Tregonning was 2nd followed by Parry, Loton, Faulkner, Haynes, Riley and Wilson.

On behalf of all members of the tennis teams I would like to thank Mr Wapnah, Mr Cooper, Mr Wallman, Mr Alderson, Mr Johnson and Mr Greenwell for their coaching throughout the season. Mr Hutchinson and Mr Edgar deserve a special mention for their coaching of the 1st VIII.

Rowing Report

There was a tremendous feeling of comradeship amongst rowers, coaches and parents in the 1989 rowing season. Hard work, exciting regattas and enjoyment were equally mixed.

The 1989 rowing season saw the end of an era with the Head of the River Regatta being moved from the unpredictable Crawley Narrows course to the Canning River. It is now hoped the annual event will be held under more predictable conditions. The new location did not attract as many spectators or have the atmosphere of the old course but was well surrounded by vocal Hale supporters on the day.

Training began this year with the rowing camp held over the final week of the Christmas Holidays for boys in years ten to twelve. Through the season boys trained at 5.30am or 4.00pm for two hours four or five days a week with additional strength and ergometer work conducted around this. This year's school season was short, finishing on the 18th of March but comprised seven regattas. The 1st and 2nd VIII's performed well over the season, both finishing third at the head of the River Regatta. All the rowers and coaches worked very hard over the season but sadly this was not reflected in the results.

The C. A. Hamer Cup for aggregate points achieved at the Head of the River Regatta was won by Aquinas with 103 points, Hale was sixth with 59 points.

The contributions of Mr Bean, rowing Master and 1st VIII coach, Mr Fischer (2nd VIII), Mr Goater (Yr.10 VIII), Mr James (Yr. 9 VIII), Mr Bird and Mr Booth (1st IV), Mr Berryman (2nd IV), Mr Staines (3rd IV), Mr Kenny (Yr.10 IV), Mr Simpson and Mr Arkle (Yr 8-9 coaches) and Mr Wright (maintenance) were much appreciated by all the rowers throughout the season. A special mention must be made of the members of the University of Western Australia Boat Club who kindly lent their best racing shell to the Hale 1st VIII for the season.

Results — 1st VIII

The first regatta of the season was the Christ Church long distance race held over the bending 5km Canning course. The Hale 1st VIII were in an excellent position with 2km remaining and leading by six seconds but they could not maintain it when Scotch lifted over the last 1.5km. Scotch won in the windy conditions in a time of 18min. 14sec. with Christ Church second (18min. 22 sec.) just two seconds ahead of Hale (18min. 24sec.).

At the Guildford - Aquinas Regatta all crews started evenly and it took some 200m before Scotch and Hale moved ahead of the field. Over the final 600m Scotch were able to slowly take a length from the tiring Hale crew and win in a time of 6min. 21sec. followed by Hale, Wesley and Aquinas.

The Wesley Regatta held in atrocious conditions saw a spectacular battle in the 1st XIII's race. Hale led through the start and were able to hold a half length lead for the first 700m but were hit badly by some waves allowing Scotch and Aquinas through. Scotch won in a time of 6min. 38sec. followed closely by Aquinas and Hale.

Due to various accidents and illnesses the Hale 1st XIII did not compete at the Trinity or Scotch regattas.

At the Hale Regatta the Hale 1st VIII led from the start never rating below 36 strokes per minute and looked like winning. The even fitter Aquinas crew, showing great determination, worked well over the final 500m to close the gap. With 100m to go and the crews level the crowd expected a thriller but one of the Hale rowers caught a "crab" and was thrown from the boat. Aquinas won in a time of 6min. 25sec. with Christ Church second. Scotch did not compete and Hale drifted over the line in fifth place with 7 rowers aboard.

The 90th Head of the River Regatta was rowed in hot and fairly still conditions. Hale, rating 42 strokes per minute were very fast from the start and led through the first 500m in 1min. 30 sec. The stronger Aquinas and Scotch crews moved to the lead with Aquinas winning by a length in a time of 6min. 19sec. Second place was almost a photo-finish. A great finishing burst from the Hale crew brought them to third just 0. 2sec. behind the second placed Scotch (6min. 23sec.). Christ Church were fourth (6min. 31sec.) followed by Guildford (6min. 34sec.), Wesley (6min. 36sec.) and Trinity (7min. 1sec.).

Exmouth '89

and achieved a high standard of skill and teamwork. All over the ground their defence was excellent, their speed enabled them to move the ball quickly and as a group they bonded so well together, encouraging each other and yet demanding so much of themselves personally. Their handball was often brilliant, they shared the ball, they accepted criticism and strove at all times for better skills.

This was Hale's tenth Cup, our third since 1984 and means that we have been first or second for seven of the last eight seasons. It was, so important that we beat Scotch and the spirit of that day and after we learned of the Cup victory was marvellous indeed. It was, though, a great group of goers with or without the Cup and as I watched them fight for their form and eventually for their Cup, in the words of Webby, "I was stoked".

1st XVIII RESULTS

HALE vs CHRIST CHURCH

A brilliant Christ Church outran Hale in the opening quarter.

Though depleted by injuries, Hale's football gradually developed and our superior forward play gave us the decision.

Behind at every change but inspired by a superb Norrish, the team fought on tenaciously. Score: Hale 17.14 defeated Christ Church 13.26. CBest: Norrish, Webster, Purves, Ham, Darragh, Hantke.

HALE vs TRINITY

In windy conditions and opposed by a hard running Trinity, Hale again struggled. After trailing 3.10 to 7.5 Hale struck form in the third quarter only to see Trinity fight on impressively in the last. Score: Hale 10.19 defeated Trinity 10.7. Best: Norrish, Warren, George, Caldow, Shorthill, Ham, Leuba.

HALE vs SCOTCH

The season's low point! In an incredibly strong wind both sides struggled for goals. Hale's gutsy second quarter when kicking into the gale was frustrated by our kicking eleven points in succession. Led by some top forwards, Scotch played team football in the final quarter and won by forty one points) a sad result for Hale! Score: Hale 2.11 was defeated by Scotch 9.10. Best: Leuba, Warren, George, Whitehead, Norrish, Holmes, Shorthill.

HALE vs WESLEY

After again starting slowly, Hale played a determined second half to beat the speedy Wesley. The run and recovery of Leuba and the rucking of Webster were significant factors.

Score: Hale 18.11 defeated Wesley 14.12. Best: Leuba, Webster, Warren, Shorthill, Stone, Holmes, Ham, Purves.

HALE vs AQUINAS

Another top game! Strong in key positions, especially in the forward line, Aquinas won a tough game by fifteen points. Hale had much of the play in the second half and our ability to run the ball meant we always had a chance. Score: Hale 8.15 was defeated by Aquinas 11.12. Best: Leuba, Norrish, Webster, Warren, Purves, Stone, Ham.

HALE vs GUILDFORD

In strong wind Hale won a low standard game up at Guildford. Though Hale were in control our football lacked conviction and teamwork) possibly a reaction to the Aquinas game of the previous week. Score: Hale 12.21 defeated Guildford 7.7. Best: Norrish, Holmes, Haywood, Leuba, Warren, Hantke, Ham, Purves.

HALE vs CHRIST CHURCH

Top form! Hale's ball getting ability and use of the ball, even in the wet, gave us a huge win. Webster controlled the ruck and the forwards shared the ball superbly. At term's end we were third, having won five out of seven. Score: Hale 18.13 defeated Christ Church 2.3. Best: Webster, Norrish, Leuba, Foster, Caldow, Warren, Holmes.

HALE vs TRINITY

On the huge expanses of Perth Oval Hale beat a tenacious Trinity. Trinity's ball getting ability and tackling prevented Hale from dominating the game. Score: Hale 12.13 defeated Trinity 6.9. Best: Leuba, Norrish, Whitehead, Warren, Dye, Castledine, Ham, Purves.

HALE vs SCOTCH

Victory over Scotch at last and a marvellous day! A desperate desire for the ball and running football based on superior speed were too much for Scotch. Though the Scotch aerialists always threatened danger, a very even, if inaccurate, Hale team had their day. Score: Hale 12.17 defeated Scotch 10.5. Best: Holmes, Dye, Norrish, Purves, Stone, Whitehead, Leuba.

HALE vs WESLEY

A skilful Wesley were worthy opponents. Leading by only seven points at three quarter time and going into the breeze, the half team (with Jason Norrish supreme at centre half forward) played its best football and won a top game. Later in the day came news of Christ Church beating Aquinas. We had shared the Cup) it was certainly a terrific School Ball that night! Score: Hale 15.15 defeated Wesley 15.7. Best: Norrish, Major, Ham, Holmes, Stone, Leuba, Whitehead.

Hockey Report

1989 proved to be a difficult and in the end disappointing year, with a mixed bag of results for Hale Hockey.

This year's 1st XI was a young and mostly inexperienced team with only four players remaining from last year. Training throughout the holidays on the newly constructed Baspo-grass saw the first squad combine into a team with good skills and an exceptional spirit. On paper Hale was considered one of the favourites for the Cup, especially due to the advantage of having the synthetic surface at school. However, the other six teams were not to be underestimated.

The official beginning of the season saw us take up the fight with Christ Church at Christ Church. The game was dominated by Hale who eventually won 3-0. The next week was a bye, and on that Sunday we played hosts to the Hotspurs, lead by the experienced Olympian Ric Charlesworth, who stepped out of retirement to play against us. This proved to be a very rewarding experience, for all of us with the opposition comprising many current 1A and state players. Everyone lost count of the score but thank the Hotspurs for coming, we'll just say they won. Back to PSA hockey and a clash against one of the other top teams Trinity. In front of quite a large supportive crowd both teams fought out a very tough and fast encounter. Hale came back twice after Trinity had scored first to draw an exhilarating match 2-2. However, a couple of aspects of our game were worrying. Back on grass we played at Scotch, who dominated in the first half. We were then able to turn the tables and we were fortunate to take home a 1-0 victory.

We followed on against Wesley as we started off against Scotch with terrible hockey and Wesley raced to a 2-0 lead. At half-time we had fought back to be within one goal. After changing ends Hale dominated and moved to a 3-2 lead. However we then collapsed and a few fatal mistakes in our defence let Wesley snatch victory in a hectic and fast game. For the match against Aquinas the 1st XI had to regroup and the end result was that the players combined as a team and defeated Aquinas 5-1. Full of confidence we moved out to do battle with Guildford in the outback of W.A. However, our minds seemed to be elsewhere, for we played without the enthusiasm and brilliance which defeated Aquinas a week earlier and deservedly we lost not only the game 2-3, but also just about all our chances of taking home the Cup. Having now completed the first round of fixtures we would have to win all our four remaining matches to have another shot at the Cup.

The start of the second round saw us play hosts to Christ Church. We displayed good team skills and in a polished team performance we sent them home with a 4-0 defeat. The holidays came up, and straight after the break we got back together to play the English Kingston Grammar School team. The break from hockey was very noticeable in our team and the 'Poms' ended up winning 2-1. The following day we played the 'Old Boys', as strong as ever, and conceded our second loss in two days losing 5-1. The 'grand final' against Trinity came up on the following Saturday, a game vital for both teams. On a field that looked like rugby had been played on it, we matched the competition leaders in all but one aspect, which was the converting of goal shots. Deservedly Trinity, the better all-round team, won and retained the Hockey Cup in '89. Congratulations! Spirits in the team were low, and Scotch took full advantage of this in our next game. Hale lacked the determination and enthusiasm, and on our home ground we were beaten 1-0. The last match of the season saw us play against Wesley. The year 12's were desperate to end their school hockey career on a high note. However, again our conversion rate was very poor while on the other hand Wesley scored twice in the first half. After half time fortunes didn't change and they ended up winning 4-1 in what was probably the best and most entertaining game of the season. We lost, but we went down with our heads aloft and full compliments must be given to the whole team who tried 100%.

This year's 1st XI ended the season a disappointing 5th, however this result does not reflect the effort put in by all players. With 8 players of this year's team available next season hopefully Hale will manage to win the competition in the near future. Congratulations must be given to J. Hollingworth and S. Blackwell for being selected to play in the combined PSA team, and to A. Davey for having been chosen to play in the U16 state team, as well as congratulations to Stuart on an outstanding year of hockey, both on the field and as team captain. Finally a very hearty thanks to all our coaches. Mr Biddle, Mr Staines, Mr Greenwell, Mr Alderson, Mr Thompson, Mr Dook, Mr Gray and Mr Lock. Special thanks must go to Mr Jordan for all the time and effort he put into the 1st XI in 1989.

Rugby Report 1989

Hale Rugby in 1989 underwent an average season which placed us overall fourth in the rankings out of a field of seven. This is due to the fact that, following a general trend in Western Australia, Rugby has gained popularity rapidly. Due to this new trend all P.S.A. schools are taking the sport far more seriously.

This year, the 1st XV suffered from a lack of genuine pace and early season consolidation. Most other schools had toured by the beginning of the season, and their organisation and consolidation reflected this. Hale showed their potential, however, by recording the closest result of any team against the champions Scotch College. Andrew Jones captained the side very competently, and vice captain Duncan Hogg played a brilliant season, scoring the most points and being awarded the Russel Davis Perpetual Trophy. He and Nicholas Porzig also gained selection to the West Australian Open Schoolboys Rugby Team, who were going to play in the National Championships in Hobart but for the airline situation. The forward pack, led by Nicholas Flavel, performed consistently well despite being the smallest in the competition. The team looks forward to a very good season next year, with such promising talent being shown in the 2nd XV and the year 10 team. There is still a desperate need, however, for strong, fast props. The team's gratitude goes to Mr. Welsh and Mr. Sonntag for their dedication throughout the season.

The 2nd XV had a good season, displaying Hale's depth and good spirit by beating teams with larger training squads. Rohan Mistilis was awarded fairest and best player. Gavin Barugh was selected in the State Schoolboys Touch Rugby Team due to his skilful handling of the ball.

The year 10 team's performance belied the considerable talent shown by several players, and the team as a group show much promise for a superb performance next year. Tom Plant was awarded best player and Parker was selected to play in the State Team.

The year 9 team won their division, with both Robert Barugh and James Whitehead gaining places in the State U/14 team. The year 8s performed well and these younger teams are set to give Hale dominance as they mature.

Rugby Results

1st XV Coach: Mr P. Welsh

Hale 13 lost to Christ Church 15.

Tries: Allen, Hogg.

Conversion, Penalty: Hogg.

Hale started well scoring a try in the first minute, but Christ Church took the lead with a converted try soon afterwards. A couple of penalties gave Christ Church a 12-4 half-time lead. Hale settled down with better team play scoring a fine converted try. Failure to kick for points on a penalty almost certainly cost Hale the game.

Hale 9 drew with Trinity 9.

Penalty, Try: Johnson.

Conversion, Penalty: Hogg.

With a much bigger pack, Trinity totally dominated the first twenty minutes. Hale defended with enormous spirit and towards the end of the first half managed to mount a number of good attacks, but could not bridge Trinity's 6-0 lead. The second half saw Hale run and kick well and take the lead but Trinity got close enough to draw the match in the last minute.

Hale 7 lost to Scotch 18.

Try: Jooste.

Penalty: Hogg.

Hale started at a furious pace and kept Scotch defending for long periods. Hale went over the line on the only attack of the half and at the break, Hale lead 7-4. Scotch moved the ball wide in the second half and their strong running outside backs set up three good tries to seal the match. It was an excellent game against the best team in the competition.

Hale 0 lost to Wesley 28.

Hale matched Wesley in all areas except both of their wingers had too much strength and speed and between them they scored Wesley's five tries.

Hale 3 lost to Aquinas 11.

Penalty: Hogg.

Hale was unable to win 2nd and 3rd phase ball from a fit and determined Aquinas pack.

Hale 7 lost to Guildford 24.

Try: Lockyer.

Penalty: Hogg.

Hale 12 defeated Christ Church 0.

Penalties 3: Hogg.

Field goal: Hogg.

Accurate penalty kicking and good support play gave Hale their first win of the season.

Hale 3 lost to Trinity 6.

Penalty: Hogg.

The whole team must be praised for the high standard of play they achieved throughout the game. It was a short lapse of concentration by Hale that resulted in Trinity scoring the only try of the game.

Hale 9 lost to Scotch 44.

Try: Jones.

Conversion, Penalty: Hogg.

After a very even first half with both sides mounting numerous attacks, Hale ran out of legs as the second half progressed — Scotch scored five tries in the last fifteen minutes to completely swamp Hale.

Hale 6 lost to Wesley 36.

Try: Lefroy.

Conversion: Hogg.

Like the last game against Wesley, their wingers were once again too fast and strong for our outside backs. The wingers combined with an excellent kicker to score a convincing win over Hale.

Cross Country

Hale Cross Country started the new year with several weeks of pre-season training. The team has grown markedly since the sport started just short of a decade ago. Prior to this year, Hale's best position with regard to the inter-school trophy was fourth. The improvement to second place was a result of hard work and determination on the part of all people involved with the team.

Hale had a strong backbone of high quality runners carrying over from last year. In addition to this were several key middle order runners from Year 10 (M. Wiggins, C. Moore, A. Lilleyman).

The team's true strength, however was in its ability to combine as a unit.

S. Yovich	D. Broom
C. Winby	C. Davidson
C. Berg	G. Parker (VC)
C. Eastwood	P. Daffen
M. Pickford	P. Stewart (C)
M. Chadwick	H. Grant

Much needed strength was provided by new boys K. Winnet, D. Reeves and G. Francis. The team was to be defeated only once, and that was against Guildford. They ran second in the inaugural All Schools' Relay, even though several key runners were away at the nationals.

The season was interspersed with several team highlights other than its string of victories. The culmination of these was an abseiling lesson on the climbing wall of the gym. This was led by Matt Pickford and Courtney Davison's natural (if not suspect) climbing talents. Bouts of wobbly legs and fear of heights claimed even the most hardy of reputations.

A cameo appearance by the Headmaster and several other masters renewed team spirit and enthusiasm. This resulted in many more confident runs at the wall well after finishing time.

The final race of the year (8km at Wesley) saw Hale once again prove to be superior to the eventual competition winners.

Even then they were short two key runners — who fell early in the race.

Hale could well win next year with the continued help of coach, Mr R Brown and last year's captain S McDonagh.

House Cross Country

The last day of May proved to be another warm and sunny day. On this particular day 539 enthusiastic boys prepared themselves for the annual, so-much loved House Cross Country Championships, which were held on the notorious Hale campus course. For those who had trained, that rigour certainly paid off, while for many others the walk up Chunder Hill was probably most relaxing and enjoyable.

The event started off with the Under 14 division, commencing amongst the groans of the year 8's and the cheers of everyone else. Mr Brown was up and spying in the hope of finding some middle distance running talent amongst Hale's newest recruits. What he saw was a polished performance by Simon Mallabone, who, in a time of 15 mins 21 sec, crossed the finishing line just ahead of his Buntine stable mate Scott Trudgian and David Peake of Faulkner House. Overall Loton won this division.

Next on the schedule were the Under 15's and Scott Thompson of Loton repeated his success of last year by gaining first place in a time of 14 min 43 sec, which also enabled Loton to once again take first place in this division. He was followed by Josh Pettitt (Parry) and Wade Fiebert (Loton).

The Under 16 division saw Harry Green of Loton House come in victorious after 13 min 33 sec, in front of Damon Broom (Parry) and Loton's Anthony Eastman. Loton, Wilson and Faulkner occupied the first three places after the completion of this division and this order remained much the same for the rest of the afternoon.

The Under 17 division was won by Mark Chadwick of Riley in the fastest time of the day, only 12 min 47 sec being required for the 3.5 km circuit. He was closely followed by Buntine's Peter Daffen and Simon Davey. Faulkner, Loton and Wilson were now in 1st, 2nd and 3rd positions respectively.

The open division was, as usual, keenly contested with Jason Norrish (Wilson) eventually succeeding in a time of 13 min 02 sec, followed by Paul Stewart of Loton and Wilson's John Purves. Jason was awarded the Dave Roberts Perpetual Cross Country Trophy as the Open Champion.

Loton House, after the tallies were accumulated, was able to take home the Cross Country Challenge Cup as well as T. D. Hoar Trophy for the best boarding house, while Haynes House also took home a prize, although not a trophy, but rather the wooden spoon.

SOCCER REPORT

1989 was a year of achievement for Soccer at Hale. The '89 Soccer campaign was hampered with the usual burden of lack of numbers. However, the numbers in the junior ranks seemed encouraging with three teams being named. On paper the 1989 senior soccer squad seemed to lack the skill and depth required for a successful season.

Playing again as a 2nd XI team, due to a lack of players and hence strength, we were expected to only win a few games and lose the majority. However the team proved the critics wrong.

What the team lacked in skill and strength was made up with tenacity and solid team play; this coupled with the coaching of Mr La Bianca and the multi-talented managerial skills of Mr Pontin quickly brought us to the top of the division. This was much to the amazement of the other schools, and us! Our winning streak created much speculation as to whether we could make it in the 1st division. The rumours were answered with the announcement that Hale school would have its first 1st XI soccer team and its first game would be against Aquinas.

The news rejuvenated much lost pride in soccer at Hale, as it seemed the sport was beginning to be considered a major one. More people were turning up to training, although some players thought the move premature. We were all enthused at attempting to record Hale's first victory. Although this did not occur till our second last match we ended up with a credible record of one win, four losses and one draw (against the top team).

Not to be overshadowed by the 1st's the junior teams all achieved credible records and showed that Hale has a bright future in soccer. The year 9 team achieved a record of 5 wins and 4 losses and the Year 8 B and C teams also had success. With names such as Kiddy and Kittigam appearing regularly as best players.

Finally many thanks are due to all coaches for their efforts to make soccer '89 a memorable season, and special mention to Mr Pontin whose enthusiasm on the side lines and dedication helped make the team such a successful one.

Squash Report 1989

The construction of 4 new squash courts within the school gymnasium complex enticed a greater number of players to join the Hale squash ranks in 1989. This allowed us to enter 6 teams into the Coca Cola interschool squash competition.

Four of our team reached the finals two qualified for the grand finale.

The Under 16 team of James Kenneison, Craig Berg, Doug Haines and Cliff Winby played well to reach their grand final. A fine performance by all four.

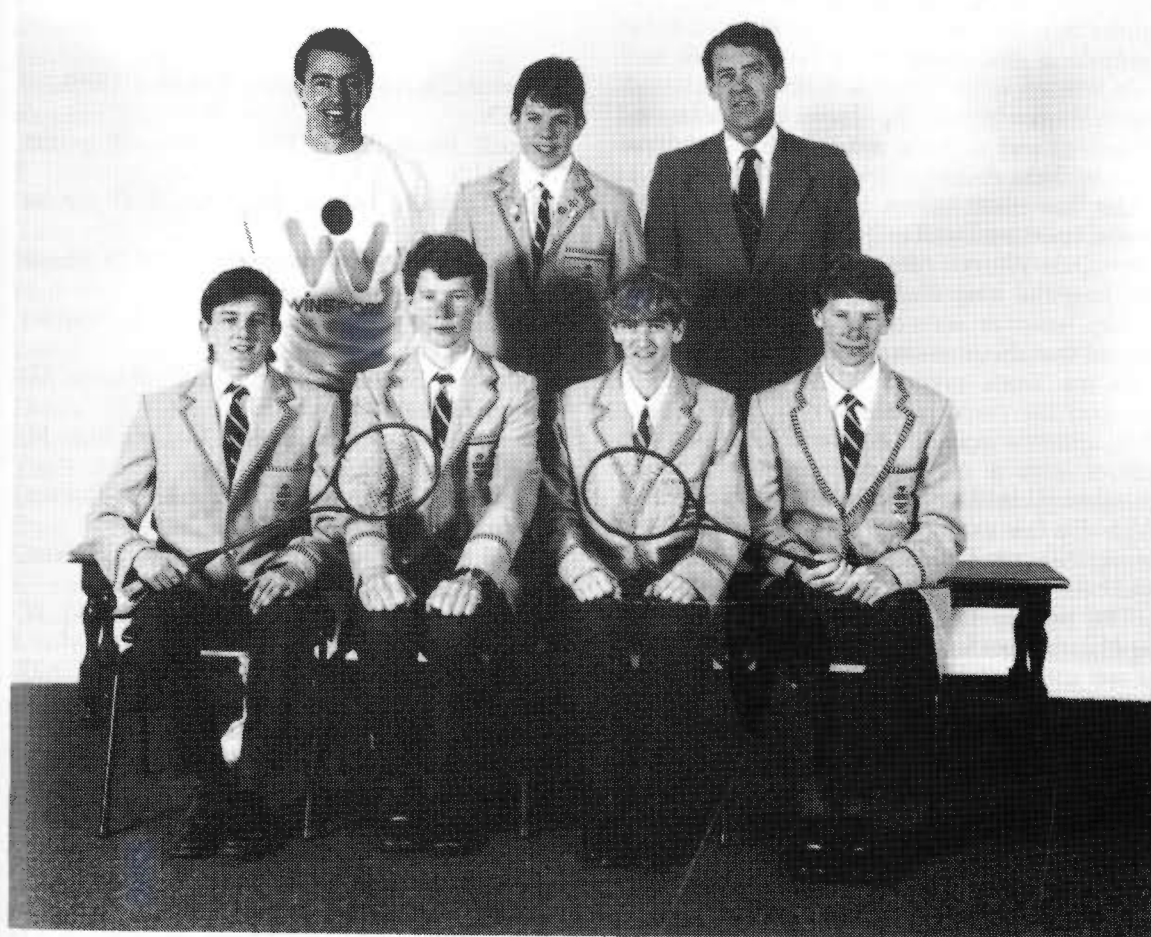

The 1st IV consisting of Troy Barbagallo, Mike McCormick, Mark Bredmeyer, Davide La Bianca and Andrew Jones were helped in their preparation for their finals by the expertise of ex-world ranked player and Old Haleian Dean Williams. We also had some keenly contested matches against the staff, with the likes of Mr Alderson, Mr Tompson and Mr Uphill.

All the preparation was worthwhile as we qualified for the State schoolboys division A grand final against Christchurch. Bredmeyer and McCormick got us off to a good start by winning their matches. La Bianca then sealed the final for us by winning in the fifth game after being two games down.

Our thanks go to Dean Williams for his invaluable advice and coaching skills and to Mr Edgar for managing all six teams through a very successful season.

Athletics Report

From the beginning this year's athletics carnival was going to be an up hill battle. For the first time in the P.S.A. history the athletics was held in September and on a Sunday. This left Hale with five weeks to prepare for the ferociously fought 'inters'.

The squads first meet was against Christchurch at Hale. The arduousness of such a short season was evident. It was going to be team discipline that was going to pull us through. Keen attendance by Hale athletes and some new records by Micheal Kelly and Adrian Webster gave encouragement to the team.

With two weeks before the carnival, the school championships gave coaches an insight to the teams depth and abilities while the boys contested for the age group champions and runner-ups. The highlights of the day were the exceptional performances by David Booth and Dale Warren in the 100m and 200m with David Booth narrowly winning. Times and distances compared well with the previous year resulting in many Stow Awards.

Our last meet before the carnival was the annual meet against Trinity. On the fast Trinity track Dale Warren came dangerously close to breaking the long standing '110 yard' record. Trinity, however, soon displayed their ability and proved that they were again a strong contender.

In the week preceding the carnival Hale reduced the training level. Friday saw a past Hale athletics legend, Ted Hantke, present the school with a photograph of himself when competing, and winning so many events for Hale. With this fine example to follow and with talks from other noted athlete old boys the Hale team was clear on their requirement.

The big day started slowly. A poor turnout by Hale supporters early on resulted in a lack of self esteem for the first up competitors and a phlegmatic beginning resulted. However Hale soon picked themselves up and some outstanding performances were displayed. Many of these were contributed by the open division who dominated their events. This was not enough though and it concluded in Hale slipping one place from last year to come a creditable fourth. Trinity were again easy winners.

The junior divisions were overwhelmed by the competitiveness and short season. With a more enthusiastic start to the 1990 season, some fine tuning to our preparation and a strong exhibition from the seniors the '89 season will be a mere detour to the road of success.

One victory Hale has every year is our ability to attract large numbers of staff. The athletics team appreciates all support by the staff. The commitment of Mr Greenwell and Mr Brown is especially recognised.

The interhouse competition is always an enjoyable day. This year saw a rare appearance from the boarding house, Faulkner, in the top position. However Parry took up the challenge early and never looked back to gain victory over Faulkner. Faulkner had revenge to win both the relay trophies.

This year a large Hale contingent entered the State Titles. Congratulations to the boys who were asked to represent the state. Special mention must go to Michael Kelly for gaining the State U/16 hammer record.

Stow Awards

This year there were fewer Stow Awards achieved by the Hale athletes which is not surprising as the season was considerably shorter than last. All schools would have experienced much the same situation. 71 Stow Awards were obtained by 50 Hale athletes against the 75 Stow Awards by 48 athletes.

Stow Awards were awarded to the following boys for such events:

School Records '89

Hale School went well in breaking so many records this year as there was such a short time period in which to attain perfection. There were 8 school records broken against the 13 last year. There were no P.S.A. records achieved by Hale, only 3 were attained at the Inters by all the schools.

U15 — D. Broom dominated this age group in middle distance records, starting at the Trinity meet. His 1500m he ran in 4min 27.1 seconds, beating last years record by 0.9 sec. He then ripped this time at the Inters to get a time of 4min 20.9 sec. Broom's most tremendous feat was his 3000m smashing the previous record at the School Championships by over 10 seconds then breaking this own record at the Inters ending up with 9min 22.4sec.

U16 — In the 1500m at the Inter School Athletics M. Chadwick broke a long standing time of 4min 18.1sec set by M. Johnston in 1974, his time being 4min 17.6seconds. G. Francis with a record breaking time of 9min 35.8sec in the 3000m, running this both at the School Championships and the Inter School Athletics. The record was previously held by both C. Davison and H. Grant being 9min 45.5sec. M. Kelly in Shot Put threw a tremendous 16m, smashing the 1986 record held by B. Barrows by 1.62m. In Discus he threw a distance of 50m breaking A. Webster's record of 49.77m in 1987, both these records were set at the School Championships.

Debating Report

In its 17th year at Hale, Debating yet again proved to be both a fulfilling and enjoyable experience for the 38 boys involved in both social and Inter-School Debating.

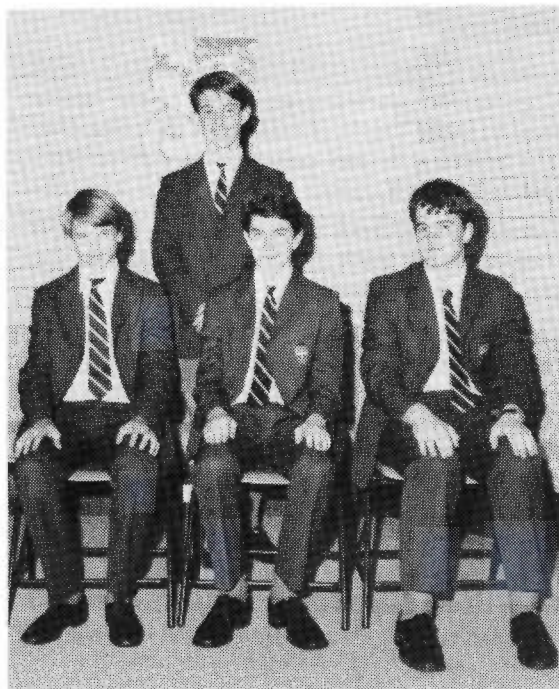

Under the watchful eye of Mr Goldsmith, the Hale debating society got off to a fine start with wins being recorded by all teams in the early rounds of the WADL competition. The year-long efforts of the year 10 and 11 teams ensured further such wins and a finals berth for each team: the best overall Hale debating results seen for seven years.

The year 12 team had a number of talented debaters under the dedicated guidance of Frankie Tenji who not only always argued the topic emphatically with the opposition, but also with anyone available on the way home. Various members of the year 12 team also had success in several public speaking competitions in the course of the year. Another notable year 12 debater was Courtney Davidson, who despite not amassing the big scores of Frank Tenji, amazed fellow debaters and adjudicators alike with his ability to talk about nuclear weapons and childbirth. Nick Flavel, David Booth, Michael Roe and Tony Eyres all gave solid and consistent performances throughout the year to ensure good senior results.

The year 10 team proved to be a talented and dedicated group of debaters, gaining a place in the finals. The good performances from the year 9's and 8's assure a successful future for the Hale Debating Society.

House debating is an important part of Hale debating, yet again organised by Mr Goldsmith. The competition proved to be a close and fiercely contested battle for all teams. Haynes were beaten in a semi-final round by the youthful Tregonning side who then went on to show just how strong the junior divisions of Hale debating are, by narrowly defeating an older Parry side.

“Fleance — A Classic Coincidence”

There was movement at the Memorial Hall, for the word had passed around that the auditions for this year's school play “Fleance” were to be held. A group of dedicated and enthusiastic boys assembled in dark and mysterious conditions to try out for one of the many parts up for grabs. The night proved to be a long and exhausting one, but also a very rewarding one. Mr Inverarity joined us as well, however I think his ambitions didn't so much lie on stage rather than in watching us. The auditions came to an end and each boy went home hoping for the best, while Mr Hopkins had that omniscient smile on his face.

The cast came together again when school commenced and now, as Mr Hopkins told us so often the hard work started. We now rehearsed long, long hours, which were filled out by doing homework (although some teachers didn't appreciate black make-up on maths problems) and watching Hale winning the debating. The Ladies Auxiliary sacrificed many mornings to produce another set of marvellous costumes which we all tried on and I can tell you, we certainly did look strange! This year the make-up was done by a group of girls from Perth College.

On Wednesday, 31st May, the first of three performances was presented in front of a paying audience of 380, consisting of ladies, gentlemen, children, teachers and boarders. As usual Mr Hopkins script was full of humour and not too hard to comprehend. Hubble (T. Berryman), Hubble (P. Berry), Doyle (G. Erskine) and Rubble (J. Purves), barristers, solicitors and financiers, want the site of the Empire Theatre for a major inner-city office development. The Empire, on the other hand, is celebrating its centenary and its owner Sir James Duncannon (T. Eyres) plans a special centenary production of Shakespeare's “Macbeth”.

The play will feature an all male cast. Hubble & Co., readily agree to finance the production, which they plan to sabotage (subtle sabotage). Amongst the colourful cast are Cameron Cawdle (M. Gebbie) as Macbeth, Albert Bannerman (T. Allan) as Lady Macbeth, and young Philip Rutland (R. Shilkin) as Fleance. Hubble & Co's plan is to let Cawdle take over the production in the hope that he turns the play into a modern musical, which Cawdle does with the aid of Bannerman. Suddenly Sir James Duncannon dies under mysterious circumstances and it seems that nothing can prevent the play from disaster and Hubble, Hubble, Doyle and Rubble from succeeding. However Sir James' son, Malcolm (N. Miller) and the newspaper “Mac” Duffield (A. Webster) smell foul play and with the help of most of the cast finally save the production by executing Cawdle and carrying off Lady Macbeth (who is “full of booze”). Opening night is saved and provides some totally unexpected and amusing results.

An estimated 1100 people came to see this year's school production, and listening to various people the play seemed to have been (once again) a great success. The show on Friday night before a capacity audience was probably the highlight of Hale's cultural year and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone involved. For many the play not only gave them the chance to display their theatrical talents but also to meet boys from other age groups as well as being confronted with teachers in a non-scholastic activity. As for my part I can only say that although school work surely suffered under all the rehearsals it was great to have been part of “Fleance”. To finish off the drama season in an orderly fashion, a party was held at Matt Gebbie's (president of the Hale dramatic society 1989) house which was relished by everyone including Mr Hopkins, who disregarding our pleas, didn't jump into the pool.

There are many people who have to be commended on helping to make the play so successful: The Ladies Auxiliary headed by Mrs Gebbie for their terrific costumes, Mrs Hairsine and her bunch of girls (Asheley, Danielle, Kate, Louise, Marieka, Melissa and Melissa, Nina and Rene) for their make-up, Mr Raymond Long for composing the music and manning the keyboard, David Chapell and the members of the stage crew for opening and closing the curtains and the band for keeping up the musical standard of previous plays. Finally, many thanks to Messrs Biddle, Johnson, Harvey and Van Oijen and, in particular to Mr Hopkins for helping to make “Fleance — A Classic Coincidence” such a great play to watch and perform in.

Exmouth Report

1989 saw Hale continue the tradition of taking all the year 11 boys up into the North-West of the state. This time the camp was in the Exmouth region. Base camp was at R.A.A.F. Learmonth. 'Adventure Out' supplied us with instructors and Brian Heibner was the master in charge from Hale with Shane Addis as his assistant. Activities this year included canoeing, caving, climbing, abseiling, fishing and skin diving.

Group 1

Group one was led by old boy Shane Addis who was often mistaken as one of the students. The first drama of the trip was supplied by John O'Brien, when he took the top off Daniel Simpson's toe. The closest relationship of the group was between Brendon Scott and his pick, who didn't part company once during the trip. The main cook of the group was Peter Daffen who was always trying a new recipe. His best effort was fish cakes. The weakest jokes were supplied by Duncan Hogg, whilst James Kenneison always managed to make it to bed before 'Fat Cat'! The fastest canoeist was Adam Mezger while Monty King was the group's most co-ordinated abseiler. Overall the group enjoyed being first on the new Exmouth program and they gained a lot of experience from it. Gavin Barugh, Steve McLaughlin, Luke Herman and Adam Rule were the rest of the group.

D. Hogg.

Group 2

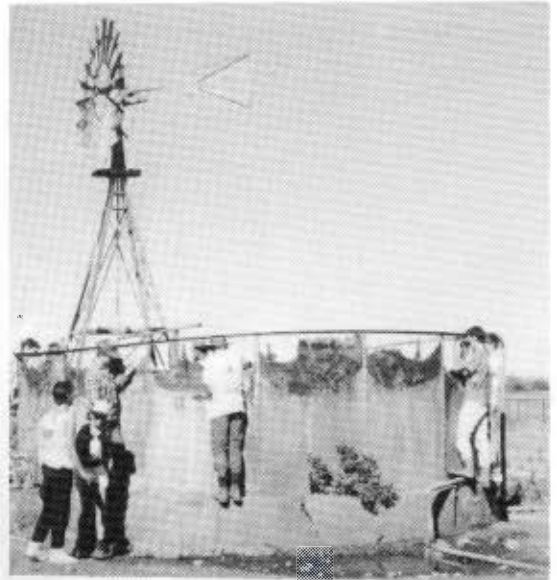

Group two were accompanied by Mr S. Mumme, who fitted in as a member of the group rather than a master with his cries of "stout fellow!", and his rather characteristic laugh! The thirteen days were full of incidents and accidents and by the end of it Jamie Edis indisputably won the "Beard Contest". Simon Davey and Owen Morton proved reliable navigators, Ben Mann and Garath Bamford proved confident rockclimbers. "What's ya game plan?", could always be heard when Mark Major was around, and "snake!, where?" indicated the presence of Michael Tringas. Utpaul Gope conquered his fear of heights to become an adept abseiler, James Jooste's left foot proved particularly accident prone, while Mark Chadwick enjoyed frequent fitness runs to remote telephones. The group as a whole enjoyed the distinction of discovering a very large cave in the Cape Ranges, dubbed "Hale's Hole" by popular choice.

J. Jooste.

Group 3

Under the watchful eye of 'Coo-ee' Campbell group three had a most rewarding stay at Exmouth. The highlight of the trip was the Mandu Mandu walk which although trying and a harrowing experience for such worriers as Michael, "I need a rest", Panagyres and Michael, "are we lost?", Spartalis, it was enjoyed by all. This walk led us to the Ningaloo reef side of Exmouth peninsula where Paul 'S.A.S.' Coulton discovered latent talents and Andrew Davey assisted in the capture of two octopus. Matthew Cassey excelled in the abseiling field as did Elliott 'Beans' Bruton in the volleyball area. Duncan Blake found his forte in hurling himself off cliffs unannounced to those on the rock face or below in the water and Matthew Greenway as well as Nick Porzig were to dominate the rock climbing department. However, 'Romenov' Campbell, through his elegant attire consisting mainly of knee-high football socks and constant mathematical analogies, INTENTIONALLY provided most of the humour on the trip. Matthew Pickford was also in the group.

T. Hewitt

Group 4

Mr S. Mumme also led group four, a mixed bunch of boys. It was often left to us to figure out our location and navigate to the given destination, which we all enjoyed thoroughly. Terry 'Tough' Counsel and David 'Coon' Pritchard were our star navigators, who led us to all kinds of strange places. Peter 'Vince'

Klinger was the garbage bag in the group, carrying all the rubbish we had and picking up the things others dropped on the way.

Whether there was water around or not Crofton 'Digger' Daniels always had his lines out in hope of catching some fish. Raymond 'Stingray' Morris and Marcus 'Beaver' Bosworth always walked at the back and talked about rugby. Rowan 'Rozza' Calvert provided the entertainment during the camp and Jason 'Nerd' Nelson the best jokes.

David 'Lawrence' Thomas paddled so energetically during the canoe trip that his paddle never touched the water! Jason 'Carbs' Carboni was the camp cook. We all loved the curry stews. Hall 'Noddy' Jackson could be found looking at and eating the food non-stop. Simon 'Pano' Panegyres preferred sultanas over and above everything else.

All in all the group had a most enjoyable time and we now know how to cook, wash and clean up. Now nothing stands in our way to take over the family household!

P. Klinger

Group 5

Dave 'Physical' Alderson set the scene for a hard two weeks with his opening effort of a 10km run after the first night. The varying ability within the group did not hinder its conquest of all obstacles. The low point of the trip was a caving accident in which Corey Duncan's attempt on Steve Brindal's life failed, however, it did give Des Harris the chance to put into action his first aid training. Darren Brandli and Michael Arnold were the two mainly responsible for such cooking delicacies as stew, although on the second last night most group members chose to eat nothing rather than to attempt a fourth night of stew. Paris Watt caught our only whole mud crab during our time at the Bay of Rest and Lloyd Pinczuk provided the travelling entertainment with his impersonations of a walking backpack. Anthony 'Chubb' Witham and Brett Althorpe attempted to finish off the trip by creating a mini-famine in the Exmouth township after a very successful raid on the town's supermarket. In conclusion the camp was enjoyed by all (the abseiling and climbing particularly). Other members of Group five were Dave Farris, Kelvin Munro, Dan Kamien and Tim Davies.

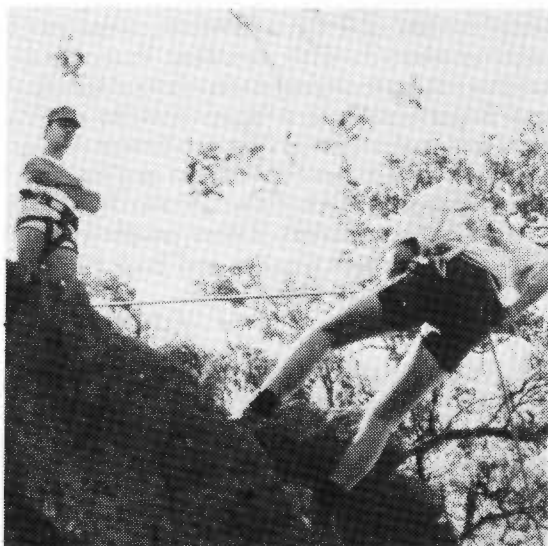

K. Munro & D. Harris

Group 6

Group 6 was ably led by Mr P. Welsh who was to undertake his first (and last!) Exmouth program. Group six was the first to make the 80ft abseil down to the second chamber of the cave, and to have all members make the jump at Yardie Creek, including Adam Durell who after being forced by family tradition, finally made his long awaited jump. The always hungry Jamie Dutton, Elliott Rowton and Chris Allen were almost physically attacked by the rest of the crew after eating more than their allocated number of tinned pears. Ben Nicholas earned the nick name 'Yuk' as he was never too impressed by the food provided. Adam learnt how not to fill up his cooking stove with methylated spirits when it was still alight and as a consequence of the explosion, James 'Doodles' Jonasson's backpack and camera caught on fire. With a huge lack in navigating skills, Chris Hanson made the group walk double the distance to Mandu Mandu making it over 30km, causing Mr Welsh and several others to become rather delirious making them shout a few certain words they normally would not say in the classroom. Other quieter members of the group but who thoroughly enjoyed the experience were: Josh Rance, Ben Griffiths, Craig Rowston, Sam Dyson, Dylan Reeves and Simon Kelsall.

E. Rowton.

Group 7

Under the watchful eye of Mr J. Arkle group seven spent 12 adventurous days and nights in the North West. These were highlighted by the many entertaining nights from Byron Lockyer's guitar, Simon Edgar's unfortunate accident looking for oysters, and the destruction of half the forest by 'Arnie' Matthew Simpson and 'Linda' Josh Wilson. Another highlight was the testing Mandu Mandu walk which was.

supposedly a 10km walk which ended up being at least 20km.

The group also learnt a lot about each of its members. 'Noah' seemed a fitting name for Simon Logie, and we also learnt of Peter Hairsine's attempt at going for a record for the dirtiest shirt. We also learnt of Julian Cooke's special rugby talent. While Doug Haines, Tim House, Matthew Tiller, Tristan Van Riel and Sunil Patel were content to watch the others display their 'talents'. While Cameron Munahen attempted to break records for the number of jumps off a gorge. Doug Haines and Sunil Patel did a spot of bird watching at Yardie Creek. In all we enjoyed the adventure, and thought it was a worthwhile experience for all year 11's.

S. Patel

Group 8

You could not find a more diverse range of boys than in group eight. From day one Wal Campbell and Christian Vuckman made the most of the elements in a bid to get the best tan. With such a large range of activities we were constantly on the move. Within such a group there are always the comics, whether intentional or not. So with Simon Herbert's cynical comments and Craig Manner's bogan ways, there was always something to laugh at. Simon Molloy and Paul Morretta, were not laughing though with Andrew Innocent's constant efforts to devour the trio's food supply. Vern Fogarty seemed to think that, to climb better, you need to make the most noise. Over the longer hikes Simon Thompson and the two quieter boarders, Mark White and Kim Massey, were among the leaders. Other people in the group were Matthew Strahan and Brett Hayes. Thanks to our master Mr K. Moir.

M. Strahan.

Group 9

Many exciting events occurred during the Exmouth program and individuals fetishes became obvious. Allan Razali was so fond of curry powder that it was to be found on everything. Deon Harris created a new name for himself by sitting bolt upright at 2.00am and screaming out. Group nine completed the program proficiently and everyone attempted everything. It was a great learning experience and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the Mandu Mandu walk right through to the end. Exmouth '89 was brilliant. Members of group nine were Simon Bedbrook, Nick Measday, Allan Razali, Steven Berg, Michael McCormick, Grant Allen, Peter Cregan, Mark Diamond, Layne Rodgers, Roger Orford, Simon Trinder, Deon Harris and Kirk Winnett. The group master was Mr D. Bean.

S. Bedbrook.

Group 10

Group ten was led by a man who caught no fish, Mr R. Goater. The members of the group were Daniel Hester, Simon Ham, Kelvin Holmes, Nathan Fidge, Andrew Berrey, Ian Healey, Matthew Shaw, Jordan Hollingwoth, Craig Berg, Hamish Grant, Jason Field, Ryan Calnan and Matthew Grey. We had a great time soaking up the sun whilst attempting to fish. All we caught were 13 blowfish all by Mr Goater! The 5a.m. start to Mandu Mandu was made easier through Jason Fields walking and climbing skills. If the bush didn't kill him the group was very tempted. All in all the group had a great time and would like to thank Mr Goater for being so patient.

D. Hester.

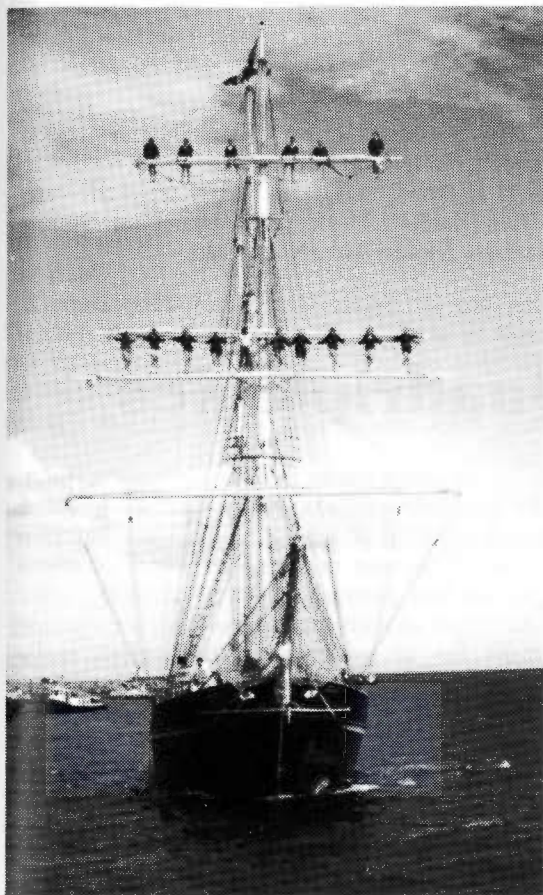

LEEWIN VOYAGE '89

Much of the immense exhilaration of being part of the Sail Training Ship, "Leeuwin II" is beyond explanation. The thrill of sailing more than 850 miles across an expanse of water, surrounded by only the natural forces of the earth and completely out of reach of civilisation, is phenomenal. Watching the early morning sun illuminate the ocean from the top of the 35 metre tall mainmast, and at the end of the day witnessing the endless horizon engulf the sun in a fiery display of stunning colours, the entire voyage is a fabulous experience, well worth all the hard work that is put in through the 10 days. Sailing such a ship for such a distance requires a lot of effort and co-operation amongst the 40 trainees on board. It was certainly not a holiday, but a fantastic experience enjoyed by all who participated. Every blister and sleepless night was certainly worth it. The trainees were divided into four watches (ten to a watch, plus a watch-leader). After only a few days of the rigorous routine, members of the watch become almost like a "family", always willing to assist one another and to work hard for the watch.

The highlight of my voyage was our visit to the Monte Bellos Islands and the daily occurrence "Leeuwin Sports" in which everyone participated in the enjoyable sport or activity. Activities included an hilarious game called "Bridges" and "Teakles", a very different sort of obstacle course. There was also egg-parachuting, water fights, a seated tug-o-war and a relay in which you had to transfer a baton between your legs and an orange held under your chin without using any hands. The last night, however, was by far the best when everyone had to put on some sort of performance, skit or song. The night was a huge success. The object of sail training is not to produce sailors or yachtsmen but, through the adventure of a traditional sailing ship to provide an opportunity for young people to develop qualities of leadership, independence, initiative and self discipline. A voyage on S.T.S. Leeuwin provides an ideal testing environment, conducive to the development of good character, community spirit and responsibility. It not only provides youngsters with an adventurous challenge, it also extends each individual's physical and psychological limits as well as promoting personal maturity and co-operation with others. I believe the voyage was beneficial to me in many of the aspects mentioned above and no doubt for anyone else who shared the unique experience.

Rottnest Reafforestation 1989

This year saw the seventh Hale reafforestation group go to Rottnest. Since 1983, 130 boys have been involved in the project, planting some 13,000 seedlings, with a 70% to 80% success rate. Other activities have included sand dune restoration, fencing and seed collection.

Half of the group departed on Saturday morning with Mr John Barrymore, a keen Old Boy and regular Rottnest pilgrim. The trip was too much for Matthew Stinton who was not at all well, much to the amusement of the sailors on the U.S.S. Ranger.

Sunday morning was spent planting trees at Marjorie Bay. The remainder of the group came over to Rottnest after their sporting commitments at school. That afternoon Chas Hamen, a ranger and our supervisor for the week showed us around the island. We saw some of the work done by Hale in previous years.

On Monday the group cut dune wattle to spread on the bare dunes at Rocky Bay to prevent erosion. Such labour intensive jobs are most important as the locals just don't have the numbers to do it efficiently.

Tuesday and Wednesday were spent planting trees north of Porpoise Bay and around the island's two major lakes. This was a very time consuming activity as each plant required a wire guard around it to protect them from the Quokkas.

Paul Smith and Paul Stewart, being the party's most photogenic members, spent Tuesday afternoon posing for the "Daily News" and appeared in that paper on the Friday we left.

Thursday morning was spent completing the brushing at Rocky Bay, fencing the area off and scattering spinifex seeds. After lunch the group split up to do smaller jobs. Some weeded the early Hale plantation while others collected seeds for next year's programme. The remainder built a fence, complete with walkways and steps at Fay's Bay.

While not working, the group entertained themselves by playing golf, tennis and swimming.

The whole group would like to thank the staff involved who organised the trip and made it a worthwhile experience.

The staff involved were: Mr St. J. Kenny, Mr J. Wallman, Mr P. Welsh, Mr J. Cooper, Mr J. Eyres (ex-staff member), and Mr J. Barrymore (Old Boy).

Boys: Michael Roe, Stanley Gorton, Rohan Mistilis, Michael Dunbar, Paul Dunbar, Myles Gordon, Paul Major, Robin Crewe, Steven Yovich, David Darragh, David La Bianca, Paul Stewart, Rohan Sadler, Matthew Berry, Paul Smith, Matthew Stinton and James Allan.

Helping the Quadriplegics

On the 7th April 1989, Union leaders in Perth once again decided to leave their jobs and strike. The people who were affected were not only the striking hospital nurses, but more particularly the hospital patients waiting to be treated. They were unable to care for themselves and needed assistance. One of our senior staff, Mr Smith, was asked by the Quadriplegic Station of Royal Perth Hospital if Hale School boys would volunteer to help out on that particular Monday night. Due to school and sport activities, the number of volunteers was small, however the interest shown was very satisfying. Terry Counsel, Nick Flavel, Rowan Saddler and Peter Klinger finally set out with Mr Smith to fulfil the task. Once there, we were made familiar with everything. The first job was a combined effort to lift a patient from his chair, undress him and put him to bed. This was repeated a couple of times until we had assisted all male patients. They didn't trust us with the females! We even made drinks for all patients and everyone really enjoyed Haleian hospitality. After two hours we said "goodnight" and left. I think this was a very rewarding experience for all four volunteers. I hope others will have a chance to see the difficulties which quadriplegic patients have to surmount, but hopefully under different circumstances.

SKI TRIP

During the second week of the July holidays, a group of boys prepared to tackle the slopes of Mount Hotham in Victoria. Many were novice skiers and all were looking forward to the adventures ahead. We left Perth airport at 12 noon and arrived at Tullamarine airport at 7 p.m. Everyone was in high spirits. After reaching the Diplomat Hotel in St. Kilda, we prepared to settle down for some sleep before making the bus trip up the mountain. Thanks to the experience of our bus driver, the trip took just a little bit longer than five hours and we ended up arriving at the Arlberg Hotel early in the evening. Once we were allocated our rooms we were quick to familiarise ourselves with them — and many others as well. We then had the annual first day snowfight, followed by the first of many interesting meals. We were more than eager to take to the slopes in the morning.

The next day we donned our ski gear and prepared to go down the slopes in any way we could. Although most of us got the hang of doing this in the normal fashion, we did have some falls and accidents. The main problem was getting into a chairlift. Daredevil Matthew Simpson and friends managed to take the “no guts, no glory” motto literally and were tackling back slopes on the first day. Meanwhile, some others were content to stay in their room (special mention to Sharbanee).

Cameron Munachen managed to get the Golden Stack award with his example of how not to get on a ski lift. Paul Marreta notched up the land speed record with his attempt at “stair skiing”. Another group were preoccupied with other indoor activities and even though we thought everyone knew what room they were in, many ended up spending the night in the wrong room (notably Layne Rodgers). Not to be outdone by the year 11's, the year 10 group showed us a thing or two about their coordination down the slopes and at indoor activities.

After four days of skiing in perfect conditions most of us had mastered the art of falling and had acquired our own unique techniques. We had also learnt how to ski a little!

Our next destination was Melbourne where we had one night and a day. Some of us watched a VFL game, while others experienced the atmosphere of the Melbourne Markets. Another group went wandering into town and found the Myer store so very big and easy to get lost in (special mention to Cameron Blackwell). After everyone had experienced a little bit of Melbourne, we boarded the plane for Perth and our holiday had ended.

Many thanks must go to Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their daughter for supervising our juvenile delinquents, and for arranging the trip.

CORDINGLEY CUP REPORT

On Saturday 13th May, the annual Cordingley Cup surfing contest was held in good size, one metre conditions. With Mr. Hunn and Mr. Moir judging the event the contest was underway by 7.00 a.m. Due to the large crowd and straight banks we moved our contest area south of the Trigg Beach carpark. Without doubt the closest and most radical heat of the day was the second semi-final in which J. Dutton, S. Bedbrook, A. Durell and J. Rance all displayed their explosive skills. Only one point separated the last three place-getters with J. Dutton being the eventual winner of both the heat and the final. The final placings were as follows: 1st: Jamie Dutton 2nd: Simon Bedbrook 3rd: David Farris 4th: Robbie George.

Special thanks must go to Cordingley for sponsoring the event in the way of the “Cordingley Cup” and visors and also to Mr. Hunn and Mr. Moir for organising and judging the event.

Ningaloo Fishing Trip

After completing a seventeen hour bus trip and quickly setting up camp we had our first taste of what Ningaloo had to offer, with a very eventful night's fishing. Three keen fishermen were the first to venture out to the reef, and in what were less than ideal conditions the group tangled with some excellent Spangled Emperor, and a variety of smaller fish. This night was to set the pace for the rest of the week.

T. Shallcross, Mr L. Nunn.

The Ningaloo campsite, approximately 1300km north of Perth, was simply a small clearing in the dunes, with a lean-to which was to become the main eating area. Here the tents were erected. The party of 26, eleven of whom were Hale School students, was originally equipped with four boats. However, after a couple of days only two were operational and as a result all of the fishing was done inside the main Ningaloo reef.

The first day dawned bright and clear and small groups of students began taking the boats out early to exploit what were excellent fishing conditions. Most students chose to fish in close proximity to the reef where there seemed to be an endless supply of fish. Tight lines were enjoyed by all for the next seven days and there was constant traffic to and from the reef. Within a day of our arrival big fish were being brought back to the camp by nearly everyone who went out in a boat. The best of these fish was a Giant Trevally which tipped the scales at 50 pounds. This huge fish, although hooked on a heavy hand-line, stubbornly resisted arrest for well over a quarter of an hour. Finally it was pulled into the boat by an exhausted crew of four. The rest of the fish included many Golden Trevally in excess of the 10 kilo mark, and Long-Tom, a great fighting fish. An abundance of reef fish was also present. Well proportioned Spangled Emperor and various representatives of the cod family engulfed nearly everything we cared to try as bait.

Night fishing, not only in the dinghy but also from the beach brought some luck to those who persisted. However, most of the fish were caught in the morning when the tides were favourable.

Diving in the warm water was also a delight. The water was in places thick with masses of brightly coloured reef fish, but the occasional shark kept us on our toes. Many crayfish were also caught by the group. On one particular occasion a magnificent crayfish dinner was caught and here Mr Biddle had an unbeatable formula for bringing in his bag limit. Three very large crayfish each measuring nearly half a metre from tail to head were also caught and along with Tim Simpson's Giant Trevally caught earlier, were the catch of the week.

The news of cyclone Orson dampened the whole situation and it was finally decided that the group should leave a day early. Nevertheless most of the students left feeling satisfied that they had spent over a week in a superb diving and fishing spot.

S. Dethlefsen, T. Simpson, T. Shallcross, N. Hawksford.

Thanks must go to the adults who accompanied the students up to Ningaloo. Mr McAtee, Mr Brown, Mr and Mrs Gray, Mr and Mrs Biddle and Mr and Mrs Nunn all contributed to the success of the trip, through their careful preparations and knowledge of the area. The help of the Shallcross family also made the trip a very enjoyable one for all those involved.

FIRST AID

In preparation for the north west camp situated near Exmouth, twenty boys underwent a first aid course. Two teachers Mr. J. Arkle and Mrs. L. Green also took the course. Mrs. Liz Gent was once again our very efficient and friendly instructor. The course lasted five weeks and was held on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

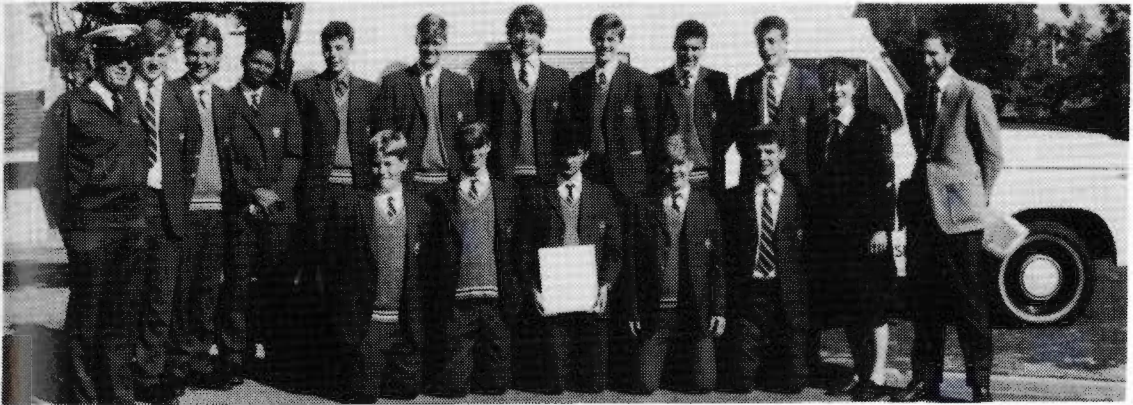

Covered in the course were expired air resuscitation, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, management of broken bones, bleeding control and other small topics such as snake bite, burns and poisons. After the completion of the course, first aid certificates were awarded at assembly. Mrs. Gent also presented the school with a plaque in appreciation of the ongoing work in first aid.

Those who completed the course were:

RED CROSS BLOOD DONATING

On the 8th of August this year the Mobile Red Cross Blood Clinic came to Hale. The equipment was set up in the school hall and the idea was to show the whole school that blood donating is not the fearsome activity that many people think it is. On the day 40 boys and 20 parents donated.

Upon arrival each donor's personal details were recorded and each was interviewed, which involved some rather revealing questions! The haemoglobin count was then taken, which involved a small pin prick in the thumb. The blood was then put on a slide and tested. Following this each person was designated a bed and his blood pressure was taken. A small local anaesthetic was then given and the actual donation started. This took about 10 minutes depending on how fast the blood flowed. The best part was yet to come, that being the coffee and biscuits plus the famous "Mars Bar". This was the longest process and usually took up to half an hour or even longer for some, like Frankie Tenji.

1989 — Prefects Dance

On Saturday 19th August, the annual Prefects Dance was held once again in the School Memorial Hall. With the theme of the dance being the "French Revolution" the prefects succeeded in completely transforming the Hall in an array of red, white and blue. The suspended parachutes and sails, a countless number of floral arrangements and balloons, together with the smoke machine producing a "romantic" haze. This set the mood and atmosphere for the most anticipated event on the social calendar.

After a brief introduction to the dashing Mr Inverarity and the elegant Mrs Inverarity at the door, the boys led their partners to the dance floor to begin a night of intense, non-stop bopping to the tunes of the band "The Never-Never".

The attending crew soon moved across the quadrangle to congregate in the Dining Hall to indulge in a delightful selection of food so that depleted levels of energy could be replenished. Adrian Webster and Mark Foster strung a few words together and then it was back to the dance floor.

Towards the end of the night, the talented trio of Tim Simpson, Lincoln Dye and Greg Erskine got on stage to give the band a rest and to proceed in entertaining the multitude through a presentation of humorous awards.

With the night beginning to wind down, the band played their last set of songs and it was then, sadly the end of the 1989 Prefects Dance. Many thanks must go to the mothers who contributed and helped with the floral arrangements and other decorations, the prefects and teachers who managed to organise such a successful dance, to the Hale catering staff who once again provided a delectable supper for the boys and their partners, and not forgetting the year 9 drink waiters who managed to stay up way past their bed time to make sure no-one was thirsty throughout the night?

Old Haleians Association President's Report

1989 was a milestone for the Association, which has amalgamated its effort with the other Hale family organisations to produce "The Haleian" instead of "The Old Haleian". All Old Boys welcomed John Inverarity in his first year as Headmaster. He has kept us informed of the School functions and his infectious enthusiasm for the well being of the School has been an inspiration to strive harder for the School's financial security. In this regard the Association is proud to be a Patron of the Foundation at its first achievement of $2.25 million and plan to build on this commitment in 1990. Together with the Foundation and the other Hale family members, preparation for a major fund raising auction has begun.

Already tangible benefits endowed by the Foundation can be seen at the School. The opening of the gymnasium together with its squash courts and the new composite hockey pitch were features of this year and in which the Association has shared.

A very successful winter sports day was testimony to existing Old Boy/school boy fellowship. Of particular note was the performance on the new hockey pitch where low-grade hockey was transformed into an enjoyable spectator spectacle. The facility at the hockey pitch is not yet complete but with the continuing aid of the Old Haleians' Hockey Club and the Old Haleians' Association we hope soon to see a sophisticated change room built.

In addition to its financial commitment, the Association has a management role in the School. This year the financial aspect of the Association has been achieved through the Foundation while the management component is exercised through the Old Boy nominated members of the Board of Governors. These members include Martin Brandreth, Robert Hyde, Ken Rosenthal and Jonathon Ilbery. They all generously give their time to the School and to our Association at its monthly meetings where they keep us informed of the immediate needs within the School. Robert Hyde has made a mammoth contribution by bringing the Association and the Foundation to country Old Boys. On the retirement of Tony Davey we welcome Jonathon Ilbery to the Board and look forward to seeing him at our Association meetings next year. Congratulations to Martin Brandreth and Ken Rosenthal on their involvement on the grounds committee. Ken Rosenthal retires from the Board this year and so we wish him and Tony Davey well in their new interests and hobbies. On behalf of the Association may I thank you both for your time and effort in keeping the old School top side up.

Fellowship and scholarship are the other principle components of the Association. An Old Boy scholarship was not awarded in 1989. A suitable recipient was not identified, however, a commitment to the educational component of the Foundation will hopefully serve many Old Boys' sons or grandsons. If there is an Old Boy's son in need we would welcome the opportunity to review the problem and, where possible, assist.

There has been strength in fellowship, this has been the cornerstone of Foundation dinners, at Old Boys' Day, Winter Sports Day, a retired Old Boys' luncheon, class reunions and recently at the Pingrup country dinner. Sadly I was overseas on Old Boys' day. Although there was a smaller turnout, a very enjoyable occasion was had by all. Thanks to the Kelly brothers, Roger Gray and Steve Varty for their organisation on the day. I've already alluded to winter sports day, thanks to Steve Morris. Equally the retired Old Boys' lunch was a great success, thanks to Ken Tregonning, Alex Panarese and Tom Hoar. The Pingrup country dinner was a boomer, all for $40, thanks to Wally O'Halloran and Richard Truscott. Wally rounded up a friend and parent of the school, Dixie Solly, to give us an hilarious thirty minutes of poetry.

In conclusion, let me say thanks to my fellow committee members and to our secretary Tom Hoar. Tom has laboured tirelessly on your behalf in a job that now requires a couple of days a week. He has located many unrecorded Old Boys and brought them back to the fold. I am sure there must be others, please contact us. Finally, might I congratulate all Old Boys and, of course, friends of the School who enabled the Foundation to achieve its initial goal. However the battle is not yet won, private education is still under threat and tall poppies still a target for levelling. Let it not happen; we offer the best education for our sons so help us keep it affordable for our grandsons.

Parents and Friends Association

The Hale Parents and Friends Association has enjoyed a very successful year, with a much expanded program of activities and fund-raising.

The system of sub-committees, introduced in 1988, is now working well. The sub-committees are Parent Liaison, Social, Education and Fund Raising. Each has a Chairman and 3-6 members, either from the elected P&F committee or co-opted from the parent body. Six parents were co-opted to "support" the P&F committee this year. This gave the committee a broader base and provided better representation of the school body; almost every grade and year was represented on the committee.

Parent Liaison (Don Holywell) is concerned primarily with improving communications between parents and the school. The Resource Register was established during the year. Data from the questionnaires have been compiled on computer, and are being used successfully as needs arise. We expect this to be used extensively in the future. The revamping of the Haleian, and the introduction of a fortnightly newsletter — both long-standing P&F aspirations — were welcome achievements.

The Education Sub-Committee (Brian Mutzig) is focussed on educational and programs of benefit to both parents and students. An excellent talk on adolescent stress by Lou Thomson, a prominent Perth educational psychologist, was very well attended and very worthwhile. A stress management program for students is currently being reviewed. Through Anne Hairsine, the committee was able to assist the school in recruiting the new Music/Drama teacher for the Junior School.

The Social Sub-Committee (Glenys Pickford)

organised school picnics early in the year, and staged a very entertaining Jazz at Vespers, with the New Orleans Dixieland Jazz Band. The Quiz Night at Observation City was another success.

Fund-Raising (Trevor Greig) organised the very successful Disneyland raffle, raising over $8000.00. The lucky winner was Robyn Read, of Kallaroo — a neighbour to the Prattini family. Special prize for most tickets sold went, with our thanks, to C. Cole.

The extra income has enabled the P&F to help the school in a great variety of ways in 1989. Over $25,000 has been provided to the school. The Junior School had the lion's share of it this year: new computers, a new PA system, and a Fitness Track were installed, and funding has been provided for new musical instruments and equipment for the Outdoor Program. At the Senior School, the $7500 pledged in 1987 to help computerise the Senior School Library was provided. A program to decorate the schoolrooms with prints of paintings and photographs has been initiated at the Headmaster's invitation, and should brighten 1990's walls. The P&F was also pleased to contribute to the installation of ramps at Memorial Hall and the S Block.

The P&F Committee thanks the parents who supported us during the year. A special thanks to the new Headmaster, John Inverarity, and the Junior School Master, Harry Weston. The new mood of innovation, co-operation and communication is appreciated and applauded. My personal thanks to the committee, both elected and co-opted.

Ladies Auxiliary

The Hale Ladies Auxiliary have had a busy and successful year during 1989. A Sundowner was the first major function for the year and was organized by the Auxiliary and the P & F. We had the privilege of welcoming our new Headmaster Mr John Inverarity and his wife Jane.

The first major fund raising function of the year was a Film Morning at the Windsor Theatre.

An enthusiastic crowd of 200 enjoyed "MOONSTRUCK" starring Cher and enjoyed a chicken and champagne luncheon afterwards prepared by the Ladies. I would like to thank Helen Vinton and her sub)committee for all their hard work in providing such an enjoyable morning. "Fleance; A Classic Co-incidence" was the successful school play for 1989. The Ladies Auxiliary were delighted to be asked by Jeff Hopkins to help with the costumes. Kay Gebbie did a superb job of co-ordinating the costume making with the able assistance of Dawn Trudgian, Jane Inverarity and Val MacDonagh. Thanks to these Ladies and all the willing Auxiliary members and mums of boys in the play who did the costume making. Self congratulations were undertaken at a pleasant luncheon at Mosman Tea Rooms.

The most delightful functions of the Ladies Auxiliary is preparation of end of term morning teas. We have been fortunate this year in that Alex Panarese has been conducting informative school tours prior to our morning teas. This has encouraged more fathers to attend our morning teas. It has been beneficial to welcome to ALL PARENTS at our morning teas as it is a great chance to chat informally with the headmaster and teachers. The major challenge is to guess your son's teacher by matching the teacher's name with your son's nickname for that teacher. Parents attended the final assembly of the school in Term II and III.

Morning teas have been organised for individual years. This is a great opportunity to meet the parents of your son's friends. Thank you to the Ladies Auxiliary for their work at these morning teas.

Spring came early to Hale School with the fashion parade of the Spring/Summer Collection of Fiona Andrews. The ladies put in hours of work to produce colourful paper flowers which transformed the Memorial Hall and complemented the colourful fashions. The beautiful Hale mums, Margaret, Joan, Judy, Sue and Bev, with Judith and Anna again took the plunge and graced the catwalk with much flair. Alex Panarese confidently took on the job of compere. More than 300 ladies enjoyed the fashions, champagne, brunch and generous Raffle prizes. Thanks to Dawn Trudgian and Shona Samson for their co-ordinating efforts and the hard work of the whole Auxiliary.

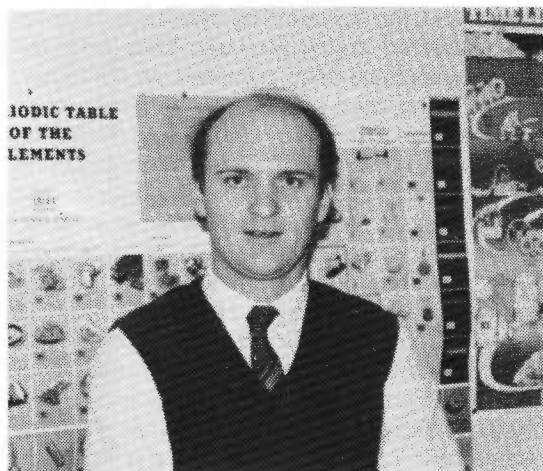

Other Auxiliary functions have been to assist the P & F at their functions of Jazz at Vespers and the P & F Quiz Night as well as assisting the Junior School mothers in a book presented to Mrs Hills on her retirement. It consisted of the signatures of all the boys at Hale School who Mrs Hills taught in Year 1. The Funds which the Ladies Auxiliary have raised have been used for completing the gazebo adjoining the tennis courts as well as providing prints to decorate the walls of the boarding houses Wilson and Faulkner. Finally, I would again like to thank the enthusiastic Ladies of the Auxiliary. They have always been so supportive. I would also like to thank teachers and staff of Hale School for their co-operation and goodwill with Auxiliary functions and activities. A special thank you must go to the Alex Panarese and Steve Varty for their support throughout the year.

I invite mums who would like to be a part of our team to come to our Annual General Meeting early in 1990. It is a great way to be involved with your son's school.

Paul Welsh

Mr Paul Welsh arrived in Perth, fresh from England and courtesy of a Fairbridge Scholarship, in the summer of 1980. After completing a Chemistry degree and Education studies at the University of WA, Paul joined Hale in 1984.

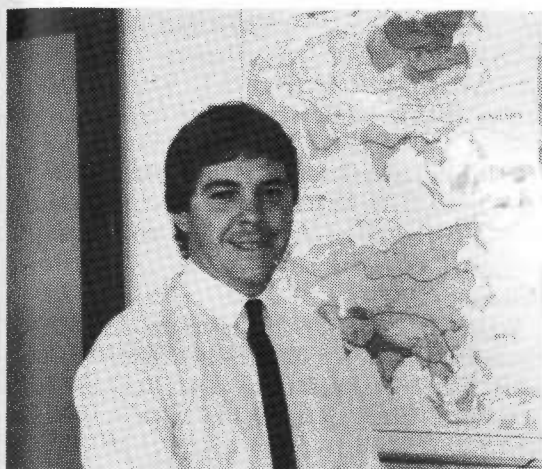

From day one, Paul's career at Hale has been marked by a willingness to be involved in the various spheres of life at Hale and to do so with genuine enthusiasm and exceptional competence. This enthusiasm is evident whether he is in the Chemistry laboratory, on the Rugby field or at the jump's pit, patrolling the grounds on the night of the Prefect's dance, around a campfire at Wittenoom or explaining just how Liverpool made that second goal from nothing as the boys plant yet another tree at Rottnest.

Paul is first and foremost a very good Chemistry teacher. His knowledge of the subject and his ability to communicate effectively with his students have been invaluable to those tackling this sometimes difficult discipline. It is for this that he will be most missed.

Paul leaves Hale at the end of this year to take up an appointment as Head of Science at Scotch Oakburn in Launceston. The corridors of Hale are unlikely to again echo with the call 'Welshie' as yet another Rugby player tries to explain his lack of form.

We wish Paul well in what will be a challenging few years.

Roy Kelley

Mr Roy Kelley leaves Hale at the end of 1989 after a distinguished career. He first became associated with the school in 1978 when he spent some weeks here as a student teacher. He took up a full-time teaching appointment in the following year and has served the school ever since with a commitment few can match.

It is indeed appropriate that, in the accompanying photograph, we see Mr Kelley next to a map which is clearly related to his beloved Geography teaching. But the map is not being used for what might be expected. Mr Kelley is, in fact, employing the map to brief the students of the complex manoeuvres involved with a year ten Geography excursion. Unfortunately, a local map was not available, so he had to make do with this one. None of the students, incidentally, noticed anything wrong with this — Mr Kelley has always said that flexibility and imagination are very important for Geography students.

Many Faulkner House boarders of recent times agree that Mr Kelley himself shows considerable imagination — particularly when dreaming up punishments for boarding house misdemeanours.

Mr Kelley began his boarding house work in 1983 when he was relieving housemaster in Wilson House for two terms. Among many other things, he led Wilson to an historic win in the Cock House Cup and when the position became available in Faulkner House he became its housemaster and has now completed five very productive years looking after the Faulkner boarders. Always fair, firm and consistent, he has built up an excellent understanding with the boys in his charge and they will miss his leadership and guidance.

Mr Kelley has also made notable contributions to sport at Hale. As coach of the 2nd V basketball for many years, he has made a big impact. The players have clearly understood what is expected of them and with his astute coaching, he has led the 2nds to victory for many years.

One of the more tactically challenging jobs Mr Kelley has had at Hale has been that of manager of the first XVIII football. Here, he not only has had to organise boundary and goal umpires, runners, first aid and so on but also has had to contend with the problem of keeping the coach on the straight and narrow and vaguely sane.

Mr Kelley is to join the staff of Sherborne School in Dorset, England. Sherborne is an independent school where the 660 boys are all boarders so at least he should be well prepared.

We thank him for all he has done for Hale School, we wish him all the very best at his new school and we hope to see him back at Hale before too long.

A Journey To The Core Of The Earth

As George and I went down to the closest video store, we met Samuel. "Hi guys," he said. "How are you going?" we replied.

He gave us a piece of licorice each and we continued onto the video store. Every Friday, we wandered down to celebrate the weekend by getting a movie. As we entered the building, two men stopped us. They pushed us into a car; we yelled, but no one heard us. One was tall and had dark hair with a beard. The other slim and blonde, with dark sunglasses covering his bright eyes. We were gagged. I was shocked to see Harry, Mark, Steven and Eugene already in the car.

We were taken out of town. The sign said "Pinjarra." As we neared some backroads, Eugene, the bright one, came up with an idea! As he slowly loosened his bonds with his hands, we all undid each other's. Then we unlocked the door, however just before we scrambled from the car, the small kidnapper turned around. Harry managed to escape, but they jumped out of the car and gave chase. We were all very scared. Later we stopped and were pulled out.

That's when we realised they were wearing foreign army clothes!! We were given a sheet of instructions and told to read them. It said that when we hear a siren, we should (for our own sake) press the green button. Then we were shown a rocket-like thing and we were put into comfortable seats and braced.

Over a loudspeaker, someone said: "You are going to the core of the Earth. "We were stunned.

Eugene exclaimed, "Calm down!"

He reprogrammed the computer to go through the core and come out at Hale School on Craig Oval. He said if it had not been for Mr Dyer's good computer teaching, I would not know it. We were off.

We were on our way back from the core. Then Eugene said, "Do not press the green button — they have a plan to blow up the world." We surfaced, opened the door — and were back on Craig Oval. We saw people running to us and as we ran for a car, they chased us. We went around a sharp bend, but they were moving too fast and rolled. They were killed.

We reported it to the police and everything was okay. They brought a large tow truck, took away the cigar-shaped rocket and traced where the plan which was to blow up the world was located.

The Queen sent us a personal letter expressing her gratitude for the great work we had done. She offered us a place in Oxford University when we finished at Hale.

But that is another story.

City of New Hope

I had just arrived at the final way station, two miles below the surface of the earth and two hundred feet above the new secret city.

My first impressions of the city was that it was a maze of quartz. Electric buses and monorails rushed in a discreet manner below. The most breath-taking factor about the city was the lights; thousands of them, each one able to be seen clearly. There was nothing prosaic about the place at all. The buildings were of all sorts of irregular shapes: domes, spheres, prisms of various sorts and even pyramids. People were dressed in silver reflective uniforms, much like costumes you would expect people in starships to wear.

The city had an artificial monotonous sky of deep blue. There was no vegetation or nature of any kind to be seen. There was no pollution either. The city, although whirring with computerised transport, maintained an air of loneliness. Even my comrades in the bubbles from which we observed, agreed with me. We descended a little more and an increasing amount of detail became apparent. The buildings were made out of elongated pylons, each with many facets causing light to be reflected and refracted forming sparkles and rainbows.

The people I saw were not people at all — but machines, machines which ran and dominated the secret city. My mood changed accordingly from amazement to one of fear. Informing me that the machines were preparing and constructing the city for him, an inhabitant soothed me and I realised that the city was to take the overflow of the upper and overpopulated world which suffered badly. The thought that even more of these giant cities were in existence and being planned gave me hope for the future. We ascended to the earth's surface again and now it seemed to have an air of antiquity. I was pushed and shoved away by hurrying pedestrians.

A Letter To The Lord Almighty

Dear God,

There's something I've been wanting to write to you about. There is a problem I discovered with being a ghost. The other day I got into a bit of trouble, while walking the crowded streets in the centre of Perth. I stumbled across a second-hand book store and found some very stimulating and interesting reading matter. The only problem was that I had no way of purchasing the books. I could not bring myself to steal the books so I had to go about it in another manner. I tried several times to make myself visible to the people and the surroundings but it failed to work. My last avenue was to ask someone to purchase the books for me. This became a hard task as when I started talking to people they immediately thought they were going around the bend. After much persistence I stumbled across a man who actually believed I was a ghost. He was six feet tall, of medium build and was bald except for the traces of hair on the back and side of his head. The man told me his name was George and he said he felt peculiar talking into thin air. To prevent himself from making a scene he quietly whispered to me instead of talking loudly. I explained to him I wanted to purchase these books and he gladly went and purchased them for me. George then insisted I come back to his house for some lunch as he was fascinated about me. George and I talked about many interesting things and I explained to him how I became a ghost here in Perth. Now, God, this is where you come into the picture, George explained to me how he is very keen to become a ghost with me. I feel his presence would be worthwhile as I would find companionship and this would also solve the problem of being lonely. I recommend George, however I realise it isn't an easy job for you, having to get him killed and doing all the paperwork. I hope you will take me into consideration when you make your decision, and I am sure it will be the right one. I look forward to hearing from you.

Captain Keifer

With a quiet whooshing sound followed by a gentle click, the heavy metal door closed. Captain James Keifer was alone in the secluded room fitted out exactly the same as the cockpit of the space shuttle "Zena". Whilst he busied himself with his duties that terrible feeling he'd known all his life started to return. It started with the familiar feeling of the hair on the back of his neck starting to prickle, then the beads of perspiration on his forehead. Captain Keifer knew he had to overcome this absurd fear of being alone in a confined space to realise his life-long ambition to become an astronaut.

He had been aware of both feelings since a young age, he also remembered watching T.V. and seeing Neil Armstrong step on the Moon and thinking to himself that he would like to do that. He also remembered his older brother shutting him in his wardrobe and the feeling of terror that overcame him. He started to cry and screamed loudly until his mother came to rescue him. There were other occasions when this unreasonable fear forced itself upon him. His favourite game was hide and seek, until he had to go into the shed and count to fifty while the other kids hid themselves from him. And when he was fifteen he went to a "Science Discovery Centre" where there was an operational aircraft simulator. Young James, following his interest in becoming an astronaut, leapt at the chance to get into the cockpit of the aircraft and that was when the feeling started to worry him. His mouth was like a dry salt lake, his sweat-ridden body seemed to be clammy and he could feel the rapid beating of his own heart. And now today, after all the years of hard work and study to realise his ambition, this terrible feeling was threatening to take it all away.

Captain Keifer gritted his teeth in determination and concentrated hard on the tasks at hand. Despite the streams of perspiration, the dry mouth and dizziness, he managed to complete the many and varied tasks his commander had set for him as a possible shuttle pilot. After what seemed an eternity the task was finally completed and with a feeling of relief he heard the sound of what he had been waiting for, the opening of the doors. Then followed his meeting with the admiral who said, "Congratulations Captain Keifer, you're an astronaut."

Among the R.U.I.N's

I jumped from the back of the cart, rolled several times, stood up and brushed the straw from my torn clothing. I walked for several miles through the woods seeing no signs of life.

Finally I rested before a large clearing. I suppose it would have been a mile square. I was sure it was the clearing the old man had told me of. Quickly I retrieved my map from a deep shorts pocket of mine.

Looking at it carefully, I saw what was certain to represent the clearing. It was heavily outlined and shaded in red. Beyond this clearing I would find another, smaller in size but similar in appearance. I sat down with a moan. My muscles ached and straw prickles from the hay cart itched. I was extremely tired. I heard a thunderous crash, behind me. I must have fallen asleep. There was no doubt about it now. The "gods" had obviously detected my absence from the human lands and had set out in their metal "tanks" to capture if not destroy me. I ran wildly across into the clearing. This was a near fatal mistake. White flashes of energy jumped past me and impacted on ground ahead of me. Peripheral vision allowed me to see the "gods", silver humanoids. They were apparently singing; their voices seemed to resonate with everything.

I heard a loud blast behind me and I was catapulted several metres ahead — where I lay in silence. I heard nothing except my own heavy breathing and fast thumping heart. Several hours passed and I slowly staggered upwards. The "gods" and their machines had gone. I ran to the side of the clearing where I knew I'd be safe. I walked for another hour or so until I came to a grass bank which overlooked the second clearing. It was too late to make any more moves that night. I decided to wander a few metres back into the "protection" of the forest.

That night I dreamt of my parents and friends — who had just vanished from the humans lands without any warning. Some had told me that the "gods" had taken them away to other parts and some said they were dead.

I awoke the next day and walked to the clearing. I walked to the centre and I found what appeared to be a large, flat, metal disk. As I watched it, it started to glow and pulse in a mellow blue light. I lifted it up and to my amazement it vanished leaving before me a large hole with a long ladder. I manoeuvred myself into the hole and backed down the ladder.

Upon reaching the bottom, the 'hole' became solid ground. Looking around me, I knew I had found the R.U.I.N's. (Renegade, Underground, Iconoclastic, Non-Partisans.) In the node of two major 'tunnels', I was welcomed by friendly faces of parents and friends and many other happy people. I knew I was safe forever. However, what pleased me most was that my parents and friends weren't dead, but very much alive.

Shakespearian Sonnet:— The Angler

In a small country stream a man stood still In water ice-cold which slipped slowly by wearing boots to his knee, hessian bag to fill,
He waited quietly watching the fly.

His dainty rod quivered at every cast
as line snaked out, coming back with no prize
Then all at once the fish struck hard and fast.
The rod bent double; this monster loved flies!

The water erupted — the fish took flight,
But still the man held firm, big trout are rare.
A molten arch of silver — a lovely sight,
To harness such beauty hardly seemed fair.

The man at last won, then for all to see;
a fine gesture: — he let the great fish free.

Guilty

(A sonnet)

I stand before the judge with fearing eyes.
My tongue is firmly wedged between my teeth.
My every sentence full of fibs and lies.
The jury speaks. They know that I'm the thief.
Reluctantly, the night returns to me,
The shattered glass, the siren's splitting shriek,
The agonising bullet in my knee,
And all the blood cascading down my cheek.
If I could change just one thing in my past,
That night would be erased from my éclat.
But now I am an insult to my caste,
My every movement tarnished with regret.
This ball-and-chain which glues me to the pave,
Does emphasise the error of my ways.

John Bateman

The air was thick and heavily polluted, leaving an unfamiliar taste in the mouth of John Bateman. He didn't like new experiences, he liked stability and a definite purpose and this new business trip had not supplied him with this. It was the first time he had been to America and he certainly hadn't enjoyed it. Life was so melodramatic and worthless in this land.

The greatest country in the world? He spat at the idea. What he had seen on the way to the airport had eradicated any notion of this. The poor, the homeless, starving to death in front of the rich house owners; having to beg for survival. He had ordered his taxi to stop and upon its halt he walked up to a bag lady who was being followed by three pathetic looking black children, waiting with baited breath on what their mother would find in the rubbish bin. He pulled out of his pocket a one hundred dollar bill and handed it to her. The surprise in her eyes had amazed him. What had she thought he would do? Let her starve? No way, not him!

When he returned to his taxi, the driver commented to him that he hoped he would give him the same type of fare that he had just handed out. The driver meant it as a half-joke, but to John it sickened him to think that a man who was still eating would beg for the money he had just handed to a starving lady and her family. Where was the man's sense of pride? Surely even the driver could have seen the flame of humility that burnt deep into the lady's eyes?

Now he stood at the front of the airport, the doors waiting to swallow him and hurl him home. Home... After two months on the road in a foreign country, home seemed like a dream. To return back to his wife, to be pampered, to be looked after..., thank god for women! Funny he and his wife had never argued in their six years of peaceful, blissful married life. She always seemed to agree with what he decreed. Rare, he thought, to find someone so completely on the same wavelength as he. Marion was an exceptional person.

Marion bought him the newspaper at 8 o'clock every morning followed by breakfast and coffee. She always made sure that he was on time for work, and then she waited patiently for him to return. That was how he imagined all marriages to be. It had worked for him.

The announcement of boarding shattered his thought sequence. John walked through the open doors and towards the designated gate. His baggage had already been checked in by the hotel.

He glided with anticipation towards the gate, forgetting the 20 hour trip that awaited him upon boarding. Rushing to the front of the gate he dropped his boarding pass. He swore and bent down sharply to pick it up. As he rose he spied the long slender legs of the lady in front of him and in what he justified as revenge his eyes followed her brown legs to the length of her dress. Not worth it, he thought, I have a great marriage.

The queue was gradually eaten away and eventually it was John's chance to show his boarding pass and enter the Jumbo. He showed the attendant his pass and walked on. He took no notice of the attendant wishing him a good trip, nor did he notice that her blouse was partly open partly revealing her shapely breasts. To John she was an attendant and nothing more.

He entered the plane and handed his seating assignment card to the closest female attendant. She told him to go down the left aisle of the plane and he followed her directions until he took his seat in the first class compartment of the plane. The air in here was so plastic, so unnatural, so unlike that of home.

Marion had probably pined away at home while he was gone. She had probably lost weight and become uninterested in life. He hoped she could stand waiting for him.

John reached deep into his pocket and withdrew a small yellow pill. He swallowed it and for the next twenty hours he experienced uncomfortable and fitful slumber.

He awoke as the plane made its heavy touchdown on the runway, shaking and vibrating everything around him. Next to him he discovered a lady in early forties smiling at him as he awoke.

"We have arrived at Perth International Airport. The temperature is currently twenty one degrees centigrade and the time is 11 pm. Have a good stay in Perth and thank you for flying Qantas."

The announcement ended with the familiar twang of an Australian accent. It felt good to be home. Even the newly built airport seemed to welcome him home. He moved out of his arrival gate and onto the escalators that took him to the bottom floor. The floor was large enough to hold an American football game, John thought to himself, and it's not even crowded. He headed for the doors that led to the parking area with determination when a call stopped him in his tracks.

"Message for Mr John Bateman, Mr John Bateman a message at the Qantas desk."

John turned and headed for the desk. Once there he wearily asked for his message, identifying himself with his ugly passport photo. The male attendant handed the letter to John. John received the letter with a customary thanks and methodically opened the message.

It read: re' Mr John Bateman: Flight 721 Qantas Arrives 11.00pm From Mrs Marion Baker. "I will be unable to pick you up John. I am leaving you."

The message struck John like a bullet to the chest. Surely she didn't mean him? What happened? Why was she leaving him? Anger erupted in him like a volcano, spreading its deadly fire all around. John grabbed the attendant by the throat.

"This is a mistake," John growled.

"NO...N..O sir I took the message myself," the attendant said gasping for breath.

He had expected Marion to collect his baggage. No time now, he thought as he dashed towards the front exit doors. Outside a familiar yellow taxi was waiting for him. He ripped the back door open and threw in the coat he was carrying and then opened the front door and jumped in.

"Take me to 23 Newman Street South Perth now," he barked. "Put your foot to the floor and I'll pay any ticket you get plus a bonus $1000."

"Yes sir," the young taxi driver yelled back revving his motor, "I've been waiting for someone to say this for years."

The driver took off exiting the airport and gliding down the relatively busy highway with ease. This seemed to be a natural speed for the driver.

"Like drivin' in the races isn't it," the driver screamed, "God, I love taking risks."

Suddenly the taxi clipped the end of the Cressida in front of him as he attempted to pass. The car spun, his tyres screaming in panic. Before either knew what had happened, a utility from behind ploughed into the side of the taxi. The yellow car had suddenly turned an intense red.

It was 2 o'clock the following morning when Marion received the message of her husband's death. She was at the front door waiting, bags in hand for a taxi when the police arrived. A young constable informed her of the accident. She thanked the officer and the policeman walked away confused by her lack of emotion. She turned around and opened the door with a spare key she had in her pocket. Once inside she opened the case in her left hand and began to methodically unpack.

As she removed her clothes, she withdrew a picture of herself of months past. Her face was puffy and black, her lips were dripping with red blood and her nose had been spread across one side of her face. Only one eye was open. She smiled to herself and said in a monotone voice "Goodbye John."

'What's my crime...? (Who Deserves this!!?)'

I've done it!!!... Five years on the other side of Australia; a trip to Harvard Business School for five months and I am on my way to the top. "Tina, Paul, Mark... we're moving back to Perth at Xmas, I'm moving up in the world."

These are exactly the words that really scared a couple of teenagers, who for the first time in their lives had really settled down with lasting friendships, and results from a school that would make any loving parent proud.

It is a fact of life for many young Australian families around the months of Xmas, (that) promotion raises its ugly head and rips a family from one place to the next. Many families are used to it, including ours, but do we or anyone for that matter have to put up with being victims of a system that makes life, miserable? I am talking about the EDUCATION SYSTEM.

The transition from a government school to a private school was a task within itself, but as it was a choice we were given, there is definitely no complaints from this corner. But it's the below-the-belt punches, that no-one has to put up with — that is my real argument.

Living in the 'lucky country' doesn't live up to expectations for many students changing interstate in the most important year of school, year 12. (In my experience). I attended Dubbo South High School which has an exceptional academic record, which only last year produced a student who obtained a score of 493 out of a possible 500. These marks were awarded over a two year period, which also incorporated the BIG QUIZ, otherwise known as the H.S.C. or T.E.E. equivalent.

The marks are awarded in the same ratio as here, with 50% school based and 50% HSC exam. The difference is that the school based mark is 60% in year 11 and 40% in year 12. In short, it's a two year course in which the majority of the curriculum is taught in year 11. In light of this fact, many would, and did say, I would have an advantage in moving to W.A., because I had already covered 60% of the course. This is where the fun begins.

My subjects were Maths 2,3, Physics, Chemistry, Engineering Science, English Unit 2 and General Studies.

They are extremely similar to subjects that I'm doing here, or are they!??

In the first term I devoted my entire time to 'catching up' on work that was basic for year 12 in Western Australia. Admittedly, some of the work was similar or even the same but in many of my courses undertaken, they are completely different, especially in the Mathematic component and Sciences (Chemistry), Maths II in Western Australia is extremely different from the New South Wales course, in that the component that it is made up of are taught at different levels and in some cases, are not even taught at all! Where's the advantage in that?

One course is not even offered at all in Western Australia, which is Engineering Science. As I'm striving to gain enough marks to gain entry into the Engineering faculty at university this subject gave me an insight into an area in which I wanted to spend the majority of my working career, and besides that, my marks were great — 83 unscaled.

To compensate for the loss of an entire subject, I had to begin a new subject, which I had never studied at school before, Geography. Skills that were normally developed over a few years, I had to pick up in a few weeks. Just what I wanted!

Why do all of the state governments in Australia persist in having their own education system? We all live in the same country, so why don't we get the benefit of an education that is fair and equal to all?

I don't want you to be left with an impression of a young kid who changes schools and, when he finds the going tough, looks for an escape to blame a few of his failed subjects on. I consider myself a fighter, I'm dedicated to getting the best possible mark for myself and attending a school like Hale, with its academic record, is a great starting point.

But what about all the kids who don't get the benefits that I'm getting? The students who are faced with changing states and schools in year 12, and find the change so drastic they can't cope.

We have all heard the cliched version of: "think of all the new friends you will make."

But do twenty more 'new friends' get you those extra twenty marks that you need in January when the results come out? The same twenty marks that you could have received back in your last school with your eyes closed.

Myself... I'll make it through with hard work, but what of the others? Are they just seen as victims of a system and left on the scrap-heap?

Where's the justice? Where's the Education System?

Death of a Family

As the plane plunged into the fathomless ocean
so did my one chance at a comfortable life.
In a matter of seconds my family vanished . . .
Trapped in their seat by their safety belt.
And all the emotion they ever felt disappeared from all life; gone my child, gone my wife,
all forgotten but by one; the one life banished
the member they left behind in the commotion.
Now as I sit here I am forced to remember, tortured by my masochistic thoughts and forced to watch a slow motion replay of our last uneventful gathering. My last flop.
The simplest of farewells. Why didn't I stop them boarding that metal monster.
Why could I have not delayed? I should have warned
of the upcoming crash, that dreadful September
Now my pen is my last salvation from the pain
I feel,
that means to run into the night with my stolen
heart.
These thoughts help none but me, alone as I am.
They say time heals the greatest wounds,
but when life has turned into a tomb,
the child you so dearly love has departed,
and the angelic woman who loves you disappears,
damn,
can even the greatest of all potions halt this turning wheel?

Bad Luck BG

It all started one Wednesday morning during an English period. Mr G. . . was, unsurprisingly and not unusually, late again. He walked into the classroom and, because of our behaviour, set us all a five hundred word essay on "The Greenhouse Effect."

"Great," thought Matthew Trudgian, "here's a chance to get Mr G. sidetracked." This was incredibly easy to accomplish especially when it involved topics such as "Man's destruction of the earth."

Anyway, to cut a long story short, things somehow became so sidetracked, that Mr G. and myself found ourselves shaking hands over a motorbike race from Perth to Geraldton — through the bush only.

"What a joke!" the rest of the class shouted. It wasn't until the early morning of the first of April, when Mr G. (hereafter called B.G.), and I were each on our 250cc's of power behind the starting line that they stopped jeering us. Big Micheal Coote was waving the flag and we were off! B.G. made a terrific start and I was forced to drop behind as the drought that year had caused the roads to be very dusty. I kept B.G. in my sights, but an overtaking manoeuvre could have been disastrous. After about an hour B.G. came to a gate. He stopped, opened the gate and, as he was about to ride through, I came screaming past and took on the lead. B.G. was devastated! His OMO bright white shirt was now orange, and a few words of abuse must have been murmured below his breath!! The gate was forgotten and B.G. was well on the way. The same thing happened at the next gate except this time it was to B.G.'s advantage.

All through the race it was pretty well neck and neck — all the way up to Dongara, when poor old B.G. went a little too slowly through some soft sand, slid out of control and fell. The advantage I had over him was too great for him to win, so his little error ended up costing him the race, and enforcing his guarantee of a Junior exam pass (in his subject) for me.

Now, a year later, we both have a laugh over that motorbike race that we gave up our weekend for, because Mr. G. and I are still good mates.

So that is how I am still here at Hale, because I had been warned that if I failed my Junior, I'd be on the streets. So, it is lucky that I finally won the bet!

Accident

We always believe that accidents only happen to other people, but this is not always true. Twenty five weeks ago, on a day like any other, I had an accident which has left me paralysed from the waist down. I wasn't being foolish as I sometimes can be, but still I fell twelve feet to the ground and wash rushed to hospital by ambulance.

The next twelve days spent in intensive care were a blur. I was in agony, constantly being drugged to reduce the pain. Gradually I became aware of my surroundings and more aware of how uncomfortable I was.

The next six weeks passed considerably faster and before I knew it. I was into a hospital wheelchair often mistaken for a tank. I still wasn't able to move the upper part of my body because my back was being supported by a brace which I wore for eight weeks; a brace that covered the upper part of my body.

After eight weeks I was able to go home for the day, then, later on, weekend visits. It was great to be with my family and friends.

I'm at home now and back at school. School has been really supportive and helpful to me in every way. I am also playing wheelchair basketball and hope to be going to Canberra next year for the National Championships.

But a few important things I have learnt since my accident are that your real friends will always come through, and if you look around there is always someone worse off than you are. I can still and will do anything I put my mind to.

Kettle

The often dormant piece of plastic
Preys on a substance that's electric,
Screaming and wailing, craving for its life-giving sap;
A commodity only accessible from a tap.
The liquid then passes through a cycle of complexity,
And then it asks for more, greedily,
By excreting a colourless gas, one of its productions,
But unfortunately this often leads to its destruction.

The Fox and I

I awoke from a deep sleep to the sound of squabbling fowls. Quickly I put on my coat and boots and stepped out the door of the small wooden hut and onto the carpet of white snow which lay for miles. Rifle in hand, I moved cautiously to the barn. There I saw a fox caught in some chicken wire. I raised my gun and quickly fired, instantly killing the female fox which had been lured to its fate.

The next night I heard something outside my bedroom window. I got out of bed and looked. A male fox stood outside staring into my eyes and seemingly beyond.

I knew at once it was the mate of the fox I had killed. It appeared as though he was challenging me. I hurried and got my gun but he had gone. I decided to track it so as not to risk any more chickens. I stepped out into the cold night and followed his fresh tracks, making sure the fox could not spring upon me. Two hours had passed and the tracks went on — a blizzard was starting to blow up. Suddenly I realised the fox's clever plot to kill me. The fox would not carry out the act alone but rather with the assistance of the harsh weather. I was lost and the blizzard had covered my tracks and the fox's. In a flush of anxiety I looked all around but only snow was to be seen. Then, through the snow came the fox. The twinkle in his eye expressed his feelings of victory, I aimed my gun and fired, but he dodged the shower of fatal lead shots. I sat down with thoughts of death dominating my mind. The fox trotted off into the storm.

An hour passed and I heard the barking of huskies one or two miles off. Death was coming to me like a fast growing creeper. I managed to reload my rifle and fire a shot into the air.

The next thing I knew was the faces of two men loading me onto a sleigh. I passed out again. It was morning when I awoke and I was safe in the company of my two saviours in my hut.

Time

It sometimes speeds faster than a bullet
Or more slowly than the dead midnight hours.
It has seen all suns dawn and all suns set.
Its hand holds the reason why fresh milk sours.
It can crumble mountains into rubble,
Or from a trickle dig a huge canyon.
Its sun glints upon the farmer's stubble,
Swinging in the arc it set it upon.
It has seen battles rage day after day,
Over petty things such as land or trade
And heard the cries of those left where they lay,
Until through the bodies the living must wade.
It has no beginning and no ending
For it is both beginning and ending.

Man: Death: Destruction

Kill the plants
Kill the trees
Pollute the air that we breathe
Suck the life from the Earth
Kill the animals; man comes first
Make weapons to kill your own kind.
It doesn't matter because they're all blind
Destroy the land for your greed.
Nuclear power plants are what we need.
Man means destruction
He doesn't need any help
Man means destruction
And he's destroying himself
The plants are dead
The trees are dead
Air's polluted — We are dead.

The Silent Sentinel

Curling perfectly, aqua green, white tipped,
Gushing, frothing, bubbling, gurgling.
It crashed and disappeared beneath the foam,
Gone forever, smothered.
Tamed by the fury of its origin.
It lapped quietly at my feet.
Swirling gently, clear and placid,
It returned like a lamb to its mother.
All was quiet, nothing moved or made any sound.
But then it was upon us.
No means of escape now, just watch,
As the concealed fury and wrath springs forth.
Sky darkening, water swirling and bubbling,
Towers of water cascading from nowhere,
Angering the already furious giants of the sea
It was upon us.

COMIC CHARACTER REVIEW: GARFIELD THE CAT

If you ask many people about what their favourite comic character would be, a lot would answer "Garfield". He is known world-wide for his wit, weirdness and weight.

Garfield's owner is named John. John bought Garfield at a pet shop. (Really, the true story is that Garfield was born in an Italian restaurant where he got his irresistible desire for lasagna. One day he stumbled into the shop and its attendant locked Garfield in a cage, thinking he escaped from one.)

Also John owns a dog, Odie. Odie is very strange, he stares at nothing, not blinking, drooling fervently and his mind blank. Garfield loves pushing him off the table, beating him up and doing other curious things to Odie.

But Garfield isn't perfect. He sharpens his claws, frequently shredding lounge chairs and curtains, empties the fridge, watches T.V., bugs John, sleeps all day, carries around his teddy bear, Pooky, or his rubber chicken, Stretch, doesn't chase mice, hates dieting and eats John's ferns.

If there is one thing Garfield hates it is Monday. Why Monday? It probably is that he has extraordinarily bad luck then and diets begin on this day, Garfield hates this day as if it were an enemy. Garfield isn't always a bachelor; he sometimes takes his female feline friend, Arlene to a 5-star rubbish can or they even entertain each other with some "singing" on the fence.

Garfield isn't always lazy, his mind is 100% active. He may be the Caped Avenger, seeking out evil, or the Night Stalker setting his sights on his prey, food. He could be the Amoebic Man, slithering on the floor, or even the Lone Stranger, crossing the desert on his trusty thoroughbred Odie.

Whoever Garfield is acting out, he remains the lovable cat everyone adores.

The End of the Earth

The population of the doomed planet turned their faces upward to the crapulous skies and contemplated their inevitable destruction, as the four forces worked simultaneously in the most destructive manner imaginable.

The force of vulcanism caused violent upheavals throughout, the chasms formed by crevasses filling with lava spewed explosively from the bowels of the earth. The native human inhabitants thought of this as a form of tribulation brought down upon them by the God they had imagined present for some deed they had not committed — "It wasn't me!", they all cried.

In a way it was a form of tribulation, but not of the type invented by the imaginary God. This tribulation was incurred by the people themselves — yes — those who cried the weak excuses as they were swallowed mercilessly by the land that they had abused so cruelly for the whole of their existence on the planet. Huge tsunamis swept the oceans — created by the volcanic actions, and swollen by the melted polar ice caps. Raging hot winds swept the land, converging on the atmosphere from a chemical-polluted black colour to a good blue tint, the old air being sucked out into space.

Fires covered the entire habitable area of the planet consuming all man-made structures and exposing the fertile soils again. A few million years later, the planet would return to its natural state, just as it did after the last "tribulation."
